On Tuesday evening the tree exercises will be held. Weather permitting, they will be held on the grounds of the school. If the weather should be unsuitable through the courtesy of the school board the exercises will be held in the hall of the Central High School. In case the exercises are held at the High School, cards of invitation must be shown at the door, as tickets of admission. Notice as to extra cars will be published later.

Included in the Tuesday program is a presentation of the wood scenes from "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The play will be given on the camps of the school overlooking the lake. The hill back of the play will be lighted by small colored electric lamps hung on the bushes and will serve for the night revels of the fairies. The principal parts will be taken by the academic department, and those of the fairies and attendants by the intermediate and primary departments. The Greek and fairy costumes will predominate and they are so designed that the coloring will be rich and varied. The dances will form a characteristic feature of the evening. There are five of these. The first is an Amazon drill given by the attendants of Hippolyta, the second a fancy dance, and the third Titania's slumber song. The music for the third was written by the musical instructor of the school. The fourth or wake song is given by Titania, Oberon, Puck and fairies, and the last by the participants. This is the sunrise dance and will be given with colored ribbons.

Christopher Excursion.

On Sunday, June 20, the steamer Christopher Columbus will give an excursion to Bayfield, via Two Harbors and return. It will be under the auspices of the Grocers' association. So many people are unable to take a ride on the big boat on a week day that the management decided to give them an opportunity for the enjoyment of this pleasure on Sunday. A prettier boat ride cannot be found on all of Lake Superior, and a large crowd is sure to go out. The boat will leave West Superior at 9 o'clock, and Duluth at 9:45 o'clock from the Fifth avenue dock.

BRYAN AT NEW YORK.

New York, June 12.—W. J. Bryan arrived here from Troy today. He was met at the Grand Central depot by a large crowd who accorded him an enthusiastic reception.

IMPROVED

The Condition of the Iron Ore Trade Better in One Respect.

While Prices Rule Lower, the Shipments Continue to Grow Larger.

Rumor That Even Low Prices For Mesaba Ore Have Been Cut.

Ishpeming, Mich., June 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The volume of ore shipments is steadily increasing, and although there was a falling off of about 200,000 tons in Lake Superior shipments in May, as compared with the corresponding month of last year, the June business will make a much better showing. The coarse freighters are now nearly all in commission, and although vessel owners grumble grievously at the very low freights they are compelled to accept, they are doing as well as the average of mining companies. Like the mines, only a limited number of the vessels are making any profit worth mentioning, and not many are actually losing anything, the greater number of both being kept busy in turning old dollars into new ones, and thereby keeping men at work and holding business together for the better times to come.

The ore shipments from the head of Lake Superior continue brisk, and the port of Duluth is making a remarkable showing, the record of one day's shipments having already been broken by sending out something in excess of 40,000 gross tons in twenty-four hours. The magnitude of this work may be better understood by the statement that the amount of ore handled in a single day would fully load ten of the average size freight steamers plying on the Atlantic. The record of tonnage carried by a vessel in a single cargo from any Lake Superior port has also been broken several times this spring by ore-carriers loading at Duluth, and the new vessels being turned out this season by the great shipyards on the lakes are still larger than the vessels now afloat. The average capacity of the modern steamers on the great lakes is but little below that of the modern steamers plying on salt water, and the tendency of the inland ship-builders is to increase the size of their vessels much more rapidly than the yards of the Clyde and Tyne are doing.

Low as is the schedule fixed for Mesaba ores, it is more than intimated that several instances of price-cutting have occurred recently. The owners of Mesaba mines who would cut below the beggarly price established for their wares by the Bessemer ore pool are to be pitied, for nothing but stern necessity could drive them to such a step. On all of the ranges, except the Vermilion, which is now practically owned by one concern, there are to be found mine operators who are on their last pins, and who, in hope of a turn in the long road that has led them to their present deplorable condition, will take the most desperate chances. Like the rider of a bicycle, they must keep in motion or they will fall. If they can keep their mines running somehow, even though at a loss, there will be new sources of revenue to help in paying old debts while new ones are being incurred. The iron industry is not the only branch of business in which dry rot has affected many concerns that were once prosperous, but which have been eating themselves up during the past few years of depression.

The ore business of the port of Ashland shows a lamentable shrinkage from the figures of last season. Escanaba shipments are also far short of the business of 1896, and Marquette is forwarding less ore than last year, though the shrinkage in shipments is less marked than at the two ports first named. Between the lessened volume of business, the reduction of freight rates and the advent of competing lines, the railroads are not likely to make excessive profits this season from the ore traffic of the Marquette, Menominee and Gogebic ranges.

A BOGUS NOBLEMAN.

Who Had No Difficulty in Fleecing Colorado People.

Denver, Col., June 12.—A special to the Republican from Colorado Springs says: A man who pretended to be son and heir of the earl of Hardwicke arrived in this city several weeks ago and registered at the Antler's hotel as H. A. Yorke, of Leamington, Warwickshire, England. Yorke left last Saturday night ostensibly for Glenwood Springs when he discovered that his dupes were about to learn the truth concerning his claims to nobility. Before leaving he settled all his accounts with checks drawn on the First National bank of Trinidad.

Every one of the checks given have been repudiated by the Trinidad bank, and now a score of people, including brokers, tailors, livery people, dentists, shoe merchants and a long list of acquaintances and also the managers of the El Paso and Country clubs are chagrined at the easy manner in which they were taken in by the effeminate little English-appearing fraud. The matter has been placed in the hands of the sheriff and an effort will be made to locate Yorke and his baggage. Yorke left for Glenwood Springs, but it is believed that he is now in San Francisco.

THE WOMAN IN CUSTODY.

Atlanta, Ga., June 12.—A bulletin from Huntville, Ala., says that Rosaline Benford, the negro woman, who is said to have assisted the two negro men, who assaulted little Nellie Lawter, is now in jail at Huntsville. The troops which have been guarding the imprisoned rapists will be withdrawn today.

HAVING A LIVELY TIME

Fight Over the Postmastership at Caledonia.

Washington, June 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Tawney is having a lively time selecting a successor to the present postmaster at Caledonia, who will be removed on the report of an inspector. There are six candidates, each man knifing the other. He practically decided upon a candidate he would support, but was forced to back down by protests from patrons of the office. The chances are that in the end he will be compelled to select a new candidate.

INHERITANCE TAX.

Is Hardly Likely to Pass the Senate.

Washington, June 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Tawney, while an advocate of an inheritance tax, does not believe that this tax should be collected by the general government. He says that the state and municipal taxes fall heaviest upon the common people, and that an inheritance tax would be a good source of state revenue.

Several states have such laws, and Mr. Tawney once made an attempt to pass a bill for this purpose through the Minnesota legislature. It is generally conceded that the inheritance tax proposed by the Democratic senators will have strong support, but there is little chance of its adoption.

THE HAWAIIAN TREATY.

Senator Nelson Fights For Its Abrogation.

Washington, June 12.—The Republican senators were in caucus for two hours today and devoted the entire time to an effort to agree upon a course of action to be pursued with regard to the Hawaiian reciprocity treaty in connection with the sugar schedule of the tariff bill. The meeting of the senate at 12 o'clock forced an adjournment before there was time to reach a conclusion and the caucus dispersed to meet again at 4:30 in the afternoon.

Senator Nelson of Minnesota led the fight in favor of the abrogation of the treaty. In support of his proposition Mr. Nelson presented many figures showing that the imports from Hawaii to this country were much greater than the exports to Hawaii, and he claimed that the reciprocity was in favor of the Hawaiians. He took the last report of the minister of finance for the year ending Dec. 31, 1896, and said that the business of the American vessels with Hawaii was about one-third as much as that done at the port of Duluth in Minnesota. Mr. Nelson declared that the whole treaty was a very one-sided bargain for the United States.

Senator Nelson said that an attempt had been made to show that the sugar trust was trying to have the treaty abrogated. This was contradicted by the fact that the senator from Maine (Frye), the most earnest advocate of the retention of the treaty in the previous caucus, had moved that the differential in favor of refined sugar be made one-quarter of a cent, the highest differential advocated by anyone.

Senator Frye emphatically resented the inference of the Minnesota senator and said that the two subjects could in no way be coupled together in that way.

WEAVER'S STOMACH.

May Be an Issue in the Dynamite Case.

Bloomsburg, Pa., June 12.—The jury in the dynamite conspiracy case of the commonwealth vs. L. S. Wintersteen, which retired at noon yesterday was still out at noon today being unable to agree on a verdict. The jurymen were given their meals in the court house and remained in the jury room all night. One of them, Levi Weaver, was taken sick and a physician asked for.

Judge Ermentrout was consulted, and after notifying counsel on both sides, Doctors J. B. McClelvy and D. F. Decker were summoned and sworn.

They examined the patient and agreed that Mr. Weaver was suffering from indigestion, but not to such an extent as would prevent him from continuing on the jury. In spite of the protests from some of the jury, Judge Ermentrout ordered them back to their room with the admonition to agree if possible.

KILLED AT CAPE TOWN.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 12.—A cablegram received from Cape Town, South Africa, last night, announced that Rev. Father Welsh, a highly respected Roman Catholic priest, formerly of the Pittsburg diocese, has been assassinated. The cablegram was addressed to Policeman Edward Welsh, a brother of the priest and gave details of the killing. The family will put themselves in communication with the Cape Town police and arrange for the disposal of the remains.

NASHVILLE

Cincinnati Day Was the Special Observance at the Big Exposition.

And President McKinley and Ohio Visitors the Chief Attractions.

Chief Magistrate Cordially Received and Evidently Enjoying Himself.

Nashville, Tenn., June 12.—Quietly and in the presence of not more than 150 or 200 people, President McKinley stepped down from the Maxwell house parlor this morning and with President Thomas, Director General Lewis, Governor Taylor, Hon. Tully Brown, Hon. Ferdinand W. Peck, president of the Illinois commission, and Mr. Van Leer Kirkman, stepped into a trap and was conveyed to the exposition grounds. The conveyance went alone, no others following, as the cabinet members had already left the hotel. There was a great contrast between this quiet and easy departure and the departure yesterday, when the street all the way to the grounds was blocked with people who wanted to get a glimpse of the distinguished party. The parade of the United States troops, which was to have accompanied the president as an escort, was declared off, owing to the delay it would have caused. The party was more than an hour late reaching the grounds owing to the slow navigation of the parade on the crowded streets.

When the president stepped into the trap and took the front seat he lifted his hat to the throng of people and a cheer went up. Not a large crowd was there as there was no evidence that such a distinguished personage as the president of the United States was about to emerge from the hotel except a smart looking cart drawn by two pretty bays and handsomely upholstered with velvet cushions standing at the Church street entrance and a policeman who kept the doorway clear. The president appeared at the foot of the stairway, looking rested and full of vigor and stood for a few minutes waiting for some members of the small party to appear. After entering the conveyance many rushed up to shake the president's hand and the distinguished visitor was busy greeting them with hand-shakes when the trap started off to the grounds at a rapid rate. On the way many recognized the president and their greetings were returned.

Thousands of people attended the very interesting Cincinnati day exercises at the exposition. The weather was exceedingly pleasant. Mayor Caldwell of Cincinnati, accompanied by members of the chamber of commerce of that city, arrived at 7:30 o'clock and soon afterward went to the exposition. Arriving at the exposition the Ohio visitors and the presidential party proceeded to the Cincinnati building which was presented by Robert Laidlaw, president of the Cincinnati commissioners, and accepted by Mayor Caldwell in behalf of the city. After these ceremonies a reception was given at the building in honor of President McKinley and the visitors from Ohio. A concert was given a short time afterward in the negro building by jubilee singers in honor of the president. When this was ended, the president and party and Ohio visitors visited several of the more important buildings.

THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

Mr. Frisbee Finds Them Threatened With War.

F. H. Frisbee returned home last night after a four months' absence, during which time he has visited Cripple Creek, Honolulu, San Francisco, Oregon, Washington and the Kootenay gold country. He is much improved in health and reports having enjoyed a very pleasant trip. Mr. Frisbee spent seventeen days in Honolulu, leaving there on the return trip about two months ago. He says that while the country is prosperous, affairs are somewhat unsettled because of the threatening attitude of the Japanese, who until recently were pouring into the islands in great numbers. While he was there a shipload of 700 of them were not permitted to land and were sent back to Japan. Both the United States and Japan keep warships there to be ready in case of emergencies. While Mr. Frisbee does not believe that Japan is eager to precipitate a war with the United States over possible Hawaiian complications, he says that such an outcome is anticipated by some of the people of Honolulu. The Japanese have ceased coming to the islands in large numbers, for the present at least.

Mr. Frisbee says there is considerable activity in the Kootenay country and that business there appears to be in a prosperous condition. He will remain in Duluth for a couple of weeks at least.

BERTHA KNAACK MISSING.

Clinton, Iowa, June 12.—Miss Bertha Knaack, aged 21, niece of Capt. W. C. Knaack of the steamer Vern Swaine, mysteriously disappeared from the steamer June 10 at or near Princeton, Iowa. Her wraps, hat and valise were found on the boat. She was to have been married to a prominent Davenport young man June 23. No trace of her can be found.

DICK BURGE RETIRES.

London, June 12.—The Burge-Thompson prize fight, which was to have taken place in Birmingham tonight, has been declared off. Burge, it is stated, owing to his recent defeat at the hands of Tom Causer, however, declared his intention to retire from the prize ring. Thompson has claimed the forfeit money.

THE TREASURY CONDITION.

Washington, June 12.—Today's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance, $220,849,993; gold reserve, $144,322,715.

DIED AT SEA.

Archbishop Jannssens of New Orleans is Dead.

New Orleans, La., June 12.—Archbishop Francis Jannssens died on the steamer Creole Thursday. From New York he was to take a ship for Europe and was on his way to visit his family in Holland. Three years ago he visited them and on his return he was in the best of health. Since then his grace labored very hard, and for some time it has been apparent that he was breaking down. On the advice of his friends he went to Mandeville, a summer resort near here. Then, yielding to their importunities, he decided to pay a visit to his family, believing that a sea voyage would do him good. Accordingly he sailed on Wednesday, and at the ship many distinguished Roman Catholics bade him bon voyage. Then, however, it was apparent that the archbishop was a very sick man.

Monsignor Jannssens was one of the dignitaries of the church in America. He came here as a priest, became bishop in Mississippi, and on the death of Archbishop Leray was apointed in 1888 archbishop of this diocese, one of the largest and most costly in America. The honors of the church were bestowed upon him in September, 1881, and since then his grace has labored with great zeal in behalf of the church.

The remains will be brought to this city tonight from Port Eads, and arrangements are now being made for the funeral, which will be a magnificent religious function. The archbishop's body was transferred at sea from the steamship Creole to the Hudson, of the same line, and will arrive in New Orleans this afternoon.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Opening Was Easy With the Losses Unimportant.

New York, June 12.—The stock market opened with an easier tendency under the influence of realizations which carried Sugar down 1 1-2 per cent to 124 1-4 after an initial gain of 5/8c. The losses in the railway stocks were unimportant, the international shares having some steadiness despite the irregularity of the London market for Americans. New Jersey Central was notably strong and moved up 1 1-4 per cent.

Covering by shorts at the low level and a brisk demand by the commission houses for the low-priced shares soon checked the reaction and led to material improvements in some of the specialties. Sugar was the especial feature and on tremendous purchases for both account rose 1⅞ per cent to 126⅜c, with a subsequent easing off. The advance created consternation in the ranks of the shorts, who were also disconcerted by the successive advances in the price of the company's product. New Jersey Central advanced to $2 1-4c. The general railway list moved very narrowly, but a good undertone was evident with the market exhibiting a very marked broadening tendency. The grangers were less actively traded in, but were helped by the more satisfactory crop reports received.

Heavy realizing sales in Sugar depressed the price 2 per cent from the best, which caused a sympathetic downward movement in the general list carrying prices to the lowest of the morning. The pressure against stocks was quite severe. Western Union, Tobacco and New Jersey Central yielding quite sharply, the last named stock making a partial recovery. The grangers and other prominent railroad shares participated in the selling movement to a moderate extent with the grangers notably heavy. The market closed weak and showing fractional losses except in the anthracite coal shares which showed sharp gains. Total sales of stocks, 112,400 shares.

MAY NOT SUBMIT IT.

Salvage Corps May Make No Statement as Asked.

It is an open question whether the salvage corps will submit a statement of its property, funds and sources thereof, as directed by the council resolution passed Monday. The purpose of the resolution is to ascertain whether fire department funds and supplies are being used for the corps. Some of the aldermen contend that this is the case, and the matter has already been the subject of at least one red hot passage at arms between members of the council and Chief Black.

It is said the corps at first decided to submit a report as requested. Now it is said that it will not.

Taken to Prison.

Under Sheriff John R. Meining left last night for Stillwater, where he will deposit William Mattson for a five years' stop. Mattson was convicted of grand larceny in the second degree, and as it was his second offense he was given the limit. Deputy Sheriffs F. L. Magie and R. H. Haire also left last evening for St. Cloud, where they took Jacob Schuhe to the state reformatory for forgery. Deputy A. Dash and Court Officer Forbay returned yesterday from Stillwater, where they left De Ward Kennedy to suffer a 10-years' sentence for his second offense of forgery. Kennedy was at one time treasurer of one of the counties in the southern part of the state. His downfall was caused by a penchant for whisky.

Committed Himself.

A committment from the municipal court, delivering to the sheriff the body of Clerk Fairfax of the court to be detained until the said Fairfax had worked out a fine of $10 and costs for drunkenness, was received at the court house recently. Some consternation was naturally created. Just as Sheriff Sargent was despatching a boy to get the prisoner, it was explained over the 'phone that it was all a mistake. And Mr. Fairfax made it out himself.

MRS. McALPIN ALL RIGHT.

New York, June 12.—Dr. Richard B. Contant, who is attending Mrs. D. H. McAlpin, daughter of William Rockefeller, at Tarrytown, denies the published statement that his patient is dying. Mrs. McAlpin, who gave birth to a son a few weeks ago, is, according to Dr. Contant, progressing toward recovery. Mrs. Strong, a daughter of John D. Rockefeller, and a cousin of Mrs. McAlpin, was safely delivered of a daughter last night.

AUSTRIAN SAVANT DEAD.

Vienna, June 12.—Privy Councillor von Folke, former director of the Austrian museum of art and industry, is dead at the age of 72 years.

IN COURT

Disputed Northern Pacific Track Up For Consideration This Morning.

The Railroad Puts in a Voluminous Answer Defending Its Position.

Claims the Bridge is a Private and Not a Public Enterprise.

The fight between the city of Duluth and the street railway company and the Northern Pacific and the St. Paul & Duluth roads over the occupancy of Arthur avenue, which caused considerable gore to accumulate on the face of the moon during the night of June 7 and the morning of June 8, was transferred to the district court today, coming up before Judge Cant in special term.

Yesterday afternoon the Duluth Street Railway company filed a complaint in which it alleged that the Northern Pacific had abandoned the road for more than five years, during which time it had allowed sawdust to accumulate upon it. This, it was claimed, does away with the claim of adverse possession set up by the road. The street railway company asked that the road be enjoined from occupying Arthur avenue and from interfering with the construction of a street car line on Fifth street across Arthur avenue. Judge Cant issued an order for the road to appear in special term today and show cause why the injunction should not be issued.

This morning the storm cloud concentrated itself in Judge Cant's court. The road opened the engagement by moving to dismiss the order to show cause under one of the rules of the court which require orders to show cause and applications therefor to state the ground of such applications and orders. After argument the motion was denied, and the hearing was continued. The time up to noon was nearly all taken up in reading the pleadings in the case, and it was expected that the argument would take nearly all day if not quite.

The road in its answer denies that it has abandoned the road for five years or for any other time, and it denies the validity of the plat of Rice's Point filed in the register's office in 1858. It alleges that the plat was made without the location of monuments, and asserts that when Fifth street was laid out there was no survey, and that its course lay through swamp and land covered with water. Referring to the events of the night of June 7 it calls the mayor, the manager of the street railway company and the crew of men who removed its track "a gang of lawless marauders."

It alleges that the Duluth-Superior bridge is a private enterprise, and that its income is being derived from tolls collected for its passage. It is alleged that it is primarily for the benefit of the Duluth Street Railway company, and that it is not a public enterprise.

The road avers that it has made no objection to allowing the street railway to build a crossing on Arthur avenue, and that the railway company, without attempting to make arrangements for a crossing, sought on the night of June 7 to unlawfully tear up the road's tracks and cross the avenue without going to the expense of building a crossing. It also states that there is between the railroad and the street car company a crossing agreement which allows the street car company to make any crossings of its tracks which might become necessary, and that it might have availed itself of that agreement instead of tearing up the tracks. It is denied that there would be any danger at such a crossing.

City Attorney Richards and Henry F. Greene appeared for the Duluth Street Railway company and the city, which is also interested through the suit brought against it by the road. J. L. Washburn appeared for the Northern Pacific, and J. D. Armstrong, of St. Paul, for the St. Paul & Duluth.

THE RUIZ CASE.

What Premier Castillo Thinks of the Charges.

Madrid, June 12.—The Spanish premier, Senor Canovas Del Castillo, in an interview, is reported as saying that the alleged demands of the United States in the case of Dr. Ricardo Ruiz, the American citizen who expired in the jail at Guanabacoa apparently from injuries received there, must be exaggerated. The premier added, however, that if the widow of Dr. Ruiz demanded an indemnity and her claim was shown to be justified, Spain would see that justice is done.

Senor Canovas Del Castillo further remarked: "I do not believe President McKinley has any unfriendly intentions towards Spain, but if the United States departs from a friendly attitude, Spain will be able to defend her rights."

GEN. MILES' DISTINCTION.

London, June 12.—Gen. Miles, who recently came to Europe to witness the Grecian-Turkish war as the representative of the United States army is to ride mounted in the queen's jubilee parade in a position very near to the queen's carriage. The place will be second only to her majesty's body guard. His assignment to it, regarded here as evidence of the British government's good feeling, is likely to create something of a sensation.

FREE SONS OF ISRAEL.

Chicago, June 12.—The grand lodge of the Independent Order of Free Sons of Israel will meet here tomorrow. Grand Master Julius Harburger, of New York, will preside and it is said that all of the 104 lodges throughout the country will be represented. The condition of the order is said to be prosperous it having a reserve fund of $1,000,000. The most important question to come up is the reduction of assessments and it seems to be the impression among the delegates already in the city that favorable action will be taken.

LONDON

Wet Weather Has Interfered With the Queen's Jubilee Preparations.

Queen Victoria Weeps on Hearing "Wearing of the Green" Sung.

British Occupy Delagoa Bay ---Doings of Royalty and Stage Gossip.

London, June 12.—(Copyright 1897, by the Associated Press.)—The weather has been winter-like during the greater part of the week. Heavy rains fell and London presented an especially bedraggled appearance with the soaked, half-finished jubilee decorations everywhere. On Friday, however, there was a pleasant change to hot, bright weather. The changes of temperature have been very trying to the American visitors who are already filling the hotels. The season as a whole has been a remarkably poor one, the house agents especially echo the complaint of poor business, saying there was never less demand for furnished houses. The fact is that the exorbitant prices charged for everything is keeping many thousands away. Lodging house keepers, in many instances, have been guilty of the sharpest pratices, and calmly announce double prices for the fortnight, including the jubilee, to visitors who months ago engaged rooms at a certain figure. As a fine example of the price of carriages, one of the biggest livery firms asks £4 ($20) for carriages to Piccadilly and return, a distance of less than two miles, and they add that they will not guarantee to reach any particular spot.

According to an "absolutely unimpeachable authority" a writer in the Westminster Gazette relates how the Irish song "The Wearing of the Green" was very recently sung in Windsor castle. The queen, it appears, requested a young Irish lady, who was isiting the castle, to sing an Irish song. She went to the piano and sung "The Wearing of the Green," and, according to the story told, her majesty was so touched by the pathos of the song that she burst into tears. The writer continues: "Ah," said my eminent informant, "you little know the depth of the queen's sympathy for the irish and the tenderness of her heart."

Great satisfaction is expressed in Great Britain at the announcement that the queen has commanded William Quiller Orchardson, R.A., who was elected a Royal Academician, nearly twenty years ago, to paint a jubilee picture of herself, the prince of Wales, the duke of York and little Prince Edward.

Delagoa bay, according to reports emanating from good sources, is already in the possession of the British and the increased number of troops which has been and is being sent out to Cape Colony is really intended for the occupation of the new possession, when the time comes for announcing it. In this connection it is recalled that Rothschild practically purchased a controlling interest in the Suez canal for Lord Beaconsfield, when the latter was prime minister of Great Britain, eighteen months before the transaction was announced, and Rothschild's name is now mentioned as finding the money for the purchase of Delagoa bay.

John Redmond, the Parnellite leader, accompanied by Louis Stuyvesant Chanler, as star orator, is stumping Ireland in the cause of the Redmondite league, which he will inaugurate in a speech at Cork on Sunday.

It is said that the queen intends to confer an honorary grand cross of the Order of the Bath on M. Hanotaux, the French minister for foreign affairs. This honor has but seldom been bestowed on anyone below the rank of a prince, and at present Baron Lambremont and the grand vizier of the late shah of Persia are the only such persons whose names appear on the list of honorary grand crosses of the Bath.

The Pan-American conference, which will be held at Lambeth next month will be a notable one, at least in one respect. It is officially announced that the czar has decided that the orthodox church of which he is the head, shall be represented at this gathering of Anglican prelates.

Mail advices to the Associated Press from Gibraltar give further details of the movements of the Siamese yacht Maha Chakskri. They say: "The yacht is now on its way to Cronstadt, Russia, to await his majesty's pleasure to continue the tour of the world which he is now making. This includes a visit to the United States, Canada and Mexico." It is stated by the officers of the vessel, who are all Englishmen, that the king will spend sufficient time in America to allow the yacht to go from New York, where he will land, to San Francisco, the place of re-embarkation. The date of his arrival in the United States is not yet definitely decided.

M. Jean De Reszke's sudden absence from the opera on two occasions when billed to appear at Covent Garden, has raised a cvrop of rumors as to differences between himself and the management, in spite of the official announcement that his retirement was due to indisposition. Maurice Grau says there is no truth in the stories of trouble, adding that the management is as anxious as De Reszke to have the latter appear, but he is suffering from a relaxed throat.

It is announced that Signor Gabriel d'Annunzie, the Italian novelist, poet and dramatist, is about to visit England and Scotland. Madame Sarah Bernhardt, the lessee of the Renaissance, announces that she hopes to make it the Paris home of any foreign dramatic celebrities who may desire to play before the Parisian public. Besides Signora Duse, she expects Sir Henry Irving and Ellen Terry to appear at the Renaissance during the coming season. Mme. Bernhardt's London engagement begins next Thursday at the Adelphi theater where she will open with Alfred De Musset's "Lorenzaccio."

After the conclusion of Mme. Rejane's engagement at the Lyric theater, that house will be redecorated for Wilson Barrett, who will reopen the theater in the autumn with "The Sign of the Cross," to be followed by "Hamlet" and "The Silver King."

Richard Mansfield has purchased the American rights of "Chand (Marchand) d'Habits," which he proposes to play practically as it was given in Paris although he will transpose the period so as to use modern dress. He will himself be Chand d'Habits (old clothes man) of the title.

FAILED TO SUICIDE.

Chicago, June 12.—In the same manner as his father died, Frank C. Henderson sought to end his life in the Tremont house. One year ago Andrew M. Henderson was found in Humboldt Park with a bullet in his brain. The young man brooded over the tragic death of his father, until his mind became deranged, and he went to the hotel to kill himself. He fired a bullet into his brain as his father had done, but hospital physicians say today that he may live. The young man's father, Andrew M. Henderson, was a prominent commission merchant and a member of the board of trade. Just before he killed himself he lost a great deal of money in wheat deals.

What modest woman does not shrink from the examinations and local treatment upon which physicians insist when treating weakness and disease of the organs distinctly feminine. For this reason thousands of women go on suffering untold torture rather than apply to a physician for help. It is safe to say that one-half of the women in America suffer thus in silence. It is all unnecessary.

The reproductive organs of women are directly acted upon by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures all disease and weakness of those delicate organs. It fits a woman for the highest duties of her sex, wifehood and motherhood. If taken during the expectant period in makes baby's coming easy and safe and insures the health of the child. Dr. Pierce is, and has been for thirty years, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. His "Favorite Prescription" does away with all necessity for distasteful examinations or local treatment. It corrects distressing and painful displacements and irregularities, and cures where doctors fail.

OWNEY

Famous Canine Postal Tramp Is at Last Put to Death.

Killed In Toledo By Order of Postmaster Brand This Morning.

He Was Seventeen Years Old and Very Cross and Dangerous.

Toledo, Ohio, June 12.—"Owney," the famous canine postal tramp, is dead at last. He was officially executed by order of Postmaster Brand, of this city.

Soon after it was thought that the much-traveled dog had been killed in Cleveland an edict went forth ordering all mail clerks to refuse passage to the wanderer. "Owney" fell sick about that time and was cared for in St. Louis. He was then started out again and came here yesterday from Frankfort, Ind., bearing only three medals on his collar. This is evidence that he had done very little traveling, as he was usually decorated at each stop with some sort of badge.

"Owney" attacked Clerk Blankertz here, inflicting painful wounds in his hand. United States Marshal Shannon was asked to kill him, but the dog made a rush for the gentleman and tore his trousers.

Postmaster Brand, seeing that the dog had grown so cross that it was dangerous to harbor him, requested the chief of police to detail an officer to kill him, and "Owney" met death within a few minutes. His skin will be mounted at the expense of the Toledo clerks and forwarded to Washington for the official museum. The medals were sent to Albany, where his other trophies are stored.

"Owney" was about 17 years old, and his years of travel all over the United States and around the world have made him the most noted dog of his time.

NEW STYLE BURIAL.

A Sanitary Success and Guard Against Robbers.

New York, June 12.—The sanitary committee of the health board today approved the plans of the New Mausoleum company for the establishment of a sanitary mausoleum near High Bridge, to have a capacity of from 10,000 to 12,000 bodies. It is proposed to entomb the dead in cement receptacles. The bodies are to be exposed for several months to a current of air made chemically pure by passing it over sulphuric acid, the air to be purified afterward by fire. When the body is thoroughly dessicated the receptacle is to be made air-tight. The sanitary committee is enthusiastic over the new method of burial and believes that it is eminently sanitary. Undertakers and coffinmakers fear a monopoly and oppose the scheme.

The mausoleum is to be 270 feet long, 75 feet deep and 3 stories high. The sepulchers will be of solid concrete, four inches thick, without seam or joint, and little larger than an ordinary coffin. A portion of the proposed mausoleum will be arranged for families, with separate compartments and sets of sepulchers. The mausoleum will also have a chapel, where funeral ceremonies may be held. One of the advantages claimed for the new system is that of security against grave robbers.

ADAMLESS EDEN.

San Francisco Expedition Collapsed at the Fiji Islands.

San Francisco, June 12.—Private advices from one of the crew of the brig Percy Edward, which sailed from this port some two months ago for the Solomon islands with a party of 100 men, who expected to find an Adamless Eden to colonize, have been received to the effect that the expedition has collapsed at Fiji.

At a general row over the distribution of the community property many of the colonists left the vessel and sought employment on shore and the remainder resolved to take the brig to New Zealand where she is to be sold at auction and the proceeds are to be divided.

LYNCHING MOB FOILED.

New York, June 12.—A mob of over 1000 men tried to take a negro named Charles West from five policemen last night at Washington place for the purpose of lynching him. Clubs and revolvers were drawn, but the mob was finally beaten back. West had shot a white man named Hyland because his daughter, aged 18, told him that Hyland attempted to assault her last week. He shot deliberately and without explanation. Hyland is dying.

IN THE DAKOTAS.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Dr. Ross, physician at Standing Rock, gave the most important testimony at Williamsport that has yet been presented in the defense of Alex Cadott, and if there is no mistake in the date to which he swears, he saw the defendant, and if he sticks to his statement that he did see the defendant at the time he says, Cadott could not have been at the scene of the murder on the afternoon of Feb. 17, when the crime was committed. Ross is a reputable physician; his testimony will be given greater credence than that of the Indian witnesses who have testified. He states that on the afternoon of Feb. 17 he made a professional visit at Cadott's house; that Cadott was there and acted as his interpreter. As it has been shown that the crime was committed between noon and 3:30 o'clock unless the doctor is mistaken in his statement, Cadott could not have been at the scene of the murder. Over against this testimony is the fact that the doctor stated at the preliminary examination, in alluding to this call at the home of Cadott, that he did not know whether Cadott was at home or not at that time, and did not remember whether he had seen him there.

Peter Wichem, a German laborer, aged 40 years, committed suicide by taking strychnine at Devil's Lake. He came here a short time ago and was working for A. R. McDonnell. His former residence is unknown.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

The case of the negro, Charles Brown, indicted for the murder of Mrs. Stone, was called in the circuit court at Deadwood. After the state had presented its case the defendant admitted the murder and his attorneys appealed to the public to abide by the decision of the jury and the sentence of the court.

Professor Saunders, botanist and entomologist from Brookings, has been near Aberdeen two days and gives assurance that the destructive hoppers near James and Ipswich can be exterminated without difficulty. Fourteen hopper dazers, contrivances for destroying locusts by the use of crude kerosene, are being employed at James today and will cover the infested district thoroughly. Professor Saunders went to Ipswich and will start similar work there. He believes the pests can be entirely wiped out, especially if farmers do good ploughing this fall.

A WOMAN'S HEAD.

Ghastly Relic Found in an Indiana Cellar.

Rushville, Ind., June 12.—The discovery of a woman's head buried in earth in a cellar of a vacant house, in the center of the city, has aroused intense excitement here. Two boys were in the cellar rummaging among old barrels and boxes when they made the discovery.

The head is that of a woman probably 35 or 40 years old. The flesh has decayed, leaving the skin hard and dry and pressing lightly against the skull. There are thirteen teeth, six upper and seven lower, looking as bright and natural as if their owner was alive. A mass of short, curly blonde hair crowns the head with bangs in front. The facial appearance gives rise to the belief that the owner of the head in her life time possessed great beauty. A long cut in the skull over the right ear tells how the woman met her fate.

The discovery of the head has given rise to all manner of conjectures as to the woman's identity, who buried the head and how it got there. The prevailing opinion is that the woman was murdered, her body buried elsewhere and the head buried in the cellar.

Many believe that the head is that of Pearl Bryan, murdered at Fort Thomas lately by Scott Jackson and Alonzo Walling. This woman has been dead three or four years, while Pearl Bryan met her fate but a year and a half ago, which explodes that theory.

WAS HE POISONED?

What a Dead Millionaire's Son Will Try to Find.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 12.—A sensation has been caused in Pasadena by the investigations being made in that city by E. T. Singer, of Chicago, into the manner of the death of his father, the aged millionaire, H. N. Singer. The elder Singer died in December last, some time after sustaining an accident in falling from a moving street car in Pasadena. The remains were sent to the former home of the deceased at Lockport, N. Y., for interment. The widow and two children of the aged millionaire remained in Pasadena, but there was a divorced wife at Lockport, where the remains found a lodgment.

It is the first wife of Singer, together with his son, who will make a thorough examination into his final taking off. E. T. Singer, the son, says that the remains of his father, after being interred five months, had been taken up at Lockport and examined, with the result that traces of poisoning were discovered. The son is convinced that the old man's death was hastened, if not actually brought about, by foul play. The disposition of the millionaire's property is the incentive for the investigation.

CISNEROS

Cuban President Is Not Dead, But is Alive, Well and Happy.

Interesting Interview With Dr. Danforth Who Was Cisneros' Physician.

Cubans Will Win in the End Which Recognition Would Hasten.

New York, June 12.—Among the passengers who landed in New York today on the steamer Valencia, from Cuban ports via Nassau, N. P., was Dr. H. W. Danforth, of Milwaukee, Wis., who for the past fifteen months has been the personal physician of the president of the Cuban republic, Salvador Cisneros, the marquis of Santa Lucia. The doctor is in the United States on a six months' leave of absence, having left Cuba in a 16-foot open boat on May 29, for the island of Providence. After much suffering and exposure he reached Nassau, and there awaited the arrival of the Valencia. According to Spanish reports, President Cisneros died in February last, and this "news" was semi-officially confirmed in March last.

But Dr. Danforth was with the president as late as April 6 last, and had in his possession a letter, which he showed to the representative of the Associated Press, dated April 29, from the president. The latter is not only not dead, but, in the words of Dr. Danforth let him he was full of quiet enthusiasm and animated by the most confident feeling for the eventual success of the Cuban cause. Questioned as to the seat of the government of the Cuban republic, Dr. Danforth said it was at Agura, province of Puerto Principe, where the insurgents have erected a capitol. The president, however, is not now at Agura, but is in the province of Santiago De Cuba.

Dr. Danforth was asked to express an opinion as to the numerical strength of the Cuban insurgents, being informed that late advices from Cuba placed the number at 8000 men. He said: It is difficult, if not impossible, to arrive at a correct estimate. But you can say that the Cubans, for a certainty, have at least 30,000 to 35,000 today armed and in good shape. The Cubans have not been idle during the last few years, and have been importing arms and ammunition right along. In brief, the Cubans are fighting a desperate fight and are in a good condition to continue it. The Spaniards are also engaged in a desperate contest, but they are exhausted, or almost so. I certainly think the Cubans will succeed, not by reason of numerical strength, for the Spaniards have about 150,000 men in the field. But, there is no question but that the Cubans will ultimately win. All their leaders are sworn not to give up until they are all dead. They are bound by oath to fight until the last and they will do so."

"As to Spanish atrocities, what do you know of them, of your own personal knowledge?" Dr. Danforth was asked.

"The position which I occupied with the insurgent forces, necessarily precluded my obtaining personal knowledge of the atrocities complained of. But, from the reports received at headquarters there is absolutely no doubt of their existence. I remember one little incident. It was last September. Some 3000 or 4000 Spanish soldiers had been sent to relieve Cascarro. In the fight which followed the Spanish column killed, among others, an insurgent captain. He was to have been promoted the next day to the rank of major. When we secured his body it was a horrible sight. Completely covered with bayonet wounds and machete cuts, hacked and stabbed with the most horrible, unnecessary cruelty. But from good sources I have heard and feel justified in asserting that men, women and children have been most outrageously treated by the Spaniards in nearly all the devastated parts of Cuba. Their homes have been burned, their property destroyed and they have been relegated to Weyler's 'zones of protection'—zones of starvation is what they should be termed."

"What, in your opinion, will be the next steps taken by the Spaniards in Cuba?"

"It is difficult to answer that question. But, it is to be presumed that Weyler will continue wandering about the island, certifying to the pacification of the provinces. According to reports current in the island when I left, Weyler will be recalled and Campos will be the man who will succeed him, and he will be instructed, broadly, to do the best he can under the circumstances."

"It is a shame," continued Dr. Danforth, with energy, "that United States citizens are not more thoroughly protected. As for the Spaniards, why, they shoot first and inquire after as to the standing of the man, American or Cuban, and then they say he was shot by his own friends. When I left the president and his party they were all filled with hope and trusting in the United States. Should the United States intervene, most emphatically, yes. I sincerely hope that the United States will soon decide to recognize the belligerency of the Cubans."

"How would that assist them?"

"Why, by giving the Cubans the right to float their bonds and by compelling the Spaniards to treat their prisoners with some show of consideration. If the Cubans were recognized as belligerents any Cuban taken prisoner would have a chance to be treated as a prisoner of war."

"What is the present condition of the Cuban insurgents?"

"Their condition is satisfactory. It is true they are hard pressed in the provinces, on account of want of rations, but as a whole they are doing very well. In Santiago De Cuba there are no cattle, but plenty of vegetables, and in the province of Puerto Principe there is an abundance of cattle and no vegetables. In Santa Clara, on the other hand, there is plenty of vegetables and the same holds good with the provinces of Matanzas and Havana. In Pinar Del Rio there are no cattle at all, only vegetables."

"As to arms and ammunition? How are the Cubans situated in that respect?"

"They still want arms and ammunition, and want them very badly."

ILL FATED PROSPECTORS.

Denver, Col., June 12.—The death of William H. Kern, of Leadville, Col., of yellow fever, in quarantine in New York yesterday, marks the total extinction of one party of prospectors who left Colorado last March to dig for gold in Bolivia. The other members of the party, Thomas Quayle, of Aspen, and Frank O. Keith and William Hahn, of Leadville, died of the fever in Bolivia. Of another party of four who went from Colorado to Bolivia about the same time, only William Hurley survives, and and he is reported to be lll in quarantine at New York.

The fate of these adventurers will probably stop emigration from Colorado to South America for some time Kern's father worried so much about his son's trip that his mind became unbalanced and since Memorial day he has been missing from his home in Buffalo, N. Y. It is feared he has committed suicide.

FOLEY'S JURY DISAGREED.

Liberty, Mo., June 12.—After once reporting a disagreement and being sent out again to deliberate, the jury in the Foley double murder case reported a second time that they were unable to reach a verdict. They were discharged and Judge Broaddus set the second trial for the fall term. The crowd of spectators were visibly disappointed when the jury disbanded, and after court adjourned there was some talk of lynching the prisoner. It is believed, however, that no trouble will result. Foley was much relieved at the turn the case had taken and confidently expressed the opinion that he would be acquitted at the next trial.

HIGHER

The Wheat Market Was Dull Today But the Price Advanced.

Liverpool Lower, Reflecting Yesterday's American Decline, Receipts Light.

Damage to the Danubian Crops the Cause of the Strength.

Wheat opened at very little change from yesterday's closing prices, there being nothing to start the market decisively either way. Liverpool was ½@¾d lower, merely reflecting yesterday's decline in American markets. Northwest receipts were small, 238 cars, against 340 last week and 499 a year ago. South Dakota sent more reports of grasshopper damage, but the area affected is small and the weather west was perfect. Traders were inclined to sell at first, and the price eased off, but when cables were received confirming the reports of damage to Danubian crops, a stronger feeling developed, and an advance occurred.

Chicago had 12 cars inspected into store and 74,000 bus withdrawn. Argentine shipped no wheat to Europe this week and Beerbohm's estimated the world's shipments for the week at only 5,600,000 bus. The clearances from both coasts of the United States and from Montreal, as reported by Bradstreet's for the week, were equal in wheat and flour to 1,830,000 bus against 2,620,000 bus the week before and 2,922,000 bus the similar week of last year.

Trading was dull on the Duluth board, July wheat opened ½c lower at 70¾c, and with light business sold up to 70⅝c at 9 o'clock. It ruled steady but dull during the last hour and closed with sellers at 70⅝c, an advance of ⅜c for the day. The mills bought 13,000 bus of cash stuff at 1½c over July, and shippers took 10,000 bus at ⅜c over July. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 72¼c, No. 1 northern, cash, 71⅜c; July, 70⅝c; September, 64⅝c. No. 2 northern, 69c. No. 3, 64¼@65¼c. Rejected, 480@63c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 72¼c; No. 1 northern 71½c. Rye, 34c. No. 2 oats, 21c No. 3 oats, 20½c. Flax, 76c.

Car inspection—Wheat, 55; oats, 56; rye, 7; barley, 28; flax, 12. Receipts—Wheat, 62,188 bus; oats, 71,739 bus; rye, 2625 bus; barley, 29,873 bus; flax, 6792 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 83,067 bus; oats, 102,500 bus; barley, 117,851 bus.

Cash, corn, No. 2, 24½c; No. 3 23½c. Cash, oats, No. 2, 18@¼c; No. 3, 17@ 19c. Barley, cash, No. 2, 29½@34c. Rye, cash, 33¾c; July, 33c; September, 33⅞c. THE LIVERPOOL MARKET.

Reserve, increase	$2,280,650
Loans, increase	1,810,000
Specie, decrease	42,100
Legal tenders, increase	3,287,500
Deposits, increase	3,855,400
Circulation, decrease	20,000

The banks now hold $17,601,475 in excess of the requirement of the 25 per cent rule.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Minneapolis, June 12.—Wheat, firmer; June, 71c; July, 69¾@71c; September, 617⅛c. No. 1 hard, 72¾c; No. 1 northern, 71½c. Receipts, 191 cars.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 207 Board of Trade.

Chicago, June 12.—Wheat ruled firmer today and closed at the call price, though the market was almost bare of future or important incidents. Cables, both English and continental, reflected our decline of yesterday and cash sales here were unimportant. The visible is expected to show only a moderate decrease for the week. Some reports of damage by grasshoppers in Dakota but the trade paid little attention to them. Paris cables said the weather was fine and wheat neglected and declining. This is strange considering their recent reports of crop damage. London cables stated that the damage to Danubian crops was confirmed and this was probably responsible more than anything else for today's strength here. The greater part of the buying was by September shorts and the trade shows more disposition to get into that future and let July alone.

Corn was firmer after an easy opening. Speculative offerings more moderate and trade better. Spot demand is not good and the cash market weak in comparison with futures.

Provisions firm with good buying of lard and ribs. The belief is that the English hogs have practically liquidated and the market is in good shape for an advance.

Puts, July wheat, 68⅝-½@68¾-⅞c.
Calls, July wheat, 69⅜@70⅝c.
Curb, July wheat, 69c bid.

Argument—
Six children start out from school on an expedition into the woods, but after some quarreling, separate and wander singly into the borders of an enchanted wood. Here, by order of the fairy queen, they are lured further on till they sink down exhausted, and are thrown into a deep sleep, by six fairies with poppy wands. Mother Goose, who was a guest at court, then requested the pleasure of transforming them into such characters of her own rhymes as they most resemble, and they are roused to find themselves Jack Horner, Bopeep, etc. Here they are kept at their tasks till a rescuing party of boy police, sent by the distracted teacher, comes to their assistance but the police fare little better, for, also lured on by fairy voices into the presence of the queen and court, they are about to "charge" when suddenly transfixed by her potent wand, they are held as rigid as so many statues. At length, however, all are released, and after wandering "through bog and brier," the live-long night, find their way back to their disconsolate teacher in the morning, thankful to be once more their proper selves, with a chance to correct their faults and resume their daily tasks in peace.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address

Two Baseball Games in Which the West Duluths May Play.

Bicyclists Claim the Police Showed Favoritism in Arrests Last Night.

Broken Truck Delays Street Cars For Half an Hour---Other News.

Two baseball games will be played at the West End park tomorrow afternoon. The first game which will be called at 2 o'clock will be between the West Duluth and Zenith clubs and will be of seven innings only. At its conclusion, the victorious club will cross bats with the Duluth Athletics for the championship of the head of the lakes. The West End rooters are confident that the West Duluth club will participate in both contests, for they consider that it will be a comparatively easy matter to defeat the Zenith Citys and that they will in the wind up win from the Athletics also. The management of the park will keep disorderly characters off the grounds and will maintain strict order.

POLICE SHOWED FAVORITISM.

Two of West Duluth's most popular young men were gathered in by the police while wheeling on London road last night, because they neglected to supply their wheels with lanterns. They were accompanied by young ladies, but as their wheels were properly equipped they were not taken into custody. One of the boys happened to have $4 in his pocket which he reluctantly gave up that he might escort his lady friend home. The other also made satisfactory arrangements with the officers and was released. Both claim that the police showed unjust discriminations in making arrests, permitting prominent persons who were known to them to ride unmolested while they gathered in a crowd that did not enjoy the official favor.

TRUCK BROKE DOWN.

The West Duluth street car line was tied up over half an hour this morning by the breaking down of a truck on which one of the large force main pipes was being hauled to Lakeside. The accident happened on the viaduct over the St. Paul & Duluth tracks.

JAMES KENEALY,
Local Forecast Official.

BRIGHTENING PROSPECTS.

Careful inquiry by the Buffalo Express has resulted in an estimate of 1,000,000 men who were idle in the autumn of 1896 who have obtained employment since that time. If this estimate is correct, the industrial conditions are so much improved that we may look forward with some degree of confidence to the resumption of business activity and general prosperity at a not distant date. The signs of brightening business which have been noticed in the East will soon be visible in the West. The depression reached us at a later date that it reached the East, and it is but natural that we should be the last to feel the effects of the improvement which is taking place.

The Philadelphia Press says: "There has been a steady advance toward a more prosperous business situation, and the sentiment has decidedly improved. The fact that the senate is at work at last on the tariff bill and that much is bein gaccomplished daily in the consideration of the measure has had a good deal to do with the general restoration of confidence which extends from one end of the country to the other."

A staid, conservative journal is the Philadelphia Ledger, but it sees brightening prospects on every hand. Here is what it says: "The fact is that there is already a more buoyant and hopeful feeling in trade circles, and that the returns of the commercial agencies, the only data approaching official reliability which are obtainable as to business conditions throughout the country, are full of promise, save to those who are hopelessly pessimistic. Confidence is a plant of slow growth, but there are substantial indications that business confidence is increasing and that it will be greatly accelerated and stimulated by the speedy consummation of pending tariff and expected currency legislation."

Last but not least we hear the New York Tribune re-echoing these stories of renewed prosperity. The Tribune says: "There has been a decided improvement in the state of business during the last week, due almost wholly to a more hopeful feeling. Many things have contributed to that feeling and perhaps the remarks of President McKinley and Secretary Gage giving reasons for patience and hopefulness were the most potent, but there were others more material in character. One was the distinct improvement in crop prospects, to which testimony was given in official reports from Texas, and from Kansas, and in commercial dispatches from several of the central states and from the Pacific coast. With these came further reports indicating every probability of a large foreign demand for American grain during the coming year. Scarcely less important were reports of considerable gain in the demand for products of important industries."

The reports of the commercial agencies this week are as cheering as these extracts from Eastern newspapers. A distinct gain in business is noted; the number of hands employed, the volume of new orders and the amount of work done are slowly increasing. There are several factors operating to produce the signs of improvement, according to Dun & Co. The prospect of good crops of wheat and cotton helps; growing demand from dealers whose stocks are gradually gaining consumption also helps, and in the money and exchange market large buying of American securities has an influence. In fact the indications are of a most encouraging character and it is not strange that hopefulness for the fall trade is gaining ground daily.

AN INFAMOUS MEASURE.

Governor Tanner of Illinois has affixed his signature to the Allen street railway bill, which was passed by the Illinois legislature at the request of Mr. Yerkes, the Chicago street railway magnate. This action was hardly unexpected. The governor made a pretence of being undecided as to the proper course to pursue and gave a hearing to the Chicago people who protested against the infamous measure, but it was well known that he would do as Mr. Yerkes desired and sign the bill.

The new law violates the principle of home rule and deprives the people of Chicago of the right which they should possess to regulate the street railways. It provides that the rate of fare for the first twenty years for which extensions may be granted by the council shall be 5 cents. The power to contract for a 4-cent fare, which that municipality now possesses, is taken from it. It provides that street railways may be operated by any motive power except steam locomotive engines. It is the belief of many that this provision authorizes street railway companies to change their motive power without consulting the local authorities.

The greatest interference with home rule is in that provision, which practically compels the municipality to deal with existing companies, and depriving it of the opportunity of giving franchises to new companies when the present franchises expire. The municipality is not left free to dispose of franchises by competitive methods. The city council is given power, without frontage petitions, at any time before its expiration, to extend for a period not exceeding fifty years any street railway ordinance now in force. Of course any new company could not get this privilege until the existing franchise has expired, nor can it get the privilege without frontage petitions and running the risk of being enjoined by any property-holder along the line of route. No better scheme could be devised for compelling the city council to grant to Yerkes and his associates the franchises about to expire, and upon terms made by the franchise-holding corporations themselves.

Another bad feature of the new law is that the council may not grant to one company the right to condemn the use of a portion of the tracks of another company. This provision will tend to prevent competition by making it practically impossible for any new company to get into the heart of the city. Street railway companies, too, are given almost unlimited rights of consolidation, without supervision or control by the authorities granting them their privileges. It is not strange, in view of these provisions, that the people of Chicago are indignant at the action of the legislature and that they should now be threatening to get even with Governor Tanner and the political machine which he represents, when the next state election is held.

FOOSEVELT ON GOOD ROADS.

One of the first things that attracted the attention of the leading citizens of New York after the necessary laws creating Greater New York had been secured, was: "How shall we furnish, for this vast city of nearly 3,000,000 inhabitants, good roads to take the place of bad ones that have existed along some of the choicest spots within our new borders?"

That would not have been an early question ten years ago. Indeed, it would not have been one of the first questions five years ago, but the much agitation of the good roads question the past few years has forced it to the front as one of the first questions for Greater New York citizens to take up. Hundreds of miles of roads which can be made the most popular drives, will be remodeled, made into highways that will do credit to Greater New York within the next two or three years, and the money invested will be well invested. In fact, I feel like defying any one to present a single instance where money has been invested in practical road building when it was not well invested.

Theodore Roosevelt, many years at the head of the United States civil service commission, for nearly three years at the head of the police and fire commission of New York and now the assistant secretary of the navy, one of the ablest and most brilliant men in the country, in speaking of Greater New York before the bill passed the legislature to permit of the consolidation of the great cities, said that no large city in the world was situated more advantageously and had a greater number of beautiful drives than the great American city would have, but that it was necessary to expend a few millions of dollars in putting those drives in proper condition. When asked if he thought that the millions would be forthcoming he promptly said: "Yes; it would be suicidal not to supply them. They will be supplied several years sooner than they would have been but for the sensible, business-like agitation of the good roads question carried on by the League of American Wheelmen and other citizens who have long realized the advantages which would accrue from good roads."

Few men in this country understand public sentiment better than Theodore Roosevelt. That he has guaged it correctly in the matter of good roads, so far as the numerous drives in Greater New York are concerned, need not be doubted. The practical demonstration that will be given in converting shabby drives within the bounds of Greater New York, roads that have been shabby for nearly a century, drives that will be the equal of any in the world as soon as supplied with good roadbeds, will add much interest to the good roads discussion and exert a powerful influence in extending the work of building good roads.

NOMINATING SENATORS.

A Wadena county journal recently urged that a candidate for United States senator should be nominated at the Republican state convention next year, in order to bring the selection of the senator closer to the people and to prevent the usual unseemly struggle in the legislature. The Herald expressed the opinion that while the idea might be a good one, there were some difficulties in the way, the principal one being that a fair expression of sentiment was not likely to be obtained at a state convention composed of delegates chosen because of their friendship for candidates for the governorship and other places on the state ticket. It was also pointed out that legislative candidates might not feel bound to follow the decision of the convention which had no hand in nominating them, and the well-known facts attending the last election of Senator Davis were cited.

The callow youth who "does politics" for the Minneapolis Journal essays a reply to The Herald's criticism, and says: "Its citation of the Davis candidacy in 1893 as an effort in the direction of nominating a candidate for senator is unfortunate. While Davis was indorsed by conventions of all sorts, in all parts of the state, there was no formal balloting or nomination and in no sense did the state convention make him the party candidate or attempt to commit the party to his re-election." The Journal's young man is either densely ignorant of what transpired at the state convention which endorsed Senator Davis, or he is purposely misrepresenting the facts in order to excuse the treacherous actions of the gang of political cut-throats who tried by the most despicable methods to defeat Senator Davis in the Republican legislative caucus.

The resolution endorsing Senator Davis as the candidate of the Republican party for re-election was introduced in the state convention of 1892 which was held to select delegates to the national convention at Minneapolis. On the platform alongside the chairman, sat Governor Merriam, who was supposed at the time to have senatorial aspirations. When the resolution was presented, the convention cheered, and the applause was renewed when Governor Merriam arose and seconded the resolution, thus pledging himself to support Senator Davis. The resolution was adopted unanimously. There was "no formal balloting or nomination," it is true. But why? Because the convention was so strongly in favor of Mr. Davis that not one of his opponents had the courage to present another name for consideration. A ballot would therefore have been a superfluous formality.

But when the Republicans met in caucus having secured a majority of the legislature, what happened? But a scant majority of the Republican senators and representatives went into the caucus. Senator Davis had only one majority. Yet he had been selected as the party's candidate at the state convention as definitely as were the candidates for state offices at the subsequent convention.:

Some of the crowd that thus treacherously knifed Senator Davis are dead politically today, and it was by such conduct that they dug their own political graves. But there are a few active politicians left in the Republican party in this state, and some of them reside in Minneapolis, who would pay just as little attention to the nomination of a senator by the state convention as did the gang of conspirators who tried to stab Senator Davis in the back.

THE NAVAL EXPENDITURES.

The navy department is passing through an era of economy which will detract very largely from its spectacular effect this year. There will be no series of fleet maneuvers this summer, as has been usual heretofore. There will be individual ship exercises and the usual movements of vessels while en route from place to place, but there will be no evolutions on a large scale. This is due to the desire of Secretary Long to reduce running expenses.

The Cuban war scare entailed an expense of over $3,000,000 for preparing vessels for sea and the secretary desires to make up this amount. This expenditure has left the navy in better condition than for many years and has led to some valuable lessons which have been productive of great good, and it is believed on all hands that the money has been well expended.

The Elk River Star News says: "There is nobody in particular advocating the bankruptcy bill but a few insolvents who want to repudiate their debts." Editor Dare was a member of the last legislature, and while he may not be financially embarrassed, he should not throw mud at honest men who have become insolvent through no fault of their own and are anxious to be placed in a position to begin life anew.

Yellow fever and smallpox are now aiding the Cuban insurgents. Spain cannot possibly win against such a combination.

Most of the cities and towns in Michigan are buying voting machines that cost about $200 apiece. They are constructed something on the order of the ordinary slot machine. It is claimed that these will obviate the necessity of recording and tallying clerks, judges, police officers and the like, thereby saving about 40 per cent annually in the cost of elections.

Notwithstanding it has been repeatedly stated that the name of the author must accompany every communication intended for publication, The Herald frequently receives letters from its readers with nothing to indicate their origin. Several are now on hand. They will not be published so long as their authors are unknown to the editor.

The Hon. Mr. Donovan of Bay, famed in paragraph and song as a high lonesome Democrat of the Michigan legislature, enjoyed, as the minority party, a greater degree of success than any member of the majority. Out of forty-four bills introduced by him, twenty-two became laws. Evidently Mr. Donovan attended strictly to business.

Speaker Gully of the British house of commons has just cast his deciding vote for the first time since assuming office, there having been a tie vote for the second reading of an unimportant bill. The New York Sun calls attention to the fact that it is thirty years since a speaker has voted.

Rev. William H. Noyes has resigned as a missionary in Japan of the American board, on the ground that he is uncertain whether he believes some of the doctrines inculcated by the board. It was his avowal of a belief in probation after death that brought about the famous controversy over that question in the board some years ago.

The typewriter whose blunder in copying a bill made necessary an extra session of the legislature of New Jersey has become an object of commendation rather than of censure. Inquiry by a committee of the legislature shows that her revision of the bill was an improvement, and was the means of saving the state $75,000.

The first municipal election in Greater New York is of tremendous importance from a party standpoint, owing to the vast patronage involved. The direct and tangible fruits of victory are 30,000 places of employment, the control and distribution of expenditures amounting to $75,000,000 a year, and eight years' control of the city government.

Senator Chandler of New Hampshire says: "A tariff law is necessary for the purpose of revenue, but it will not change hard times into prosperity simply because a statute is put on the books."

There is a world of truth in this remark by the Springfield, Mass., Republican: "Good housekeepers cut off desserts when it is necessary to economize, but the modern statesman, whether of city, state or nation, when the income runs short, only orders the more pudding and shortcake."

Governor Pingree of Michigan says: "The only honest way to tax the people is to tax all alike." The governor has struck the nail squarely on the head. The trouble with the present system is that it discriminates in favor of those who have the most money.

The Superior Leader is trying to make some of its readers understand why it is nauseating them with campaign political articles at a time when they prefer a rest from such stuff.

Plans have been prepared for a building fifty-nine stories high, which an English syndicate proposes to erect in New York. Was the tower of Babel as high as this?

The political millenium must be at hand. An Ohio man has declined an office. Ex-Governor Cox says he cannot accept the Spanish mission.

It is not strange that the New York police stopped the Maher-Sharkey fight, because it was so tame that it could hardly be called a fight.

Arresting bicyclists for failing to carry lanterns on a clear moonlight night is calculated to destroy all respect for the ordinance.

Delaware is a little state, but it does not intend to be behind its neighbors. Its last legislature granted 100 divorces.

AQUATIC PHILOSOPHY.

Alas how oft it is that honest toil must fail to find
Such happiness as greets the less deserving of mankind.
'Twas not the youth that rowed the boat who won the charmer dear
But the idler who sat gaily whispering nothings in her ear.

THE URBANA TRAGEDY.

New York Sun: Friday's event in Urbana notifies that town and the people of Ohio that they might as well disband their National Guard and turn the control of affairs over to the mob and let it rule undisputed. Shame on the people of Urbana and their mayor!

St. Louis Republic: The disgrace of the outbreak in a measure is shared by the whole country because it represents so complete a breakdown of civilization, but it is better that it should have happened at Urbana than in some community where past slavery would have given a color of truth to the charge that a negro cannot get justice.

Springfield (Mass.) Republican: It is time that someone in authority fought one of these mobs to the death, either of himself or the mob. Give us a martyr, if need be, to law and order, and build his monument high. This affair is true anarchy—the mob spirit. And it is growing more unrestrained. There have been other lynchings in Ohio within recent years, and what happens in Ohio may easily happen in New England. Respect the law, or we shall need a Bonaparte to teach us to obey.

Indianapolis News: The authorities at Urbana, Ohio, knew their business. The company of militiamen called out to protect from a mob a negro convicted of rape did their duty in opening fire, after repeated warnings, with the result of killing two people and wounding several others. If mobs everywhere met that kind of reception we should very speedily come upon the time when we wondered that there ever prevailed a state of society in which we had so little respect for law as to organize mobs.

Chicago Times-Herald: What can be said when such people, perhaps the quietest, most law-abiding, least excitable in the world, break out into a bloodthirsty fury and commit deeds that would almost put to blush cowboys on the River Trinity or planters' sons in Central Mississippi? The phenomenon can only be explained on the theory adopted by the cynical, that no amount of education, refinement, good deeds or calm living can quite obliterate the traces of the brute creation from which they tell us we are all descended.

Indianapolis Journal: In every way the Urbana affair is lamentable; in the purpose of a mob to violate the law which had already been vindicated in sentence of its extreme penalty, and in the panic of the commander of the militia company in firing upon the crowd when there seemed to be no occasion for it. A few steady men with fixed bayonets or even with the clubs of policemen could have resisted the mob at the time of the firing. In yielding later the militia, or whoever was responsible for their action, showed a lack of nerve and ordinary discipline.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: The lynching of Mitchell, the Ohio negro assailant of the white woman, was a bad affair, but the crime for which he was punished was hideous. In condemning the mob for taking the law into its own hands let us not forget the provocation which it had. Some crimes are so horrible and revolting that in dealing with them the ordinary processes of the law appear to many law-abiding men to be too slow and uncertain. Mitchell's was one of that class of crimes. In cases of this sort, where the guilt is clearly proven, the mob's violation of the law is only technical.

Detroit Free Press: It is no credit to the Ohio city that sentiment is against the militia rather than against those who by seeking to break down all authority and promoting mob rule made the intervention of armed force necessary. The militiamen did their duty as men sworn to uphold the law and protect society from the attacks of the enemies of good order. It may be said that they were too ready to use their rifles, but this does not relieve the lynchers of the responsibility of the deadly fire. They invited the fate that befell them in arraying themselves against the authority of the sheriff.

Chicago Chronicle: The negro was killed irregularly, but justifiably. He committed an offense far more heinous than simple murder. True, it is not so classed in criminal codes calmly and deliberately enacted, and it may seem therefore to be the sober sense of the community that the offense is not in fact as bad as murder. But when the outraged victim of a negro's lust and brute strength has just sufficient stamina left to rise from her bed and denounce the scoundrel, who thereupon admits his guilt, his sudden and violent death at the hands of an outraged community is a matter of course. The community at Urbana would be less than human, indeed, it would be lily-livered and lacking in gall, were it to allow this ravisher to live.

SHOTS AT THE PULPIT.

Globe-Démocrat: Ten colored churches in New Orleans have formed a league called "The Church Debt Liquidating company." A trust to pay off church debts will be allowed to go ahead by common consent.

Minneapolis Tribune: The little town of Centerville, Iowa, has had to use severe measures to get rid of a so-called "evangelist," who devoted his services to abusing everybody and everything in the community in the name of religion. As he left town upon the urgent invitation of a committee of citizens they presented him with a basket of ancient eggs on the installment plan.

Chicago Chronicle: It is said that the only reason that Father Lalnez, the friend and companion of Loyola, was not made a saint at Rome this week was that no one has been able to make head or tail of his manuscripts. This shows that Mother Necessity gave birth to the typewriter too late and that her procrastination has kept this and other good men from the calendar.

Indianapolis Journal: The appearance of Pope Leo XIII as a poet is not more surprising than the subject of the poem he is said to have written. The pope is 87 years old and has never been suspected of being a student of dietetics or cookery, yet at that advanced age he is said to have completed a poem of eighty stanzas on the delights of good housekeeping and cooking. A brief outline of the poem suggests that the pope may have obtained his inspiration from some good American cook book.

Philadelphia Record: Rev. Dr. Newton of All Saints' church, New York, in his sermon on Sunday last rightly deprecated as unwise the present tendency to make the community abstemious, socially pure and honest by means of legislative enactment. Evangelization by compulsion is an iridescent dream, as Mr. Ingalls would say. The moment the church, in its battle with the world, the flesh and the devil tries to push the state forward as its substitute, that moment it discredits its cause and does infinite harm to the interests of religion and morality.

Topeka Mail: We notice that the clergy of New York City are shocked at the small per cent of the people of that city who are church going people, and they are wondering what has caused the decrease in percentage of church people. Our idea of the situation is, the churches do not keep up with the times. If a minister branches off in a path which is less dismal and more acceptable to his parishioners he is usually chucked or disciplined for it. We may be wrong about it, but we believe orthodoxy must unbend itself if it catches the rising generation.

NELSON AND BUCKMAN.

Minneapolis Journal: Senator Knute Nelson has finally shown his hand in the collectorship fight, and is said to be out for C. R. Buckman, of Little Falls. Word to this effect reached Minneapolis the other day in a roundabout way, but there is no doubt that it is reliable. Senator Davis is for J. M. Dinnert, of Owatonna, and so is Congressman Tawney. Nelson, as already stated, wants Buckman, and wants him badly—so badly, in fact, as to hang up the appointment. The president, who has been advised of this difference between the senators, has called the appointment off and says he will not do anything until they get together.

In coming out for Buckman, Senator Nelson, no doubt, is actuated by personal motives, and a desire to do something for a warm political friend. Buckman did him a great deal of good during the senatorial election of 1895, coming to St. Paul and entering the thickest of the fight, and staying until Nelson had been elected. Dinnert, on the other hand, was for Washburn, and did all he could to defeat Nelson. Last year Buckman took off his coat for Clough. The gubernatorial contest was a continuance, so far as some parts of the state are concerned, of the old senatorial fight; at least, Nelson so regarded it, and did all he could for Clough. Dinnert, on the other hand, did nothing in Steele county, which sent its delegates against Clough. This is the way Nelson probably reasons the case. But whatever his motive, he is for Buckman, and it is understood will do all in his power to bring about his appointment.

SILVER REPUBLICANS.

Chicago Journal (Rep.): When representatives from twenty-five states met in this city yesterday and adopted a plan of organization for the Silver Republican party they put up a sign board on the administration road reading: "This Way to Defeat." The Republican congress and the McKinley administration cannot afford to ignore that sign. The people will turn to new political gods when the old refuse to hear their prayers. Nothing could be more natural. Large numbers of the people are now forsaking their allegiance to the party in power because that party refuses to do anything to relieve the country's distress. It wastes months in the discussion of a tariff bill many of the proposed provisions of which are manifestly in the interests of monopolists where those interests are in conflict with the interests of the people. It sends a commission to Europe in search of the bimetallic pot at the end of the international rainbow, and it persistently ignores the demands of business men for a speedy settlement of the tariff question and for the reform of the currency and of the banking laws. Having gotten into power it seems to have settled down to the business of dispensing private benefits to the neglect of the public good. The result follows logically. An increasing number of people are turning in disgust and anger from those who ignore their despair to those who hold out new hope. That hope may be a delusion, but the men who are holding it out must be credited with sincerity. The leaders of the movement are the men who bolted the St. Louis convention, and many who looked upon them as traitors then now see them as heroes and wish they had followed them. It is believed that if these men get into power they would at least do something. This growing sentiment is portentious. It contains a grave threat. It means that if the administration continues to ignore the despair of the people the people will remove it from power. The men who were elected to save the country from the calamity of a debased coinage are taking exactly that course which will deliver it to the advocates of debased coinage.

Minneapolis Tribune (Rep.): Ex-Congressman Towne of this state is without doubt one of the ablest of the free silver leaders, and the Chicago conference has acted wisely in placing him at the head of the national silver committee. Mr. Towne's zeal and activity is fully equal to his ability, and if there is any possible chance to make anything out of the silver movement he is the man to do it.

A BACHELOR'S REFLECTIONS.

New York Press: If women wore trousers, their feet would get bigger and more important.

When a man can't go out of the house for the rain he can't stay in the house for the flies.

The first day a man wears a straw hat he feels as funny as a girl that has just had her hair washed.

In Duluth's Social Circles.

A number of weddings have taken place this week and it shows that the popularity of June as a matrimonial month has not waned. It will be noticed that West Duluth is monopolizing the weddings, furnishing several—more than all of the other sections of Duluth combined. The week has been a quiet one. A dancing party last evening was the most conspicuous event. The young people are all talking of the coming Assembly and it will be a delightful party without doubt. School commencement exercises will receive no end of attention next week. There will be the high school exercises and those at Maynard hall also. An increase is also noted in the number of outdoor parties, dances at Lester Park, etc. The summer season is undoubtedly at hand.

The production of the Gibson pictures at the Lyceum Tuesday evening was the talk of all society this week, and it is a subject that has not yet been dropped. Their success was all that had been predicted. The posing in every picture was effective and followed the Gibson drawing faithfully. The amount of work incident to giving such an entertainment is never apparent to the audience and is scarcely appreciated. One might think that it is a comparatively easy matter to present a series of pictures such as those, but there is any amount of work connected with it. Mrs. James T. Hale and Mrs. G. W. Horton has general charge of the arrangements. In arranging the pictures and posing they were fortunate in having the assistance of Miss Alice Cook. Being an artist herself, she was able to render invaluable assistance in arranging the pictures. The audience was a large and fashionable one.

NO SALES REPORTED.

Iron Ore is Still a Drug on the Market.

The Hull mine, one of the Consolidated properties is now shipping a little ore to the docks in this city, making the second Rockefeller mine that is sending ore to market, the Ohio having been in operation for three weeks. Notwithstanding the fact that these mines are making light shipments, no sales of Mesaba ore have yet been made by the Consolidated, but that an early demand is expected is quite evident. The Consolidated is in shape to rush immense quantities of ore to market on very short notice as soon as conditions require it. The shipments now being made are for the sake of economy in the general mining operations and there is no certainty that they will continue for any definite length of time.

Made a Depository.

The board of audit yesterday afternoon designated the American Exchange bank as a county depository. The board of county commissioners, at the special meeting held yesterday afternoon, received the proposition of the bank to take $150,000, accompanied by its bond in the sum of $300,000 with M. J. Forbes, H. M. Peyton, George Spencer, A. R. Macfarlane, J. C. Hunter and J. H. Upham as sureties. After the bond had been approved by the commissioners the bank was designated as a county depository by the board of audit.

Careless Riders Fall.

Careless wheelmen probably receive more falls on Superior street between Fifth and Sixth avenues west than at any other point in the city. The street railway tracks are there connected by a cross switch, which bicycle riders attempt to cross at full speed without changing their course to strike the rails squarely. The result is that the wheels are knocked from under them and they are thrown to the pavement. Several times during the past few days riders who have fallen here have narrowly escaped being run over by street cars.

Beautifying Lincoln Park.

The main driveway in Lincoln park is being extended a considerable distance. It is being graded to conform to the older part of the road. The park now presents a very attractive appearance. Can't Eat

This is the complaint of thousands at this season. They have no appetite; food does not relish. They need the toning up of the stomach and digestive organs, which a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla will give them. It also purifies and enriches the blood, cures that distress after eating and internal misery only a dyspeptic can know, creates an appetite, overcomes that tired feeling and builds up and sustains the whole physical system. It so promptly and efficiently relieves dyspeptic symptoms and cures nervous headaches, that it seems to have almost "a magic touch."

A CENTENARIAN,

An English Physician Thinks Everyone Should Live 110 Years.

Sir Benjamin Richardson, the distinguished English physician and writer, says that seven out of every ten sound and reasonable people ought to live to be 110 years old, and would do so if they "took care of themselves."

The fact that there have been centenarians and that some are still living in every country of civilization is proof that the human machine is capable of lasting as long as Sir Benjamin says it ought to last.

A scientist who has studied the question of longevity for years discovered that coffee drinkers as a rule broke down early in life and seldom if ever reached the 100 mark. He attributed this to the poisonous alkaloids in the berry, and at once turned his attention to the discovery of a beverage that would taste the same as the coffee, but be a food instead of a stimulant. He was successful in preparing a number of grains which produce a beverage that has the rich deep seal brown color of Mocha, and the taste of Java Coffee. This new drink has all of the food properties of the grains and rebuilds the lost gray matter in the nerve centers, preventing Paresis and nervous prostration.

A number of the best physicians in the country have made experiments with this new coffee, which is called Postum Cereal Food Coffee, and are now not only using it in their own families, but in the cure of patients by the use of Postum in place of coffee.

THEY WANT THE ROAD.

Virginia Citizens Are Working Hard For It.

The citizens of Virginia are working with all their united force to prevail upon the board of county commissioners to extend the Miller trunk road from Virginia north to the junction with the Tower and Itasca road, which runs west from Tower. One of the county commissioners who was in Virginia recently says that he never saw such a crowd of hustlers in his life. He went up on private business, but from the time he entered the city until he departed he was constantly besieged by arguments in favor of making the extension. He was at least much impressed with the earnestness of the people, if not with the validity of their arguments.

The matter came up at the last meeting of the board, but was not acted upon and it will probably come up again. The Virginians urge among other reasons that they want to have the country north of them developed, and that this may only be done by a road. The extension is opposed by the Tower people, and the dispute between the two cities reveals the real reason of the importunities. Virginia desires to have a chance of competing for the Rainy Lake freight and passenger traffic, while Tower is well satisfied to have all of it going her way.

If the Virginia extension were granted it would make two roads between Duluth and the Rainy Lake country, one about as handy as the other, and the Virginians feel that it is reasonable to expect that a part of the Rainy Lake trade would be diverted in its direction. The Rainy Lake trade is no inconsiderable item. It is helping Tower out a great deal, and it would increase the resources of Virginia quite as much. Hence the rivalry between the chief cities of the Mesaba and Vermilion ranges.

Unnecessary Expenses.

To the Editor of The Herald:

As I have been accused in public and threatened to have my head knocked off for writing the article appearing in your paper of June 10, from Fond du Lac signed "Tax Payer," by E. B. Glass, our street commissioner, and in presence of his son-in-law, our policeman, I wish to deny authorship of the same, but to emphatically enter my approval of the same, and to further add that the half has not been told—not only in regard to an additional burden having been imposed in the way of increased street commissioner expenses, but because we have been forced to accept other additional expenses.

When Fond du Lac was a village, our street commissioner for a good portion of the time, and during the construction of a portion of the canal, as it is called, acted as street commissioner, policeman, pound master and health officer, all for the sum of $50 per month, and never complained of over work or under pay. We now have a street commissioner at $40 and perquisites; a policeman at $65 and perquisites; total, $105 and perquisites. There has been turned into the city treasurer's hands the amount of $60,000 and no perquisites except the privilege of being abused by the present officers. The running expenses of these two officers at present are more than the official expenses of the whole village of Fond du Lac before we went into the city. We have other expenses equally as unreasonable—the same at New Duluth. During the construction of all the street and canal work at both Fond du Lac and New Duluth our street commissioner and their's were policemen and filled both offices well, giving perfect satisfaction. There are others.

SPARS AS SMOKE STACKS.

A New Wrinkle Causes Fun For Captains.

Shipbuilding on the great lakes has made rapid strides in the past two years, and the average tonnage has come very near to doubling itself. In this progress a number of new ideas were developed and among them one which has been a source of not a little perplexity to that portion of the public which spends some of its time on the docks watching the big freighters. This is illustrated by an incident which occurred at the Sault recently while the new Bessemer Steamship company's tow barge Jenney was passing through.

The barge was sailing smoothly along in tow of the steamer when a very much agitated individual ran along the dock, waving his arms windmill fashion at the vessel.

"Hey, there! Hey, there, captain," he gasped out spasmodically.

"Hey, yourself. What's the row," returned the captain.

"Your spar is burning up," stuttered the excited one.

The captain looked up at a forward spar from the top of which smoke was streaming. Greatly to the astonishment of the excited individual, the captain laughed with apparent enjoyment. The waving arms flopped disconsolately down at his side, and he stopped in amazement on the pier. The barge kept moving meanwhile, and by the time the man had recovered it was too far away for explanations. The man shook his head and gazed at the burning spar, troubled with suspicions that the captain was a party to a plot to burn up the vessel. Then a better-informed bystander came up and relieved him by an explanation.

Three of the latest of the new tow barges are fitted out with hollow metal spars forward. The big tow barges carry steam steering apparatus and pumps which require engines nearly as large as those of a tug. In the old barges the smoke is carried away by an ordinary smokestack. In these new ones it is carried away through the hollow spars. This causes a good deal of mystification among the uninitiated on the docks, an da great deal of amusement for the masters and the crews of the barges that are so equipped.

The barges carrying smokestacks disguised as spars are the Jenney and Thomas of the Bessemer line, and the Antrim of the American Transportation company. All are new boats of the vintage of 1897. In the Bessemer boats the spars are cut square off at the top to allow the smoke to escape. In the Antrim the illusion is heightened by the fact that the smoke spar comes to a point like any other spar. For some distance down from the top there are slits from which the smoke emerges, and there is also an opening at the point. At the sight of smoke coming from all these orifices in plentiful quantities the spectator who is not acquainted with the new wrinkle is not to be blamed for imagining that the spar is burning.

VALENCIA INCIDENT.

Captain Skillings Tells of the Firing By Spaniards.

New York, June 12.—The Ward line steamer Valencia, Capt. Skillings, arrived here today from Cuban ports. In relation to the firing on the Valencia by the Spanish cruiser Maria Mercedes, it is learned that shortly after noon on Thursday, May 27, as the ship was leaving the harbor of Guanatanamo, having already saluted the forts and taken down her colors, the Spanish cruiser Maria Mercedes bore down and fired a blank shot across the Valencia's bow. This was quickly followed by a solid shot, which dropped close under the ship's stern. The Valencia then showed her colors and the cruiser quickly withdrew and steamed towards Santiago.

Capt. Skillings, while not willing to make any statement regarding his encounter with the cruiser, said that the Valencia was no stranger to the cruiser, whose commander was well aware that she was engaged in the service of the Ward line. It was publicly reported at Santiago that the cruiser's captain openly stated that he knew the Valencia was an American steamer, but he fired on her purposely to compel her to show her colors.

THE JOINT CELEBRATION.

Cycle Club and Clan Stewart Are Working Hard.

Clan Stewart has completed arrangements with the Duluth Cycle club to celebrate on Monday, July 5, with a series of joint sports on a scale unprecedented in the Northwest. The St. Louis county fair grounds have been secured for the day, and the fine half-mile race track will be used for the bicycle and also the foot races. The Cycle club has arranged for nine events, and the prizes will be on a percentage basis. This will give some handsome prizes, and all that will be wanted is a good day to bring the people to the grounds in thousands. Wheelmen from all over are expected, and there is no question but several new records will be made. The club committee is untiring in its efforts to make the bike races a great success.

The Clan committee is putting up a series of good prizes for the many contests, which will bring competitors from all over the Northwest. It is needless to say that the events will comprise all the many contests included in Caledonian games, from a sack race up to highland dancing. Clan Cameron from Superior, as also Clan Gordon from Minneapolis, will have teams in the tug-of-war against Clan Stewart.

Music will be furnished for dancing in the large fair building all day, and the many contests will be on so thick and fast that Barnum's 3-ring circus will not be in it. It is expected that excursion rates will be given on the range trains and a large crowd will be the result. The cycle committee of arrangements is composed of E. F. Blowers, S. M. Linander and A. F. Dorner; while Clan Stewart is represented by W. D. Gordon, Simon Clark and John Christie.

RIGHT OF APPEAL.

Involved in a Case to Be Heard Today.

The question whether the law contains an authority for an appeal from the municipal courts of the cities of Tower and Virginia, which was raised by a couple of test suits brought last week, was scheduled to come up this afternoon before the three judges of the district court. At noon it looked as though two judges, Judges Ensign and Moer, would hear it, as Judge Cant was tied up apparently for all day in the fight over the occupancy of Arthur avenue by the Northern Pacific and St. Paul & Duluth roads.

The question is raised by two parties who were defeated in civil suits in the courts named, and who desired to appeal to the district court. The justices refused to allow appeals, one on the ground that there is no authority in the law for such an appeal and the other on the ground that the costs of the lower court had not been paid. Both involve the same question, and it is an important one to the residents of the cities of the county.

FAVORED

Police Did Not Treat All Alike in Last Night's Bicycle Raid.

Several Prominent People Including a County Official Allowed to Go.

For This Reason Chief Hansen Asked That All Be Released.

The open season for hunting bicyclists without lights has begun and, in consequence, such found London road as hard a road to travel last evening as Jordan is said to be in the old plantation song. Fifteen officers lay in ambuscade along the favorite thoroughfare of the wheelmen and the bicyclists who have been trusting to luck on the lamp question found that it was not their night. The covey that was bagged numbered fifteen. Ten of these gave up their wheels and walked home, while five put up the $5 bail required in lieu of their wheel to secure their appearance this morning.

The raid was planned by that Napoleon of bicyclist hunters, Secretary Force, and the success of the expedition again vindicates his right to his title. The road was operated by the police last night in what may be called the "block" system. The line was divided into sections, or "blocks," as the railroad men say, a squad of officers being assigned to each. The bicyclists derelict in the matter of lights were also blocked, but this is anticipating. The whole road, from Tenth avenue east to the eastern terminus, was covered, and there was nothing for the wight without a lamp to do but surrender or take to the woods. It is said that numbers chose the latter alternative, arriving home via byways and alleys at all hours of the night.

Each squad of officers had one of its number stationed a little distance away who summoned each offender to stop as he approached. If the order was disobeyed and safety sought in flight the squad gathered in the game. Most of the captures were made at the Iron Range crossing. One of those taken was a county official who, in company with another rider, also "running dark," was bowling along close in the rear of a rider with a light. It seems the official started with a light. Meeting two friends without any and who were very much afraid that they would be run in, the official's lamp was, at his suggestion, put on the wheel of one of the others, who ran ahead, the official and the other one riding in the wake. The police let the official go as they did several people who are rather prominent in the city.

In discussing the matter today many wheelmen have expressed the opinion that it is both ridiculous and unfair to require bicyclists to carry lights on a moonlight night as last night was.

Some of the unlucky ones who were netted last night appeared before Judge Boyle this morning. They pleaded guilty and were let off with suspended sentences at the instance of Chief Hansen. Dr. Goffe and E. Pearl pleaded not guilty at first, but changed their pleas when it became apparent that those who pleaded guilty were to be let off easy. Those who appeared this morning were James Eastman, Mack Cowan, T. Lyle and A. Rubenack. C. B. Eskelson and J. E. Pake, who deposited bail last night, forfeited it by failing to present themselves. Those who left their wheels for security and meandered home afoot were L. Dworschack, J. Berrigan, Fred Farmer, James Leander, G. H. McEwen and a man named Mitchell, whose initials were not secured. Some of them had not appeared at noon and Chief Hansen said that officers would be sent after them.

Chief Hansen gave as a reason for his intercession this morning the fact that it had come to his knowledge that some of his officers had released several influential people who had been arrested. That being the case, he said that he thought the others should be let down easy as a matter of justice. The chief was pretty hot over the failure of the officers to obey his orders and the fur flew at a private seance he held with them. He says the action of the department in asking that leniency be shown in this instance does not mean that the ordinance will not be enforced in the future.

Referee's Findings Filed.

Frank Crassweller, appointed referee in the partnership settlement of John O'Connor against Peter McNaughton, filed findings this morning. The parties formerly ran a saloon and livery business at Eveleth and Virginia, and in November, 1895, they dissolved, O'Connor taking the Eveleth outfit and McNaughton taking the Virginia property, including some card and other tables owned by the partnership and one Smith.

The referee finds that McNaughton has received out of their business $534.54 more than O'Connor, which he has not accounted for to the latter. The referee confirms the division and orders McNaughton to pay half the above sum to O'Connor.

MONEY FOR EXPLORATIONS.

Funds Supplied For Prospecting Gunflint Lake Country.

The Evening Herald learns today that George Rupley and J. C. Hunter, who have had the active management of the new railroad and iron mining scheme in Cook county, have had $25,000 placed at their disposal by the capitalists who are backing the scheme, to be used in the exploration work now in progress. On the result of this work will depend whether or not the railroad from Grand Marais to Gunflint lake will be built. Steam drills have been in operation on the iron formation long enough now to determine the commercial value of the deposit, but what showing has been made the projectors of the enterprise are not yet ready to make public. It is certain, however, that capital in abundance is ready to build the railroad and develop the mines just as soon as positive assurance is had that high grade ore in paying quantities is available. Old prospectors who are thoroughly familiar with the country say that there is no question as to both the quantity and quality of the ore, and that as soon as those who have the enterprise in hand have acquired all the property they desire, the work of construction will begin.

Should big mines be developed in the vicinity of Gunflint lake, their output could be brought to the lake much cheaper than that from the mines at Ely and Tower, the haul being but forty miles.

Prescott Works Claims to Be Paying Off Promptly.

An alderman is authority for the statement that some of the employes of the D. Clint Prescott company, which is building the pumping engines, had recently offered him a check from the company for wages at a discount of 15 per cent. One of the men, the alderman stated, said that the checks offered, which were dated June 15, were for work done in April. According to the story of this man, they are regularly paid in checks bearing date the 15th of the month following that in which the pay roll on which the checks are issued was allowed.

The story of the men was denied at the office of the company today. It was stated there that for work performed the first half of each month the men are paid in checks bearing date the 15th of the following month. The pay roll for this time is allowed between the 15th and the end of the month. For the work done in the latter half of the month the men are paid in cash when the pay roll for that time is allowed, usually within the first ten days of the month following. According to the statement made by the company, the men carry the checks for their wages for the first half of each month about two weeks after the pay roll is allowed.

REPORTS OF A SALE.

Consolidated Said to Have Disposed of Considerable Ore.

It is reported here today that the Consolidated Iron mines has negotiated the sale of a large amount of ore at Cleveland this week, but it was impossible to obtain any particulars concerning it at the offices of the company in this city today. It was stated, however, by one of the officials that a big sale had been made by agents of the company, but that the amount and price paid was not known. If this report is verified there will be renewed activity all along the Mesaba range within a few days.

Alfred Merritt Released.

In the matter of the assignment of the American Loan and Trust company, Judge Cant this morning made an order relasing Alfred Merritt from all liability on two notes amounting to $8000 now held by the Alpena Banking company as security for a note of $24,817.92 made by the trust company. The collateral notes were made by James Billings and endorsed by C. C., A. R. and Alfred Merritt, and the latter is to be released upon payment of 25 per cent of the amount due.

CHARTER

Resolution Accepting Sheehan Charter Amendment Has Been Prepared.

Judges to Be Asked to Name a Board of Fifteen Persons.

Mr. Gay Not Likely to Submit a Proposition Monday Night.

At present it does not appear that there will be very much especially important business before the council Monday evening. An ordinance declaring the adoption of the provisions of the Sheehan amendment and requesting the judges of the district court to appoint a charter board of fifteen persons, as provided by the act, is in the hands of the ordinance and judiciary committee and may be reported.

There will be no report this week, probably, from the board of public works on the cost of strengthening the bridges on Grand avenue for the contemplated Spirit Lake extension of the street railway company's line. The board caused an estimate to be made last summer, the figures being as follows: Bridge at Sixty-seventh avenue west, $966; bridge at Sixty-second avenue west, $1758; bridge at Fifty-third avenue west, $822; total, $7754. It was gathered that the board desires to go over the figures with the view of revising them, if necessary.

Nor will there be any report from the board on the laying of the 30-inch cast iron supply main from Fifteenth avenue east to Piedmont avenue west, on First and Fourth streets, and distribution mains in the territory between Twelfth avenue east and Twenty-fifth avenue west.

There will be no report Monday evening from the board, either, o nthe cost of duplicating the present system of mains and pipes of the gas and water company. That being the case, it is safe to say that the forthcoming proposition from Mr. Gay on behalf of the bondholders will not be unfolded Monday, either. Mr. Gay desiring to wait until after the report has been received. Mr. Gay, by the way, has recently conferred with the English bondholders, it is said, and when he speaks it will be for them as well as the holdings represented by his firm.

The schedule of salaries reported by the fire commissioners has been in committee two weeks, and it begins to look as if it is in a pigeon hole.

A report will probably be received on the request of the comptroller for another clerk. It is said that the request for more help in this department will not have perfectly smooth sailing.

MR. FREDRICKSON AGAIN.

Mr. Patton Gave Him Another Jar Today.

Mr. Patton jarred Contractor Fredrickson again this morning. It was on the matter of mortar sand this time. Mr. Patton, while roaming about at Lakewood, saw a pile of what he describes as the poorest sand he ever saw—it was more like loam, he says—near the mortar bed. While he was viewing it Mr. Fredrickson happened along.

"Oh, that is not for mortar," said the latter. "That is to be mixed with clay and used to put under the dock where I unload material."

As he spoke, Mr. Fredrickson pointed down to the dock, some distance away.

"Why didn't you unload it down there, then?" inquired Mr. Patton.

"The men couldn't drive around this way," answered the contractor.

"Why didn't you have them drive around the other way, then?" rejoined Mr. Patton.

To this question Mr. Fredrickson made the reply that he did not know. Mr. Patton said that he is convinced that the sand was intended to go into the mortar.

Mr. Patton found that the Hugo pipe was not being laid to grade, the result being that the holes overlapped. Instructions were given to block it up.

Bachelors and Benedicts.

The Bachelors and Benedicts will play a game of baseball at Zenith park tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The game will be for the benefit of Johnny Mack, an old-time song-and-dance man who has descended in his latter days to hard times and troubles which it would need all th merriment he has caused in his palmy days to offset. The game is intended to help him out momentarily from the burden of financial ills caused by a superabundance of physical ones. The line-up will be as follows:

Benedicts.		Bachelors.
Tyler	third base	Mitchell
Campbell	right field	Fitger
Allen	short stop	Sheehy
Forrestall	center field	Sharp
Taylor	second base	Duclos
Gibbs	catcher	Boyer

ANOTHER BOTTLE SCHEME.

A prominent Michigan steamboat captain has what he alleges to be a new and important scheme. He is of the opinion that there should be laws passed compelling all lake and ocean craft to carry strong bottles with the respective names of the ships blown in them, to be thrown overboard during heavy storms. When a boat went down with all on board, and one of these bottles belonging to her was picked up, it would be known positively that its contents are not a fake. Bottles and blanks might be furnished by the government and certain rules prescribed for their use. There should be a penalty also against their use for any other purpose. Had such a system been in vogue in the past positive information might have been received from many ships the loss of which are now involved in mystery.

WANTED HER AT DETROIT.

A Detroit vesselman has afforded the following information to the News: "There was an effort made last winter to get the whaleback passenger steamer Christopher Columbus to drop its fight with the Goodrich Transportation company for a route between Milwaukee and Chicago, and come to Detroit this season and run between Detroit and Cleveland. The owners of the Columbus said they would come providing the Detroit and Cleveland people didn't go below 50 cents on the fare to Cleveland. They intended to charge $1 each way, and run in the morning from Detroit. I've no doubt Grummond was pushing the scheme. They finally concluded to stay on the Milwaukee route, and buck the Virginia for another year. They get $1 fare there."

"I heard of some such plan last February," said Manager Carter of the Detroit and Cleveland line. "It was a matter of no importance to us in the condition matters were in. It would have been a good thing for them to come, so far as we were concerned," he added significantly.

MORE BUOYS NEEDED.

The lighthouse supply boat Marigold is in port on her regular trip to furnish the lighthouses with coal and supplies. While here her commander will be asked by local tug men to put in a few more buoys up the river or to have them put in. It is said that there are not enough in the river at present.

KILL PREJUDICE

When it Stands in the Way of Health.

People Who are Prejudiced Against Medicine and Believe Chronic Dyspepsia Can Not Be Cured, Read This.

Nearly every citizen of Jackson and Jackson county knows, or at least has heard of, Fred C. Miller, the owner of the wood and coal yard on the corner of Mechanic and Washington streets. If there is any one thing Mr. Miller is proud of it is the fact that everyone who knows him or had any dealing with him knows that his word is as good as his bond.

About a year and a half ago Mr. Miller, whose health has always been very good began to fail, and the food which he took did not seem to be properly assimilated. He felt a general weakness overcoming him and he consulted his physician and took his prescriptions, but without getting any relief.

But here let us repeat Mr. Miller's own statement as made to a representative of the Industrial News:

I was suffering from indigestion, which caused severe pains in the stomach, Sleeplessness, which would last from three to four nights before I would become so exhausted I would fall asleep toward morning. My business suffered for the care I was unable to give it in my exhausted condition.

This stage of my condition did not come all at once, for I carried in my memoranda a statement that the manufacturers of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets made in the Industrial News for almost a year before I tried the tablets.

The day I began to take them I was suffering severely the pains that only a dyspeptic knows of. In one hour after taking a tablet the pain was gone.

You can not know my surprise and pleasure, but from that moment I took hope and began to study the directions and diet as recommended. I took six boxes, then, to see if I had been permanently benefited. I left off taking them and waited in fear to see the old restless again, but to my greatest satisfaction waited in vain.

In one week from the time I began to take the tablets I was sleeping as sweet as a baby. The fear of eating was gone. My food did me good. I was happy, likewise my wife and children, and I gladly give this testimony. I am 46 years of age and have suffered more or less from my childhood with weakness of the stomach, and I anticipate that from time to time will have to use the tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. They are in lozenge form, pleasant to take, and contain nothing but pure pepsin, vegetable essences, fruit salts and bismuth, scientifically compounded. They are made by the Stuart company, of Marshall, Mich., and your druggist will tell you that they give universal satisfaction.

A NEW DYSPEPSIA CURE

Over 6,000 People in the State of Michigan Cured in 1894 by this New Preparation.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the new discovery for stomach troubles, is claimed to have cured over 6000 people in the state of Michigan alone in 1894. These tablets have become so popular with physicians and people who have any form of indigestion that they have the indorsement of such physicians as Dr. Harlandson and Dr. Jennison as being the safest, most reliable remedy for sour stomach, chronic dyspepsia, gas, bloating palpitation, headache, constipation and in all cases where the appetite is poor or the food imperfectly digested.

It is safe to say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any kind of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. They are not a secret patent medicine, but composed of vegetable and fruit essences, pure pepsin, Golden Seal, ginger and the digestive acids. They are pleasant to take, can be carried in the pocket and they cure because they digest the food properly before it has time to ferment and poison the blood.

Druggists everywhere sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full-sized packages, at 50 cents. A book on Stomach diseases and thousands of testimonials sent free by addressing the Stuart company, Marshall, Mich.

IS IT A TRIFLE?

That Common Trouble, Sour Stomach, Now Known to be the Source of Serious Diseases.

"Sour stomach" is the common name for acid dyspepsia, and because it is a common everyday trouble with many people they have come to look upon it as of little consequence as affecting the general health. Nevertheless, the most serious diseases have their beginning from this very condition. It is caused in the first place by weakness of the stomach, which, instead of promptly digesting and disposing of the food, allows it to lie in the stomach for hours fermenting, causing gas, sour risings in the mouth, heartburn, headaches, oppression, despondency, dullness, etc.

The blood is thin, impure and circulation poor simply because it is replenished from this mass of fermenting, half digested food. This condition of the stomach cannot continue very long without deranging the nervous system, the kidneys, heart, liver or lungs. Whichever is weakest will break down first.

Pure blood, strong nerves and muscles, firm healthy flesh can only come from wholesome food well digested. "Blood purifiers" and "nerve tonics" do not reach the cause of the mischief. The stomach is the point to be looked after. The safest and surest way to cure any form of indigestion is to take after each meal some harmless preparation which will of itself digest food. There is an excellent preparation of this kind composed of vegetable essences, pure pepsin, golden seal and fruit salts, sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and these tablets taken after meals assist digestion wonderfully because they will digest the food promptly before it has time to ferment and sour, and the weak stomach relieved and assisted in this way soon becomes strong and vigorous again.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are superior to any secret patent medicines, because you know what you are taking into your stomach. They are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package.

40,000 PHYSICIANS

Use the New Preparation for Dyspepsia and Stomach Troubles.

Not a Secret Patent Medicine, but a Cure for Every Form of Indigestion.

It has been recently stated that not less than 40,000 physicians are using or indorsing the new discovery for indigestion sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Dr. Tomlinson gives the following reasons why physicians regard this new remedy with so much favor.

First, because it is NOT a secret patent medicine, but a scientific combination of vegetable essences, pure aseptic pepsin, free from animal impurities and of every high digestive power, bismuth and golden seal.

It has been tested repeatedly and the experiments have proven that one grain of the digestive principles in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3000 times its own weight of lean meat, eggs, oatmeal, and similar wholesome foods.

The tablets act wholly upon the food taken into the stomach, digesting it thoroughly no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not, and cure all forms of dyspepsia and stomach troubles on the common sense plan that they nourish the body and rest the stomach at the same time.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do not act upon the bowels like the old-fashioned after-dinner pills; nor are they an artificial stimulant like "stomach bitters," nor are they in any way similar to so-called predigested foods, which consist of 85 per cent of "glucose," the stuff that cheap candies are made from, but Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do what none of these do, they act wholly upon the food eaten and digest it completely and the cure of indigestion is an assured fact, because, the food being promptly digested, it cannot lie for hours in the stomach, fermenting, decaying, filling the system with the germs of disease, but is assimilated, nourishing and invigorating, not only the body and brain, but the stomach itself as well.

The tablets are absolutely harmless and can be given and are given with benefit to little children and infants suffering from indigestion; as shown above they contain no mineral poisons nor anything in any way injurious.

Dr. Wuerth says he has noticed in many cases that the tablets not only cured the indigestion, but that a very noticeable increase of flesh resulted where people who used the tablets were thin and run down in flesh before taking them, and it is not at all surprising that such should be the case when it is remembered that mos people are thin because their stomachs are out of order, and when perfect digestion is brought back an increase of flesh is the natural accompaniment.

Within the last six months many thousand cases of stomach trouble and dyspepsia have been cured by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and their convenience and popularity is such that druggists everywhere are now selling them. The price is 50 cents per package, and if your druggist has not yet ordered them he will order them for you from his wholesaler; they are manufactured by Stuart company, Marshall, Mich.

Your druggist, if he is honest, will tell you that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the only preparation now before the public recommended and designed solely for the cure of indigestion and stomach troubles; no other claims are made for it—it is not claimed to be a cure-all.

VALUABLE EVIDENCE

From Reliable People Who Have Tested the New Dyspepsia Cure.

A Most Remarkable and Successful Discovery in Medicine.

A. T. Moran, of the Real Estate exchange, Cleland block, Detroit, Mich., writes thus of his experience with the new discovery for the cure of indigestion and stomach troubles: "You have no doubt received many a recommend from dyspepsia sufferers, but I think not many who have been afflicted for so long a period as in my case, some nine or ten years. I had given up all hope of being entirely cured, for the skill of many doctors who had prescribed for me seemed of no avail. I resorted to patent medicines of every description and spent many a foolish dollar and at last began to abandon all hope of getting relief. I noticed your advertisement in the Press and concluded to give Stuart's Tablets a fair trial, which I did to my satisfaction. Since the first box I have noticed a change in my condition for the better, and today can eat as hearty as I did when I was a university student. Those with any stomach trouble will enjoy life once more if they give Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets a trial. You may use this letter to your best advantage, and I hope those who will read will profit by my experience in giving your godsend tablets a trial."

Mrs. I. N. Beard, of Lismore, La., writes: "I have the greatest faith in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I have used different medicines, but found no relief until I got the tablets, and now, after taking one 50-cent box, I feel so much better that I cannot forbear writing you."

W. H. Lockwood, Weedsport, N. Y., writes: "I have just finished one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and I shall never be without them. I was troubled with both dyspepsia and constipation. I have three people here now waiting for them."

C. B. George, of Winchester, Ky., says: "Although I have used only one box of Stuart's Tablets, I am satisfied they are the greatest medicine on record for any stomach weakness."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a secret patent medicine, but are composed of vegetable and fruit essences, pure pepsin and golden seal, made in the form of pleasant-tasting tablets, which are to be dissolved in the mouth after meals. They mingle with the food and digest it thoroughly before it has time to ferment, which causes all the mischief. They rest the stomach, digest food and increase flesh and appetite, which is nature's way to cure dyspepsia. They can be carried in the pocket and used when needed. No one should travel without them and no one who has any stomach weakness will find a safer, pleasanter or more effectual cure than Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They may be found at any drug store at 50 cents per package.

GOOD DIGESTION

Means Long Life, Good Health, a Clear Head and a Bright Eye.

The New Discovery, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Gives Good Digestion to Everybody.

Many people suffer from dyspepsia and do not know it. They feel mean, out of sorts, peevish, do not sleep well, do not have a good, keen appetite, do not have the inclination and energy for physical or mental work they once had, but at the same time do not feel any particular pain or distress in the stomach. Yet all this is the result of poor digestion, an insidious form of dyspepsia which can only be cured by a remedy specially intended to CURE it and make the digestive organs act naturally and properly digest the food eaten. Bitters, after-dinner pills and nerve tonics will never help the trouble; THEY DON'T REACH IT. The new medical discovery DOES. It is called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and is a specific for dyspepsia and indigestion. It CURES because it thoroughly digests all wholesome food taken into the stomach, WHETHER THE STOMACH IS IN GOOD WORKING ORDER OR NOT.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by digesting the food, instead of making the worn-out stomach do all the work, gives it a much-needed REST, and a CURE of dyspepsia is the natural result.

When you are nervous, run down and sleepless, don't make the common mistake of supposing your nervous system needs treatment and fill your stomach with powerful nerve tonics which make you feel good for a little while, only to fall back farther than ever.

Your nerves are all right, but they are STARVED, they want FOOD.

Nourish them with wholesome, everyday food and PLENTY of it, well digested, and you can laugh at nerve tonics and medicine.

But the nerves will not be nourished from a weak, abused stomach, but when the digestion has been made perfect by the use of this great remedy all nervous symptoms disappear.

Who ever heard of a man or woman blessed with a vigorous digestion and good appetite being troubled with their NERVES?

Good digestion means a strong nervous system, abundance of energy and capacity to enjoy the good things of life.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will certainly set your stomach and digestive organs right; they can't help but do it, because they nourish the body by digesting the food eaten and rest the stomach.

You get NOURISHMENT and REST at one and the SAME time, and that is all the worn-out dyspeptic NEEDS to build him up and give new life to every organ and an added zest to every pleasure.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a godsend to the army of men and women with weak stomachs, weak nerves, and justly merits the claim of being one of the most worthy medicinal discoveries of the times.

It is so cheap that the poorest can receive its benefits, costing but 50 cents a package at all drug stores.

It is prepared by the Stuart Chemical company, of Marshall, Mich., and any druggist will get it for you. If you are troubled with any stomach trouble you can ill afford to be without it.

GOING TO BED HUNGRY.

It is All Wrong and Man is the Only Creature That Does It.

The complete emptiness of the stomach during sleep adds greatly to the amount of emaciation, sleeplessness and general weakness so often met with. There is perpetual change of tissues in the body, sleeping or waking, and the supply of nourishment ought to be somewhat continuous and food taken just before retiring adds more tissue than is destroyed and increased weight and vigor is the result. Dr. W. T. Cathell says: "All animals, except man, eat before sleep, and there is no reason in nature why man should form the exception to the rule."

If people who are thin, nervous and sleepless would take a light lunch of bread and milk or oatmeal and cream and at the same time take a safe, harmless stomach remedy like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in order to aid the stomach in digesting it, the result will be a surprising increase in weight, strength and general vigor. The only drawback has been that thin, nervous dyspeptic people cannot digest and assimilate wholesome food at night or any other time. For such it is absolutely necessary to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they will digest the food, no matter how weak the stomach may be, nourishing the body and resting the stomach at the same time.

Dr. Stevenson says: "I depend almost entirely on Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in treating indigestion, because it is not a quack nostrum, and I know just what they contain, a combination of vegetable essences, pure pepsin and fruit salts, and they cure dyspepsia and stomach troubles, because they can't help but cure." Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. They are in lozenge form, pleasant to take, and contain nothing but pure pepsin, vegetable essences, fruit salts and bismuth, scientifically compounded. They are made by the Stuart company, of Marshall, Mich., and your druggist will tell you they give universal satisfaction.

WORSE THAN USELESS.

Do Not Use Cathartics for Indigestion.

The commonly used remedies are worse than useless, as they do not remove the cause. Cathartics are injurious, for although they move the bowels for a time their action weakens the digestion and thus increases the difficulty they are intended to cure.

Persons using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will not be disappointed, as their use not only properly digests the food, but gives proper assimilation and cures constipation by producing the proper quantity of bile.

The fact that they are used so largely by physicians is a great point in their favor, and many physicians treat their cases of indigestion almost entirely by these tablets or the same ingredients, the only difference being that when dyspeptics apply to a physician for them he charges you two or three prices for them besides his advice, whereas if you go to your druggist he will sell you Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for only 50 cents per box.

They may also be had by mail by inclosing price to the F. A. Stuart company, chemists, Marshall, Mich.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA

To Gain Flesh, to Sleep Well, to Know What Appetite and Good Digestion Mean, Make a Test of Stuart's

Dyspepsia Tablets.

Interesting Experiences of an Indianapolis Gentleman.

No trouble is more common or more misunderstood than nervous dyspepsia. People having it think that their nerves are to blame and are surprised that they are not cured by nerve medicines and spring remedies; the real seat of the mischief is lost sight of; the stomach is the organ to be looked after.

Nervous dyspeptics often do not have any pain whatever in the stomach, nor perhaps any of the usual symptoms of stomach weakness. Nervous dyspepsia shows itself not in the stomach so much as in nearly every other organ; in some cases the heart palpitates and is irregular; in others the kidneys are affected; in others the bowels are constipated, with headaches; still others are troubled with loss of flesh and appetite, with accumulations of gas, sour risings, and heartburn.

A. W. Sharper, of 61 Prospect street, Indianapolis, Ind., writes as follows: "A motive of pure gratitude prompts me to write these few lines regarding the new and valuable medicine, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I have been a sufferer from nervous dyspepsia for the last four years; have used various patent medicines and other remedies without any favorable result. They sometimes gave temporary relief until the effects of the medicine wore off. I attributed this to my sedentary habits, being a bookkeeper with little physical exercise, but I am glad to state that the tablets have overcome all these obstacles, for I have gained in flesh, sleep better, and am better in every way. The above is written not for notoriety, but is based on actual facts." Respectfully yours, A. W. SHARPER.

HEART DISEASE.

Facts Regarding the Rapid Increase of Heart Troubles.

Do Not be Alarmed, but Look for the Cause.

Heart troubles, at least among Americans, are certainly increasing, and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion.

Real, organic heart disease is incurable, but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic.

The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by branches of the same great nerves, the sympathetic and pneumogastric.

In another way also the heart is affected by that form of poor digestion which causes gas and fermentation from half digested food, there is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest caused by pressure of the distended stomach on the heart and lungs, interfering with their action; hence arises palpitation and short breath.

Poor digestion also poisons the blood, makes it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart.

The most sensible treatment for heart troubles is to improve the digestion and to insure the prompt assimilation of food.

This can best be done by the regular use, after meals, of some safe, pleasant, and effective digestive preparation, like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which may be found at most drug stores, and which contain valuable, harmless, digestive elements, in a pleasant, convenient form.

It is safe to say that the regular, persistent use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at meal time will cure any form of stomach trouble, except cancer of the stomach.

GET FLESH

Get Strength, Vigor, Clear Complexion and Good Digestion, Not by Patent Medicine, but in Nature's Own Way.

Any honest physician will tell you that there is but one way to get increased flesh, all the patent medicines and cod liver oils to the contrary notwithstanding.

Nature has but one way to increase flesh, strength and vigor of mind and body, and that is through the stomach by wholesome food well digested. There is no reason or common sense in any other method whatever.

People are thin, run down, nervous, pale, and shaky in their nerves simply because their stomachs are weak.

They may not think they have dyspepsia, but the fact remains that they do not eat enough food or what they eat is not digested and properly digested as it should be.

Dr. Harlandson says the reason is because the stomach lacks certain digestive acids and peptones and deficient secretion of gastric juice.

Nature's remedy in such cases is to supply what the weak stomach lacks. There are several good preparations which will do this, but none so readily as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which are designed especially for all stomach troubles and which cure all digestive weakness on the common sense plan of furnishing the digestive principles which the stomach lacks.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give perfect digestion. First effect is to increase the appetite and increased vigor, added flesh, pure blood and strength of nerve and muscle is the perfectly natural result.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest tonic known and will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. May be found at druggists at 50 cents for ful-sized package, or direct by mail from Stuart company, Marshall, Mich. Little book on stomach diseases mailed free.

The Following Cut is a Fac-Simile of every Genuine Box.....

A PECULIAR FACT.

Thousands of People Have Dyspepsia in Its Worst Form and Do Not Know It.

A weak stomach is the cause of about nine-tenths of all disease, yet in most cases the wrong thing is treated and the true cause overlooked.

This is because a weak digestion produces symptoms resembling nearly every disease, because it weakens and disturbs the action of every nerve and organ in the body; poor digestion causes heart trouble, kidney troubles, lung weakness and especially nervous breakdown or nervous prostration; the nerves cannot stand the wear and tear unless generously fed by well-digested, wholesome food.

Keep the digestion good and no one need fear the approach of disease.

Mrs. H. M. Lee, of Rochester, N. Y., writes: "For the sake of suffering humanity I want to say that from a child I had a very weak stomach, threw up my food very often after eating, and after a few years' nervous dyspepsia resulted and for more than twenty years I have suffered inexpressibly.

"I tried many physicians and advertised remedies, with only temporary relief, for nervous dyspepsia, and not until I commenced to take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets last September, six months ago, have I been free from suffering caused by the condition of my nerves and stomach; in short, chronic nervous dyspepsia.

"I have recommended Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to many of my friends and now I want in a public way to say they are the safest, pleasantest, and I believe, surest cure for stomach and nerve troubles. I write my honest opinion and I will gladly answer any letter of inquiry at any time and feel that I am, in my small way, helping on a good cause."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a patent medicine, but they contain only the fruit salts, digestive acids and pepsin necessary to help the weak stomach to promptly and thoroughly digest food.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents for full-sized package and anyone suffering from nervous dyspepsia, sour stomach, headaches, acidity, gases, belching, etc., will find them not only quick relief, but a ralical cure.

THEY RIDICULE IT.

Many People Ridicule the Idea of an Absolute Cure for Dyspepsia.

Ridicule, However, is Not Argument, and Facts are Stubborn Things.

Stomach troubles are so common, and in many cases so obstinate to cure, that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such pride themselves on their acuteness in never being humbugged, especially on medicines.

This fear of being humbugged may be carried too far; so far, in fact, that many persons suffer for years with weak digestion rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims of a preparation so reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines, for the reason that they are not a secret patent medicine—no secret is made of their ingredients—but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure aseptic pepsin, the digestive acids, Golden Seal, bismuth, hydrastic and nux. They are not cathartic, neither do they act powerfully on any organ, but they cure indigestion on the common-sense plan of digesting the food eaten thoroughly before it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure indigestion and stomach troubles because they act entirely upon the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, taken after meals, digest the food. That is all there is to it. Food not digested or half digested is poison, as it creates gas, acidity, headaches, palpitation of the heart, loss of flesh and appetite and many other troubles which are often called by some other name.

They are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. Address Stuart company, Marshall, Mich., for little book on stomach diseases, sent free.

THINK TWICE

Before You Put Something Into Your Stomach You Know Nothing About.

Thousands Do So Every Day

Without Thought of Consequences.

The stomach is the most important and the most abused organ in the body.

If a person catches a little cold on the lungs he immediately seeks treatment for it. If his kidneys show symptoms of weakness he becomes alarmed at once. But if his overworked stomach rebels he pays no attention to it until sleepless nights, distress after eating, nervousness and general weakness and lack of energy show plainly that something is wrong. He loses in weight and has pains in the chest and limbs.

Dr. Amsden says that thousands of people in this condition never think of ascribing the trouble to the stomach, but they dose themselves with loudly-advertised "nerve tonics," "spring medicines," "predigested food," etc., and then wonder why they don't get well.

All of these things are so-called secret remedies, patented medicines, which are advertised to produce wonderful results, but they are very careful not to tell you exactly what the wonderful preparation really contains. As a matter of fact, "nerve tonics" are simply stimulants; they make you feel good for a day and the next day you must repeat the dose.

The doctor says, further, the only way to cure dyspepsia and stomach weakness is to go to the fountain head, treat the stomach itself and put nothing into it unless you know what that SOMETHING IS.

He further states he has had the greatest success in curing all forms of indigestion by the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which is not a secret patent medicine, but is a scientific combination of vegetable essences, fruit salts, pure pepsin and bismuth. Some idea of the remarkable success of this remedy may be gained by perusal of the following:

From Mrs. I. C. Race, Trenton, Mo.: I have only used half a box of the tablets and they have surprised me with the amount of good they have already done. I would not be without them.

Mrs. Charlotte Lane, of Ransomville, N. Y., writes: I have only taken one 50-cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and am almost astonished at results, they have benefited me so greatly. I have always understood that dyspepsia was incurable, but now know it can be cured, for I am fully satisfied with what they have done for me. I can eat and enjoy my meals a great deal better and feel better in every way, and have only used one package.

From L. E. Watts, Tampico, Ill.: I have used Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and they are just what I want and what I have been trying in vain to get for years. Every person afflicted with poor digestion ought to give them a trial.

Cases like these can be cited without number, and anyone suffering from stomach weakness, poor appetite, loss of flesh and a run-down condition generally should try at least one box, which you can get at any drug store at 50 cents a package, and feel the good effects from even so small a quantity. If your druggist does not have it in stock he will get it for you, or send to Stuart Chemical Laboratory, Marshall, Mich.

HEALTH CATECHISM

To be Committed to Memory by All Dyspeptics, Invalids, Consumptives.

What is the first cause of nine-tenths of all disease?

Imperfect digestion of food.

Why does imperfect digestion cause disease of other organs?

Because blood, nerves, muscles, bone and flesh are derived from the food we eat and DIGEST. If digestion is perfect the blood is pure, nerves and muscles strong, flesh firm. If the digestion is poor, the blood is supplied from half-digested, fermenting food, irritating every nerve and organ. The result is, sooner or later, organic disease, because every organ being poorly nourished the weakest gives way first and we have liver trouble, kidney complaints, heart disease or consumption.

Is not dieting the usual and best treatment to cure indigestion?

No, because the dyspeptic has been starved long enough; what is needed is abundant nourishment, not the lack of it. The stomach and blood demand nutriment, not bran crackers.

What is the best method of cure?

Plenty of wholesome food well digested.

But how can a weak stomach digest plenty of wholesome food?

By taking with the food after each meal certain harmless remedies which are known to digest food and thus nourish the blood and rest the weak stomach.

What are these harmless remedies?

The most valuable are vegetable ferments, pure pepsin, golden seal and fruit salts. All of these are now combined in the form of pleasant-tasting tablets sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Are these tablets superior to the various liquid preparations so-called dyspepsia cures?

Most decidedly, because all liquid medicines became stale with age and lose whatever good qualities they may have had originally, while the tablet retains its properties indefinitely. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be carried in the pocket, always at hand ready for use when traveling or at daily occupation. They cost but 50 cents and should be kept in every family. They keep the digestion perfect and save doctor's bills by warding off disease.

Are Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets adapted to all forms of dyspepsia?

Yes, because in all cases the trouble results from indigested, fermenting food. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cause the food to be digested before it has time to ferment.

If you wish to know more about them ask your druggist for a package and try them.

POWER & SETTLE,

105-107 West Superior Street, Duluth, Minn.

IN THE LABOR FIELD

The Trades' assembly at its meeting last evening appointed a committee to act in conjunction with committees from other bodies in investigating the manner of construction of the county bridge at Short Line Park, near Ironton. It has been a matter of rumor for some little time that there is a "mare's nest" in the building of the bridge. It was asserted at the assembly meeting last night that the bridge is being built of wood, whereas the specifications call for iron.

The resolution to appoint the committee was not passed without some opposition. Delegate Pierce of the Tinners' union wanted to know what business they had with the bridge.

Delegate Blix said the assembly had as much business with the bridge as it had with the pumphouse.

"Well, we hadn't any business with the pumphouse," replied Mr. Pierce.

Delegate Findley contended that organized labor might legitimately interest itself in such matters. Laboring-men pay taxes, he said, and not only their own taxes, but the taxes of the merchants, who, by marking up their stocks to offset the amount paid by them for taxes, shift the burden on to the consumers.

Delegate Pierce continued to oppose the measure, saying that the attention paid to outside matters caused neglect of matters pertaining to the welfare of the unions. "First it was the pumphouse, then it was the poorhouse and now it is the county bridge," he said. "And if a man comes up here to talk on union matters he is very liable to be shut off."

Delegate Findley took Mr. Pierce up on the assertion that union matters were neglected as did Delegate Blix, and they both asserted that the Imperial mill and Armour boycotts, which had been instanced by Mr. Pierce in support of his remarks, are both proving effective, in which they were endorsed by the statements of delegates from various unions.

During the debate, Delegate Willcuts of the Sawmill Workers' union suggested that some attention ought to be paid to unorganized labor. The latter, if convinced that organized labor is its friend, might, in turn, help unionism. The measure proposed finally carried by a nearly unanimous vote and the chair appointed Delegates Baker, Conklin and Findley as the committee.

The sergeant-at-arms reported that there was a man in the ante-room with a grievance against the Butchers' union, and that he wanted permission to lay it before the assembly. A delegate from the Carpenters' union, who had caught sight of the man in waiting with the grievance, arose and said that his union had a grievance against him. The man with the grievance was, by direction of the chair, referred to the Butchers' union.

A communication from the Draymen's union, relative to some trouble between it and the Grand Union Tea company, was received. The matter was referred to a committee, composed of Delegates Cobb, Sturm and Findley, for investigation. The labor committee was, on motion, discharged.

The assembly was informed that Armour and Imperial mill products are excluded from New Duluth.

BARBERS' LICENSES.

Blank applications for license to engage in the occupation of barbering, required by an act passed by the last legislature, may be obtained from Peter Bergeon, at 202 West Superior street.

WILL TAKE IN ALL LABOR.

Under a new name and in a broader field the American Railway union, promoter of the biggest strike in the history of organized labor, is to be reconstructed. In answer to the wishes of the majority of the delegates, the second convention since the formation of the body will be held tomorrow at Handel hall, Chicago. Invitations have been extended to the representatives of other branches of labor and when the affairs of the A. R. U. are wound up at a subsequent session in Uhlich's hall, the process of reconstruction with a greater scope will be undertaken.

With the passing of the American Railway union a new epoch has been established in the field of labor. Organization was effected in June, 1893, but not until the next year was the strength of the new body manifested. At the request of the Pullman strikers the delegates assembled the following year and called a general suspension of work on the different railroads running out of Chicago. The effect of the strike was felt all over the world and required the presence of United States troops to check the violence which attended it.

While the last session of the American Railway union was for war the coming meeting will have peace for its motto. It is the purpose of the officials of the organization to have every field of labor embraced in the new association. It will be an industrial movement to work in harmony with the trade unions. International interests are to be forwarded, members of foreign bodies now in this country have promised to take part.

President Debs will call the meeting to order at Handel hall at 10 o'clock. This will be open to the public. Mr. Debs will make the opening address, but will probably not enter into any discussion regarding the proposed reconstruction. In the afternoon the business of the A. R. U. will be reviewed at the North Side labor quarters. Reports of officers since 1894 will be discussed and a thorough review of the affairs of the organization made. Then the plans for the new association will be taken up and its purpose explained by the promoters. From the number of indorsements received at the A. R. U. headquarters, confidence is expressed that the idea will be unanimously favored.

It is expected the business of the A. R. U. will keep the delegates in secret session for two or three days. Then the doors will be thrown open and representatives from every branch of labor in the world admitted. To show that perfect harmony exists between the A. R. U. and the trade unions, representatives of the latter will occupy conspicuous places on the platform. Orators of the labor world will address the meeting and explain the scope of the new movement. Herbert Casson, B. Fay Mills and Edward Bellamy, besides President Debs of the A. R. U., will be among the speakers.

Chicago delegates to the meeting expressed great enthusiasm in their quarters in Temple court over the prospects of the proposed new body. John F. Lloyd, one of the organizers of the A. R. U., and prominently identified with the new association, had this to say about the plans:

"The American Railway union has been eminently successful in its object. In the interest of the cause of labor the majority of the delegates desire to broaden its scope and I am confident that such action will be taken. It is the purpose of the friends of labor not to confine the issue to a class. That would be selfish. We want the purpose broadened and we want to associate with us all the workingmen of the world. The contemplated reconstruction of the American Railway union, if such you call it, is outside the trade-union movement. Understand me, we have not the remotest idea of antagonizing this association. We want to affiliate with it, but the new organization will be entirely independent of the other.

"Economy enters a great deal into the intentions of the promoters. For practically the same amount of energy and money the whole world can be benefited instead of one class, and it is our intention to reach that end. In the labor field today there is practically no organization that carries out the idea of the term 'union.' With the meeting next week in this city we will have that word in our minds and conform our purpose to it as much as possible."

"Has any name been decided on for the new association that is to take the place of the A. R. U.?" was asked by a reporter.

"Not until the session of the representatives will that action be taken. Of course, several names have been suggested, but it will be the aim of the meeting to decide on a title that will be in conformity with the universal idea of co-operation. That word is certain to be placed in the name. 'Brotherhood of Co-operatives of North America,' 'American League of Co-operatives' and 'Co-operative Labor Union of North America,' with many others, have been suggested. The supreme majority of the men interested in the cause have yet to be heard from and their choice may settle the name."

AN EIGHT-HOUR DAY.

The great labor and trades union demonstration at the Lagoon, Cincinnati, last Sunday, brought out a big assemblage to hear Samuel Gompers, president of the Cincinnati Federation of Labor, who is at present touring the country in the interest of the eight-hour movement, to the adoption and maintenance of which he is at present devoting his time and energies. In speaking of the eight-hour work day and as to how business would readjust itself to the change in the hours of labor, he says:

"To answer this question one might scientifically point to the past and say that, inasmuch as the change from the old present method of production by machinery, new tools and new inventions, the reduction of the hours of labor has gone on from early morn to late at night and when reduced to twelve hours a day, from twelve to eleven, again to ten, and from ten to nine hours a day, that business in such instance has readjusted itself to the altered conditions resulting therefrom; that inasmuch as none but beneficial results have followed in the wake of the movement in reducing the hours of labor, so will business easily adjust itself to the present demand for an eight-hour workday.

"For nearly a century the hours of labor of the workers have continually tended lower. Each step in that direction has been either the precursor or has been followed by the introduction of new machinery, new inventions, new tools of labor, new, easier, cheaper and better methods of production. The pace with which the hours of labor have been reduced is a safe measure of determining the rapidity with which the other above-named results have followed.

"In the early days of the century custom and tradition kept the employers of labor in the old ruts, the day of rapid development had not yet set in, the mind of man had not yet educated itself to expect and to inaugurate phenomenal changes which would more resemble a human economic kaleidoscope than a mere alteration from hand to hand. Nowadays labor is the highest and most concentrated agencies of production and distribution. It was, therefore, that in the absence of the general introduction of the latest forces of wealth-producing methods that the necessity for the movement for a shorter workday had not made itself so manifest. Not was not so frequently inaugurated. But as time went on, and the old gave away to the new the movement gained momentum, and we therefore, see that the greatest efforts of labor and of labor organizations are concentrated upon this all-prevailing, all-absorbing question."

A few years since there was not a canning factory west of the Allegheny mountains, but now they dot the prairies and plantations of the Mississippi basin and are increasing year by year at a rapid rate.

The Bakers' International union at the recent Cleveland convention adopted a new financial system similar somewhat to that of the cigarmakers, all moneys collected from regular sources being covered into the international treasury.

In Connecticut there is hardly a farmer who does not raise tobacco. Tobacco is grown in at least a dozen states, Pennsylvania leading in the amount of production, while Ohio has 50,000 acres given up to the culture, and an average crop of 30,000,000 pounds.

According to the Baltimore News, the farmers of Maryland are becoming interested in the movement for a general cultivation of tobacco and for the introduction of the raising of rice. In earlier days tobacco was grown throughout the state, but for the last half century it has been confined to the counties of Southern Maryland.

A branch of Debs' co-operative commonwealth has been formed at San Francisco. It is probable the start will be made in Middle Tennessee, which offers a wide variety of soils and an equable climate. Members from all parts of the Union will be expected to contribute 10 cents a month to the success of the enterprise.

The Theatrical Protective Union of Stage Carpenters of New York is a close corporation and has closed its books to all new members, and no matter how competent a man is he cannot get work in that city because the union will not let him join or work without joining. Adam Tate went to the headquarters of the union the other day and offered to pay $50 for initiation fee, but was refused.

In Detroit union shops the employes are paid 20 cents a dozen for hemming the bottoms of trousers, while in the sweatshops the young girls get but 8 cents, and in addition, are obliged to sew on all buttons. The latter shops pay 35 cents a dozen for making overalls, while the union rate is $1.25. The secretary of the labor bureau has instructed the pastors of the various churches. The Coopers, union reported that the packers of the city had promised to buy barrels in Detroit only from other cities, and they will be union made.

STATE SUPREME COURT.

Justice Buck Gladdens the Hearts of Sheriffs.

St. Paul, June 12.—The supreme court through Justice Buck, has rendered a decision affecting sheriff's fees which will no doubt give much satisfaction to the sheriffs of the state. Andrew Steenerson, sheriff of Polk county, put in a claim against the county for mileage in serving seventy-four bench warrants. The total amount of the mileage claimed was 3182 miles. Each bench warrant was issued against one individual, and in making service on him the sheriff made thirty-six distinct trips. He charged full mileage for each bench warrant, although he served from three to eleven on each trip.

The trial court ruled that he was entitled to recover only one mileage for all bench warrants served each trip. The supreme court reverses this ruling, holding that "where a sheriff has in his hands for service bench writs against different persons for different causes, and makes service of two or more writs in the course of one trip, he is entitled to charge full mileage on each writ so served."

On the second question of the suit, whether the county was liable for the fees for each copy of the bench warrant served, the court declares that the trial court ruled correctly when it held that the sheriff must collect from the defendant.

In the suit of the city of Tower against the Tower and Soudan Street railway and Arthur H. Crassweller, receiver, the court declares the franchise of the road forfeited, because the company had become insolvent and neglected to operate cars for more than a year.

Other decisions: Marguerite Anderson, plaintiff, appellant, versus Minnesota Loan and Trust company, defendant, respondent, C. W. Burdic, intervenor, appellant. National German American bank, intervenor, appellant; judgment reversed and judgment ordered in favor of the intervenor, the National German American bank. Buck, J.

Sherman E. Day, respondent, versus Max Eibert, et al, appellants. Held, that the appellant having failed to make any asignment of errors as required by rule 9 of this court, the order appealed from affirmed. Buck, J.

FIRST METHODIST SERMON.

On March 7, 1736, John Wesley preached the first Methodist sermon ever preached on this continent. It was delivered not far from the site of the present Christ church, Savannah, of which he subsequently was the third rector, and was addressed to a mixed assemblage. His congregation hardly exceeded 400 persons, including children and adults, re-enforced, however, by 100 or more of the neighboring Indians, says the Ladies Home Journal. Wesley discussed in a most eloquent manner the principles of Christian charity as argued by St. Paul in the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians. He made a powerful appeal, and many of his audience were in tears. While he was not so impetuous in his delivery as in after years, his abilities at that time bespoke the great preacher and reformer.

If he was more scholastic in style than in after years, the fervor and force of his appeals were none the less felt by his hearers. Especially was this strikingly true when in the course of his discourse he adverted to the death of his father, who for forty years or more had been the incumbent of the Epworth rectory. This venerable man was asked not long before his death: "Are the consolations of God small with you?" "No, no, no!" he exclaimed, with uplifted hands, "and then," continued Wesley, "calling all that were near him by name," the dying patriarch said: "Think of heaven, talk of heaven; all time is lost when we are not thinking of heaven!" This was spoken by Wesley in a tremulous voice, and his new parishioners at Savannah were for the instant almost swept off their feet by a tidal wave of religious enthusiasm. Tradition has it that several Indians who were present became so greatly excited, not only by Mr. Wesley's impassioned oratory—though they did not understand a word he said—but by his gestures, that one old warrior nervously clutched his tomahawk, fearing an outbreak in the strangely moved audience.

You may never know it happened if you fail to read The Evening Herald.

SINKING SPELLS

Suffered For Years—Doctors and Medicines Failed to Benefit.

Cured By Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets.

Nicollet House, Minneapolis, Minn.

Gentlemen: My health has been poor for several years. I would have sinking spells and was so weak that I could not hold my hand to my head, and so nervous that I could not sleep nights. I was so dizzy at times that I would have to grab a chair to keep from falling. I can not begin to tell how I suffered. I was so weak I could not enjoy life. As people will, when ailing, I tried first one thing then another and sometimes resorted to regular medical treatment, but derived no benefit from anything. I finally heard of Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets, and upon the recommendation of my druggist I tried them faithfully for some time. I was encouraged from the start to keep on with them by a feeling of decided benefit. I have now taken three boxes and feel that a permanent cure has been effected. I heartily recommend the Kola Nervine Tablets to all needing a medicine of this kind. Your grateful friend,

C. R. MURPHY.

Mr. Murphy's experience is only one of hundreds which prove that Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets cure where other means had utterly failed. Fifty cents and $1, at druggists, or by mail, Eureka Chemical and Manufacturing company, La Crosse, Wis.

WILL FOUND A COLONY.

Minnesotans Seeking a Home in the Southwest.

A Yuma, Ariz., dispatch to the Minneapolis Times says: H. T. Houlton, of Duluth, Minn., arrived here from Los Angeles a few days ago and is now on a tour of inspection at the Taggart ranch, in the Colorado valley. Mr. Houlton's errand to this part of the country is in the interests of a large number of Minnesota families who desire a change of location to a milder climate and fewer territory. He left his home in Duluth several months ago and sought first in California for a desirable location for his colony, but could find no available tract of land in that state which suited him.

The Bellamy idea to a considerable extent is absent from the immediate purpose of Mr. Houlton's colonists. There will be no community of property interests, Mr. Houlton says, but a number of educational and other reforms will be attempted in the new colony. Mr. Houlton is very much impressed with several possible locations in the Colorado valley, and while he declines to commit himself to any particular locality, those who pretend to know declare that the new Minnesota colony will soon find its home in this valley.

MARINE BAND ROW.

Leader Fanciulli Undergoing a Court Martial.

Washington, June 12.—Professor Fanciulli, who succeeded John Philip Sousa, as director of the United States Marine band, has been placed on trial before a summary courtmartial for refusing to play lively music while leading his band in the Memorial day parade. The formal charge is "refusing to obey orders from a superior officer and insubordination in a manner."

The evidence showed that while the procession was moving along Pennsylvania avenue Lieut. Draper, who commanded the detachment of the Marine corps, ordered Fanciulli to play "El Capitan." This order was obeyed. Afterward, when the band was near the Willard hotel, the officer again ordered the director to play lively music and Fanciulli replied that he would play what he pleased. He was then placed under arrest. The detachment proceeded to Arlington without him.

He was kept under arrest for about thirty-six hours, though not incarcerated, and was then released and accompanied the band to Philadelphia where it participated in the Washington monument ceremonies. Capt. Frank H. Harrington, commanding the Marine corps in Washington, ordered the court-martial for the purpose of deciding the question at issue.

ONE CHANCE FOR CURE.

Boston Traveler: A nervous young lady called a physician for a slight ailment, but one which she magnified, in her own estimation, into a serious one.

"Run," said the doctor to a servant, giving him a prescription, "to the nearest drug store and bring back the medicine as quickly as you can."

"Is there much danger?" replied the young lady in alarm.

"Yes," said the doctor, "if your servant is not quick it will be useless."

"Oh, doctor, shall I die?" gasped the patient.

"There is no danger of that," said the doctor, "but you may get well before John returns."

CAMPING

Another Chapter on the Delightful Possibilities of Park Point.

Some of the Enthusiastic Ravings of a Camper are Punctured.

Capt. Miller Gives an Idea of the Speed of Sailing Vessels.

An enjoyer of the breezes of Park Point has laid his, or her, woolen mitts long enough to take his or her pen in hand and tell what a good time they are having and what a delightful place Park Point is during the last months of winter, including May and the early part of June. One point in Park Point's favor that seems to impress the writer is that it is a place where creditors' cease from troubling. At least, there is a remark to the effect that those who lurk in the coverts of the pines and birches are happy in knowing nothing of dodging the animals named. Nor do they know what it is to hunt for work. No; the industrious mosquito hunts them and they do the rest.

The writer concedes all that The Herald's special correspondent claimed about campers' tents not holding water, for the writer of the letter admits that they will not even hold nails. The remarks of the camper anent the pleasures of the voyage across the canal do not convey half the truth, as any one can avouch who crosses and experiences of having his revery disturbed by the hurrying passengers when the boat lands, as the letter says—his revery is disturbed, not only, but the integrity of his ribs, often, and if he suffers no more damage than getting muddy footprints on his back he can say he has had a comparatively pleasant passage.

According to the letter, if there is one moment the campers really enjoy it is the evening time, when the tent flap is drawn, the oil stove is booming and radiating its cheerful heat and the lamp's bright light comes as a welcome relief from the gloom that reigns supreme under the dripping leaves of the closely woven branches, laced against the low-hanging, slate-colored sky. And why is this—the time when the campers are snugly ensconced in their canvas retreats, the wailing of the uneasy wind exorcised by the organ's melody and the violin's strains—why is this the hour of supreme enjoyment? Can it be because it is the time when things seem most like home? The skillfully drawn pen picture is presented as a cheerful bit of color against a background that, according to the letter is splotched with a little gray in patches.

* * *

Capt. Miller, who has just returned from Washington, was found the other day in his office reading a book, which he said he had "swiped" from the treasury department. Perhaps "swipe" was not the word he used, but as that word has been, by the Iowa supreme court, accorded a place in the English language, it is allowable to condense in it the captain's story as to how he came by the volume. Anyway, it well expresses it.

"I had been telling some sea yarn—true yarn—one day in the treasury department," said the captain. "Some of the fellows in the crowd were a little inclined to doubt me at first, but the book helped me out."

"The captain's hearers looked again at the book. It was a modest, unassuming looking book.

"I had been telling them," he continued, "about the speed of sailing vessels. They had been talking of the speed of modern steamers—grayhounds—and I gave them a few records that made them open their eyes.

"There is here, given among the remarkable runs of sailing vessels, that of the clipper ship, Sovereign of the Seas. She was one of the noble fleet that used to carry the stars and stripes over the round earth. She made the run from New York to San Francisco—via Cape Horn, of course—in 103 days. And it was no chance journey, like a chip blown along by a chance fortuitous gale. The day of her crossing the equator in the Pacific and arriving at San Francisco had been predicted by her master, and she was in time to a dot. In the twenty-two days from March 9 to March 31, she made a run of 6245 statute miles, one-fourth the distance around the earth. Her average was 283 and 9-10 miles per day. During eleven of these days consecutively, her daily average was 354 miles, and during four days she averaged 398¾ statute miles. From noon of one day to noon of the next, the greatest distance made was 419 statute miles. The greatest rate was twenty-one statute miles an hour. This is about as well as the North West can do. And the direction in which the vessel was sailing, too, made her day from noon to noon on that days, but twenty hours, twenty-five minutes and four seconds long.

"I myself," continued the captain, "made the run from Buenos Ayres to Boston in thirty-six days lacking four hours. You see, the old sailing vessels weren't so very slow either," and the captain breathed a sigh as he thought of the departed glory of the clipper ships.

"How was it you say you got hold of the book, captain," inquired his listener. The captain, for reply, cocked his eye aloft as if taking a squint at the roal stun'sails, twiddled his thumbs and whistled softly as if on his quarter-deck waiting for a wind. But never a word said he.

"Little songs and little dances
Little tasks and games are done;
Merry hearts and smiling glances,
Homeward now sweet carols singing
Hasten we to mother's care.
To her loving spirit bringing Hearts more gentle, minds more fair."

In just a few short days several thousand children from the city schools will be out upon the highways and byways looking for fun, frolic or mischief; anything for the hands to do, the eyes to see, or the mind to think about, and how best to give employment to these is the problem that confronts every thoughtful parent these June days that bring "vacation" in their train. These little people will be out from morn till night; digging, playing, romping with all the energy and happiness of wild colt play and all this summer's full to make muscle, strength and sturdy growth, but it is so easy to be tempted to believe that this is all they need. The result of over-exertion or of too little exercise of the body is more readily perceived by the average parent than that of the mind and heart of their little ones.

Right from the connected study and mental discipline of ten long months to drop everything entirely means immeasurable loss in the development of the child for daily lessons and weakens his power of concentration. This facility of being absorbed in one line of thought is one of the greatest powers of the human mind and the foundation of any success in life and what mother does not fully intend to make a glowing success of her son or daughter. Give them some one thing to think about, to study, or to plan for at least a few moments each day and it will help immensely to keep or gain this concentration and the idea of the necessity for it. The earlier in life one realizes that one thing leads inevitably from and into another, that whatever his hand do or mind thinks and utters results in good or evil for himself or some one else, the better for the child and for humanity. Let him play and grow hearty and strong but give the rest of the boy or girl a chance.

Stanley Hall tells a story which illustrates the futility and danger of educating one part of child nature at the expense of the other. A boy once wished to hasten the growth of the hind legs of a tadpole by cutting off his tail, thinking that if the energy taken by that member were given to the legs they would develop sooner. But to his surprise and grief he found that when the tail was removed the legs failed to appear; in the plan of nature they were to follow the tail and absorb it. So we must lead to higher things not by cutting off all interests and good for fun and frolic alone but use these as stepping stones to higher things.

A very wise and traveled personage visiting in Duluth not very long ago looked, questioned, went here, there and everywhere until his philosophy of our city life was very plain and said: "You are a wonderful people in Duluth. You have great stretches of green hillside, many lots and even blocks near the heart of the city and you permit them to remain vacant and idle! So much! So much waste land! Why do you not use it? Lend it to the boys for gardens and their condition is at once bettered, they are not idle and you have no poor." And when we told of the good that had been done by the sewing guilds quickly, "Yes, that is grand but that is not enough, there is so much to give. Make playgrounds of these waste spaces for your children, they are playing on the streets, give them the little touch of nature that will not only improve your property and your city now but your growing citizens for all time."

We have the public library, the public kindergarten and the public park and now we want the public playgrounds with its large plot of grass without the pleasure spoiling signal of "Keep off." Some trees, if they are nothing more than willows, sand heaps, swings, an open arid spot for gymnasium, with baths and a matron and these playgrounds have proved to be a success and joy in the Eastern cities that have been trying this way to solve the problem of vacation days.

A very able writer in the Kindergarten Magazine for June gives a most interesting history of the movement and the results of these free playgrounds. He says: "Free they are it is true; but free under law. All classes and conditions of children crowd together in these delectable places; but they do not at first know how to use them. The little children need protection, guidance and suggestion and the older boys and girls need to have stirred within them the sense of law and order, of respect for the weak, of a sense of honor in play. The younger and older need a constant and intelligent presentation of the ideal. Wise oversight is imperative and the good reaches out in every direction."

Everyone knows that the country is best, that the greatest and best men and women have come to us from the heart of nature. Everyone who has studied and thought of right development of their children would take every child in Duluth out to the farms, the lakes, or the wood environment that we possess, but where we cannot, there is Lincoln park, Lester Park or Woodland. Give them these playgrounds as often as possible and lead their eyes to see, their hearts to love and their minds to know all the beauty and glory of the Creator that nature expresses and a feeling must creep in of his own worth in the sight of God.

A MATTER OF INTEREST TO TRAVELERS.

Tourists, emigrants and mariners find that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a medicinal safeguard against unhealthful influences, upon which they can implicitly rely, since it prevents the effects that an unhealthy climate, vitiated atmosphere, unaccustomed or unwholesome diet, bad water, or other conditions unfavorable to health, would otherwise produce. On long voyages, or journeys by land in latitudes adjacent to the equator, it is especially useful as a preventive of the febrile complaints and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, which are apt to attack natives of the temperate zones sojourning or traveling in such regions, and is an excellent protection against the influence of extreme cold, sudden changes of temperature, exposure to damp or extreme fatigue. It not only prevents intermittent and remittent fever, and other diseases of a malarial type, but eradicates them, a fact which has been notorious for years past in North and South America, Mexico, the West Indies, Australia and other countries.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN the payment of the sum of seven hundred thirty-six and 51-100 dollars which is claimed to be due and is actually due at the date of this notice on a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ludwig Rusch, a widower, mortgagor, to Wilhelm Brown, of Duluth, Minnesota, mortgagee, said mortgage bearing date the 21st day of April, 1894, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the 21st day of April, 1894, at 10 o'clock and 45 minutes in the forenoon of that day, in Book 105 of mortgages, on page 148, which mortgage was executed to secure the payment of one certain promissory note of even date with said mortgage in the sum of six hundred dollars, payable in three years after the date of said note and mortgage with interest on said note at the rate of seven per cent per annum from date until paid, which interest was payable and due semi-annually, said note being signed by said mortgagor as maker and payable to the order of and delivered to said mortgagee; and said mortgage containing the provision that the said mortgagor should keep the property described in said mortgage unceasingly insured in some responsible stock insurance company for at least the sum of one thousand dollars, payable, in case of loss, to the said mortgagee or his assigns, and further providing that in case said mortgagor should not effect such insurance or fail to pay the premium therefor, then and in that case said mortgagee or his assigns, should be empowered to effect such insurance and pay all such unpaid premiums, and all sums of money paid for such purpose should be decked and impressed as an additional lien upon said premises, and should be secured by and be collectible as a part of said mortgage and bear interest at the same rate as the indebtedness secured by said mortgage.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises described in said conveyed and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: Lot number eighty-six, East Seventh street, Duluth Proper, First Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, on file and of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest and the taxes and insurance thereinbefore paid by said mortgagee as hereinbefore set forth, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, Minnesota, at the front entrance door to the county court house, in the city of Duluth, in St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 5th day of July, A. AMONG THE SPORTS.

The postponed trip to Minneapolis by the field and track team of the Duluth High School Athletic association took place yesterday, and if the program was carried out, the boys from Duluth are trying conclusions this afternoon with the boys of Minneapolis in a number of events, which are peculiar to field days. The Duluth boys were in good trim and reasonably confident, but they were fully aware from the manner in which the Minneapolis men have met other athletes that they are going against no easy proposition.

The Ashland field day, which was also postponed to today, will have to go over indefinitely, though it may be rearranged for some future date.

After school closes the junior members of the Y. M. C. A. will go camping at Pike lake to the number of about twenty-five, it is hoped. They will be under the direction of J. K. Driver, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., and they will be out about two weeks.

The street railway employes have joined the list of amateurs who are covetous of baseball honors, and they have issued a general challenge to any nine either among the firemen or policemen, the game to take place at the West End park within thirty days. The proceeds will go to the Women's home.

The Central Gun club will have its regular annual tournament this year, and it will be held about the last of July. It will be conducted in about the same manner as those of previous years, and it is expected that as usual there will be a number of outside marksmen to participate.

* * *

The club has also planned an excursion to Two Harbors, to be given in about two weeks. Paul Sharvy and E. C. Maxfield were appointed members of a committee to arrange the details. The Nautilus will probably be chartered, and there will be a shoot with the Two Harbors club.

Over a dozen men are hard at work in the shells of the Duluth Boat club, and every morning, when the weather permits and often when it does not, the men are out on the bay preparing for the events that are to come. The candidates have been sleeping at the boat house in order to be on hand early in the morning. As usual, Ed Mahoney is the trainer, and this is a sufficient assurance that the best there is in the men will be brought out. Especial attention is being paid to the development of the eight, as the club hopes to have a race with the university of Wisconsin eight during the summer.

James C. Kennedy, manager of the National Sporting club, New York, was in a warmly argumentative mood recently as a result of certain criticisms of boxing.

"Every time a man gets a black eye or a bloody nose in a boxing bout, there is a loud shout to have it suppressed," he said. "Now, why don't these reformers turn their attention to other branches of sport? When a man is hit by a pitched ball in a baseball game, knocked senseless and carried off the field, why don't the reformers insist on the suppression of the game of baseball? When a football player is pulled out of a scrimmage with a broken leg, twisted spine or fractured skull, why is there not a call for the stoppage of all football contests?

"When a group of bicycle racers go down in a heap and are carried out with broken bones, why don't the reformers shout for the prohibition of bicycle races?

"When a distance runner falls fainting at the end of a hard race, why not insist on the interdiction of all running races?

"Why not stop all form of contests in which the competitors receive injuries? That would at least indicate a desire to show no partiality. At present the moralists discriminate against boxing, in which there are fewer serious injuries than in any branch of sport. I don't object to reform, but am opposed to unjust discrimination."

Bob Carlos, the light-weight champion wrestler of Cincinnati, who, with Tony Apping, the heavy-weight wrestler, went to South Africa eight months ago, has returned. Carlos saw the fight between Kid McCoy and Bill Doherty, and says:

"It was an easy thing for McCoy. He did just about as he pleased with Doherty. McCoy is a wonderful fighter, and I think will be a champion. There was great rejoicing in Johannesburg over Fitzsimmons' victory over Corbett. Fitz is a Cornishman and there are a great many of the South African miners from Cornwall, England."

"Times in South Africa are not good just now. Talk of war with England has caused the mines to shut down. There is racing at Johannesburg every day in the year. They bet their money like it was counterfeit. What we call mutuals they call sweeps over there. You can win all the way from £150 to £10,000 on a £1 note.

"I stopped in Liverpool on my way home and I saw Tom McInerney. He is running a public house. He is married and making lots of money.

While the entries for the opening meeting of the grand circuit at Detroit, which closed some time ago, indicate that the trotting and pacing free-for-alls of the coming campaign will be large, they are hardly up to the standard of 1896, which is not saying much, so far as the trotters are concerned.

Fantasy, 2:06; Kentucky Union, 2:07 1-4; Klamath, 2:07 1-2; Bouzetta, 2:06 3-4; Onoqua, 2:08 1-4; Azote, 2:04 3-4; Allx, 2:03 3-4, and William Penn, 2:07 1-4, seem to be about the only free-for-all trotters in sight, and not one of the whole lot was up and coming at the end of the last campaign.

Either Allx or Azote would probably hold them all safe, if either was sound and fit, but it is a matter of grave doubt whether the champion mare and gelding can be got ready to go another race. Beuzetta, Onoqua and William Penn were monumental failures last year.

Present indications point to the failure of the pacing free-for-alls in the grand circuit this year, owing to the fact that the owners of three or four of the five pacing kings will not race them for the purses ordinarily hung up at the grand circuit meetings. John R. Gentry, 2:00 1-2; Robert J., 2:01 1-2, and Star Pointer, 2:02 1-2, have not been entered anywhere, except in the $6000 free-for-all at Hartford on Indpendence day, and it is doubtful whether these cracks of pacerdom will come together again during the season unless it be in a special race next fall.

James A. Murphy, the owner of Star Pointer, refused to enter his horse at Detroit on the ground that the purse was not large enough, yet the sum was larger than most of the grand circuit associations offered in 1896. It is well known that John R. Gentry and Robert J. are going on a starring tour, and if Star Pointer should follow suit there would remain in the racing field only Frank Agan and Joe Patchen of the five pacing kings, whose contests were the great feature of last season's campaign.

Great stories are afloat concerning the speed that Star Pointer is showing in his work at Baltimore this spring, and if half that is told be true, the Tennessee pacer ought to beat 2:00 with ease. It was reported a week ago that Trainer McCleary had moved him an eighth faster than any harness horse ever covered the distance before, and one circuit follower says that Star Pointer paced a furlong at Baltimore in 0:13, a 1:44 gait. Robert J. and John R. Gentry have not burned the track in this fashion, but both horses are doing well. Trainer E. R. Bowne moved Robert J. five easy miles recently, the fastest in 2:15. The gelding climbed the hill in 1:05 1-4, under restraint, pacing very fast near the finish.

W. H. McCarthy is one of those who think that Robert J. has not yet reached the zenith of his career. "Knapsack" said, on seeing the gelding step last week: "He will beat them all again this year; mark what I tell you. Robert J never was the horse he is now."

Sidney Smith, who won the Southern championship at the pole vault contest in Nashville the other day, is the son of Judge J. Soule Smith, the politician and writer of Lexington, Ky. The boy was a cripple until 6 years old, when an operation was performed on his legs in the attempt to straighten them from the effects of inflammatory rheumatism. He took to athletics and is now a splendid athlete. Smith won the intercollegiate championship here recently, clearing the pole at nine feet six inches. His Nashville record was ten feet two inches.

A Kentucky trotting paper says of starting races: "The successful starting of trotters and pacers is necessarily a much more difficult job than starting the runners. With the latter, all that is needed is to see that all are in motion and fairly well bunched. With the high class harness racer, however, it is different, says an exchange. The start is a high pressure affair, and the starter must be an artist with the horses scoring a two-minute gait. He must have the eye of a hungry hawk and the experience of a practical horseman in order to see before he gives the word that all have the positions assigned them by the judges, are on their gait and well up in line. Such starters are born, not made, and the high class members of the profession can be numbered in one trip over the fingers of one hand."

To say that the above is entirely wrong does not mean that it is easy to start trotting horses, but that by comparison with sending away running horses the writer is all wrong. Trotting horses are under control, and it is only the drivers who are at fault for difficulty in getting them off in reasonable time. On the other hand, the thoroughbreds can twist and turn about at their pleasure, and it is their uncontrollable actions that cause the trouble in starting running horses.

Kentucky has been quite fruitful in the way of equine freaks in the early part of the present year, and here comes another strange story. A mare at Bagdad, in Shelby county, owned by E. C. Lewis, which on March 19 gave birth to a mule colt, and about one month later foaled a brown horse colt. Both were perfectly formed, but the mule lived but a short time. At last accounts the horse was healthy and enoying life in a blue grass pasture.

Bill McCune, who is with Buffalo Bill's Wild West, writes me, says Sandy Griswold of the Omaha Bee, that he witnessed the second exhibition of the veracscopic Fitzsimmons and Corbett fight, and that it tells the story of the fight thoroughly. "It is a great show," continued Bill, and I never witnessed a more melancholy scene than the knock-out of Corbett. We have been led to believe all along that Fitz was actually smothered by Jim in the first few rounds, led to believe, I should probably add, by most all of the sporting writers but you. As you wrote of the fight, the pictures show that Fitz was full of business from the very start; that he was the aggressor; that he forced Corbett all over the ring, and that while getting peppered frequently in the mouth, he kept on leading and crowding, and never let an opening get away from him. These photographs also show that Corbett was in constant dread of Fitz's lead, scooting out of the way as fast as his legs would take him, with the lanky fellow continually boring in and trying to give him one of those awful swats for which he is so famous. To be sure, Corbett looked gay and confident in a number of the opening rounds, and he always left his chair promptly and endeavored to meet Bob half way, but along about the eighth he became draggy and Fitz was much quicker in his maneuvering. Now about that alleged foul blow after Corbett went down. All there is in that is that Fitzsimmons' left mit is seen swinging toward Jim's jaw as he was sinking. That's all. Whether that blow ever landed, the pictures came nowhere near showing, and so far as hitting him after his knee struck the floor, that is bosh."

How about the National league baseball pennant chase, anyway? With the Western teams plugging almost hopelessly away on Eastern diamonds, it does not look quite as much like a runaway race for Baltimore as it did. Boston surely looks like a dangerous quantity. Her recent Western trip was the most successful she has enjoyed for a number of years, and since her return home she has played exceptionally fast ball. From present indications the Bean Destroyers have no one to fear but Baltimore. Cincinnati is a dunghill off her own grounds, and Cleveland is weaker than she has been for years. The old timers have not rounded to, and in one or two instances it looks as if they never would. The first month of the season has developed substantially that practically nothing is to be apprehended from Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville, Washington and Brooklyn, but it may be that Philadelphia, New York, Pittsburg and Cincinnati still have a fighting chance. The present Eastern series will go a long ways in establishing just how much of a one. Baltimore is still at the top of the list, with a comfortable lead. She may be able to hold her grip and accomplish the unparalleled feat of winning the flag for the fourth consecutive time. She is certainly playinging hair-curling ball.

I don't think that Bob Fitzsimmons and Jim Corbett will ever meet as principals in the prize ring, judging by this story, which Corbett told me one day last week, says Macon. Said he: "I was asked by the—— (one of the journals now opposing boxing matches) to spar with Jim McVey for the benefit of one of its charity funds. I was told that it was the intention to have Bob Fitzsimmons appear on the same stage in a bout with his sparring partner. I at once replied that it would please me greatly to box for the charity, but not with McVey. 'I will gladly spar four or six rounds or as many rounds as he pleases with Fitzsimmons, but with no one else, at any exhibition in which he is a feature.' They went to Fitzsimmons and asked him to spar with me. He received the proposition with amazement, saying: 'Spar with Corbett !What do you take me for? Why, I can get $100,000 to meet him again!' Then they asked him if he didn't want the $100,000, but he evidently doesn't, for he won't meet me again." Bob has been showing with fair success this week at a local theater. Corbett will rusticate during the summer, though he may pick up a few hundred dollars now and then as a baseball attraction. His brother Joe, whom he taught, is one of the star pitchers of the Baltimore baseball team, and Jim himself is no slouch as a player of the national game.

In view of the fact that there has of late been so much said and written about new boxing rules, it may not be out of place to say a few words more today. This is just about the proper time of year to discuss a question of this kind, for it is the "off time" of boxing, and it will be a few months before the real boxing season commences again.

Time and time again it has been stated that the great difficulty regarding the proposed new rules is to get them put into operation. Almost everybody is convinced that there is need of a great reformation in the rules that have governed contests for the past few years. While there has been very great advancement in the art of boxing, in fact, it has become almost entirely transformed, there has been no progress made in the rules, says Referee in the Boston Traveller.

The art itself has gone far ahead of the rules, because the latter were formulated to guide a kind of boxing that was vastly different from the boxing of today. And the surroundings of the contest of a few years ago were also greatly different from what we find today. There is no necessity to go into details on this point, for it is plain enough for any person to understand.

Well, now, if a new code of rules could be arranged it would be a very easy matter to have them introduced to the public. There was no meeting held among the boxers and sporting people of the world to have the marquis of Queensberry rules endorsed.

They were simply given out to the world, and they were by public consent adopted, and soon became international because they just suited the conditions. This example can be followed easily enough. Let one, or two, or any number, of the leading boxing clubs adopt a code of rules and have them tried next winter or fall. If they are good they will soon become universal, and if there are any defects in them experience will soon enable the framers to remedy the shortcomings.

Wheels and Their Riders.

The next event in the local bicycle field will be the first of a series of races to be given by the Y. M. C. A. Cycle club at the fair grounds Saturday, June 19. There will be three races, and the first three men in each race will compete in a final race for the medals hung up by the club. There are one gold medal and two silver medals, and the races promise to be lively ones. They will be five-mile handicaps. The handicap committee has been appointed and it is already quietly guaging those who expect to enter. The entry blanks are now ready, and the entries will close June 17, two days before the race. There will also be a mile race, as the merchants of the city have been very generous with their offerings of prizes, so that there will be enough to make up all the events.

It is proposed to have a six days' relay bicycle race at the Union rink between the Duluth and Superior clubs. The idea was proposed by the management of the rink, and at a meeting of the Duluth club held Tuesday evening it was decided to take charge of the event. The plans have not been definitely settled, but it is probable that four men will be entered from each city, one from each team to ride an hour each evening, two contestants from each city to be on the track at the same time. There will be prizes for the winners, and the races are expected to be hot ones.

It is now proposed that the Duluth Cycle club take in Clan Stewart for its Fourth of July event, the clan to provide Caledonian sports and games and the club to provide bicycle races. This will be a good arrangement, as it will afford a variety of enterainment.

The wheel enthusiasts of the West End have formed a cycle club with about forty members, which starts out with good prospects for success.

If any one seriously entertains the notion that the bicycle of today is a genuine safety, a glance at current maimed and mortuary records will readily banish it. During the last two weeks of May the scorching fraternity of Chicago turned thirty-two maimed victims over to the doctors, and two were placed beyond the reach of medical aid. One man killed, two others fatally injured and more than a score wounded was the record for Memorial day. The scorcher does not escape by any means. According to the police record, eight of the hot boys are under bonds for trial, and several others are laid up for repairs.

A strangely fatal accident to a wheelman occurred in Chicago Friday of last week. Desiro Bruno, a crack wheelman, winner of the annual road race, was thrown from his wheel while crossing a railroad track. In falling, the frame of another wheel which he was carrying on his shoulder, struck heavily against his neck, causing his throat to swell and producing death within an hour. Bruno was a native of Canada, and lived in Chicago during the last five years. Some of his performances were noteworthy. His best 100-mile road ride was done over the Palmer square course in 1895. He rode the distance in five hours and twenty-eight minutes. In training for the six-day race at Tattersall's last February he rode more than 100 miles a day at the rate of twenty-one miles an hour on the smooth floor of the Second egiment armory. He was apparently tireless. He entered the six-day race, and was traveling like a whirlwind when he was disqualified for foul riding.

A Brooklyn woman who in a lecture asserted that "bicycling develops only the legs, and the upper part of the body must have other exercise to equalize the effect," calls out this reply from the Sun: "Bicycling develops a lot of things. It affects the muscles of nearly the entire physical system. It develops the arms because of their exercise in steering; it develops the lungs, because it causes deep breathing; it develops the vocal cords, because of their use in remonstrating with dogs, drivers and pedestrians who obstruct the cyclist's path; at the same time it develops the power of language through the situations it provides which require the faculty of high speech for adequate dealing with them. Cycling develops the stomach, by giving its devotees a hearty appetite; it develops the heart by setting it beating; it develops the hands, as they hold the handle bar; and, in the case of scorchers, cycling also produces the 'bicycle face' and the 'ostrich neck.' Cycling is great in its all-round effects, morally and physically."

Speaking of the proposed tax of $1 a year on bicycles, the Philadelphia Ledger says: "Nobody clamors for good roads so loudly and persistently as the riders of bicycles, and good roads cost money. It is only fair that the bicyclers should help pay for the improvements they demand, and $1 a year is a very light tax for that purpose, especially since comparatively few of the riders are called upon to pay any other tax. The principle is the same as the tolls on a turnpike, which, as a rule, are paid cheerfully in recognition of the fact that the turnpike company maintains a much better road than the common highways which run near it and are free to everybody."

The bicycle seems to be making too rapid strides into the field of utility. It invaded avenues of trade very soon after its use became general, and it has proved a valuable factor in many lines of business, but there is danger that its enthusiastic advocates will push its claims for availability too far. This menace is obvious in an incident reported from Elizabethport, N. J., where a funeral procession consisted of two carriages and fifteen bicycles. The properly solemn aspect of this occasion could not fail to be marred by a succession of mourners on wheels. Such a cortege requires all elements of mischance to be eliminated as far as possible, and bicycles are so prone to have various things happen to them at inopportune moments that they are decidedly out of place at a funeral. One punctured tire at such a time would be sure to create the greatest confusion, where all things should be staid and calm, and the imagination can picture many other typical bicycle calamities any one of which would be fatal to funeral decorum.

In France there is an annual tax of $2 on every bicycle and the wheel is allowed to go as baggage on railways. In Austria a deposit of $10 must be made; in Belgium 12 per cent ad valorem duty must be deposited, while in Germany no deposit is required. England charges no duty, but compels a deposit to guarantee against sale of bicycle. In nearly all the remaining countries deposits are required, and in Spain a six-months' license, costing 20 cents, is demanded.

It is somewhat amusing to note the way in which the bicycle continues to be made a scapegoat for many of the ills which afflict society or humanity. Thus the life insurance authorities in New York have declared that the excessive use of the wheel involves a new risk which they may be compelled to guard against in their policies. Again, the striking tailors of New York are blaming their wretched condition on the fact that a bicycle suit may be bought for a few dollars, and that many wheelmen keep these suits on while at work, and, in fact, all of the time. The wheel has to some extent emancipated the man from the dress suit tailor, and the woman from the modiste; but if it hadn't been the wheel it would have been some other form of outdoor sport.

A folding bicycle is the latest invention. It is a machine so constructed that it can be carried by man, when man cannot be carried by the machine. It is the work of an instant to fold the bicycle by means of pressing bolts forward and into recesses in a locking tube, and then laying the rear wheel around against the front. The folding bicycle is especially valuable where one wishes to make excursions on boats or cars, or for those fortunate people who go off on yachting tours this summer and want to have their wheels along in order to explore any island of the deep at which they may touch. The wheel has as much strength as the ordinary bicycle, and weighs only twenty-five pounds.

It is said that Providence is the guardian of two classes of degenerates. There are others. Dora Dewitt sprinted across the Milwaukee bridge at Kansas City, riding on the ties outside the space eighteen inches wide. Miss Dewitt rode a light racer. The tires had been removed, leaving only the bare rims to ride on. She started at a fast clip, knowing that in no other way could she get across. A single mishap would have hurled her into the Missouri river, ninety feet below. Once, near the center of the bridge, she swerved slightly, and for a few feet the wheel rushed along within an inch of the edge of the ties, but the girl was cool, and in a moment she was in control of her wheel and finished the trip without further danger. The greatest peril was in the depressions two feet wide which exist at regular intervals from one end of the bridge to the other. But she crossed all of these firmly, though the shock each time seemed as if it would throw her from the wheel. At the close Miss Dewitt's arms were so numb that she could not lift them. Several well known wheelmen witnessed the feat.

A novel bicycle skirt protector is in shape a spread eagle. It not only keeps the mud from being thrown by the rear wheel on the rider, but prevents the skirts from being blown about by the wind or caught in the chain or wheel. The eagle, which, by the way, is rather picturesque and an ornament than otherwise, bends over, with his head pointing rearward and his wings extending outwardly on each side. It is rigidly mounted on the frame, and the wings are provided with springs to keep them distended, while allowing them to fold inwardly should the bicycle fall on its side. The legs of the bird may be thrown down to serve as a brake, or as supports when the rider dismounts.

An interesting collision case involving a bicycle and a cart has been decided in Philadelphia by Judge Wilson of the court of common pleas. Thomas Taylor, the wheelman, was riding along Dauphin street on the single car track in the street in the direction traveled by the cars. A cart belonging to the railroad company was coming up the track in the other direction. The wheelman, thinking he had the right-of-way, held on, as did the cart, until an accident was unavoidable, and the wheelman and his bicycle were both hurt, for which compensation was claimed. The trial judge decided against the wheel, and his opinion was confirmed by Judge Wilson. The latter said:

"To sustain the point that the plaintiff had the right-of-way reliance is had upon the statute which gives to the bicycle the character of a vehicle, and also to an ordinance of the city which, in ordinary cases, gives to vehicles the right-of-way upon the tracks of the passenger railway companies, in the direction in which the cars ordinarily run. The obvious reason of this ordinance, however, is that it was intended to give to the vehicles making use of the rails of the tracks a convenient and settled right of direction and occupancy upon these rails. I do not think it has any bearing whaever upon the right of the riders of bicycles. Nobody, I presume, would dispute the proposition that, in the ordinary occupancy of streets and under ordinary circumstances, the drivers of vehicles drawn by horses and the riders of bicycles must regard the ordinary rule of the road, for each other's convenience and safety. I do not, however, think that such a rule would require that in an open, unobstructed highway, a vehicle like a cart, for instance, should be driven to one side in order that the rider of a bicycle might be relieved of the necessity of deviating from a straight line. Good sense and reasonable regard for the peculiarities of such cases ought to be required, both of the drivers of vehicles and of the riders of bicycles. Experience emphasizes the importance of proper regulations for the protection of the many thousands of people who use the bicycle. At the same time it is also to be borne in mind that that vehicle is much lighter and more under the control of its rider than vehicles of the other sort, which are drawn by horses.

"In many cases, therefore, it is the duty of the rider of the bicycle to regulate his course and to make concessions, which possibly the driver of a vehicle of burden ordinarily could not be obliged to do. In this particular it is quite evident that the plaintiff, under the notion that he had a right to compel the driver of the cart to leave the track in order to give him a free and unobstructed passage, remained in his onward course so long that the collision which occurred was unavoidable. In this he was at fault. He brought the consequences upon himself by his own folly."

In adjusting the movements of vehicles in the streets, therefore, their rights are not fixed according to one inflexible rule. The lighter and more easily deflected vehicle owes a certain amount of deference to heavier and less wieldy vehicles, and the bicycle must proceed upon that understanding.

Mr. MacAllister, the British consul in Uganda, announces the arrival there of a missionary who had mounted his wheel at the Indian ocean, and rolled all the way to the Victoria Nyanza, about 600 miles, to the astonishment of the natives. They regarded him as a wizard.

The missionary's journey was the pioneer wheeling trip to Central Africa, says the New York Sun, but as a bicycling feat it was not notable, for pedaling was comparatively easy along the fine wagon road recently completed from the Indian ocean to Victoria Nyanza. The loads of steamboat machinery now passing over the road weigh several tons apiece. It would make the farmers in our Mohawk valley stare to see any one attempt to haul such loads through some of the sandy stretches on the Albany post road. Still the prospects are fair that we shall be able to show a large mileage of good country roads by the time Africa can offer superior inducements to bicycle tourists.

Mr. MacAllister says that bicycles are seen every day on the streets of Mengo, the capital of Uganda. The fact speaks well for the condition of the streets in that young center of civilization, and as the bicycle arrived there about the time the streets were laid out, it is safe to say that Mengo has never known the cobblestone variety of street paving.

Among the twenty-five miles of river front on the Congo where, not so very long ago, the Bangalla ran abreast of Stanley's canoes yelling "meat, meat," as they launched their boats in pursuit, the peaceful wheel wends its way daily, carrying the white men of the post to their various places of duty; and it is reaching even more remote parts of Africa. Mr. Hourst, who, last year, made the first complete descent of the Niger river, brought home a curious photograph. In the rear was a long line of natives, many of them Tuaregs of the Sahara, on their horses, and hundreds of the river negroes, all intent upon one of Hourst's men who was riding up and down the line on a bicycle. The show was repeated all along the river, and it drew like a circus.

Many things are changing in Africa, and the bicycle is one of the latest proofs that the Dark Continent is coming more and more into touch with the outer world. Bicycle manufacturers had better keep an eye on Africa as a field offering to them limitless possibilities. The natives today look upon the wheelman with the feelings that once rose in the savage breast at the sight of the locomotive, or iron horse. But some day the knowledge will dawn upon him that the bicycle won't bite, and that anybody may learn the secret of its equilibrity in five half-hour lessons. A bicycle craze in Africa is sure to come, and it will be a continental calamity if wheels cannot be distributed among the 200,000,000 blacks in quantities sufficient to meet their ambition for this great fruit of civilization.

WHERE FISHING IS GOOD.

Those looking for the best fishing grounds are reminded of Lake Tetonka, at Waterville, and Madison lake, on the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad.

Wall-eyed pike, bass and crappies are found in great abundance at both of these lakes, which have not been fished out to the extent of some of the older and better known localities.

Excellent hotel accommodations, boats, bait, etc., on hand, and all charges are very reasonable.

The World of Fashion.

Now that summer with all its varied amusements, fashionable sports, and consequent demands for appropriate costumes is very near, dress assumes a fresh importance to the up-to-date summer girl. She must be well supplied with the pretty filmy things of lace and lawn, and the distinctive gowns suited to the conventional requirements of outdoor life, or she can have no especial place in the procession. However, she has one satisfaction to encourage her through the ordeal of preparing her summer outfit, even though the allowance is limited, in the fact that simple inexpensive gowns are quite as good form as the more elaborate confections, provided they are made in the latest fashion and supplemented by all the details as to belts, stocks, and vests which give them the approved stamp of style. It is the little touches and artistic manner of wearing these simple dresses that make them a fashionable success.

The expression so often heard, that some women have a superior way of wearing their clothes, has a significance which is well worth considering, since the accomplishment can make a plain gown appear elegant. Change, too, is a vital thing in the fashionable world, particularly in summer, and the more variety we can give to the outfit the more successful it will fulfill its mission. The coat and skirt gowns of pique, linen duck, and various wool materials help out this scheme to an unlimited extent, for no end of changes may be made with a variety of vests.

CHECKED TAFFETA SILKS.

Checked taffeta silks, striped across in the form of a yoke with narrow velvet ribbon, make pretty and serviceable vests, but this little accessory of dress is constructed out of any old bit of lace, silk, or chiffon which may be at hand. For lightweight wool costumes there is a new style of coat with a blouse back and close fitting front, well covered with a large collar, rather narrow in the back, but wide and extending to the bottom in front. Wide collars of some sort are a special feature of the new coats and many of the very latest gowns, whether they are made with a coat or round waist, quite regardless of the kind of material. Very pretty collars are of taffeta silk, finely tucked in groups or closely all over, and to be correct the tucks must be in the narrowest possible width, with a finish on the edge of tiny side plaitings. The collar, which is narrow, front and back, meeting at the neck band and extending out over the sleeves in the form of an epaulette, is especially good style.

BLOUSE BODICES.

Blouse bodices are quite as popular as the coat in any sort of material, and very pretty pique gowns are made in this way, opening in front over a chemisette and narrow vest of embroidery. The wide fancy collar is a feature of the new thin bodices of gauze or chiffon, as well as the heavier materials, and it is sometimes made of the same thin fabric, shirred full of tiny tucks or of tulle in some contrasting color, lined with silk of the color of the bodice. Batiste and muslin gowns of the daintiest description have the same style of collar, made of alternate rows of tucks and insertion finished around the edge with a lace frill, or entirely of lace over colored silk. An example of this is in the new shape is a charming model for a colored or white organdie or an ecru batiste. White organdie is the material employed in this case, and the new fine Swiss embroidery so popular this season is the trimming, set in two rows of insertion down either side of the skirt and in the bodice and sleeves. Two ruffles of edging trim and bottom, and the collar of pale green and white shot taffeta is covered with the embroidery. The silk also forms the belt, and the underdress is of pale green lawn, fine and sheer.

LACE JACKETS WORN.

Lace jackets worn with very thin gowns are one of the latest novelties, and the newest form shows a postilion back. Cluny, Honiton, Lierre, Imitation Venetian and Valenciennes seem to be the popular laces for trimming thin gowns, but Cluny rather has the lead as the latest revival. It is employed on all sorts of gowns, both silk and wool, for full vests, entire sleeves, jabots, yokes and in any other way in which lace can be arranged. One of the pretty and fashionable waist models among the the latest gowns has a narrow round yoke back and front extending into a loose full vest. A piping of satin or velvet or a narrow frill of lace finishes the edge of the bodice where it laps up on the yoke and down either side of the front. Any broad effect across the shoulders which can be produced by the use of epaulettes or frills seems to be the correct thing, and as a diplomatic substitute for the large sleeves it is a great success.

THIN DRESSES.

The sleeves of thin dresses are either shirred or trimmed round with rows of tucks and lace insertion, and three lace-edged frills are the prettiest finish for the top. The skirts have less fullness than those of last season, but they are cut either with seven gores and fitted carefully around the hips or made with plain breadths shirred in tiny cords below the waist and trimmed with lace insertion set in various forms above the hem, diamond points being one of the favorite designs. Lace-edged flounces are the usual trimming on the gored muslin skirts. There may be one, two or three at the bottom, flounces all the way from the hem to the waist, or narrow ruches set in clusters or at wide intervals the entire length, but trimming of some sort is a necessity on the gored skirt. The under dresses, also of organdie or very sheer lawn, are trimmed with ruffles at the bottom, which make the skirt stand out and preserve the lightness in effect much better than the silk linings. A second model is a plain white organdie with one-seven-inch lace trimmed ruffle at the bottom headed with insertion. Above this several inches apart are two rows of insertion with a frill of two-inch lace falling below. The square yoke is finely tucked and framed by two bands of insertion with a tiny lace frill in the upper edge. Wider lace trims the epaulettes and bodice at the side where it opens. Another model for muslin shows the insertions of lace set in points on the skirt and bodice where it outlines a tucked yoke with two narrower rows of lace insertion over the shoulders.

GRAY FOULARD SILK.

Still another design, pretty for any thin material, is carried out in gray foulard silk with a ruche of black mousseline de soie at the bottom of the skirt, which is striped with black lace insertion over brocaded ribbon. The bodice is tucked round between the lace, which also trims the sleeves, and the postilion basque is of black mousseline de soie. Small jet buttons trim the front where the waist fastens, and the narrow epaulette collar is of silver-beaded guipure.

Gray is one of the most fashionable colors this season, and in cashmere or the fine-ribbed canvas it makes the daintiest sort of summer gown with plenty of cream lace and a touch of pink, yellow or pale green silk on the bodice. Milliners' folds of gray satin or velvet trim an occasional skirt, but there are many plain ones simply hemmed and quite loose from the lining at the bottom. Brown and white, brown and mauve and brown and green are also fashionable combinations for summer gowns; and one example is an imported gown of brown canvas, fine and very open mesh, lined with white taffeta silk. The blouse bodice of brown and white striped satin trimmed with lace, and the vest of white chiffon. Nuns' veilings, very thin in quality, gain in favor as the season advances, and a very novel effect is produced by lining them with plaid silks, or large broken plaids, with a decided line of some bright color. White nuns' veiling over white silk, trimmed with inch-wide green gauze ribbon set in a pattern like braiding on the skirt, sleeves and bodice, is one of the novelties in summer dress. Bands of narrow satin ribbon also trim these light gowns.

FOR OUTDOOR SPORTS.

The coat and skirt style of summer dress, so much worn for tennis, yachting, golf and all outdoor recreations, is shown in greater variety than ever. There are Eton and bolero jackets and fitted coats with basques of varying lengths, so whichever is most becoming to the figure is the one to choose. A pretty model in gray cloth with a zouave jacket is trimmed with a hat gray braid, edged around with a fancy cord. The necessary contrast of color is in the vest of yellow lace and a belt of pale green silk. White kid is the finish on another coat of mixed cloth, with black satin revers and collar. The plaited bolero, trimmed with embroidery, is a pretty fancy for a pique gown, and still another pique coat has insertions of embroidery set in the front and around the revers.

YACHTING SUITS.

Yachting suits are made of serge, mohair and linen, but the wool materials are generally considered the most serviceable for this purpose. One model shown is of striped serge in blue and white, with a trimming of white braid and revers of white serge striped with blue. A seaside costume of white serge has panels of cadet blue cloth laced across with white cord. Another model made in white mohair or serge has a bolero trimmed with red braid, which also trims the skirt. Blue braid is pretty on this style of gown, and gold buttons are a pretty addition. Red serge trimmed with white or black braid makes a very stylish yachting dress, with box-plaited panels over the bands of braid on the skirt. Black taffeta ribbon forms the belt in this case, but leather belts are very much worn with this style of dress.

WILLOWY WOMEN.

Fashion Sees New Beauty in Effective Poses.

The tall and lithesome woman is in the ascendancy at this moment in more ways than one. She is the chosen representative of fashion and the accepted exponent of grace. The most praiseworthy theory in favor of the justice of this preference is that the bright and progressive woman has been out bicycling and has lost the superabundance of flesh of former seasons, says the Philadelphia Times. More than that, she is very wide awake to the vital interests of the day. She shops industriously, fosters charities, studies parliamentary usages, even invades her own kitchen, and flatters herself that she is quite up in culinary art. There are persons who are not above saying that this multiplicity of interests is really superinduced by a desire to keep personal averdupois within a certain limit. Be that as it may, the fact remains that years ago. At that date a girl would have been sent to her room for special rebuke if by chance she had rested her hands on her hips. She would have been told that only washer-women did that.

A RESTFUL POSE.

Today one of the very popular poses of the fashionable woman is that restful attitude which her maternal ancestor dared not assume. She stands with her hands pressed to her sides, her fingers forward and thumbs well back, and society smiles approval. The position favors increased litheness, and gives even the little woman an apparent addition of a few inches to her stature, provided always that her shoulders are thrown well back.

Another pose that has caught the fancy of society is the extended arms with the finger tips resting on ornamental chair or table. The effective ness of this pose is just now being preserved in photographs that are quite graceful. The restful poses of today have grown largely out of the Delsartean craze and gymnastic drills that have discovered to their devotees ease of position as well as the correction of faults for which the exercise was undertaken.

SOME PRETTY TIES.

The prettiest ties to be worn with linen collars are in Scotch plaids, of soft silk, grenadine or satin. The Stuart plaid, with its bars of yellow, the McGregor plaid, with its gay scarlet and touches of black, the Scotch silk green and red and the Ferguson with broad blocks of white are extremely effective and pretty. The patriotic woman, of course, loyally buys her ties in the plaid which she has some claim upon, by right of birth or relationship; but the more frivolous maidens will cheerfully don the plaid of a clan which spent its time in fighting with her forefathers, if its color happen to be becoming.

The black satin tie last season was somewhat neglected, owing to the whim of matching shirt and tie. It is again worn this year and is certainly far more effective with light shirts than the fancy cravats of light colors or glaring vulgarities in striped and flowered ribbon. The correct bow tie (which is the only one to be worn with a high, but turned over linen collar) is small and very tightly tied. It should never measure more than two and one-half inches from tip to tip, and should be so decidedly tied as to preclude any possibility of its coming undone or twisting around under her ear, like the butterfly bows of the Sunday school boy.

Puffy Ascot ties and the ever-beloved four-in-hand are worn with the high collar. These are of black satin, in plaids—in dark plaids of green and blue they are prettiest—and in the new Persian silks, which are artistic and blend well with any shirt and shirt-waist. A black and white shirt and a tie of soft Eastern silk in cream and red, which much resembles a bandana, by the way, is a combination which will be much seen a little later on. In the black satin Ascot tie the tailor-made girl wears a scarfpin of pearls set a little to the left.

SUMMER WEAR.

Lovelier Gowns Than Ever Before Are Seen.

Matrons and maids are now packing their trunks full of beautiful things for the summer outing. Quantities of pretty conceits are being wrapped up in lavender, and when summer really comes, with its bright sunshine, the summer girl will be a perfect picture of loveliness. It has always been said that clothes do not make the man, but pretty clothes certainly make lovely women more entrancing. Some of the gowns now being laid into trunks are for the balls of the season, and there is no wonder that the owners are sighing for warm weather, so that they may have opportunities of displaying them, says the Chicago Chronicle.

A young woman who will spend the warm months at Lake Geneva will astonish many with the beauty of her toilets. One pretty evening blouse in her possession is made of turquoise blue silk veiled in cream gauze texture, in which appears applique lace in the form of revers edged with ruffles of plaited blue chiffon. The neck is cut quite law and round. The transparent sleeves are of the applique lace, topped off with puffs of the gauze. The front of the bodice is finished with a huge bow of blue kitted chiffon edged with cream lace, and the waist is supplemented with a handsome steel and turquoise buckle. Another bodice is made in folds of white organdie over pink taffeta. The neck is cut very low and semi-square. There are no sleeves, but huge ruffles of the finest of white lace set onto straps of pink satin ribbon and finished with great bows of the same stand out over the shoulders. The front and back of the bodices have a band of insertion run across at the edge of the low-cut neck. There is no waistband, the folds of the goods ending in perfect completeness.

WEAR AT A BALL.

A beautiful ball gown is of white organdie over canary taffeta. The skirt is a sunburst, edged with a single row of artificial Marguerites. The bodice is also plaited and is drawn down tightly into a pointed girdle of canary satin ribbon. Edging the low neck are bands of the Marguerites, reaching up over the shoulders, where they end in great bunches on top of the shoulders. Under the flowers are plaited ruffles of the organdie, standing out over mousquetaire sleeves, which extend well over the hands, ending with ruffles.

Despite the expense of taffeta linings those extravagances will be worn a great deal. A pretty way to make an organdie sunburst is to have a taffeta sunburst to be worn underneath the two being banded together. The effect is charming.

One of the most fetching summer waists is of pink mull, made with high neck and long mousquetaire sleeves, over which is a cap of the mull and lace. The bodice part is very full, being gathered at both neck and waistband. Running across the front are three rows of cream lace insertion. The bodice closes very far on the left side under a full frill of lace. A pretty hat to be worn with this waist is of white leghorn, the brim not being overly wide. Surrounding the crown is a band of pink crushed roses, from behind which spring short, but wavy grasses. To the left of the front a great bunch of the grass gives the desired height.

When the time for duck or pique suits comes a pretty West Side girl will don a more than attractive little waist for wear under a jacket. The entire front is composed of shirrings of white muslin and black lace insertion. The foundation is made of white muslin shirrings, beginning at the sleeveless armhole, and running up and down, the lace being set in between. The lace is about an inch wide and the shirrings two inches. For a collar one row of the shirring, running around, is banded at both sides with the lace. At the top a ruffle of the muslin is edged with the lace. A pretty belt to be worn with this is made of black satin ribbon fully five inches wide, which is caught at one side with a jeweled buckle, the ends of the ribbon being allowed to hang from the waist some seven or eight inches.

PATTERNS IN FAVOR.

Large patterns, which are all the rage, will be worn a great deal. A decidedly charming bodice of dark blue dimity flowered with white conventionals is worn with a blue pique skirt. The bodice is gathered full and belted with white satin ribbon. Tight sleeves have an upturned stiff puff. The neck is finished with a stock of the white ribbon, inside of which is a frill of lace. This coctume, though very plain, is decidedly one of the most becoming of its kind. The additional inch of the skirt is four rows of stitching about the bottom. At the hips, instead of gores, small tucks are run in, one a trifle longer than the other, the middle one being longest. These are stitched down, giving a trim appearance.

SMART BALL GOWNS.

Two very smart ball gowns are to be worn by a young woman on Michigan avenue, who spends her summers at Oconomowoc. The skirt is a sunburst, the bottom of which is trimmed with three rows of Valenciennes lace insertion. At one side a full fall of lace extends from the waist band to the hem of the skirt. A garland of yellow crush roses runs from the left side of the waist across the front of the skirt, ending at the lace fall. The bodice is plaited, the neck cut very low. Full puffs and lace finish the sleeveless bodice at the shoulders. Caught on either side of the front by buckles are great pieces of lace, which are caught again under a mammoth bow of plaited silk directly in front of the corsage. The second gown is of white organdie. The bodice is made with a low neck cut V-shaped. Rows of insertion running up and down trim the fullness making a blouse effect. From each shoulder plaited pieces of the organdie edged with lace fall down to the bust line. Two ruffles over each shoulder cap off the mosquetaire sleeves. A girdle of pink silk encircles the waist. The skirt is made plain, with three ruffles put on at the knee and reaching to the hem of the gown. Each ruffle is plaited and is edged with two-inch lace, making the ruffle about six inches deep.

In the matter of lawns every woman gazes with delight on the beauties now displayed. A pretty fancy now quite popular is the wearing of a plain lawn petticoat under a lawn or organdie dress, but the petticoat must be of the color of the pattern or flowers in the material of the gown. These petticoats are minus all ruffles or tucks, having a deep hem as their only beautifying accessory. But should this be regarded as marring their appearance rows of insertion and tucks set in at intervals may be added. Ruffles are pretty, but inadvisable. Save them to serve the white petticoats.

DECOLLETE GOWNS.

The question has arise, should thin young women wear decollete gowns? The average girl's idea is that an evening dress be cut low to meet the requirements of the fashion, irrespective of its suitability to the wearer. Now, there is nothing more beautiful than handsome shoulders and round, firm arms, and the woman possessing them has every excuse for the wearing of a decollete gown. Indeed, there is no texture of silk or lace so becoming to the fair, plump woman as her own flesh, and to demand the covering of it from ears to wrists and for reasons upheld by prudes and preachers is as absurd as would be the burying of gold because of its glitter.

The question is not one of propriety, but of collar bones. If a girl is plump, by all means let her bodice be cut in the prevailing mode for evening wear, but when a young woman is forced to resort to subterfuge and attempts to hide the osseous outlines of her throat by a revival of the "stoop" so much affected by Josephine Bonaparte and the ladies of the empire, modesty may be considered a becoming virtue and to be resorted to for vanity's if not decency sake.

But it is a difficult thing for a woman to see herself as others see her, and she is often obstinate in acknowledging that there are some things one had much better keep to one's self. Still, she is called a deceptive quality—even a hypocrite—in placing the best foot foremost. And it is true that there are girls who are adepts in hiding from society their unlovely traits of character. They do not advertise bad tempers or selfishness, or extravagance, in openly confessing to these faults, and are rarely given to self-depreciation in any form. Now, if a girl is so careful to put herself in a favorable light where the question is one of moral beauty, why should she so disregard the keeping up of appearances in the case of physical imperfections? To keep secret one's foibles and then acquaint society with the sharpness of one's elbows is inconsistent.

EMBROIDERIES ARE HANDSOME

Very beautiful are the embroideries for the fronts of gowns for the coming season. Some on lisse and net are worked in the corners with light floral patterns, which are made right and left so that one or two can be used. In these green and pink tinsel and paillettes of faint tone mingle with gold, silver and pearls or something of that nature. The bodice trimmings for evening are nearly all of the stomacher shape, continued at the top as far as the shoulders. They are worked also in paillettes, jewels and tinsel thread, so that the material of the dress shows in the interstices. The boleros frequently cover the back and are continued under the arms for high and low dresses. As a matter of fact, the styles quoted are not ironclad, and the wouldbe fashionable may vary from the idea in minor ways all she wishes to. The more we investigate the new styles the more we find they fairly smother us with ideas. Again it is made evident that we can be both economical and fashionable.

LONG PLUMES WORN.

Paris fancies generally find firm footing on American soil. It has recently become a fad overseas to wear plumes of extraordinary length to one's hats. A feather three feet in length is considered none too long to droop gracefully from the back of the hat. This is a fancy dear to the woman of an earlier part of the century. Yet it was reinstated in favor very suddenly and unexpectedly. That clever leader of fashion in Paris, Mrs. Caroline Rebeaux, appeared one day with a picturesque black hat fairly laden with long plumes, the tips of which almost reached to her waist at the back. The idea was a success, and was, of course, immediately copied. Women appeared everywhere with sweeping feathers. And the next step was to transport the fashion to America.

SHOE POLISH AN AID.

The application of shoe polish to a black straw hat may save a visit to the renovator. A woman who is an adept with her fine paint brush recently freshened the last summer hats of her little daughters by means of some paints, such as she had been using for dainty decorative work. A dull gold worked up beautifully, also the burnt siennas. White leghorn hats may be effectively cleansed by rubbing with corn meal and brushing off carefully afterward.

PURPLE NOT POPULAR.

The inspection of many hundred costumes that thronged a popular promenade on a recent fair Sunday revealed not so many as one purple gown in a hundred by actual count. Browns and black appeared to lead, and blue made a close second. Almost without exception wraps and outside jackets were omitted, which from a spectacular point of view was to be deplored. As a low cut collar detracts from the dignity of street appearance, so also does a wrapless or jacketless condition, unless something in the way of a substitute, such as neck ruche or some other kind of full neck trimming, be used. A costume that looks fit in the house loses that characteristic in the street on account of the addition of the hat, which almost invariably changes the relation of the neck of the dress to the rest of the costume. Without a hat even a tight fitting collar band looks symmetrical, but when the top of the head is emphasized by flower and ribbon trimmed, more or less big hats, the neck looks disproportionately small; hence the becomingness of boas, ruchings and little capes in the street.

JEWELRY FOR CYCLISTS.

One of the latest fads is jewelry of designs created especially to suit wheelmen and wheelwomen. Naturally the fad is becoming popular. One piece that attracts a good deal of interest is the bicycle watch chatelaine. The watch is suspended from a clasp by a couple of dainty chameled handle bars, and the watch itself frequently has the shape and appearance of a fairy bicycle. Bicycle clocks are frequently seen on the dressing tables of enthusiastic wheelwomen, and bicycle paper weights are found on the business desks of not a few wheelmen. Ivory toilet sets are made nowadays with silver bicycle wheels on the back of each piece, in place of the customary monograms. Young ladies frequently have their stationery stamped now with their cycling club colors. The most fetching thing of all, though, is the bicycle wheel link engagement bracelet. This is made of a series of tiny bicycle wheels, linked together with precious stones and clasped with a miniature lantern, of which the light is a glistening gem. Wheels in bright colored enamel are used for link cuff buttons, while entire bicycles in miniature are used as "stick" pins and for the decoration of neckwear.

CUCUMBER FOR THE FACE.

Most of the expensive toilet luxuries will be found to contain cucumber juice. These hold a very important and expensive place, and just now is the time for the wise housekeeper to preserve their cooling and healing qualities, not only for her own and children's use, but for the comfort of the pater also.

To make cucumber cream, which not only clears and cleanses the complexion, but is also very healing, proceed as follows: Remove the soft part from two or three cucumbers, warm sufficiently to make it squeeze through the colander, then squeeze through a hair sieve; to half a teacupful of this add a teaspoonful of glycerine and five drops of salicylic acid; both the latter are preservatives, and if glycerine does not agree with the skin the salicylate alone will be sufficient. Add a few drops of any perfume liked and the ointment is ready for use.

While cucumbers are plentiful it is well to have thick slices of the softest, with the soap on the wash stand, and to use after the former, to rub face, hands and throat, rinsing afterward. The clean, soft feeling of the skin will answer for its future use. While tomatoes are ripe and plentiful they are excellent to remove freckles and muddiness from the skin. A woman with a peachlike bloom on her skin declares she has used nothing else besides soap from her girlhood. A thorough rubbing of the skin once or twice daily while the season lasts with a ripe tomato will work wonders, and if this is found to be the very thing for certain complexions the canned may be used occasionally through the winter; those canned nearly whole must be chosen, as they are the least cooked and are more efficacious in the raw state.

MRS. PETERSON'S STORY.

I have suffered with womb trouble over fifteen years. I had inflammation, enlargement and displacement of the womb.

The doctor wanted me to take treatments, but I had just begun taking Mrs. Pinkham's Compound, and my husband said I had better wait and see how much good that would do me. I was so sick when I began with her medicine, I could hardly be on my feet. I had the backache constantly, also headache, and was so dizzy. I had heart trouble, it seemed as though my heart was in my throat at times choking me. I could not walk around and I could not lie down, for then my heart would beat so fast I would feel as though I was smothering. I had to sit up in bed nights in order to breathe. I was so weak I could not do anything.

I have now taken several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and used three packages of Sanative Wash, and can say I am perfectly cured. I do not think I could have lived long if Mrs. Pinkham's medicine had not helped me.—Mrs. Joseph Peterson, 513 East St., Warren, Pa.

THE BIWABIK BUDGET.

Biwabik, Minn., June 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The report that the Biwabik Bessemer company has sold a block of ore at $2.25 is probably correct. The company could sell now at $2.25 just as well as at $2.45 earlier in the spring. Then lake freights were figured at 70 cents. Now they are only 50 cents. This price leaves the company just 45 cents to cover mining cost, insurance, taxes and commission, so that they will about come out even.

The Cincinnati has shipped two cargoes of ore from its stockpile and is also shipping daily from the shaft.

The shaft house at the Roberts mine at McKinley is being enlarged and strengthened and a new engine house is being erected. The mine will be in shape to make shipments as soon as the new spur is completed.

Grading is now in progress on the spur to the Roberts mine, the clearing having been completed. W. E. Dorwin, Jr., says that $2.25 per section was a fair price for clearing as good men were able to make $1.50 per day.

Capt. Harry Roberts is now doing some exploring about fifty miles from Port Arthur in Canada. Cole & McDonald's diamond drill is doing the work. It is understood that they are prospecting for precious metals.

John B. Johnson, representing Henry Stephen & Co., of Detroit, is now exploring with a diamond drill near the head of Lake Embarrass.

Beginning July 14 both Biwabik and Sparta are to receive and despatch mail over the Missabe road.

McKinley has recovered sufficiently from its lethargy so that a saloon license has been taken out by Kamke & Hagberg.

Rev. R. L. Snyder, of Mountain Iron, preached in the M. E. church here Sunday last. He will make regular trips to Biwabik until a pastor for this church is appointed.

A daughter was born to Mr./and Mrs. Max Shapero on June 7.

John Mainy, the Sparta butcher, has been in the habit of making his ice box a safe for his money. Early Wednesday morning he found the night policeman, Louis Logue, in the ice box. He had let himself in with a skeleton key. He had a hearing before a local justice Thursday, the justice not finding the evidence sufficient to sustain the charge of burglary.

Merritt & Co., the contractors on the naw mine at Sparta, have made one cut with a steam shovel about 700 feet long and are now working on a second. The shovel was down on the ore most of the distance. They will soon be in position to make a sample shipment of ore, which they aim to do as soon as possible.

The heavy rain of Thursday will probably liberate about 5,650,000 feet of logs which were hung up in the drive out of 12ly lake. Williamson & Campbell have about 125 men employed on the drive.

The ball game Sunday between the local team and the Towers resulted in a rather decisive victory for the Ely team. The day was a miserable one, and no brilliant plays were made on either side. At the end of five innings the score stood 16 to 2 for the Ely team.

The steam shovel was laid off a few days this week.

Miss Mattie Cowling was in Duluth this week.

TOWER.

George Quacacamig, a young Indian with a desire to see the elephant, but lacking the price, in the absence of a pawnbroking establishment, applied to several private individuals for a loan of 25 cents on a ring to enable him to revel in the pleasures of the circus, says the Iron Journal. He at last found accommodation to be supplied by one Joe McIntosh, who took the ring and supplied the necessary. Each party to the transaction, however, took different views of it, McIntosh claiming that he bought the ring and Lo that he only pawned it. In municipal court Thursday Judge Owens agreed with the red man and found McIntosh guilty of larceny, assessing the fine at $15 and costs amounting altogether to $21.94.

W. H. Rice passed through here on his way from his property six miles north of Sturgeon Falls in the Seine River country. Mr. Rice has been hard at work developing the property and has now a shaft of forty feet. The vein has doubled in width at that depth and is now about seven feet wide. None of the ore taken out has assayed less than $62 per ton, and Mr. Rice is now on a trip to purchase a 5-stamp mill which will be shipped over the Tower route.

George H. Hillyer, of Duluth, who is well known as interested in the Lucky Coon mine on Seine river, arrived in town on Monday and went on to the gold country on Tuesday morning. Mr. Hillyer has gone up with a view of developing a property known as K 191 east of Little Turtle lake, which promises exceedingly well.

A letter from C. S. Surgent of the transportation company stated that nothing further has been heard of the establishment of a port of entry at Seine City. Meanwhile the Moose will start to run between Fort Frances, Rainy Lake City and Kettle Falls. John Horan has abandoned the wheel on the Oddfellow on Vermilion lake and will assist Dan Ackley on the Moose during the summer.

The entertainment which was given in Peterson's Friday evening by the teachers and pupils of the Smithville school was a perfect success and too much praise cannot be given in their behalf. The wand drill which was given by the pupils of the upper room deserves special mention, because it was the prettiest they have ever given. WHAT IS YOUR TRADE?

Each Trade or Occupation Has Its Special Disease.

It is well known among medical men that certain diseases are more readily developed in certain occupations than in others. That each occupation has its attendant physical weakness. Engineers, railroad men and similar occupations suffer mostly from kidney troubles and men who are often exposed to the weather suffer from rheumatism, while clerks and professional men, in fact the army of people whose business keeps them indoors, are oftentimes great sufferers from piles and constipation. In this connection the following letter is of interest to people whose occupation will not allow sufficient outdoor exercise.

A. F. Calhoun notary public and jeweler and watchmaker of Circleville, W. Va., writes as follows:

I had been a severe sufferer from piles for years and had tried many remedies with but little benefit, when about three years ago I saw the Pyramid Pile Cure advertised and sent for it.

I was badly afflicted when I got them, but after only two applications the piles disappeared and from that day to this I have never felt a symptom of the disease.

I feel that I cannot recommend them too highly to sufferers from piles.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is free from cocaine, opium or any mineral poison, absolutely safe, pleasant and painless; sold by druggists at 50 cents per package. If there is any constipation the Pyramid Pills should be used with the pile cure. The pills are 25 cents per package.

Any druggist will tell you that the Pyramid is the best known and most successful and popular pile cure ever placed on the market and its reputation as a safe and radical cure has only resulted from the personal recommendation of people who have been cured of this distressing ailment.

Send to Pyramid company, Albion, Mich., for valuable little book on cause and cure of piles.

HOW IT GOT THERE.

The musical critic was looking over the advanced sheets of an "opus" that had been submitted for his inspection by an ambitious young composer, says the Chicago Tribune.

"Here is a strain," he said, "that I can't understand. You have inserted a fortissimo passage that seems to have no reference to the theme and appears to be in the highest degree discordant and inappropriate."

"That," said the composer, hastily drawing his pencil through it, "must have been where the baby broke in. I didn't know I had transcribed it."

THE TRADE OUTLOOK.

Dun Sees a Continued Gain in Business.

New York, June 12.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade today says: The gain in business continues, yet not without fluctuations, but at the best moderately distinct. It is still quantities rather than prices, although in some branches an advance in price appears, but on the whole the number of hands employed, the volume of new orders and the amount of work done are slowly increasing. Prospect of good crops of cotton and wheat helps growing demand from dealers whose stocks gradually gaining consumption also helps, and in the money and exchange market large buying of American securities has an influence. Wheat looks well and the best trade authority estimates the yield at 515,000,000 bushels. The price recovered 1½ cents after last week's fall, because visible supplies are diminishing, but 2,970,579 bushels were received at Western ports in June. The outgo abroad is steady and since March has been 16,946,382 bushels, against 16,115,400 last year, and yet Western receipts have kept fairly ahead of the exports.

The annual report of cotton acreage by the Financial Chronicle shows an increase of 5.83 per cent in all the states, and an increase in every state in spite of the floods, which, with no more favorable weather than that of last year, would mean a crop of nearly 9,100,000 bales. The market is a sixteenth weaker, partly because some Southern cotton mills are trying to limit production.

Neither cotton nor woolen mills can expect other than a waiting business with a change of tariff impending, but the demand for bleached goods is steady, though moderate for print cloths and slightly better at 2.44 cents plus 1 cent, and for print goods, though not active. Carpet mills at Philadelphia that have just resumed after a long idleness were also buyers and are nearly now running full time. A somewhat better re-order demand for woolens is reported, and especially in medium and high priced goods and fancy worsteds, without change in prices.

Iron furnaces in blast June 1 reported a weekly output of 168,880 tons, against 170,528 May 1, and in unsold stocks, exclusive of the great steel companies, an increase of 11,613 tons for the month, to 1,050,252 tons. Yet when an accident sent one of the large concerns into the market to buy quickly 50,000 to 60,000 tons of pig, the price rose to $9.90 for Bessemer at Pittsburg receding afterward to $9.75, with gray forge higher at $8.25.

The main fact is that production of pig has for some months been much in excess of the demand in the manufacture of finished products. Failure to form the rod trust caused wire nails to yield 5 cents. The general demand for plates and sheets was better, and for bars much larger East and at Chicago, with some large orders taken at Pittsburg. Philadelphia reports decided improvement in finished iron, with fewer concessions, and Pittsburg large structural orders, while apprehension of labor difficulties has induced much buying at the West. The strike at Pittsburg ends without success.

Failures for the week are 262 in the United States, against 246 last year and thirty in Canada, against twenty-seven last year.

WHAT BRADSTREET SEES.

New York, June 12.—Bradstreets' today says: Notwithstanding cool, wet weather, which checked the distribution of seasonable goods, disappointment at the restriction of distribution of merchandise in the spring and early summer is giving way to hopeful views for the fall trade. Business is better than a year ago. The volume is larger and there are more people employed than prior to the last presidential election. The movement of merchandise in the past five months has been disappointing, but jobbers are beginning to report fair orders for fall delivery.

The encouraging features announced this week are an improvement in May railroads earnings and an advance in the price of Bessemer pig iron, although the latter is less significant than some reports indicate. Manufacturers of woolens are more hopeful, the outlook for higher prices stimulating speculative demand for both raw and manufactured products.

Crop prospects, except in Oregon and Washington, where rain is needed, continue favorable. Hot and forcing weather, with showers, throughout the Gulf states has had an excellent effect on cotton and corn, which has stimulated demand for merchandise. This week's price movement includes advances for lead, wheat, Indian corn, oats, coffee, sugar and pig iron; steadiness on the part of prints, coal, lumber, steel billets, petroleum, pork and flour, and declines for cotton, lard, turpentine and rosin, pointing to a tendency to reverse last month's weakness in quotations.

Exports of wheat—flour included as wheat—from both coasts of the United States and from Montreal this week amount to 1,890,323 bushels, compared with 2,520,000 bushels last week, 2,922,000 bushels in the week a year ago, 1,781,000 bushels two years ago, 2,254,000 bushels three years ago and 3,624,000 bushels in the like week of 1893. Exports of Indian corn this week amount to 2,398,294 bushels compared with 2,396,000 last week, 1,636,000 in the week a year ago, 655,000 two years ago and 864,000 bushels three years ago.

There are 256 business failures reported throughout the United States this week, compared with 197 last week, 234 in the week a year ago, 252 two years ago, 227 three years ago and 303 in the like week of 1893.

There are thirty-eight business failures reported from Canada this week, compared with thirty-seven last week, thirty-eight in the week a year ago and twenty-one two years ago.

DISCOUNTENANCE IT.

Episcopal Church Will Not Support the Slumming Army.

New York, June 12.—The Parochial Mission society of the Protestant Episcopal church will formally withdraw its support from the church army Sept. 28 next. This decision, which was arrived at at the regular meeting of the executive committee, amounts practically to a complete repudiation of Gen. Henry H. Hadley and his scheme of evangelization.

It was not entirely unlooked for, however, because the church army since its organization a year ago has existed only on sufferance and no rector in this diocese has been found willing to indorse the work. In fact, it has been a trial, and has not found favor with the great majority of the clergy. It was placed on trial only through the efforts of Dr. Bradley, vicar of St. Agnes, who is said to have now changed his mind about its usefulness.

The idea of establishing a church army of national dimensions was first suggested here when the dissensions in the Salvation Army culminated in the formation of the Volunteers of America. The organization was modeled after the church army of England, and designed to work in the slums.

CHICAGO BIOGRAPHIES.

Newberry Library Will Contain Every Citizen's Career.

Chicago, June 12.—When a Chicago grammer school boy of the present day runs for president of the United States in the years to come his campaign biographers need go no further than the Newberry library for material, for they will find there his family history written by his own hand. The Newberry library intends to have a manuscript of genealogy of every family in Chicago, from that of Policeman John P. Aaflei, the first man in the city directory, to that of Polisher John Zywicki, whose name rounds out the list, and the institution has taken a means to secure its end as unique as it is effective.

Assistant Librarian Rudolph has sent a letter to the principal of every grammar and high school in the city asking that each pupil of sufficient age be required to prepare a written account of his or her family, beginning with the grandparents and bringing it down to the present generation. These manuscripts are to be filed in the genealogical division of the library and are to be indexed so they may be referred to at any time. Such an index will be practically equivalent to a roster of Chicago citizens.

FAMOUS WELL.

About Which "The Old Oaken Bucket" Was Written.

About twenty-five miles from Boston, in the little village of Greenbush, the man who was driving me to the railroad station stopped to point out the old home of Wentworth the author of "The Old Oaken Bucket," a poem which still lives, embalmed in every quartet in the land, says the New York Journal. Wherever the quartet habit prevails there you will find familiarity with every line and every verse of this ballad, and I confess that it was with genuine delight that I gazed upon the very scene that conjured upon the brain of the compositor who went home one hot day and added his name to the list of immortals under the impetus of what would be called today a "spring jag." The man who drove me confessed to the quartet habit himself, and as he stopped to point out the house beside which the old well stood he intoned in deep resonant notes the lines:

"The old oaken bucket, the moss-covered bucket,
The iron-bound bucket that hung in the well."

"There it is," he continued in his singing voice, "just behind the kitchen. So many people came to see it that the folks that own it now got a brand-new paper bucket and a kind of patent arrangement to haul it up, because the old bucket and well sweep are out of date. Well, some Chicago parties came along and didn't like the paper bucket, and so they promised to send them an oaken one to put in its place. They did send it. 'Twas all fixed up with brass hoops. I believe there's a copper pump on the well now."

We continued on our way, and a moment later the charioteer burst into song:

"The orchard, the meadow, the deep tangled wildwood,
And all the loved scenes that my infancy knew."

"There they are," he said, and there, sure enough, was a bit of land skirting a broad mill pond that might well have suggested the line of description. "The mill that stood by it" stands there still, as it has stood for more than 200 years, and they are grinding flour in it after the same fashion that was followed when the Indians lived in the neighborhood and were apt to levy contributions on the inhabitants in the way of hair or provisions at any moment. It is an interesting spot, on the whole, and if the trustees of the village know their business they will keep the mill and the pond and the wildwood just as they are, and see to it that no one is allowed to replace them with a canvas forest and an imitation mill, and then run excursions from the near-by Athens to look at them.

The raffle for the oil stove will be held at 502 West Superior street this evening.

THE MINING CONVENTION

Great Success of the Gathering Which Was Held Last Week at Rat Portage.

London, South Africa, Eastern Canada, British Columbia and the United States Represented.

Splendid Exhibit of Ores From Mines and Partly Developed Prospects in Western Ontario.

Rat Portage, Ont., June 8.—(Special correspondence of The Herald.)—Western Ontario has attained enough importance as a gold-bearing and gold-producing region that a three days' session of the Rat Portage mining convention has just been brought to a successful close.

The mineral resources of Western Ontario to a surprising degree are unknown to the outside world. Here is a territory 900 miles long and from 60 to 300 miles wide, containing not less than 250,000 square miles, fairly ribbed with rich, gold-bearing veins of quartz. The county rock is Laurentian and Huronian, including the Keewatin, and the gold deposits are found in the irruptive Huronian formation. Most of the ore is high grade and free milling. The first discoveries were made in 1881, but provincial boundary disputes and inability to secure title discouraged the first investors and caused the early excitement to die out. A few hung on, and a little over four years ago the Sultana mine produced its first gold brick. That success has been continuous. Today ten stamps, operated with poor economy, are pounding out each year a profit equal to 8 per cent on an investment of $1,500,000. There are half a dozen other bullion producers beween here and Port Arthur, on Lake Superior, and by fall the number will be increased to twelve or fifteen. Reliable authority says that in all Western Ontario today, twenty-nine stamp mills, with a capacity from three to fifty stamps, are in operation, under erection or contract for erection.

Western Ontario is divided into five great districts by local mining men, viz: Lake of the Woods district, Manitou Lake district, the Seine River district, the Sawbill Lake district, and the Jackfish Bay district, 150 miles east of Port Arthur on Lake Superior. Then, on the American side, on the northern line of Minnesota, along Rainy lake, is a group of half a hundred locations and a couple of developed and bullion-producing mines.

The country is opening up slowly but steadily. Americans and Eastern Canadians have been slow to believe that gold existed in paying quantities at their very back doors. English capital, and that in large American cities not only has been in darkness as to this great mineral belt, but has been attracted to South Africa, British Columbia and the Western states. A change is taking place. Already six or seven of the strongest English syndicates have secured large holdings, some of which already have had their great merit proven. One English company, which lost $1,000,000 in South Africa, has every hope and confidence of recouping itself from a single property it purchased here a few months ago. Numerous experts and representatives of capital are quietly looking over the field with a view of getting in on the ground floor, if all seems as represented. Old prospectors from the Rocky mountains cannot find words to express their satisfaction with and confidence in the various districts.

THE MINING METROPOLIS.

Rat Portage is and has been the metropolis and headquarters for a territory here 100 by 300 miles in area. It is situated on the Canadian Pacific railway, at the head of navigation, on the Lake of the Woods. Lumbering and fishing gave it a permanent and substantial existence before gold mining came to the front. The place today has over 5000 people, having doubled in population and property valuation within the last year. Here are hotels, headquarters for mining companies, comforts of civilization, and access by rail or steamboats to many leading properties or central points in the various districts named above. It is 133 miles east of Winnipeg, and about 1350 miles west of Toronto.

Some months ago the Rat Portage Mining exchange was organized with a membership close to 100. The object was not to sell mining stocks, for as yet practically none are for sale, but to promote development, spread information as to resources and to induce capital to come in. Late in the winter a mining convention was arranged for April 7 and 8, but was postponed until June 2, 3 and 4, so that it could be advertised more widely and prominent scientists, capitalists and practical mining men arrange to be present.

For the first of the kind the highest success has attended the event. Fully 500 people more or less closely connected with gold mining have been present. Of these fully 100 were scientists, mining experts of all sorts, mine operators of wide note and capitalists from widely distant points. Toronto, Ottawa, Kingston, Hamilton, Winnipeg, Duluth and West Superior had good large delegations present.

From London came Thomas Rickard, Sr., a mining engineer and expert of world-wide reputation. Among the capitalists from the same place were A. M. Hay, Robert Jarvis Gilbert, S. F. Frame, R. L. Weldon and Charles W. Engledue. C. H. Butterworth represented Lancashire, England, and A. Burtin, Glasgow, Scotland. G. Aubor Glover, sketch artist for the London Graphic, was present and will tour the whole district for that journal.

From the Pacific coast came Gen. H. L. Gordon, the author and capitalist, of Los Angeles. Count A. de Bauviere, a prominent San Francisco mining engineer, was present. British Columbia sent S. Minaker, of Trail; Will R. White and T. M. Irwin, of Rossland, and G. W. B. Leslie, of Sandon, all practical mining men.

Toronto sent J. H. McGregor, Fred Tapscott, Thomas Shortis, Maj. Harston, N. J. Harbottle, C. Monckton and Acton Burrows. There also were A. Blue, director of the bureau of mines; Professor A. P. Coleman, government geologist, and his assistant, Professor A. B. Wilmott.

Montreal sent Col. J. D. Crawford, Carl Reinhardt, J. E. Hardman, M. E., George J. Ross, of the Canadian Rand Drill company, and I. Stuart.

Professor W. L. Goodwin, chemist of the Kingston school of mines, was present and had charge of one of five collections of minerals, arranged by the Ontario government, and which will be donated to Rat Portage, so that those not experienced in mineralogy may have means of comparisons for minerals they may find and not understand.

South Africa was well represented by T. A. B. Purchase, one of the famous reform committee and a resident of the Transvaal for twenty-two years. E. P. Rathbone, inspector of mines in the Transvaal, was present, as also was Algernon P. Del Mar, of New York, who has just returned from South Africa.

James C. Beebe and Lyman Elmore, who represent the Duryeas, came from New York, and Detroit was represented by L. W. Partridge, a director of the chamber of commerce, E. D. Williamson and Harry H. Cooper.

Anthony Blum, of San Antonio, Tex., who has mined gold all the way from Vermont to Montana and who is heavily interested in the Manitou district, was in attendance. T. A. Rickard, state geologist of Colorado, was a prominent figure of the convention. Frederick T. Snyder, M. E., late of Colorado, was in attendance, as also was G. H. Barnhart, of Denver. Others of prominence were: Messrs. Upton and Barnes, of Duluth; J. G. Naughton, of West Superior, Wis.; R. J. Butler, of Hamilton, Ont.; James Conmee, M. P. P., of Port Arthur; Col. J. S. Morgan and Francis B. Morgan, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Among other Duluthians in attendance were Capt. J. H. Triggs, Charles L. Lewis, James T. Hale, D. W. Scott, D. L. Kelly, Ren Hunter, J. D. Stryker, James Buxton and James Cash.

MR. RICKARD'S PAPER.

The convention opened Wednesday afternoon, June 2. President Drewry, of the Mining Exchange, occupied the chair, and the usual welcomes and responses were given. T. A. Rickard, state geologist of Colorado, read a paper on "The Lake of the Woods District." It was really the best paper of the whole convention and was received with remarkable favor. For a month or more Mr. Rickard has been making a study of Western Ontario in general and the Lake of the Woods district in particular. It is understood that he will make some important reports and the local interests were anxious as to what his attitude would be. From the tone of his paper, nothing but a favorable report now looked for from him. The next day, Mr. Rickard, with his assistant, Mr. Bancroft, left for West Australia.

Wednesday evening Rev. Dr. George Bryce, of Manitoba college, Winnipeg, delivered a splendid lecture, "Geology of the Lake of the Woods Basin," including an account of the Laurentian formation of the south of the lake; of the Huronian or ore-bearing rocks of the north end of the lake; also some account of the surface actions; and an idea of the formation of metalliferous veins, variety of veins, reference to mine centers and value of deposits in the region.

M. W. Hopkin, M.E., also read a paper on "The Supply of Energy for Working Ore Mines." He discussed the use of electricity and its generation by the numerous waterpowers of great magnitude throughout the region, especially at Rat Portage.

Professor Goodwin, of Kingston, in the course of a short address, advised that the town change its name from Rat Portage to some one of the many musical Indian names so plentiful here, an idea of which the audience plainly showed its disapproval. Before the close of the session, ex-Mayor George Barnes secured the floor. He is a tall, lank, bony fellow, droll and humorous to a high degree. He stated that in times past movements had been started to change the name of the town, but for good reasons the people were so attached to it that they defeated all such moves.

"I will tell you how the town got its name," said Barnes, in his comical way, and he kept his word.

"Long years ago," continued he, "ages ago, in fact, around Rat Portage there were numerous water bodies connected by narrow necks of rock.

"These bodies of water fairly swarmed with countless numbers of muskrats. When they passed from one lake to another, they had to use these rocky necks as portages.

"Now a muskrat has a long, rough, scaly tail, which drags behind. Year after year, and age after age, those rats dragged their tails over these portages until deep creases were worn in the hard rock. In time, water commenced to run through these creases and it kept running through until a deep, broad channel was formed. In that way, we secured the falls and waterpower between the head of the lake and what is now the Winnipeg river.

"The rats kept portaging, the paths kept deepening and, in time—there was lots of time in those days—our second waterpower was formed. The thing kept on until the third fall, the Dick & Banning site, was formed.

"But just then the white men came and caught almost all the rats and their great work came to a stop. If the white men had not came, undoubtedly other portages here would have been formed and no one knows when the good work would have ended.

"Now that is how this place came to be called Rat Portage. One of our chief glories is our water power here, and that's why the people here love the name of their town."

Barnes then sat down, and the packed house with thunderous applause showed that they endorsed his statement of the case.

VISIT TO THE SULTANA.

The afternoon of the second day was devoted to a steamer excursion out to the Sultana mine. In the evening the leading paper, "Economics of Gold Mining," was read by T. A. B. Purchase, of South Africa. He gave special attention to the fuel question, holding conservative opinions as to the value and supply of wood for use as a steam producer, and holding that coal at $8 a ton was cheaper than wood at $2.40 a cord to the extent of 28 cents on each ton of ore milled.

Friday afternoon was also taken up with a steamer excursion out to a number of representative prospects on the Lake of the Woods. At the evening session Thomas R. Deacon, C. E., O. L. S., of Rat Portage, read a paper on "Five Years in the Western Ontario Gold Field." Mr. Deacon has been in all parts of the district and has surveyed over 600 mining locations. He incidentally took issue with the paper read the night before by Mr. Purchase on the fuel question. He maintained that 500,000 cords of wood could be contracted for in a day's time at $1.50 per cord delivered at the mill. Granting that Mr. Purchase's figures were correct as to the wood supply, there was enough near at hand to keep ten mills of ten stamps each running for fifty years.

Mayor McCreary of Winnipeg later said that Manitoba would settle the fuel question by and by by furnishing coal from Edmonton at a price not exceeding $2.50 per ton.

In default of the appearance of a representative of the Gates Iron works of Chicago, a paper on "Mining Machinery" was read by Secretary Morris of the mining exchange. Frederick T. Snyder read a paper on "The Sampling of Ore," and A. Blum, of San Antonio, Texas, presented one on "Practical and Economical Mining of Gold Ores in the Rainy Lake District." With other addresses and discussions the convention closed.

One important feature of the convention was a splendid exhibit of ores from 135 mines and partly developed prospects in Western Ontario. Visitors were surprised at the variety, quality and richness of the ores and spent much time in their examination. The collection will be taken, in whole or part, and exhibited in a special C. P. R. car in the leading Canadian towns, the larger cities in the United States, and probably in England.

JOHN L. MORRISON.

A TRAPPIST BISHOP.

Dubuque, Iowa, June 11.—The Trappist monks of the new Malleray monastery, Dubuque county, have chosen Rev. Father Alberic as their abbot, and he will soon be consecrated by Archbishop Hennessy. This abbey has heretofore been ruled by a prior sent from Mount Malleray abbey, county Waterford, Ireland, but the monks, on acquiring a certain number of choir members, acquire also their independence with the right to elect an abbot. The Trappists, a branch of the Cistercian order, have a community at Gethsemane, Ky., and another in Canada, but Father Alberic will be the order's first abbot in America. He came from Mount Malleray fourteen years ago as prior. The abbot is invested with the miter, staff and pectoral cross and is practically a bishop, with jurisdiction confined to his own order.

INTERNATIONAL CRICKET.

Manchester, June 11.—The cricket match between the team from Philadelphia and an eleven of Lancashire, was resumed today. When the stumps were drawn last evening the home team had scored 130 for eight wickets. The Lancashire players were all out today for 149 runs. The second inning of the Americans was then begun, and the latter were all out for eighty-six runs, giving them a grand total of 209 runs. When the Lancashire cricketers resumed play they had only sixty-one runs to make in order to win.

The Lancashire cricket team won by seven wickets.

Across the Tea Table.

The most profound philosopher raises his eyebrows with surprise over the conduct of Miss June; her fit of the sulks has come nigh putting many of us in a similar condition, for colds, and neuralgias, rheumatic joints, and aches and pains are part and parcel of such days as have come to us this last week. Even the cheeriest spirit has taken on a bit of gloom. To the lover of ease and luxury, however, it is a season of joy. One need not rush about seeking pleasure and probably finding it not, but stay closely at home before a glorious fire and lose oneself in a good book or the new magazines. To the book lover there is no joy like this, nothing that can so bespeak utter pleasure and mental and bodily enjoyment, as a good book, an open fire, leisure, and the mind to appreciate, sure of freedom from interruption. I think one might safely wager that more books have been read in Duluth these dull days than if the weather had been bright, and people felt like being out in the air and sunshine. The critical faculty clamors to be heard in reading, as one reads slowly and leisurely. To voice the feeling one migh say, finishing "Soldiers of Fortune:" "Oh, why is Richard Harding Davis so painfully self-conscious? Why not rise to greatness with the opportunity offered? Why does he allow the sense of humor in his reader to obliterate the finest phrases and most dramatic situations?" Well, this young man with his knowledge of good clothes and how to wear them, of all the amenities of life which appeal so to him, has evidently felt once the divine touch of the wings of the angel of genius; it was but a brush, a breath; it passed him over, and greatness will never be his. Perhaps the weather is the reason that one feels a sense of tameness in "Hugh Wynne" in the Century, and "The Martian" in the Harper; both stories drag, and the mechanism of the monthly magazine is disclosed; so many pages for a month, so many months for the story to run. The fault which, according to Frederic Harrison's criticism precluded the artistic in Dickens' writings. Dickens' glaring faults according to this critic are the faults of the magazine and its needs. Somehow, one feels these dull days, that literature is not giving us much; no book of the year is really great, with perhaps the exception of "Quo Vadis." Genius in the writer and in the translator breathe here from every page, and yet, there are many people who dislike the historical novel and claim that it has no more place in the ranks of genuine merit, than the painting with an historical theme. Still the balance is so exquisitely adjusted in "Quo Vadis;" the luxury and abandon of Nero's court so suggestively contrasted with the simplicity of the life of the believers in the Christian religion; the character of the epicurean philosopher Petronius, so delicately and beautifully portrayed, for in him refinement brought of itself satiety, and neither life or death held anything for him; against the picture of his nephew this is artistic in a high degree. As one critic says of "Quo Vadis," the one sensation which is dominant in one's mind, amid many, as one lays down the book, is that of belief in the vitality of the Christian religion; surely no more exquisite story has reached us of those times in many a day. To have read "Quo Vadis" makes the paper in the June Century, "How a Riddle of the Parthenon Was Unraveled," doubly interesting. The realization comes to one anew of the accuracy of the novelist from an historical point of view.

* * *

Sienkiewicz has given us in "Quo Vadis" "pictures of opening scenes in the conflict of moral ideas with the Roman empire—conflict from which Christianity issued as the leading force in history," so says the translator, and the reader must feel that the epoch is one of the greatest of all times; must feel and realize how much the future of the race depended on the little band of martyrs who suffered death and torture for a great cause. "And so Nero passed, as a whirlwind, as a storm, as a fire, as war or death passes; but the basilica of Peter rules till now, from the Vatican heights, the city, and the world." Another foreign writer who has been brought into notice greatly is Maurice Jokai; his first book, "The Green Book, or Freedom Under the Snows," attracted a great deal of attention from the fact that its publication occurred just at the time of the celebration of an anniversary in Jokai's life. He has written a great deal and it is said that he revived romantic Hungarian literature at a time when it had become virtually extinct. There are a number of his stories and novels in our library, but the last two are certainly the best, "Black Diamonds," and "The Green Book." The latter deals almost entirely with Russian history and problems and comes at an opportune time just now. Another new book in the library which might be classed as an historical novel is by a woman, and an American, "The Falcon of Langeac." It is said by no less of an authority than the Bookman to be quite Weymanesque in tone and construction, but her material is fresh, her ground is new, and the plot is her own. Nevertheless, one lays this true romance down with a sigh. Given the material she has at hand, one feels a sense of disappointment that so little is done with it. The time is full of incident—the days of Francis I of France. A mention of Chevalier Bayard, and the field of the cloth of gold, bring suggestions of a period thrilling in action, and which should have been utilized as side lights upon the story. It is a weak immitation of Stanley Weyman and utterly lacking in the dramatic force and incident which make his pages alive. A pretty story, indeed, but very feebly handled, one might say if in a critical mood.

* * *

In the library is a book to which I go for solace when depressed or lonely, when gloomy days make me critical, and, shall I confess it—cross. And this volume, though written by a prince of grumblers, the most critical and crabbed man of his age, of whom Thackeray said, "Carlyle hates everybody that has arrived, if they are on the road he treats them civilly"—gives me pure enjoyment. It is "Sartor Resartus." Take for instance the opening sentence: "Considering our present advanced state of culture, and how the torch of science has now been brandished and bore about with more or less effect for 5000 years and upward; how in these times especially, not only the torch still burns, and perhaps more fiercely than ever, but innumerable rush lights, and sulphur matches kindled thereat are also glancing in every direction, so that not the smallest cranny or doghole in nature or art can remain unilluminated—it might strike the reflective mind with some surprise that hitherto little or nothing of a fundamental character, whether in the way of philosophy or history has been written on the subject of clothes." It is perfectly delicious, church clothes and old clothes, and aprons, and all of it, and one recognizes the exquisite humor of it all and wonders over the genius of Carlyle. The philosophy of clothes had to be learned not in a humorous sense in the Carlyle household, and poor Jane Welsh Carlyle had many a turning and patching of old trousers that must have seemed to her most unphilosophical. Ah, Thomas Carlyle, we study the aesthetics of clothes now-a-days. We recognize there is a time to weep and a time to pray, as well as we remember the times to wear certain clothes. Who that is up in the aesthetics of clothes or recognizes the philosophy of proper apparel and the eternal fitness of things would wear tan shoes, or a sailor hat or a shirt waist to church, or a handsome skirt with a plain manish shirt waist, or appear with hands ungloved and covered with costly rings on city street cars; or wear one's best gown to a picnic in the woods, or carry a fluffy lace-trimmed parasol on city streets—business streets that is—or wear soiled white skirts, or—here, let us all blush, my dear sisters—soiled white gloves. When gasoline costs 15 cents a gallon, and a cloth dipped in this fluid will wipe out soiled spots upon gloves, it is certainly unphilosophical to appear on the streets in the glare of the morning light, in the bustling marts of trade in gloves which are soiled enough to belong to a chimney sweep. You and I know, my dear sister, that the spotless white or pale grey glove has not been a shining light in our midst, not even a rush light, not even a sulphur match, and its blackened appeal has failed to touch the heart of woman; therefore, the philosopher of fashion banishes it from our midst, and we are to have black gloves and walking gloves, dark and suitable for morning wear and shopping, and pale tan gloves for calling, but pray, my dear Modern Woman, let them be clean; let them be at least a sulphur match or light on the right way, and a tribute to your womanly sense of fitness.

* * *

A recent writer in a magazine devoted to the study of clothes says that clothes and the manner of wearing them are tell tale signs, that it is seldom that we see a gently bred man or woman, be they ever so cruelly pinched for means to dress, but that they manage never to lose that outward sign of birth and education which bespeaks itself in subtle ways and habits, even if the garb be threadbare. "Such distinction of character is beyond mere neatness, beyond the thrift of care and mending." It is the hallmark of birth and breeding to know how, when and where to wear one's clothes. And it is also the sign manual of a lady to know how to mend and care for them. What woman, if she be a true woman, does not like to think that her bureau drawers are filled with dainty needlework fashioned for her adornment, carefully laundered and perfumed with an orris satchet? What pride she takes in these things if her needle has worked its way through delicate muslins and linens and exquisite embroideries! What satisfaction she feels in knowing that thereby she has saved enough for a liberal gift to a pet charity, or that she can in that saving purchase the books for which her soul longeth! The true woman, the philosopher of clothes, does not put her gold alone upon that which meets the eye of the beholder, but she feels that sense of satisfaction, that moral pride which is like unto the kingdom of heaven, in knowing that her undergarments are models of dainty needlework. In these days so much can be done with such a small outlay. Footing, that soft, sheer, white net which makes itself so generally useful, can be made to give an airy finish to so many things. It can be used to finish plain hemstitched ruffles on nightgowns and underwear, and as it launders and wears well it is extremely economical as the first cost is ridiculously small. One of the prettiest summer gowns that I have seen had yards and yards of footing sewed upon the edge of the ruffles. "My lady's handkerchief" is an airy nothing edged with this footing, and as it comes in all widths it finds its place upon such a conspicuous thing as a parasol, and as we live in the reign of black and white, white footing is used quite as plentifully upon black as white parasols to give a finish to ruffles.

Are you looking after those preserves, my dear Modern Woman, which should fill your closet shelves? Strawberries are so delicious now, and so cheap and make the daintiest preserves and jam. Just now strawberry shortcake should be in its prime, and if you are looking for a dainty dessert for your Sunday dinner, a strawberry shortcake surrounded and partially covered with plain vanilla ice cream will meet all requirements. The cream should be taken from the freezer a spoonful at a time, it should be frozen hard enough to take the form of the spoon easily, then placed about and on top of the cake while great, luscious, ripe berries are laid here and there through the cream as a fanciful decoration; it ajjetizing to a surprising degree. For those fond of brandied fruit, brandied strawberries are delicious. Very large, firm berries should be selected for this, and the hull removed with as little handling as possible. Fill quart glass jars with the fruit, sprinkling each layer with sugar as you place the berries in very carefully. Allow four heaping tablespoonsful of sugar to each jar. When there is no more space for berries, fill the jar with good brandy. The best California brandy answers this purpose nicely. Fill the jar with brandy slowly, allowing it to find its way through all the interstices. When the jar is quite full seal up tight, put in a dark place, wrap it in a newspaper cover and allow to stand two or three months before using. All fruit preserves and jams should be wrapped in newspaper, it not only helps to preserve them, but it enables the fruit to retain a good color. Placed in the light, fruit will nearly always fade in the jar. Spiced strawberries, currants and cherries are a delightful addition to the Sunday roasts.

For spiced strawberries, two pounds of sugar are allowed for three pounds of hulled fruit, half a pint of vinegar and a tablespoonful each of stick cinnamon and whole cloves. Put all into a preserving kettle and cook for half an hour, put up in half pint jars. The skilled preserver of fruit knows that rapid boiling makes all delicate fruit go to pieces, so that the kettle should be placed over the fire to boil in a slow, steady fashion. Shreaded pineapple can be prepared and preserved now, and as the pineapples are cheap and good, this makes a delicious addition to the preserve closet. Served as ice cream it is not only pretty, but good; shredded pineapple may be spiced, or brandied, or simply preserved just as strawberries are and is exceedingly good in any fashion. As I write, the air is soft and mild. June's sunshine is sweet, and the ghosts of dandelions are fluttering through the air. Lowell's verse comes to mind with an insistence not to be put aside, as I watch the lake, the clouds, and the sweet green of the fields freshly washed in the rains:

"The little birds sang as if it were
The one day of summer in all the year
And the very leaves seemed to sing on the trees."

Summer and June are at our doors, take all that they offer with a glad and thankful heart, and make each day to yourself "the one day of summer in all the year." —AGATE.

A TARIFF PROBLEM.

History of the Mysterious Duty on Alkakange.

There are any number of queer items in a tariff bill. Who can tell, at first thought or after a day of careful study, for that matter, anything about pulu, or divi-divi, or styrax, or calamine, or indium, or osmium, or any other of the thousand-and-one curious articles that have to be enumerated?

All of which is preliminary to a story which a veteran member of congress told to a Washington Post reporter the other day. It seems that for a number of years there was in the tariff laws a duty of 60 per cent ad valorem imposed upon "alkakange." There it stood, in all its glory, duly assessed, resisting all efforts to place it either on the free list or to reduce the duty. When Judge Kelley, of Pennsylvania, was the chairman of the committee on ways and means some tariff items had to be revised, and the suggestion was again made that, perhaps, a duty of 30 per cent upon "alkakange" would be sufficient. But all the members of the committee, Horace Maynard, and Schenck, and Austin Blair, stood up in earnest protest.

"What is 'alkakange' anyhow?" asked a Democratic and inquiring member of the ways and means committee, when the item was reached.

"The idea of anyone asking that question!" exclaimed Judge Kelley, and all his colleagues raised their hands in holy horror at such ignorance.

As these exclamations did not answer the question, the Democratic free trader sent for an unabridged dictionary, and, looking it all through, found no such word as alkakange. He got no more instruction from an encyclopedia. He asked in vain of Ure's dictionary of science and arts. The members of the committee began to grow worried. Finally they summoned a prominent chemist, for, of course, said they, alkakange was a drug. But the chemist said that to his knowledge there was no such thing as alkakange in all the pharmacopiae.

At this point someone suggested that they send over to the government printing office and ask the proof reader who had revised the law. Certainly he would know.

"Well," said the employe, who at last appeared, "the truth is that 19 years ago when we had a page of the tariff law on a 'form,' a part of the type dropped out, and it was fixed up by one of the printers. The only thing he could make out of the combination of letters was the word 'alkakange,' and I suppose it has remained in the law ever since."

Perhaps pulu and divi-divi and a few other of the unpronounceable and wonderful things in the present tariff bill got in through the same way. Who knows?

WHAT HE MEANT.

Cleveland Leader: "Here," said a man as he entered the savings bank, "I want to see your president's typewriter."

"The president's typewriter is very busy just now," replied a clerk who had gone into the private office to see. "Will you please state your business?"

"My business," the stranger replied, "is to make a deposit here, but I won't do it until I have seen your president's typewriter."

"I'd like to know what the president's typewriter can have to do with your making a deposit here?" said the clerk.

"Oh, you would, eh? Well, I'll tell you what the president's typewriter has to do with it. If she's young and pretty I'll go to some other bank, that's all. They're not going to Spalding me, if I know it."

They then permitted him to look through a glass door at the young man who was hammering the keys, and he was satisfied.

Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph: A Wilkinsburg family was discussing music yesterday when one member strove to recall the name of a certain composer.

"I can't remember it to save my life," she said, "although it is on my tongue's end. As near as I can come to it his name is doorknob."

"Doorknob," repeated one of the others. "There is no composer whose name sounds anything like that. I'll go over a few names: Beethoven, Mendelsshon, Wagner, Haydn, Handel—"

"That's it," interrupted the forgetful one. "It's Handel. I knew it was something you seized with your hands."

GOSSIP OF ★ ★ THE STAGE.

Three Hungarian countesses, who have lately joined the variety theater—as, unfortunately, too many in their exalted position find it now necessary to do—have an idea of visiting England, and have therefore forwarded what they call a "circulary" respecting their charms and accomplishments. The following are a few of the striking and captivating sentences in it: "The national songs and dances who where in passed time produced in Scene, had the great default, to been without the brio and anino, who give then the natural effect that wished is, and this effect was very small, or in often case total absent. The pretty and joung counesses they had the sentiment to possess the necessary talent and a great envy for reproduce this genre who is essentially national, and the begged so long their high olders, as they received the authorisation to consacred herself with Life and soul to the Artiste career and produced herself in public in a truly hungarian genre. The patriotic bute from the countesses is too present in the Stranger countries the songs and dances from home and to render those lovely bij other peoples, and such a intention merit the greatest estime. Personally, the three countesses are highly sympatic joung and innocent childrens, with the prettyest figure on the scene. They have conserved a little hesitation, who is wunderfully in accordance with her figur and they are worn immediately the dear Schildrens from public who not ceased of Stormly applause the pretty three cherubins heads. The reputation from the countesses is very pure, not alone they are perfect artists, but in the society very aristocratics Ladies, imposing respect and with then the most deference in relation alone permit is."

The last two sentences are plainly an invitation to ordinary humanity to "keep off the perch."

The unexpected and most untimely death of Emily Bancker comes when her promise of general recognition as an actress of light and agreeable characters in modern plays is all but realized. After playing successfully in "Gloriana," "Our Flat" and "A Divorce Cure," her husband, Thomas W. Ryley, who was also her manager, had secured the right to present "Christopher, Jr.," next season and there is no reason to doubt that she would have been charming in the role first assumed by Maud Adams. Miss Bancker will best be remembered here by the contagiously cheerful manner in which she played the principal scene in "Our Flat," which involves the removal of the real furniture of a room and the substitution therefor of numerous makeshifts satisfactory in appearance, but unreliable when subjected to ordinary usage.

It is probable that the next new piece to be used by Charles Frohman's Empire stock company will be a dramatization of Anthony Hope's novel, "The Princess Phroso."

Next season E. H. Sothern will have a new play in "Change Alley," by L. N. Parker, author of "Rosemary."

Marie Wainwright is to play Titania in an open air performance of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" at St. Louis. Titania, it will be remembered, is queen of the Fairies, and comment seems unnecessary.

DeWolf Hopper and his opera company, including the diminutive and effervescent Edna Wallace Hopper, are returning from a trip to that section of our country generally referred to as "the coast."

"Secret Service" has made such a genuine and extensive "hit" in London that Mr. Frohman will keep it there all fall and winter if he can cancel American dates.

Manager W. G. Smyth said that all that is required of an actor in a straight part is to "wear good clothes and lean against the mantelpiece," and George Nash, who played Mr. Paul in "Chimmie Fadden," takes exception to this light estimate of the requirements of the kind of parts he plays.

Charles Coghlan doesn't mind being a drawing room villain with inverted epigrams, and a smooth shirt bosom, but he does mind being a villain with coarse language and a crumpled shirt bosom. He finds his part of Aleck D'Urberville in the noted "Tess" a most unpopular one. It must be humiliating to be killed with a table knife, and in the wings, too. Mr. Coghlan says that after Tess has told the "story of her life" he becomes unpopular with the audience from that moment. He says that in New York, where he is known, people sympathize with him, but on the road, where even villains are taken seriously, and he is unknown, the part gives him little opportunity to redeem himself. So it is probable that this sensitive villain, to whom Mr. Stoddart has not even apportioned one white spot in his black life, will not be in Mrs. Fiske's company next season, but will strike out for himself.

A St. Louis manager is said to have offered Ross and Fenton, the travesty artists, $1600 for a two weeks' engagement, and the story gains in credibility when it is further stated that Ross wired back that he "didn't need the money."

Dave Warfield says that he and Lee Harrison were on a train out West playing cards when the conductor came through collecting tickets.

Warfield gave up his ticket, but Harrison kept right on dealing and paid not the slightest attention to the conductor, who finally went on down the aisle. Pretty soon the conductor came back.

"Here," said he addressing Harrison, "where's your ticket?"

Still Harrison paid no attention. Suddenly the conductor espied what he wanted held tightly in the actor's teeth.

"Give me that," he exclaimed, catching hold of the cardboard and jerking it away. He got the most of the ticket, but one end of it remained in Harrison's mouth.

"What kind of a game was that?" inquired Warfield after the conductor had passed on. "You had that ticket in your mouth all the time. You're a fool."

"Not such a fool as you think, maybe," retorted Harrison, as he spat out the bit of pasteboard he still held in his mouth. "That ticket was two years old and I was just chewing off the date."

Ballard, the Iowa bard, who was at at one of the New York music halls, says he made enough out of his stage appearances to buy two cows and build an addition to his barn. He is supposed to be amusing in the same way as the more widely celebrated Cherry sisters.

Mrs Caroline Miskel Hoyt has bade farewell to the stage. She was loath—as all actresses appear to be—to leave the glare of the footlights, but it is whispered, her husband, who has political aspirations, persuaded her that her stage career might interfere with his political one. With a correct sense of the fitness of things he thought it would look undignified that he should be running for congress and his beautiful wife running to catch the train to reach a one-night stand in Red Cross, Miss., or Peoria, Ill.

About the best example of pluck for this theatrical season should be recorded to the credit of one Emile Gautier, a trainer of horses, who is now exhibiting at a New York music hall. When Gautier came over from France the two horses he used in his performance died on board ship, but he procured two more, and after several months prepared them for their specialty. This consists of riding one of the horses in every conceivable style of movement on an elevated platform fifteen feet in diameter, a fall from which would not only disable the horse and rider, but probably reduce the number of musicians in the orchestra. The second horse goes through similar evolutions on the same pedestal at word of command.

Mr. Brodie, like Mr. Mansfield, has again changed managers. He has signed with Gus Hill's Specialty company, to make his vaudeville debut at the Pleasure palace next season, in a sketch entitled "A Night in Steve Brodie's on the Bowery." Brodie is on record as scoffing at our Western exquisite, J. Waldere Kirke. He does not seem to spend enough money to meet Brodie's idea of "the real thing" in dudes.

The public seems now to be on the road to recovery from the "vaudeville craze" which has been so prevalent for the past three seasons. Reports from New York are to the effect that a great many of the music hall managers are in the deep waters of adversity, from which it will require a new sensation to rescue them, and in Chicago where the "craze" was nearly as virulent, they are already substituting light opera for their variety offerings.

A friend of Olga Nethersole in Boston says that it is not at all settled that the actress will be married this summer. Dr. Oliver, her fiance, is much opposed to her remaining on the stage and has made strenuous objections. On the other hand, Miss Nethersole has no idea of abandoning the profession which has made her famous and rich.

The Rialto gossips last week revived the rumor that Miss Grace Kimball, the actress, will before long be married to Lawrence M. D. McGuire, a young business man of New York. The rumor was further embellished by the report that, in order to remove an objection to the union on the part of Mr. McGuire's family, who are Roman Catholics, Miss Kimball had recently joined that church.

Two new operas, "Hasheesh," by Von Chelins, and "Ulysses' Home Coming," by Bungert, are to be produced by Damrosch next season. The company will include Melba, Mme. Garski, Mlle. Segard and Mlle. Mattfeld, Herr Krauss, Herr Stehmann and Herr Fischer. Fraulein Heider, David Bispham, Signor Campanari, Baudesque, Herr and Frau Studigl, Herr Nicolaus, Rothmul and Mlle. Toronto.

There are millions of dollars invested in New York music halls, variety houses and theaters devoted to "specialty" performances, and unless there is a turn in the receding tide of popular support, there is serious trouble ahead for such of these places as are not well provided to stand the present financial strain. Where $50,000 was expended in one place, $100,000 was soon invested in another, and so it went on until Olympia capped the climax with a $2,000,000 building.

Jennie Yeamans has sued the St. Louis Republic and claims $25,000 damages. "The article," says the plaintiff in the St. Louis Journal, "would lead one to draw the conclusion that Mr. Rudolph was my lover—a nasty word at that! When I have a sweetheart he, I am sure, will treat me as a lady, an attempt to treat me otherwise would poison the love I bore him. And he won't be a married man at that."

The new Zola-Bruneau opera, "Messidor," which tells an almost brutally realistic story of the lives of the poor, was little short of a fiasco when produced three months ago before a rich and fashionable crowd at the Paris grand opera. But Zola has had his revenge, and this is how it came about: The Grand opera is a government theater, and twice a year it gives a gratuitous performance to the people of Paris who cannot afford to pay. On the last occasion the opera kept open house the management decided to produce "Messidor." Says Le Figaro: "Never was work followed with a more touchingly naive interest than 'Messidor' last night, for the masses recognized in it their own heart and soul."

The name of a player should never appear in a play bill, says James Huneker in the Musical Courier. There should be only the names of the characters of the play. For my part I would not permit the actors to be distinguished even by a number. Who are these players, anyway? Why should they drag their tawdry and obscene personalities between us and the poet's dream? Miss Lillian Russell's quasi-matrimonial amours are of no more concern to me than the moral character of the Irish lad who blacks my boots. He cleans my boots properly—that is all I care for. Why should I be more interested in the mummers who mime for me a part? The one is a hired bootblack, the others are hired entertainers—if they entertain me I pay them; but why should I be pestered with the tawdry details of their indecent lives?

Nethersole earned $40,000 the past season.

Minnie Seligman Cutting may return to the boards.

James T. Kelly will star in Blaney's "Hired Girl."

Mansfield wants a play with Dean Swift as the chief role.

Digby Bell will use Augustus Thomas' "In Illinoy" next season.

"The Highwayman" is the title of a new opera by De Koven and Smith.

Klaw & Erlanger will produce plays by Clay Greene and Franklin Fyles.

T. Henry French claims to have lost $200,000 in the American theater, New York.

Andrew Mack will be under the management of Rich & Harris next season, and will be seen in a new play.

"The Kneipp Cure Dance" is the latest thing in bare-legged terpsichorean exercises on the New York stage.

A meeting of prominent actors was held in London recently to discuss a project for establishing an actors' orphanage fund.

William Haworth's "People's King" was acted in Pittsburg last week. Joseph Haworth, his brother, played the chief role.

Next autumn Calve will originate, at the Paris Opera comique, "Sappho," a new opera by Massenet. The book is founded on the well-known novel of Daudet.

The "Daughters of New York" will probably be the title of a play written by Lorimer Stoddard for the Frawley company. Watson's "Game of Life" will also be given by Frawley.

France is doing away with the skirt dance, and there is a return to favor of the beautiful, stately dances—the minuet, the gavotte, the pavane and the saraband—which lent grace to the eighteenth century.

THREE NEW DANCES.

Dancing Masters Plan For a Rich Harvest.

New York, June 11.—The American National Association of Masters of Dancing has selected three new dances for next season. They are La Danse Beatrice, by Professor L. E. Dare, four-quarter time; can be danced to any schottische music; the Allemande, by Professor Theodore Lyttle, of Newark, N. J., two-step time, and arms or hands are joined during a promenade or dance; the Schenley, by Professor H. L. Brown, of Pittsburg, dedicated to Mrs. Schenley, the millionaire society woman of that city.

The figures and movements of the new dances will be kept secret until the opening of next season. J. W. Hawkins, Mansfield, Ohio, was elected president. The fourth vice president is K. W. Kohl, Madison, Wis., and A. C. Wirth, of Milwaukee, Wis., is one of the trustees.

Munyon's Sympathy.

As Far Reaching and Boundless as Faith.

Mr. C. W. Hoffman, Elbowoods, N. D., says: "I am well acquainted with 'Strike Enemy,' an Indian well-known here, and also among other tribes, and know that after many months of suffering he was permanently cured of rheumatism by Munyon's Rheumatism Cure. He had terrible pains in his legs, was unable to sleep nights, and believed that death was only a matter of a short time. I took pity upon him, and gave him some remedies, but they did him no good. Finally I got him a bottle of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure and gave it to him. After the second dose he smiled for the first time in months, and said that the medicine was helping him. It took five bottles to cure him. He has been relieved from all pain, and now walks as well as ever. He asked me to write to that white man in the East who made that great cure from pain and say that he was very thankful to him."

Mr. J. D. Farquher, Savery House, Des Moines, Iowa, says: "For the past twenty years I had muscular rheumatism, and at times I could not walk a step without suffering great pain. In December and January a year ago I was completely crippled up. Two bottles of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure made such a complete cure that I have not had an ache or pain since."

Munyon's Homeopathic Home Remedy Company compounds a separate specific for Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Kidney Complaints, Liver Disease, Fevers, Bad Blood, Nervous Derangements, and other Maladies. These remedies may be obtained from druggists, mostly at 25 cents a vial. If in doubt, write to Professor Munyon, at Philadelphia, and secure the best medical advice free of charge.

STANDS AT THE HEAD.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits." Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and today stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at Duluth Drug company's drug store.

HIS VIEW

Ex-Congressman C. A. Towne Comments on the Present Attitude of Congress.

Seems to Be at a Loss to Know What to Do.

He Classes Speaker Reed's Conduct as Autocratic and Unreasonable.

Chairman Towne of the national committee of the Silver Republican party, was asked by The Herald yesterday afternoon what the outlook at Washington is for legislation affecting present conditions.

"I look to see a tariff bill passed before July 1," he said, "though nobody can at present tell what its precise complexion will be. It is a pitiable thing for an ex-Republican who for tyenty years proclaimed on the stump the all-sufficiency of the Republican party as a party of constructive statesmanship, to see the utter paralysis of that party in the face of the present emergency. So far as discernible, it has not a definite and well-defined policy in regard to a single pressing question. No one knows what the administration means to do about Cuba, and in the best-informed circles it is not believed that the administration itself knows.

"In regard to the money question the administration seems to be halting between the desperate uncertainties of the Wolcott expedition, the importunities of the Indianapolis so-called Business Men's association, the danger to be apprehended from the attempted retirement of greenbacks, which seems to be an ingredient of all currency schemes propounded by the advocates of the gold standard, and the impossibility of determining whether the long-advertised specific for prosperity is to be found in the Republican tariff bill framed by Mr. Dingley, which Mr. Aldrich declares to be less desirable than the Wilson-Gorman act, or in the also Republican tariff bill framed by Mr. Aldrich, which Mr. Dingley declares to be less desirable than the Wilson-Gorman bill.

"To the ordinary man it would seem that if the Republican remedy for our unhappy condition were of such a simple and easy description as the advocates of the Republican party assumed all through the campaign, it ought to be as plain to Mr. Aldrich as to Mr. Dingley, and vice versa. Meantime there is no indication of any real recovery in business, or of any encouragement in conditions of production. The world is advancing to a knowledge of truth at an awful cost for the introduction. Groaning beneath a burden of debts, which they want to pay upon an honest and equitable basis, but which they never can pay in a dollar that means more of all products today than it meant yesterday, and which will mean more of them tomorrow than it does today, the American people will presently trust the application of a remedy in the hands of men who, while they insist that the debtor shall pay what he owes, demand that the creditor shall not have warrant in the law for receiving twice his due.

"This sentiment will, in my judgment, soon, very possibly before the next presidential election, crystallize into one political expression, namely, the grand new party of patriotism, of Americanism, responsive to the progressive but well-considered purpose of the people.

"No section of the country is more interested in the speedy enactment of a bankruptcy law than the Northwest. Senator Nelson accomplished a great stroke when he succeeded in substituting his bankruptcy bill for the one reported by the senate committee. Nothing but the indefensible—as it seems to me—and unreasonable conduct of the speaker-autocrat of the house prevents the consideration of that measure on its merits. The Republican party, however, seems to have lost its ancient spirit, for its majority in the house supinely submits to the whims of Reed, regardless of public opinion or their own natural sense of justice."

LOOKING THIS WAY.

Eastern Investors Again Turning Attention to Duluth.

While it cannot be said that a tidal wave of prosperity such as was told about by the campaign orators last year has struck Duluth, there are certain signs apparent which indicate a more confident feeling and a general improvement of business. As the East must be looked to for money with which to inaugurate business enterprises and develop the resources on which Duluth must depend for a general revival, the opinion of Eastern capitalists concerning this city and the desirability of the securities to be obtained here on loans is very important.

When financial disaster struck Duluth, a few years ago, as it did all other sections of the country, Eastern loan and investment companies not only refused to make further investments here, but called in the money they already had loaned in this vicinity, and in their haste to protect themselves from loss, added to the distress of the owners of Duluth property, and business men generally. Since then these companies have been gradually closing up their business in this field, collecting money on their securities when possible, and when that could not be done, closing them out on the best terms obtainable and pocketing the loss with as good a grace as possible.

Among these dealers in Duluth securities was a certain New England trust company of large capital that has avoided all Duluth offerings for more than three years, and which has not, during that time, even considered any security that had a Duluth label on it. Its Duluth agent had not heard a word from it for months, until a few days ago he received a letter from the secretary of the company informing him that their favorable attention had been directed to Duluth recently, and that the directors had been considering the advisability of re-entering this field. He stated that while no definite action had been taken, a meeting of the board would be held next week, when it would be officially determined how much money would be set aside for investment in Duluth securities, and the character of loans that would be accepted.

This in itself is not important except as showing that Eastern investors are again looking to Duluth and the Northwest as a safe place for the employment of capital, and that they are convinced that this city is on the point of recovering from the backset it received as a result of the financial crash of 1893.

"SHORTY" IS WINDY.

Tells Minneapolis People of His Fun in Duluth.

The Minneapolis Journal last evening has an article purporting to recount the difficulties experienced by Otto Wirtensohn, as chaperone of "Babe" Wellington, the "kid" cyclist, who appeared here in the 6-day race. Mr. Wirtensohn claims modestly that it was his first experience in a capacity such as that, but it is hard to believe that, if it was, it should not be his last, for he displays great possibilities in the line of advertising his star. The method he employs is not a new one, but Mr. Wirtensohn's style is very clever and ingenious and he carries it out very nicely. "Babe" may be expected to lose her diamonds at the next race. The Journal's article is as follows:

"'Shorty' Wirtensohn had more fun at Duluth during a trip he recently made to that city with the professional cyclennes than he ever had on a similar tour. Added to the usual duties of a trainer, on this occasion it was his privilege to look after 'Babe' Wellington, whose mamma had especially requested Wirtensohn to see that 'Babe's' curly head didn't get addled by the ravings of the bonbon and flower brigade.

"The Duluth event was the first in which 16-year-old Miss Wellington has made a public appearance, and, of course, there was the greatest interest among habitues of the indoor circuit to know just how the youngster was going to perform. Having been informed by Wirtensohn that her first duty was to look pretty and smile on the crowd, and that after that all she had to do was to ride hard, 'Babe' got herself up regardless of expense for her debut, dawning on the crowd like a newly opened blush rose. She made an instantaneous hit and everybody was sure she must be older than she seemed, except the little chaps—boys between 15 and 20, who were satisfied that here at last was a nymph of the cycling path whom they might be permitted to fall in love with, subject to no fear of discovering later that she was the mother of seven children.

"As to speed, 'Babe' managed to knock out eighteen miles in the first hour, after which, feeling pretty well satisfied with herself, she took time to smile some more, and, naturally enough, considering the inborn ego of the breed, every man in the place was ready to swear that she had smiled on him in particular.

"After the blushing young debutante had retired to her hotel, 'Shorty' Wirtensohn began to understand that when he agreed to play chaperone he had undertaken no light task. It was rather a new experience for 'Shorty,' and he enjoyed it no little. Miss Wellington, after the race that night, found herself the possessor of more roses than she had ever imagined could be found within the confines of the Zenith City, and candy enough to stock a shop. 'Babe' gathered the lot in her arms and headed a triumphal procession to the hotel, where, to the dismay of her followers, she refused to hold a levee in the parlor, but retired to bed under a peremptory order from the trainer.

"The next morning, before 9 o'clock, 'Shorty' showed up in the hotel office and asked for his mail as well as for that of Miss Wellington. He got a postcard asking him how many tickets he would take for the 'brakemen's picnic,' and Miss Wellington got twenty-two letters in all sorts and conditions of envelopes, and all of them postmarked Duluth. While Wirtensohn was getting the bundle together, preparatory to carrying Miss 'Babe's' mail up to her apartments, a bald-headed man with side whiskers and a mustache dyed black stepped up to the desk and, presenting his card, asked that it be sent up to Miss Wellington. 'Shorty' stepped up and told the old chap that his charge had not yet breakfasted, and was somewhat astonished to learn that the side whiskers had come with a T cart to show 'Babe' the city. The trainer managed to steer this old-timer away without his seeing the baby, but from that time on until noon they came in a regular procession—aged admirers of athletic femininity to boys in their teens, all anxious to see 'Babe' and shake hands with her. After some trouble 'Shorty' got the gang classified, and decided to admit boys under 20 so long as the baby didn't get tired of shaking hands with them. The trainer declares that half the youngsters in Duluth showed up at one time or another, with either a box of flowers or a box of candy, or some other token of their admiration for his new star.

"Meanwhile Dottie Farnsworth, the only Baldwin, 'Loveless Lizzie' and the rest of the all-star she wheeling outfit, couldn't even get the bell boy to bring ice water, because they were all grouped around the door of 'Babe's' reception room, oblitious of everything except 'Babe.'

"'Shorty' says he hadn't much trouble with Miss Wellington's boy admirers, because the latter would enter in evident embarrassment, leave their roses or bonbons, sit on the extreme edge of a chair for as much as five minutes, make a remark or two apropos of nothing in particular and then slide away, evidently as glad to get out as they were to get in. There were several old gentlemen, though, the sort that wanted to put 'Babe' on the head and admonish her in a fatherly sort of way, with whom Miss Wellington's long-legged chaperone had a whole lot of trouble. The latter declares that he didn't draw a long breath from the time he struck Duluth until the homeward-bound train pulled out of the depot, and that if the young woman wants any more cycle-racing fame, she will have to get a duenna ere the next trip is undertaken."

ELECTRIC BITTERS.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal billous fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c and $1.00 per bottle at Duluth Drug company's drug store.

A Wise Physician

BROAD OF OPINION HE THROWS PREJUDICE TO THE WIND.

Dr. J. L. Limes Endorses Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Because He has Found them Efficacious. Believes the First Duty of a Physician is to Cure His Patients.

From the Capital, St. John, Kansas.

Hearing that Dr. J. L. Limes of St. John, Kansas, had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in his practice with great success, a reporter called upon and interviewed him regarding the matter.

Your reporter found the doctor a very pleasant and affable man of probably fifty years of age. We were much impressed with his manner, as it was kindly and dignified. When we broached the subject of our call, he became enthusiastic at once and proceeded to give us the following for publication:

"My attention had been called to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People by several persons of my acquaintance who had been greatly benefited or entirely cured by their use. I determined to give them a trial in my practice and if they proved to be satisfactory I would adopt them and use them regularly. Since I began prescribing them I have never had cause to regret my determination. I have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a number of cases of nervous troubles, neurasthenia, rheumatism, etc., and in every case have been exceptionally well pleased with the results, and I can honestly and conscientiously recommend Pink Pills for the above diseases.

"I shall continue to use them and recommend them to my patients, for I consider there is nothing better for the diseases they are recommended to cure than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If you desire to use this for publication you can attach my name. I am well known in this part of Kansas and also in Fayette County, Ohio. I am Secretary of the U. S. Pension Examining Surgeon's Board for Stafford County, Kansas, and Chairman of the Republican County Central Committee for the above named county."

Yours faithfully,
JESSE L. LIMES, M. D.

We also asscertained the Doctor's standing in St. John by a few interviews with prominent people, which we herewith publish along with the Doctor's statement regarding Pink Pills:

"I am well acquainted with Dr. J. L. Limes and know him to be an honorable and straightforward man, and what ever he may say can be relied upon.

E. J. BENEFIEL,
County Supt. of Schools, Stafford County, Kansas.

ST. JOHN, KANSAS, July 14th, 1896.

I have known Dr. J. L. Limes for a number of years and can recommend him as a prominent physician, and a man well liked in this vicinity.

I have known Dr. J. L. Limes for several years, and as a physician he is very prominent, and his reputation for honor and integrity are too well known to be questioned for an instant.

HEADACHE AND NEURALGIA.

From the Journal, Ottawa, Ill.

Fred Haeberlin, a shoe dealer, of Ottawa, Ill, can claim rather a unique distinction. He was the first man in Ottawa, Ill., to buy a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. That was three years ago and Mr. Haeberlin says he has never had cause for regretting that purchase. In a conversation held a few days ago Mr. Haeberlin said:

"My wife, for a long time was greatly troubled with neuralgia, headache and nervousness. About three years ago, a friend of mine, a traveling man told me to get some of Williams' Pink Pills and have my wife try them. Upon looking up the remedy I noticed that the Chicago papers contained some pretty strong statements in favor of it.

"I went to the drug stores but not a single one of them kept the article. Then I went to Graham & Yentzer's drug store and had George Yentzer send for some of the pills. Well, they came and I took them home to my wife. She started in to use them and the effect was marvelously favorable, and her condition began to improve steadily. It was but a short time until the headaches had almost wholly disappeared and the general state of her health was much helped. My wife kept on using the pills and likewise kept getting better. In a comparatively short time her condition was more healthy than for several years. Is it any wonder that we both became true friends of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills? My wife is a well woman now and we both ascribe that fact to Pink Pills.

"The remedy did so much for us that I have recommended it to ever so many since I got that first box and, if I do say it, I believe I am largely responsible for starting the large sale of the pills in Ottawa. There is not a drug store in the city now that does not sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

John Hardin, who is engaged in the tailoring business in Ottawa, says:

"Count me as one who has been benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I have used them for several months for stomach troubles and feel that they have aided a slight attack of rheumatism. Since I took them and built up my system my trouble in that respect has been much bettered, as has also my indigestion. They are a great tonic, and I certainly endorse their use most heartily. I always recommend them to my friends."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

MURDERER SCOTT.

Electrocuted at Sing Sing For Killing His Wife.

Sing Sing, N. Y., June 14.—Howard A. Scott was electrocuted here today at 11:11 a. m. He was declared dead at 11:12. The crime for which Scott was executed today was committed in New York on Oct. 28, 1896. Scott was separated from his wife. The latter earned a livelihood by working in a laundry. Scott's jealousy had caused the separation.

About noon on the day of the murder Mrs. Scott appeared at the Jefferson Market court in New York city and said she either wanted to secure a divorce from her husband or a separation, as he had treated her cruelly and had failed to provide for her. A summons was given her to serve on her husband should he appear.

Mrs. Scott then went to her home. Shortly afterwards her sister, Mrs. Annie White, called on her. She found Mrs. Scott lying on the floor with a bullet hole in her left breast. Scott was at once suspected. An effort was made to get a statement from Mrs. Scott, but she was too far gone to talk and died soon after being found. Scott, at a funeral of a relative a few weeks before, had remarked that "there will be another funeral soon." This and other evidence was brought against him, and at his trial he was convicted.

His case was carried to the court of appeals, which last week decided against Scott.

LAMP INJURES FOUR.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 14.—A lamp explosion in the residence of Stephen Welsh, near Sharpsburg early this morning set fire to the house and badly burned the four occupants. The injured are Stephen Welsh, Mrs. Welsh and two children. Welsh and one of the children are in a critical condition, and may die. The house was entirely destroyed. The loss was $10,000, which was fully covered by insurance.

CURE OF HOG CHOLERA.

Dubuque, Iowa, June 14.—It has been shown by experiments at many places in Iowa, under the supervision of the freight officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railway companies that hog cholera can be cured. Generally the disease is not prevalent in summer, but a large quantity of poor corn has been fed this year and new cases are found daily. These railway companies have on file in their offices scores of letters from hog raisers throughout the Northwest showing that their efforts to cure and prevent hog cholera have been signally successful.

ELUSIVE TRAIN WRECKERS.

New York, June 14.—The police of Brooklyn are still without any clue as to the identity of the would-be train wreckers who endangered the lives of 1000 persons last night by placing a huge iron rail on the tracks of the Sea Beach line. It was discovered today that an attempt had also been made to wreck a train on the Culver line, which runs parallel with the Sea Beach route, by turning the switches.

FATAL FREIGHT WRECK.

Macon, Mo., June 14.—No. 3 fast freight on the Santa Fe railroad was ditched one and a half miles east of Elmer, Macon county, last night. Three tramps and one brakeman were killed. The train was made up of four refrigerator and five stock cars.

HAWAII

Treaty For the Annexation of the Island is All Ready.

It Will Be Sent to the Senate in a Few Days.

Friends of the Measure Have Hopes of Its Speedy Passage.

Washington, June 14.—A treaty for the annexation of Hawaii to the United States will be sent to the senate soon after the return of the president unless present plans are altered. The treaty has been written and all its details were fully agreed upon before the president and Secretary Sherman left for the South. There is no doubt, it is said of the president's acquiescence in the terms of the treaty for the reason that he was made fully aware of them before he left.

The treaty is on the general lines of the treaty negotiated during the administration of President Harrison and withdrawn by President Cleveland. It provides for annexation without the exaction of conditions on the part of the Hawaiians as to the form of government to be vouchsafed to Hawaii, leaving that question to be entirely disposed of by the government of the United States. The United States will agree, however, to assume the debt of the Hawaiian crown lands and other possessions.

Several senators have received definite information concerning the existence of the treaty and are well acquainted with its terms, though they refuse to discuss the matter, having received the information in confidence. The knowledge of the existence of the treaty has been communicated to members of the committee on foreign relations and also to members of the finance committee. In the Republican caucuses the subject of the treaty had been hinted at, but in rather a vague manner. Senators asserted that there were in progress negotiations looking to annexation, but they would not aver that they knew a treaty had been drawn, nor would they give any assurances that it would soon be sent to the senate. In private conversations with other senators, however, they gave information that was definite enough to satisfy those with whom they talked that the treaty was not only to be sent in but that it was now already drawn and only waiting the signatures of the officers of the two governments to complete it. It is known that the approval of the committee on foreign relations is assured, as eight members of the committee have approved its terms. This will enable the committee to speedily report the treaty to the senate so that it may be taken up immediately after the tariff bill is disposed of.

The senate has been canvassed to a certain the extent by senators favoring annexation, and while there are some senators who are non-committal, the supporters of the proposition say they believe that they can count upon the two-thirds vote necessary to insure ratification. The special friends of the president about the senate say that the treaty has been in accordance with his views and exactions as to details.

TARIFF DISCUSSION.

Senator Allen Still Talking About Sugar Trust.

Washington, June 14.—The tariff debate is not proving a strong attraction in the senate and the attendance in the galleries was small today. The tariff bill was taken up with little delay for morning business, and Mr. Allison, in charge of the bill, asked for an agreement that the daily sessions of the senate begin at 11 a. m. on and after Wednesday next. Mr. Vest preferred to have the agreement conditioned on an understanding for daily adjournments at 5 p. m. Mr. Allison stated that there would be no difficulty about that, and the agreement for early sessions was effected.

Mr. Allen, of Nebraska, then reverted to the colloquy last Saturday, in which he held that it was the right and duty of the government to take legal steps to dissolve the sugar trust. He argued that injunction, quo warranto and other legal proceedings could be invoked by federal courts against a state corporation engaged in interstate or international trade was undoubted. If Havemeyer and his associates went to New Jersey to procure a charter, as a mere shield to improper proceedings, the act was fraudulent, the charter void, and the federal courts had jurisdiction over the subject. Why, therefore, should the senate waste time and haggle over the sugar schedule and the sugar trust, when the courts offered a real remedy for dissolving this gigantic monopoly?

Mr. Allen next spoke in favor of abrogating the Hawaiian treaty. The senator said the sugar investigation, in which he took part, disclosed that Havemeyer and Claus Spreckels had an agreement by which Spreckels controlled the territory west of the Missouri river, while the territory east of the Missouri river was "subject to the forays" of the American sugar trust. His vote and he believed the votes of the Populist senators would be cast to cancel the Hawaiian treaty as a means of developing the beet sugar industry of this country.

THE BROOKLYN ARRIVES.

Southampton, June 14.—The United States armored cruiser Brooklyn, with Rear Admiral J. N. Miller on board, which is to represent the United States navy at the naval review off Spithead on June 26, arrived here today from New York.

NELSON'S SELFISH POLICY.

His Action in Regard to Federal Offices.

Washington, June 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—"If I cannot have the biggest piece of pie myself, nobody else shall have any." This is the policy Senator Nelson is pursuing with regard to the collectorship at St. Paul, as well as several other important federal offices. His great ambition in the patronage line is to secure the appointment of Professor Swenson, of Albert Lea, as minister to Denmark. He refuses to indorse J. M. Dimert, of Owatonna, who has the backing of the other members of Minnesota delegation, because he fears that the appointment of Dimert would prevent the selection of another man from the first district to an important position and Professor Swenson would be left.

Representative Tawney insists that this contention is ridiculous, but Nelson is obdurate, and does not propose to take any chances, so that Michael Doran's son-in-law, is liable to continue to draw the salary of collector for some time to come. The net result may be another lovely row in the delegation.

AFTER BALDWIN'S SCALP.

Morris Will Request His Removal at Once.

Washington, June 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Congressman Morris has been writhing and twisting for the past three months under the spectacle of a Democrat holding a $10 a day position under this administration and has at last nerved himself to make a decided break for the scalp of Chippewa Indian Commissioner Baldwin. He will have the active assistance of one senator and several members of the Minnesota delegation. They have decided to call upon the secretary of the interior some day this week and request Baldwin's removal.

According to Secretary Bliss, Maj. Baldwin has made an efficient officer but such pressure may be brought to bear on him that he will be compelled to request his resignation. It is not known whom Morris has for Baldwin's successor. Fletcher, Stevens and Heatwole have candidates from their districts for this position.

Later—The members of the Minnesota delegation called at the interior department in a body this afternoon to confer with Land Commissioner Hermann in regard to Minnesota Chippewa land matters. While they will not discuss the matter, it is understood that they also urged the removal of Maj. Baldwin and the appointment of a Republican as Chippewa Indian commissioner. It is said that friends of D. S. Hall are urging his reinstatement as chairman of this commission, which can be done under the civil service rules. The appointment of any other man would have to be made by competitive examination.

WILL HANG HIS PARTY.

Speaker Reed's Course is Injuring the Republicans.

Washington, June 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Democrats and other silver men are well satisfied with the course of Speeker Reed from a political standpoint. They believe that if left alone he will hang the Republican party in the Western states, if he does not himself. His action in refusing to permit the bankruptcy bill to be considered will cost the Republican party three if not four congressmen in Minnesota, and he has been frankly told so by Republican members from that state.

The suspicion is rapidly gaining ground that Reed really desires the McKinley administration to be a failure. While he is personally responsible for the negative policy of the present house, he knows that the blame for failure to enact necessary legislation will attach to the administration and not to him. He has his eye upon the Republican presidential nomination in 1900, and counts upon a division in the Democratic ranks on the money question to ensure his election if nominated.

INDIA'S EARTHQUAKE.

Shocks Did Immense Damage in Many Localities.

Calcutta, June 14.—Later reports increase the gravity of the earthquake shocks of Saturday last in this city and its vicinity. An extensive area was affected, causing much misery among many of the poor Europeans and natives. The shocks were felt at Simla, Agra, Bombay and at many places far down the central provinces. An immense amount of damage was done at Hoogley, Burdwan and Dacca, where several persons were killed, and at Gopalpoor, Patna, Ransganj, Nangipoor, Balisor, Mazifarpoor and Monghyr. A terrific shock was experienced at Darjilling, where many houses were destroyed.

Traffic on the Eastern Bengal railway is interrupted. Bridges have been damaged and a train was overturned on the Assam-Bengal line. The ground opened at Manipur and the town of Kohima, north of Manipur, was severely damaged. The heat prevailing is the highest on record, 126 degrees in the shade having been registered at Jacobabad on the frontier of Baluchistan.

O'DONNELL WOULD FIGHT.

New York, June 14.—Johnny White, on behalf of Billy O'Donnell, of Memphis, has posted $500 with Sam C. Austin to make a match with George Dixon or Solly Smith. White says unless Dixon or Smith comes forward to make a match, O'Donnell will claim the championship.

A PRESSMEN'S CONVENTION.

Detroit, Mich., June 14.—The ninth international convention of printing pressmen opens here tomorrow. Delegations have already arrived from New York, Toronto and other Eastern points. A reception will be given the visiting pressmen at the Griswold house this afternoon.

A SWISS LANDSLIDE.

DENIAL

Methodist Ministers in Chicago Deny Some Roman Catholic Official Reports.

Say That Religious Liberty in Peru Only Extends to Methodists.

And Claim That Rampolla Decided Without Knowing the Facts.

Chicago, June 14.—At the meeting of the Methodist ministers this morning the Rev. John Lee, chairman of the committee on religious liberty for Protestants in South America, submitted a report. Bishop Vincent, he said, had been asked if the "precise information" given by the apostolic delegate for the republics of Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador to the papal secretary of state was correct. The bishop replied by enclosing a statement of the Rev. Dr. Thomas B. Wood, of Callao, who was said "to know all about" the situation in that republic. Dr. Thomas took the letter of Cardinal Rampollo to Archbishop Gibbons, based on information furnished him by the papal delegate, and answered it thus:

"Protestants are far from being restricted in the free exercises of their worship." The constitution forbids us publicity for our worship. The clerical organs applaud unlawful outrages committed on us, and preachers enthuse their audiences with the cry, "death to Protestants." Three facts should have modified the statement of the papal delegate to Rampolla, so that the latter would not have reported that we are "far from being restricted in the free exercise of our worship."

"Protestants are rather accorded a larger degree of toleration than is compatible with a strict construction of the political constitution of these countries." The present constitution dates from 1860, and found Protestant worship tolerated in the land, took for granted its existence, and restricted its publicity without defining the limits of the restriction. The constitution says: "No one can be compelled to do what is not required by law nor hindered from doing what is not prohibited by law." It is false to say that we use more liberty than "strict construction" allows. It is doubly false to set forth, as the two foregoing quotations seem to do, that we are acting in defiance of law under leniency from the Roman Catholic church. The truth is, we are carefully and conscientiously acting within the limits of the law as interpreted by lawful authority, and all our difficulty grows out of the unlawful intolerance of the Roman Catholic clergy. The papal delegate in Lima must have known this, and ought to have so reported it to his superior in Rome. Rampolla does not report Macchi's words, so we cannot tell who of them is to blame for the attempt to throw the blame of our distresses on the politicians of Peru and give credit to the clergy for the toleration we enjoy.

"The constitution of Peru recognizes no other form (of marriage) as valid than that prescribed by the council of Trent." The constitution says nothing about marriage and makes no reference whatever to the council of Trent. Here the blame rests on Macchi, as Rampolla states that "the delegate informs" him to that effect. The delegate must have known better. Since the coming of the delegate to Peru we have been falling under a series of new restrictions, beginning in December, 1893, with a local decision excluding our marriages from civil registers in Callao, and ending November, 1895, with a supreme executive decree outlawing them sweepingly, and declaring that their previous legal recognition had been contrary to the constitution, without stating in what respect. The decision of 1893 specifically named the Methodist Episcopal church as having its marriages excluded from civil registry, with no need of such specific mention, as the decision was made to cover all marriages not solemnized by a Roman Catholic priest.

"After I had started our work in Lima the archbishop wrote officially to the executive, asking that my operations be stopped. His ground was not a charge that I was violating the law, but the sweeping pretensions that my propaganda was, from the nature of it, hostile to the state religion, and, therefore, hostile to the state. The executive passed the case down to the prefect of Lima, he to the sub-prefect, he to the police, who watched us without our knowledge, observed how people went in and out of our chapel, noted what we did, entered and observed within as well as without, till the sub-prefect was satisfied and drew up a report to the effect that we were not violating any law or regulation within the compass of the police. The prefect endorsed it as his report to the supreme executive. The record remains in the ministry of worship and justice."

Mr. Lee said that the crusade inaugurated by the Methodist ministers more than three years ago to secure the same religious liberty for Protestants in Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador that Roman Catholics enjoyed in the United States had been regarded "not simply as a battle for Protestantism, but a battle for humanity." They knew, he added, that victory would come finally, and until it did come their motto must continue to be "no surrender."

CHICAGO'S UNEMPLOYED

Mayor Harrison Has a Plan to Help Them.

Chicago, June 14.—Mayor Harrison has a plan for the relief of Chicago's unemployed. He declares that something must be done for the hungry men who daily throng the city hall begging for work. In their interests he has a suggestion which he will make to the civil service commissioners at once. The mayor's idea is to extend the list of 1600 eligibles on the laborers' list to 6000 and give every applicant at least ten days' work a month in rotation. He believes working the men in squads or shifts will not violate the law.

Laborers now permanently employed must share with their comrades. He is also confident the plan will stand between many families and absolute destitution. It is thought that temporary relief along the lines suggested will thus be afforded to 20,000 men, women and children in Chicago. At the expiration of every ten days employment will rotate, and although work will come on the installment plan, Mr. Harrison believes it will bring blessings to many who deserve it.

"If any of ye know just cause or impediment why these two persons should not be joined together in Holy Matrimony, ye are to declare it, or forever after hold your peace." If physicians obeyed this solemn admonition in the marriage ceremony and protested with the honest and scientific reasons in their possession half of the unhappiness, sickness and death in the world would cease to exist. The man or woman who has developed symptoms of that dread disease consumption should not marry until cured. Consumption should bar the way to wedded life. It is a crime to transmit to future generations the death-dealing germs in the blood of the consumptive.

Many physicians pronounce consumption an incurable disease. In this they are mistaken as thousands will testify. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. It corrects all disorders of the digestion. It promptly improves the appetite and makes it keen and hearty. It fills the blood with the tissue-building elements of the food, and acting directly upon the lungs, drives out all impurities and disease germs. It makes rich, pure blood, builds new, firm, healthy flesh, and strong, springy muscles. It soothes and invigorates the nerves. Thousands have testified to their permanent recovery from consumption through its use, after they were given up by the doctors and all hope was gone. Druggists sell it and nothing else is "just as good."

There cannot be too many good, practical books in a home. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is a good practical book for husbands, wives, mothers, daughters and sons. Send 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. For cloth binding, send 31 stamps.

GET FLESH.

Get Strength, Vigor, Clear Complexion and Digestion, Not By Patent Medicine, But in Nature's Own Way.

Any honest physician will tell you that there is but one way to get increased flesh: all the patent medicines and cod liver oils to the contrary notwithstanding.

Nature has but one way to increase flesh, strength and vigor of mind and body, and that is through the stomach by wholesome food well digested. There is no reason or common sense in any other method whatever.

People are thin, run down, nervous, pale and shaky in their nerves, simply because their stomachs are weak.

They may not think they have dyspepsia, but the fact remains that they do not eat enough food or what they eat is not quickly and properly digested as it should be.

Dr. Harlandson says the reason is because the stomach lacks certain digestive acids and peptones, and deficient secretion of gastric juice.

Nature's remedy in such cases is to supply what the weak stomach lacks. There are several good preparations which will do this, but none so readily as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which are designed especially for all stomach troubles, and which cure all digestive weakness on the common sense plan of furnishing the digestive principles which the stomach lacks.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give perfect digestion. First effect is to increase the appetite and increased vigor, added flesh, pure blood, and strength of nerve and muscle is the perfectly natural result.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest tonic known and will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. May be found at druggists at 50 cents for full-sized package or direct by mail from Stuart company, Marshall, Mich. Little book on stomach diseases mailed free.

MINISTER TO MADRID.

Commissioner Calhoun Said to Be a Probability.

New York, June 14.—A dispatch from Nashville says that ex-Commissioner Calhoun, who went to investigate the Ruiz case and the general condition of things in the island of Cuba for President McKinley, is the man who is most likely to be named for minister to Madrid, and not Gen. Stewart L. Woodford.

Secretary Sherman says: "No, Gen. Woodford's name has not been mentioned to me by the president in connection with the post of minister at Madrid. I know Gen. Woodford and he would be an excellent man for the place, but as I understand it Mr. Calhoun, who has just returned from Cuba, is to be sent to Madrid as the representative of this country at the Spanish court. There have been a good many conflicting reports made in regard to this mission owing to its importance at this time, and because the president has really had in mind several gentlemen for the place."

POLITICS

High Position Which Senator Davis Has Secured In the Senate.

The Subject of Forest Reserves Likely to Cause More Trouble.

Not Likely That This Session Will Act on Boundary Question.

Washington, June 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is not probable that the people of Minnesota, if the next legislature is Republican, will decide to send to the United States senate in place of Cushman K. Davis any of the small fry politicians now in the senatorial race. It is doubtless true that Senator Davis is not a politician. He has few tricks professionally in politics, and scorns any of the methods used by this class of men in carrying out their desires for official preferment. As a representative of Minnesota in the United States senate there has been no man since William Windom representing this state in the upper branch of congress who is regarded as as well equipped as Cushman K. Davis. He ranks as one of the ablest, if not the ablest, constitutional lawyers in this branch of congress, and it is conceded is the peer of any on international law. Senator Davis, however, is a man who does not toot his own horn frequently, and for this reason does not secure so much advertising as others who have and still represent Minnesota in the United States congress.

Mr. Davis has never had his honesty questioned, either in or out of congress. It never even has been hinted that he has favored corporations in the senate, notwithstanding the fact that as a lawyer he represents as attorney many of the great railroads in his section of the country. It is a well-known fact that the representatives of many of the great trusts who desire legislation in their favor in Washington never approach the senior senator from Minnesota. They know in advance that to do so would be useless. Senator Davis' reputation never has been tainted by the circulation of any story to the effect that he has used his official position to advance his financial interests in any way. As a matter of fact, in the present congress he has shown a disposition, not to fight any of the great trusts, at least to ignore them. This cannot be said of many other senators. Mr. Davis, leaving everything else aside, probably now occupies a position of the highest honor that can be reached in congress. As chairman of the committee on foreign relations his influence is at all times powerful. He was promoted to this position for the reason that it long ago developed that he was better fitted to deal with international affairs than any other man in this branch of congress, not even excepting Senator Sherman, whom Davis succeeded as chairman of the foreign relations committee.

The radical policy of the last two administrations in the matter of the creation of forestry reserves is likely to be a permanent injury to this cause and prevent the very objects which were sought to be attained by Presidents Harrison and Cleveland and the American Forestry association. It is now generally conceded that nearly all the orders of these executives were hasty and ill advised. They were issued upon the representations of theorists rather than practical men, and without a thorough examination of the land included in the reserves. As a natural result there is likely to be a reaction which will prevent the creation of really necessary forest reserves. President Cleveland made worse mistakes than his predecessor, because of the fact that his proclamations enclosed larger areas. At the beginning of his administration only the vigorous effort of Maj. Baldwin, then a member of congress from the Sixth district, prevented several large tracts of land in Minnesota valuable for agricultural and lumber purposes from being withdrawn from entry. It is stated on good authority that none of this territory was suitable for the purpose of a forestry reserve, and had it been made such, would have worked permanent injury to that portion of the state and greatly retarded its development.

During the present congress an active effort has been made to have a number of these reservations restored to the public domain, especially those included in President Cleveland's last order. There is no doubt that the amendment adopted to the sundry civil bill will correct errors made by Mr. Cleveland. Senator Hansbrough is endeavoring to have an order issued by President Harrison, creating the Turtle mountain forest reservation in South Dakota, rescinded as it is stated that this land is entirely unsuitable for the purpose. It is possible that President McKinley will profit by the mistakes of his predecessors and when it is found advisable to withdraw any tract of land from entry for the purpose of a forest reservation, will have a thorough examination made before he issues his order. Nobody questions the value of forestry reservations, but the thing has been slightly overdone during the past eight years.

Owing to the failure of Speaker Reed to appoint committees no action is likely to be taken at this session upon the resolution reported from the foreign affairs committee by Representative Heatwole, appropriating $75,000 for the expenses of a commission to adjust the northern boundary of the United States from Lake Erie to the Lake of the Woods. This important matter will therefore have to go over until the regular session and the ownership of Hunter's island on the northeastern border of Minnesota, which is said to contain much valuable timber and minerals still remain in dispute. Representative Heatwole made a thorough investigation of this subject and from the official maps and maps and data furnished him by hunters and timber cruisers he is perfectly satisfied that this island belongs to the United States. The cruiser's map shows two portages on the south side of the island and none on the north. The terms of the treaty provide that the boundary line shall be the continuous water course and this would put the entire island in Minnesota territory. There is little doubt that a joint commission upon the part of this country and Great Britain in the determination of the true boundary line would award Hunter's island to the United States.

Representative Morris has not in the least relaxed his efforts to secure an assignment upon the committee on rivers and harbors. While this assignment is not nearly so important to the Sixth district member as it was two years ago, there is still considerable that he could accomplish. So far as Duluth is concerned Mr. Towne did about all that can be done for a number of years to come. He had the project placed under the continuous contract system and the improvement will go steadily on, whether the Sixth district has a member in the house or not. It is doubtless true that if Mr. Morris is appointed upon this committee he will get a good deal of credit for the work which Mr. Towne so cleverly put under way. There are a number of other improvements in the distict, however, which Mr. Morris should take care of, if he secures this assignment. His main claim to the position rests upon the fact that he defeated a silver man and not to any particular knowledge that he has of waterway improvements.

SIERRA MADRE PASS.

"Lucky" Baldwin Trying to Secure Its Possession.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 14.—E. J. Baldwin is working to secure the one practical pass remaining in the Sierra Madre mountains and the only one by which a railroad from the north could satisfactorily and thus make a pass way over to the force of men is now engaged in constructing a trail from the Santa Anita canyon Mojave desert.

The grade is being made one foot in sixteen feet and can readily be made available to accommodate a railway line. In fact, it is announced by one close to Mr. Baldwin that an electric road will be built along the route of this trail. The road will penetrate to the lake and over to the pass to the Mojave desert and presumably from there on to Antelope valley. This move will give Baldwin control of the only remaining pass to Los Angeles from the north.

SILVER MEN PLEASED.

The Chicago Gathering Very Gratifying to Them.

Washington, June 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The friends of silver and especially those who are interested in the Republican silver movement are greatly encouraged by the success of the Republican silver convention at Chicago. The attendance was larger than had been expected and the number of states represented is evidence that the free silver idea is growing as rapidly as its warmest friends have claimed. After this it will be no longer possible to ignore this element in the practical politics of the country, and those who have attempted to belittle the movement are exceedingly worried by the showing made at Chicago.

Mr. Towne's friends are highly elated over the success of the young leader's efforts and consider the result of the convention a great personal victory for him. The removal of the headquarters of the new organization to Duluth is looked upon here as a very shrewd and well-advised move from which splendid results are anticipated. Not the least of these, it is predicted here, will be the triumphant re-election of Mr. Towne to congress at the next election. It also brings Duluth to the front once more and gives the Northwestern metropolis an importance in national affairs which cannot fail to be of great benefit to the "city of the Unsalted Seas."

From this time forth the Republican free silver campaign will be pushed by every means at the command of some of the shrewdest politicians in the country, and it will not lack for funds to make it effective. Mr. Towne is now one of the leading figures in the national situation and his friends are confident that he will be able to give a good account of himself.

HIGHER

Wheat Ruled Stronger Today and the Price Made an Advance.

Crop Reports From India and the Danubian Country the Cause.

Large Decrease in the Shipments From Exporting Countries to Europe.

Wheat opened steady at a good advance this morning. Liverpool quotations, showing only about ½d advance, were rather disappointing but their influence was entirely overshadowed by crop reports from India and the Danubian country, the damage in the latter district being estimated at fully 25 per cent. Northwest receipts were light, 393 cars, compared with 299 last week and 293 a year ago. The weather was generally favorable. Shorts became liberal buyers upon the receipt of the Danubian news. Crop reports, taking conditions as they stood up to Saturday, were quite favorable as regards both winter and spring wheat. Showers were shown on the weather map to have fallen in Kansas and Missouri yesterday, which was considered a favorable circumstance for the crops, but heavy rain in Oklahoma and Northern Texas, which was likewise reported, was otherwise than beneficial in the midst of the harvest. The quantity of wheat and flour on ocean passage decreased 1,120,000 bus for the week. The week's shipments from all exporting countries to Europe were 5,225,000 bus, compared with 8,346,000 bus the corresponding week of last year.

There was a fair amount of trading on the Duluth board, July wheat opened ⅝c higher at 71⅝c, reacted to 71¼c, rallied again to 71¾c, eased off near noon to 71⅝c but grew stronger during the last half hour and sold up to 72c. The close was firm at 72⅝c, an advance of 1c for the day. The mills bought 50,000 bus of cash stuff at 1c over July, and the elevators took 10,000 bus at from ½c to ⅝c over July, mostly at ½c. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 73¼c. No. 1 northern, 72⅝c; July, 72⅝c; September, 65⅝c bid. No. 2 northern, 70⅝c. No. 3, 65¾@ 66c. Rejected, 48⅞@63⅞c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 73⅝c; No. 1 northern, 72⅜c. Rye, 34c. No. 2 oats, 21c; No. 3 oats, 20½c. Flax, 76c.

Car inspection—Wheat, 43; oats, 54; rye, 1; barley, 22; flax, 4. Receipts—Wheat, 78,067 bus; oats, 108,272 bus; rye, 8428 bus; barley, 26,185 bus; flax, 11,986 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 71,549 bus; oats, 1500 bus; barley, 119,854 bus.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of R. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 307 Board of Trade.

Chicago, June 14.—Foreign wheat markets were disappointing but a London dispatch stating that the Danubian situation was worse than anticipated and that the crop was damaged fully 25 per cent started our market strong and it advanced with only slight reactions and closed strong at 1¼c advance for July. September did not gain so much as July wheth her and December wheat were more active was bought freely by shorts who feared manipulation. It is a wonder under existing conditions that a dozen different corners have not been attempted in July wheat as the apparent easiness with which it could be done would make it tempting even to a capitalist of moderate means. The rumor is now that the son of a local capitalist has the deal all by himself and the house which represents him was a steady buyer all day. The weather conditions are perfect and no export or milling demand of any consequence. The visible decreased larger than was expected and clearances fairly liberal.

Corn ruled strong and higher. A week ago shorts were buying on cold weather and now they are buying because it's too hot. Oats also higher for practically the same reason.

Provisions opened weak but offerings were small and prices advanced easily on a little good buying.

Puts, July wheat, 69¼@69¾c.
Calls, July wheat, 73⅛@72½c.
Curb, July wheat, 70⅝c.

WEST END

West Duluth Ball Club Horribly Walloped in Yesterday's Games.

All Kinds of Revelry at Zenith Park Yesterday Afternoon.

Mitchell & McClure Reduce Their Working Time to Ten Hours.

West Duluth's crack baseball club disappointed its friends terribly yesterday, and the boys have little to say about the two games played, nor do they want anybody else to talk about them. The cold facts are that they were beaten, and beaten badly, and no longer have visions of championship honors. They first went up against the Zenith City club, which they considered a real easy thing. Only seven innings were played, but that was enough for the Zeniths to score sixteen runs while the West Duluth club was making eleven. Then the boys proposed to, in a measure, retrieve their lost prestige by mopping up the diamond with the Boomers. The diamond was mopped, all right, but the West Duluth club was, alas, on the cloth end of the stick. There were just six innings, during which the championship aspirants managed to get in twelve runs, while the Boomers ran around the bases until they were tired, and quit from sheer exhaustion with twenty-eight tallies to their credit. After the first game there was some talk about a prejudiced umpire, but the work of the Boomers has silenced that, and now the boys will practice a little before again donning their uniforms in public.

HOT TIME AT THE PARK.

Zenith park was a scene of wild revelry yesterday. Great throngs of people out to the park all the time went over to the island and a good share of them danced, drank and fought the hours away in a manner which caused the West End police a great deal of annoyance. Lieut. Briggs and a patrolman were on duty all day and far into the night at the foot of Sixty-first avenue west to prevent disturbances by the merrymakers on their return from the island. Their presence there averted a number of scraps, but as they did not have any authority to visit the park they could but witness and listen to the evidences of the good time that was being had at a distance. The park being outside the city limits, visitors to it are not subjected to the restraint which police supervision would afford, and many were not slow to take advantage of it.

CUT THE HOURS.

Beginning Saturday Mitchell & McClure reduced the running time of their mill from twelve to ten hours a day. Generally the change has proven satisfactory to the men, although it reduces their earning capacity, for most of them objected to the long hours which they have been required to put in since the opening of the season.

MILLS WILL START.

William P. Helmbach's mill at New Duluth, which has been idle this season, will start up this week and Herman, Becklinger & Herman's mill will begin cutting 3,000,000 feet of logs for the Tuelle Lumber company. All of the three mills at New Duluth will be in operation in a few days, and this suburb will take on some of its old-time activity.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

The Benedicts and Bachelors played a match game of ball at Zenith park yesterday afternoon before a large audience for the benefit of Johnny Mack, netting him $50. It was won by the Bachelors, the score being 12 to 6.

The Pickets defeated the Proctorknott club at Proctorknott yesterday afternoon by a score of 8 to 6. This was the first match game played by the Pickets and they proved themselves a formidable club.

The Home and Foreign Missionary society of Asbury M. E. church will give an afternoon tea at the home of Mrs. Sang tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

The loading tracks at the B. B. Richards Lumber company's mill at New Duluth have been extended and the facilities for loading for rail shipment are considerably enlarged.

SURE SIGN OF AGE.

St. Louis Republic: "A mans' advancing age tells on him in no other way more unmistakably than in his habits of rising in the morning," remarked Col. Peter Toliver, of Philadelphia. "I am 62 years old and wake up every morning with the sun. Time was when I used to regard it as a hardship to be waked before 9 o'clock. That was when I was young. When I reached 50 I began to wake with the sun, and no matter how late I sat up the night before, I found myself tired of sleeping beyond the hour of the sun's rising. Many men about 50 you meet now will tell you that they find themselves sleeping less than formerly and are unable to account for it. Whenever one of them complains to me I know what his age is, no matter how young he may look. There is something in us that responds to reawakened nature when we reach the half-century post in our journey through life, and all the drugs in the pharmacopoeia will not arrest the tendency to sleep no more after daylight comes. In the future, when a friend complains to you of his inability to snooze after 'glooms shiver off and lights creep in,' just tell him that he will find this habit fixed upon him for the remainder of his life, because it is a sure sign of his advancing age."

A BAKER'S DOZEN.

Jan Pietersen Van Amsterdam (we only give part of his name) kept a bake shop in Albany, says What To Eat. Good churchmen thought he was the bane of his life was fear of being bewitched, and to keep out evil spirits he primed himself with an extra glass of spirits on the last night of 1654. His sales had been brisk, and as he sat in his little shop meditating on the gains he would make on the morrow he was startled by a sharp rap, and an ugly woman entered.

"Give me a dozen New Year's cookies," she cried in a shrill voice.

"Vell, den, you needn' sbeak so loud," said Jan; "I aind teaf, den."

"A dozen!" she screamed. "Give me a dozen. Here are only twelve."

"Vell, den, dwalf is a dozen."

"One more! I want a dozen."

"Vell, den, if you vant anodder, go to de duyvil and ged it."

The hag took him at his word, at least she left the shop, and from that time it seemed that the baker man was bewitched, for his cakes were stolen, his bread was so light it went up the chimney or was so heavy that it fell through the oven; his wife became deaf and his children went wild and his trade went elsewhere. Three times the old woman returned and each time was sent anew to the devil. At last, in despair, the baker called on St. Nicholas to help him. In a moment the venerable patron of Dutch feasts sat before him advising the trembling man to be more generous in the future. After a lecture on charity he vanished, and the old woman appeared in his place. She repeated her demand for more cake and Pietersen gave it, whereupon she exclaimed: "The spell is broken; from this time on a dozen is thirteen." Then taking from the counter a gingerbread effigy of St. Nicholas she made the astonished Dutchman lay his hand upon it and swear to give more liberal measure in the future, and since that time thirteen has been called a baker's dozen.

Barker, libellant, against the schooner "James Mowatt," her tackle, apparel and furniture, alleging in substance that the said schooner in the Portage Lake and Lake Superior ship canal on the 5th day of May, 1897, with force and violence ran into and upon the dredge "Superior," the property of said C. S. Barker, and damaged and injured the said dredge "Superior," and caused the said libellant damages amounting to the sum of $966; that a monition in said cause was issued by said court, and is returnable at the said district court at Duluth, Minnesota, on the 6th day of July, A. D. 1897, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

That all persons interested in said schooner "James Mowatt" are hereby notified to appear before the court above named at the time and place above mentioned, and show cause to the contrary, or default and condemnation will be ordered according to law and the practice of the court.

THE WEATHER.

United States Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth, Synopsis of weather conditions for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 a. m., (Central time), June 14.—A hot wave is prevailing in the upper lake region, the Mississippi and Missouri valleys and the Canadian Northwest, the departures from the normal temperature being most marked in North and South Dakota, Manitoba, Minnesota, Illinois and Eastern Missouri. At Williston, N. D., the thermometer registered 110 yesterday and at St. Paul 94, the former equalling the highest previous record for this decade of June, and the latter breaking the record.

A moderate storm has moved southeastward to Montana, causing numerous showers and thunderstorms in the Canadian provinces; elsewhere a continuance of fair weather is generally reported, with the exception of a shower at Kansas City, which yielded a rainfall of .76 inch.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 58; maximum yesterday, 81; minimum yesterday, 49.

Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity: Generally fair tonight and Tuesday, but possibly light thunderstorms; slight changes in temperature; winds mostly northeast, and becoming fresh to brisk by Tuesday morning.

JAMES KENEALY,
Local Forecast Official.

Chicago, June 14.—Forecast until 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Generally fair and continued warm today and Tuesday; weather probably becoming unsettled Tuesday; fresh southwest winds. For Minnesota: Generally fair tonight and Tuesday except possibly local showers Tuesday; continued warm; fresh southeasterly winds.

FEDERAL TAXATION.

The weakest argument against a high tariff is that which deplores the customs duties as imposing a back-breaking burden on the laboring people of the United States. There is no tax which is felt so lightly. Admitting that the tariff is a tax, the burden of federal taxation is the least which the people are called upon to bear.

Senator Aldrich figured out that the tariff bill as he presented it to the senate would call for receipts of about $182,000,000 from customs and about $170,000,000 from internal revenue. The receipts from customs in the fiscal year 1896 were $160,021,752; from internal revenue, $146,762,865. The total revenues of the government that year footed up $326,976,200. What is true of 1896 is true of most years, that neither customs nor internal revenues constitute over one-half the revenues of the government, and often fall below that proportion. In recent years, while the tendency of customs receipts has been to diminish in volume, the income from internal revenue has steadily though slowly worked upward. Thus in 1886 the receipts from customs footed up in round figures $193,000,000 and those from internal revenue, mainly raised from liquors and tobacco, $117,000,000. A decade later customs yielded $160,000,000 and internal revenue $146,000,000. Supposing that the result of the passage of the enactment of the tariff bill should be to give the government receipts of $252,000,000, the per capita (assuming the population of the United States to be 70,000,000) would be a little over $5.

As the Boston Transcript says, the average property holder throughout the United States would be happy indeed if local taxes were as moderate and as easily borne as the requirements of the federal government. Protection is either right or wrong, and on that men will always differ. They ought to agree that not one dollar should be taken from the people without the necessity of doing so being clearly demonstrated; but hysterical representations of the inhabitants of this country groaning and wringing their hands because of the weight of taxes exacted by customs do a great deal of harm, because their absurdity reacts on every effort to adjust the tariff on equitable bases which are, in effect, scientific principles.

WONDERFUL PROGRESS.

Statistician Mulhall presents in the current number of the North American Review some figures respecting the Middle states, which furnish evidence of progress without a parallel in the old world. Mr. Mulhall says there is a greater concentration of wealth in the state of New York than elsewhere, the average per inhabitant being 40 per cent over that of the Union at large. This is partly shown in the prodigious value of house-property, including public buildings, which averages $810 per inhabitant in the state of New York, against $420 for the whole Union. The six Middle states taken collectively give an average of $660 of house property per inhabitant, which is double the ratio found in Great Britain, and hence it may be affirmed that the people of these states are, on the whole, the best housed community in the world.

The average wealth per inhabitant has almost quadrupled in forty years, a marvelous proof of the progress of these states, and unparalleled in Europe; for McCulloch lays it down that only prosperous nations can double their wealth in that interval. The accumulation in the middle states per inhabitant has been $10.20 per annum higher than in New England, and exactly double the average accumulation yearly in Great Britain in the interval of 1860-1895. Agricultural wealth forms only 15 per cent of the total in the Middle states, whereas it is 25 per cent in the whole Union.

GO SLOWLY.

It is said that another proposition to sell the water company's plant to the city will be presented at the meeting of the common council tonight. Nothing definite as to the nature of the proposition has been given out officially, and the rumors in circulation differ widely.

The aldermen should act very slowly and deliberately in regard to this matter. It is a question that requires careful consideration, and unless the proposition be regarded as so fair and reasonable that the citizens would be likely to accept it, the council should not order a special election. It is useless to submit to the people any proposition which does not reduce the price of the plant below the terms stated in previous offers. The last vote on the water question demonstrated that the people believe that $1,695,000 is too high a price, and the city should not be put to the heavy expense of another election on the same proposition. It is highly improbable that any change of sentiment has taken place which would make possible the adoption of a similar proposition now. To be acceptable the proposition must name a lower price.

There is no necessity for haste on this matter. There is plenty of time for cool and calm consideration of any proposition which may be presented. Therefore let the aldermen take their time. Nothing will be gained by acting precipitately.

The "Association of American Women for the Presentation of a Statue of Washington to France," which has been in existence for nine years, has just been incorporated and organized at the home of Mrs. George Hearst, in Washington. "It is the purpose of the women," says the Baltimore Sun, "to give an order to Daniel French, the well-known American sculptor, for an equestrian statue of Washington in bronze, to be completed in time for erection in Paris in 1900, the year of the French exposition. The cost is estimated at $35,000, of which $22,000 has already been raised."

Governor Tanner of Illinois has gained disrepute by signing the Yerkes-Allen street railway bill, and now he has arroused the ire of the wheat speculators by asserting in a public interview that the Chicago board of trade is the biggest gambling place on earth, not excepting Monte Carlo. And there is more truth than poetry in this assertion.

The Hubbard county Enterprise urges its readers to flood the senators with letters asking the immediate passage of the tariff bill. Possibly this will do no harm, because it will increase the sale of postage stamps. But there is no necessity of pestering the senators on this question, because the senate is making as rapid progress as is possible on the tariff bill.

Professor Jowett had a curious way of commenting on the work that was brought to him by students. On one occasion he was shown a set of Greek verses. After looking them over carefully he glanced up rather blankly and said to the author, "Have you any taste for mathematics?"

The Evening Wisconsin, of Milwaukee, draws attention to the fact that a poem reprinted by The Herald recently as the production of "a namesake and grandson of the great novelist, J. Fenmore Cooper," was written years ago by Ella Wheeler Wilcox. Ella will please accept our apologies.

NO HELP FOR HER.

"What is it grieves you, dear?
Put all your grief in me, I pray;
Speak out and never fear!"

She slowly shook her head,
She heaved a sigh of sadness, and
In troubled tones she said.

POKER FICTIONS.

A fool there was and he drew a pair
(Even as you and I).
To an ace and a ten and "a hank of hair."
(We thought we detected a look of care).
But the fool he said it was only fair
(We knew he could not lie.)

Oh, the years we waste and the fears we taste
In trying to guess the hand
That belonged to the fool who did not know
(And now we know what we couldn't then know).
And did not understand.

A fool there was and our coin he spent;
(Stacks of red and blue).
Tens and twenties and everything went,
(And nobody "called" till he had every cent),
But a fool must follow his natural bent
(Just like me and you.)

Oh, the toll we lost and the spoil we lost
And the lovely things we planned
Belong to the fool who didn't know why
(And now we know that he never knew why)
He "ketched" such a beautiful hand.

The fool stripped us all to our foolish hide,
(Even both you and me).
And now we know that he surely tried
To make us think his hand was "aside."
For he drew a "royal flush" when he lied
(Even to you and me.)

And it isn't the shame and it isn't the blame
That stings like a white-hot brand.
It's coming to know how that fool could lie
(Seeing at last that we know he could lie),
When he had such a red-hot hand.

—Indianapolis Journal.

A BACHELOR'S REFLECTIONS.

New York Press: Woman was made before mirrors, but it wasn't her fault.

Anyway, a man never tells what girls said when they proposed to him.

No man can be entirely free from responsibility so long as he wears suspenders.

When a woman can't find anything else to feel sorry for, she gets to feeling sorry for herself.

I wonder if anyone ever saw a woman in a crowded street car get up and offer her seat to a man with a baby in his arms.

Women generally don't marry men because they see something fine in them, but they see something fine in them because they marry them.

THINGS THEY OVERLOOKED.

Sauk Rapids Free Press (Dem.): Ex-Congressman Towne's continued prominence before the American people is nauseating to the editors of the Little Falls Transcript, Wadena Pioneer and Duluth News Tribune. They had erroneously become impressed with the idea that the word "congressman" was what kept Towne prominently before the public eye, and that with his defeat he would sink into oblivion like scores of others. But our brothers, in their eagerness to consign Towne to the political grave, lost sight of several things constituting the make-up of the man—honesty of purpose, brilliancy and brains. A man possessed with these attributes don't have to take a back seat—the people won't allow him to. See?

A VALUABLE FIND.

A great find of ancient papyri in Egypt has been made by Grenfell and Hunt, who are working in behalf of the Egyptian Exploration fund, says the New York Sun. At Behnesch many ancient rubbish mounds yielded a rich store. In three mounds the quantity of rolls found is large enough to warrant the assumption that a part of the archives had been thrown there.

The papyri range from the Roman conquest to early Arab times. Each century is largely represented. Most of the documents are written in Greek, with a sprinkling of Latin, Coptic, and Arabic. Little is yet known of the contents, but Grenfell's hope, in digging at the site of Oxyrynchus, of finding early Christian documents is realized.

Among the papyri is a leaf from a third century papyrus book containing a collection of the sayings of Christ. Some of these sayings are not in the gospels and others exhibit divergencies from the text of the Gospels. It is believed that when the papyri are examined in detail further discoveries of Christian records, as well as fragments of lost classical literature, will be found, since in some of the mounds a large proportion of the papyri are written in uncials, which were largely employed during the first few centuries of the Christian era.

One hundred and fifty rols, in many cases several feet long, have been retained at the Gizeh museum, and the rest are on the way to England.

Besides the papyri, a number of coins, 200 inscribed tiles, bronze and ivory ornaments, and other objects of the Roman and Byzantine periods have been recovered.

ARE YOU INSANE?

A Machine Which Will Detect Your Thoughts.

A laboratory with a wonderful equipment of instruments for measuring the operations of the mind has been established at the university of Illinois. It is in charge of Professor William O. Krohn, who holds the chair of psychology, says the New York Journal.

By the aid of these instruments it is possible to tell how quickly an impression is communicated by the senses to the mind, how quickly the brain conveys its command to the muscles, and to determine many other things concerning the co-operation of mind and body. The indications are of considerable value in the treatment of mental diseases. They have already been employed in 25,000 experiments at the Kankakee hospital for the insane, where the physicians have certified their usefulness.

One of the machines is the chronoscope, which consists of a clock dial, minutely divided into spaces indicating fractions of time as small as the one-hundredth-thousandth part of a second. An indicater actuated by an electric current records the time. A circuit opener is held by the operator and a circuit closer is placed in the hand of the patient. When the operator touches the back of the patient's hand he requests the subject to close the hand as soon as the touch is felt. The circuit is opened by the touch and closed by the contraction of the subject's hand. The moment the circuit is opened the indicator on the clock dial begins to move, the moment the patient's hand closes the indicator stops. The space passed over by the indicator records exactly the length of time it took the thought that the hand had been touched to be formulated in the brain.

Now for the application of this experiment to practical uses in cases of insanity. By a long and careful series of observations it has been demonstrated that the average speed for the formulation of thought impressions from touch in a normal subject is 182-1000 of a second. If the individual subjected to this experiment is suffering from melancholia, the thought processes are discovered to be sluggish, and the record of the instrument may show that it requires as long as one and eleven-tenths seconds to convey and formulate the thought impression of touch. The exact condition of the patient in relation to the normal condition is at once revealed. Suppose, however, that the patient is hypersensitive, suffering from acute mental derangement. Then the instrument might show that the thought impression of touch flew as quickly from the hand to the brain and back again to the hand as 105-1000 of a second.

But the chronoscope is only one of many novel machines used in the experiment of the new psychology. A great many instruments are necessary to measure the senses of touch, temperature, taste, hearing, vision, smell and the rotation of the joints and tendons, and it is highly necessary to discover by the application of this new science to the treatment of the insane whether all the senses of the patient examined are as acute, as keen, as in the normal individual.

Another ingenious machine is the kymograph. This instrument furnishes a careful record of just how much or how little, how strong or how weak, how evenly or how unevenly, a thought affects the circulation of the blood.

HAWAII CARRIER PIGEONS.

A carrier pigeon service on a large scale is about to be established on the Hawaiian islands. Pigeon flying is generally carried on as a pastime and it is the national sport of Belgium, but a company has just been formed in Honolulu to utilize the peculiar traits of the homing pigeons in a business which is set forth in a prospectus as being very remunerative, says the San Francisco Chronicle. Birds have already been bought and taken to the islands. The proposition is to establish lofts on all of the different islands in the Hawaiian group, beginning first with Hawaii, Maui, Kauai and Oahu. By means of fast-flying pigeons messages can be sent from Honolulu to all the towns and plantations on the different islands, and vice versa. It is believed tat not less than fifty plantations will join the scheme.

Commissioner Joseph Marsden, of Honolulu, who is at the head of the new company, has mailed maps of the islands to the best posted homing pigeon men in this country, and they have replied that neither the distance between the islands or the channel wind will be an obstacle in the way of successful flights. Kauai and Maui are both but 100 miles from Honolulu, and the most distant point of the islands from Honululu is but 250 miles. The best record shows that pigeons have flown 614 miles in one day in a fly from Gainesville, Ga., to Philadelphia. This could not be done regularly, but it is generally considered a feasible plan to fly pigeons over moderate-sized bodies of water at a very fast rate.

The need of more frequent and speedy transmission of messages between the islands of the Hawaiian group has been strongly felt, and, as there seems to be little or no prospect of an inter-island cable for some years at least, the proposition to establish a homing pigeon service is deemed a good business scheme. The company being organized is to begin with a capital of $4000 divided into 400 shares of $10 each. It is proposed to begin with a loft in Honolulu and equip it with fifty pairs of young birds of pedigree stock and half a dozen older birds with established reputations. It is expected that within a year birds will be raised all over the islands and the service will be in full blast.

A COLLEGE OF LOVERS.

Miss Lillian Bell, who has won fame as an authoress, her last book being "A Little Sister of the Wilderness," is of the opinion that some one should found a college for training men in love-making, says the Buffalo News. This is how she expressed herself in a recent interview:

"I suggested once a kindergarten for the training of husbands. Now I want to change that and have a college for lovers, with a post-graduate course for husbands. As it is now—well, almost any girl can do almost anything with a man. You know how easily one girl can rob another girl of her lover. He, poor, blind being, never suspects it. A girl would know in a minute if another man was trying to win her from her lover. She has intuitions like antennae which tell her the very nature of every approach. But with a man it is different. He sees only 'a sympathetic soul' in the girl who leads him away by all the deliberate arts of which she is mistress. But there! one can go on all day talking about these things. Everybody likes to talk about love. People ask me if I am not 'uplifted' by the success I have had, but I tell them that it was not any great inspiration on my part. When I began to talk of love I had the ear of the world."

MINORCAN GIRLS.

A Lot of Pretty Ones Transplanted to Florida.

Down on the Hillsborough river in Volusia county, Florida, there are the ruins of one of the oldest settlements in this country, and its history forms one of the most tragic episodes ever recorded of any place in the United States. The place is called New Smyrna, but there is nothing new or attractive about it except the orange trees, the palmettos and green vines which nature distributes lavishly around, says the Detroit Free Press. There is one class of people in the South who can never be induced to visit New Smyrna, and the very sound of the name makes them turn their heads aside in shame or anger.

In the streets of St. Augustine today one occasionally catches a glimpse of a type of American beauty that fairly takes the breath away, and again he sees traces of that type in so many other faces that he unhesitatingly attributes them all to the same source. There are only a few pure-blooded Minorcan women left in this country, but the blood of these ancient slaves has mingled with that of our noblest Southern families and perpetuated in a degree a beauty that is now rarely seen. What the creole blood has done for so many women of New Orleans, the Minorcan blood has accomplished for the inhabitants of Florida. The wondrous eyes, the regular, classic features, and the beautiful hair are all worthy of the Greek slave—their real prototype.

The story of the Florida Minorcas is interesting, dramatic, tragic. They were the first slaves brought to this country—and white slaves at that! They suffered the horrors of a slavery which was unregulated by law, and which would have made the scenes in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" commonplace. This white slave colony existed in the South only nine years, but in that length of time enough sorrow and misery were compressed to fill a century.

The coming of the Minorcans, and their subsequent slavery, was in this wise: In 1767 a certain Capt. Andrew Turnbull obtained a grant of 60,000 acres in Volusa county, Florida, and named it New Smyrna. Florida had just been ceded to Great Britain, but it was so thinly settled that a small empire might have been built up in the middle counties without attracting any attention from the English.

Capt. Turnbull sailed for the Mediterranean after securing title to his land, and proceeded to dazzle the people of the Grecian isles with his fair descriptions and promises of his New Smyrna. He was not the first exploiter or adventurer to misrepresent the wonderful climate and products of sunny Florida. He was so successful in his persuasions that a colony of 1500 men, women and children, chiefly Minorcans, was induced to embark with him for the new land. To make the promises seem more real, Capt. Turnbull offered to carry the colonists to their new home free of cost, and clothe and feed them for six months. If at the end of that period any were dissatisfied with the conditions of their new home he would transport them back to Europe. But to those who desired to stay he would grant fifty acres of land and twenty-five acres thereafter to every child born.

What inducements could be fairer than these, fully set forth in the contract. Men and women of noble families joined the expedition and left pleasant homes behind them. But the prospects of the future home were more alluring than those at home, and the innocent Grecians and Minorcans cast in their lots together and started for the New Smyrna.

They had a rough passage across the seas, and some of the old and feeble ones died, but the rest took heart when they were actually landed on the coast of Florida. Everything seemed to be as represented, and the new colonists started in to make New Smyrna one of the finest homes in the world. They erected palmetto huts, and labored diligently in the fields for their master. It was not long before they found that they were in the hands of a crafty man, whose sole purpose in bringing them over was to force them to create wealth for him. They were in a strange land, far, far away from any civilized town or village, and thousands of miles away from their own countrymen.

They were soon reduced to the level of the negro slave, and forced to labor in the fields from early morning until night under the control of heartless white overseers. The immense plantation was soon brought under cultivation, and Turnbull realized a princely income from it. The Monorcans realized nothing but a pitiable living. No land was ceded to them, no profits were given to them—not even wages. A small quantity of food was doled out to them, and they were forced to eat out of a common bowl. For nine years they toiled hopelessly for their cruel master, but, in spite of it all, their spirit was never actually broken.

They were subjected to the lash on the slightest provocation. The women were whipped publicly while in a nude condition, and no indecency was too great or horrible for them to endure. They were half starved, and many of them actually died for lack of proper food. No Greek slave of classic history ever appealed more strongly to the sympathies of a world than these beautiful Minorcan women lashed to the stake, while the executioner's whip was laid upon their bare bodies.

But there was to be an end to all this. One night the whole colony escaped from the plantation, and wandered through the almost impassable swamps of Florida to St. Augustine. They arrived there in time—600 strong, all that remained of the original 1500—and, throwing themselves upon the mercy of Governor Tonyn, they were protected from their former master. Turnbull sued for his alleged rights, and a special court was organized for the trial. Attorney General Younge appeared in behalf of the Minoreans, and they were made legally and morally free. Since then their descendants have lived in St. Augustine or the vicinity, and it is almost impossible to induce any of them to return to the scene of their former slavery. Today their strikingly handsome faces attract the attention of visitors to Florida for their beauty, while fresh and new to America, is as old as history.

CHICAGO'S BIG LIZARD.

Ten million years ago a sea lizard 300 feet long came to an end of life. How, the police have not yet found out. Any way, the creature was swimming around in a prehistoric ocean that covered what is now the Cherokee strip, and one day sank to the bottom dead, says the Chicago Times-Herald.

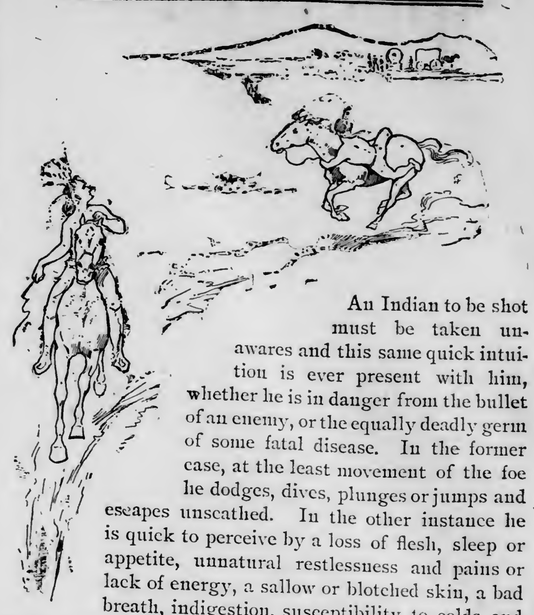
In a tent out south of Chicago is what the gentlemanly barker calls the "world's greatest wonder." The "world's greatest wonder" is nothing more nor less that the fossilized skeleton of the sea lizard that died in that ocean of long ago.

"It is the most wonderful and most colossal fossil ever unearthed," says C. F. Gunther, director of the Chicago academy of science. "It's proportions are simply gigantic. There are vertebrae, a complete skull, ribs and flippers that are mammoth in size. There can be no deception about it. The exhibit is that of a fossil, fully petrified, the bones being calcareous.

"There are fifty or more vertebrae, each as big as the joint of a stovepipe. The head is sixteen feet in circumference, and has a long, protruding bone, five feet across, like the beak of a bird. The ribs are twenty-five feet long, half-hooped in contour and the eye sockets are four feet across. The propellers, or fins, are perfectly preserved and three feet wide and eleven feet long. I should judge, from the petrifactions, that the lizard was 300 feet long.

Henry Patterson, of Perry, Okla., is the lucky man who owns the remains of the lizard. The academy is trying to induce Mr. Patterson to sell his treasure to it. It is probable that the deal will be made, and Chicago will get the greatest wonder of prehistoric times that has been unearthed.

. . HARD TO HIT . .



An Indian to be shot must be taken unawares and this same quick intuition is ever present with him, whether he is in danger from the bullet of an enemy, or the equally deadly germ of some fatal disease. In the former case, at the least movement of the foe he dodges, dives, plunges or jumps and escapes unscathed. In the other instance he is quick to perceive by a loss of flesh, sleep or appetite, unnatural restlessness and pains or lack of energy, a sallow or blotched skin, a bad breath, indigestion, susceptibility to colds and numerous other symptoms, that he is in the toils of some malady that will terminate fatally unless every precaution is taken at once, and he loses no time. He takes such medicines as he knows will effect a cure, remedies used for centuries by his people, carefully compounded from roots, herbs, barks and gums of their own gathering, and the result is a speedy return to health and a long life of happiness. The most famous of these Indian medicines which has effected thousands of marvelous cures is the well known

LOGGING CAMP HUMOR.

A number of New London citizens are interested in the development of the lumber regions in Morgan and Manifee counties in Kentucky, says the New London Telegraph. Recently a party visited the camp on a tour of inspection. A log cabin had been especially fitted up for the guests and over the door was the sign "Hotel Yale." The rules of the establishment, gotten up for the occasion, read as follows:

Rules for visitors: Guests are requested not to speak to the dumb waiters.

Guests wishing to do a little driving will find hammer and nails in the closet.

If the room gets too warm open the window and see the fire escape.

If you are fond of athletics and like good jumping, lift the mattress and see the bed spring.

Baseballists desiring a little practice will find a pitcher on the stand.

If the lamp goes out take a feather out of the pillow; that's light enough for any room.

Anyone troubled with nightmare will find a halter on the bed post.

Don't worry about paying your bill; the house is supported by its foundations.

COMMENCEMENT SERMON.

Dr. Forbes Addressed the High School Graduates.

The annual commencement sermon to the high school graduating class was delivered by Rev. Robert Forbes at the First Methodist church last evening. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity. The members of the graduating class had seats in the center of the church. The music was especially good, Mr. and Mrs. Woodward singing solos and with Mr. Maynard a trio. Dr. Forbes was introduced by Eby Gridley, president of the class.

Dr. Forbes announced as his subject "Life a Struggle." He said he would talk to the members of the graduating class and not to anyone else. He would endeavor to say a few words that would help them to fight the temptations that beset the path of everyone in life.

"Never forget your teachers and parents," he said. "You owe much to your teachers. They have invested their lives in yours, as it were, and made your struggles theirs. You owe much to your parents. They have toiled and struggled to aid you in reaching the point you have now attained. Never forget what they have done for you. It should always be your desire—you should feel it your privilege—to recognize the obligation.

"We are here in this world; that we know. We don't know where we came from nor where we go. It is not important that we should. Those are interesting questions to study as a matter of curiosity, but the great point is that we are here, and that we are not to be here long. The question before us is how to best take care of the responsibilities of the present. It may seem cruel to suggest to you now that life is full of troubles, trials and cares, but in the interest of truth I must. Hitherto you have had your teachers and parents to guide you. From now on you must be self-reliant. The larger part of the history of any nation is a record of its struggles and trials. We need the hard times that we talk of. Then it is that manhood is developed. Adversity is a blessing. Matrons and men grow powerful in the midst of storms and trials, and only in them. I am sorry for the rich man's son. He has no chance such as the poor man's son to develop himself. Effort develops strength. If nothing leads one to make the effort, where will the strength come from? Mental weakness follows ceasing to struggle. Perpetual prosperity intoxicates and ruins. Man is not a creature of circumstances; he is of his own making.

"You will meet with opposition. Good men will oppose you because they are mistaken, and bad men because they are jealous. If you rise to the top rank, small men will try to pull you down. The world will always have your defects visible and be blind to your excellencies. If you are failing, don't let the world know it. Friends will forsake you, and others who never noticed you before will be interested in your overthrow. If the heavens fall upon you, let them come down upon a man walking in the path of duty. Courage wins friends and the world always rallies to the man of courage who stands his ground. Difficulties when overcome insure honor; there would be no honor if difficulties were not overcome. The soldier or sailor do not gather their bravery in an hour. They are being tested every day and every hour. Welcome that which tests and tries you. It comes in the nature of things and out of God's providence.

"Probably most of you will never rise above mediocrity. It is not important that you should. Mediocrity is a good thing. God wants a large number of common things done well rather than a few transcendent ones. Prominence comes not from genius but from affliction. It is not important that you shall become rich. This is an age of money worship. The problems of 1776 and 1861 were simple compared to the perplexing problem that is before us today. We see plutocrats on the one side with millions of money and honest men on the other begging for leave to toil. There is a problem to tax all our genius and ability. You young people will be in that fight when we are gone over that hill into the land whence there is no return. There is something better than gold. Character is more than gold. You are not in this world to see how much you can get out of it, but to see how much good you can do for it. The greatest good that comes to the man who seeks for good is the character that comes to him in getting it. Character is more than gold; to be is more than to have."

The speaker told the graduates that they were privileged in belonging to the Anglo-Saxon race. English is to be the language of universal humanity. The Anglo-Saxon is the triumphant race, the conquering race, the race that represents the civilization that is world-wide. It represents the best that there is. In conclusion he said:

"Live as long as you can; know all you can. Catch the charm of piety, the inspiration of religion, the beauty of poetry. Do all the good you can; enrich the world by living in it. You will suffer, you will be misunderstood, but was it not even so with Christ. Live as He lived, serve as He served."

The Tempter Fled.

Officer Link, at the Union depot Saturday night, took charge of a 15-year-old girl named Annie Haglan, whom he found waiting for the 11:15 p. m. St. Paul & Duluth train for St. Paul, in company with a man. The officers' attention was attracted by the youthful appearance of the girl, and his suspicion that all was not right was confirmed when, as he approached, the man beat a precipitate retreat. At the police headquarters the girl told Matron Van Sickle that she had met the man in the afternoon and that he had persuaded her to go to St. Paul with him by representing what a good time they would have. She said she had been working at a boarding house kept by Mrs. Johnson on Garfield avenue. The girl was taken to Mrs. Johnson's and placed in her hands yesterday.

Missionary Rally.

The Central Women's Christian Temperance union will conduct a missionary rally at the afternoon session tomorrow. The program will be in charge of Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge and will consist of talks on "Around-the-World Missionaries," among them Miss Palmer, now a minister in this state, Miss Jessie Adserman, a talented literary writer; Mrs. Mary Clement Leavitt and others. The last named has visited forty-three different countries and organized 130 temperance societies. The church missionary guilds have been invited and a large attendance is expected. Mrs. Emily E. Woodward will sing. The meeting will be at the First Methodist church.

HONEST VS. DISHONEST ADVERTISING.

A pleasant feature of the advertising put forth by the Royal Baking Powder company frequently commented upon by consumers, is the absolute confidence that may be had in the truthfulness of all its claims and statements. There is evidently the same care and accuracy in the framing of the Royal advertisements that there is in the compounding of the Royal powder.

It appears, unfortunately, that not all baking powder people are so scrupulously careful. The recent letter from the judge of awards on baking powders at the Chicago World's fair, exposing the falsity of the claim of another house that its baking powder had received the highest award for strength, purity, excellence, etc., is a scathing rebuke to those manufacturers of inferior baking powders who have no regard for the truth, but habitually seek in their public announcements, to deceive consumers. The judge of awards states that no such award was given to the concern in question, and has notified it that it must cease publishing his name in connection with its false statements.

Saturday Ball Games.

The ball games Saturday afternoon were productive of plenty of fun, but not of a great deal of good playing. The Duluth, Missabe & Northern team defeated the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic by a score of 25 to 20.

The Ashtabula team played a nine known as the "Scrubs," and the latter won, the score being 11 to 4. The "Scrubs" propose to keep at it and challenge amateur teams after a few more winnings. Chapman and Edson formed the battery for the "Scrubs."

ELECTION

Three School Directors Will Be Chosen By the People July 17.

Terms of H. W. Pearson, H. H. Hanford and F. W. Paine Will Expire.

Prospects Are For One of the Liveliest Contest Ever Seen Here.

Saturday, July 17, Duluth not having had an election since spring will have another to relieve the monotony. The election will be that of the independent school district of Duluth, and there will be elected three members of the board of education. Those whose terms expire are F. W. Paine, H. W. Pearson and H. H. Hanford. Mr. Paine has been a member of the board for twelve years, while Mr. Hanford was elected last year to fill the unexpired term of Wilson G. Crosby. The directors who will be elected will all be elected for three years.

It is yet too early to talk about candidates, yet there are certain evidences that the matter has not been wholly forgotten, at least by the party headed of H. H. Hanford and O. H. Simonds, which party might be called the reconstructionists. This party is in favor of cutting the school expenses down in a very thorough manner. It carried the last campaign, and placed Dr. Bowman and Mr. Hanford upon the board, where they were largely instrumental in securing the cut in school expenses which was made this spring. The cut was not, however, sufficiently thorough to please this party, as certain published letters have made apparent, and it is preparing for another campaign this year. Mr. Hanford will undoubtedly be one of its candidates, but the others have not yet appeared.

It has not yet been determined by Mr. Paine and Mr. Pearson whether they will be candidates for re-election, and no other citizens have made public a desire to obtain a seat in this honorable body. At any rate, however, it is an assured fact that the reform party, from economical and other motives, will form one side of the campaign. It may develop into quite a heated affair, as a number of citizens, especially women, have accumulated opinions decidedly opposed to what they call sacrificing the efficiency of the service to false notions of economy.

The election is managed entirely by the board of education itself. It appoints its own judges and selects its own polling places. These are located in schoolhouses wherever practicable though it is necessary to rent some of the polling places. The polls are open from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., and the board meets on the evening of election to canvass the votes and to declare the result. The successful candidates are notified of their election, and at the next regular meeting of the board the reorganization takes place. A president, clerk and treasurer are then elected for the ensuing year.

In the present stage of civilization in Minnesota, this is the only occasion when women come in for a vote, and owing to the nature of the elections, it is quite common for them to take an active part. The same laws govern them, of course, as men. They must be citizens, but if married it has been held that the naturalization of a husband confers citizenship upon a wife, provided that she has lived five years in this country.

There seems to be some question whether registration is required for the school elections. It has not been insisted upon in the past, as the law governing the independent school district does not directly demand it. Indirectly, however, it seems to, as it states that the elections shall conform to the general laws governing elections as far as possible. In speaking of the eligibility of women, the law states that if they are otherwise qualified they shall not be required to register as provided for men. This would seem to indicate that men are required to register.

THE official reports show that no baking powder received an award over the Royal at the Chicago World's Fair.

The judge of awards on baking powder writes that the claim by another company to have received the highest award is false; that no such award was given to it.

The Royal Baking Powder is the purest and strongest baking powder made, and has received the highest award at the Great International Expositions and World's Fairs wherever exhibited in competition with others.

It makes the finest, lightest, sweetest, most wholesome bread, cake and pastry. More economical than any other leavening agent.

New York Bank Compelled to Pay Damages.

The Dansville, N. Y., Express of a recent date says: "The suit brought by Hon. A. J. Whiteman against the Columbia bank for malicious prosecution has been settled out of court. Mr. Whiteman sued the bank for $50,000 damages, in the supreme court in this county. Their motion to change the venue to New York city was denied. The bank then offered a considerable sum in settlement. The exact amount received has not been stated, but it was sufficient to pay Mr. Whiteman's attorney's and all the expense he had been to, in establishing his innocence. The mistake probably cost the bank several thousand dollars and should be a lesson to other institutions to be sure they are right before they go ahead."

Register Taylor Resigns.

On Saturday A. J. Taylor, register of the Duluth land office, forwarded his resignation to General Land Commissioner Hermann. It is to take effect as soon as his successor is appointed and qualifies. Mr. Taylor would have completed four years' service about July 15. The reason given by Mr. Taylor for this action is that a business opening has presented itself, which he will take advantage of. It is understood that it will involve his removal from the city, probably to locate in Iowa.

Explained the Machinery.

The stationary engineers, at their meeting Saturday evening in the Hunter block, listened to an address from J. E. Slocum, M. E., designer of the city waterworks engines, on the subject of "Valve Motion." His remarks were illustrated by diagrams of designs. The speaker explained the workings of the Corliss valve gear, the study of which he pursued under the tutelage of George H. Corliss, the inventor. Mr. Slocum will again lecture on the same subject here in the near future. A number of members of the Superior association were present.

Fishing at Deerwood.

Alderman E. R. Jefferson returned this morning from Deerwood, where he has been for several days angling for bass. He met with excellent success and brought about sixty pounds of fish home with him. Among others Duluthians who were at Deerwood yesterday and who returned this morning with good strings of fish were A. S. Chase, R. E. Torrey, Fred Reynolds and Charles Baldwin.

WHERE FISHING IS GOOD.

Those looking for the best fishing grounds are reminded of Lake Tetonka, at Waterville, and Madison lake, on the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad.

Wall-eyed pike, bass and crappies are found in great abundance at both of these lakes, which have not been fished out to the extent of some of the older and better known localities.

Excellent hotel accommodations, boats, bait, etc., on hand, and all charges are very reasonable.

HAS A FINE PROPERTY.

A. D. Thomson Hears Good News From Cripple Creek.

A. D. Thomson owns a gold mine at Cripple Creek adjoining the famous Stratton property. It has been in course of development for some time and among other obstacles met with by the owner was a troublesome lawsuit which has terminated satisfactorily. About a week ago Mr. Thomson sent J. G. Cohoe, the well-known mining expert, to Cripple Creek to examine the property and Saturday he received a telegraphic repor; from him of a character that caused the Duluth grain man the greatest satisfaction. This ore on an 80-foot level assayed something more than $40 a ton while on a 130-foot level it had increased to $80 a ton. Mr. Thomson is highly elated at the news he has received and felt so certain that his gold mine is a "whale" that he went on a fishing trip Saturday night and spent yesterday in hauling in bass with golden scales.

CLOSE TO DEATH.

Several Branch Bethel Lodgers Had Narrow Escapes.

Several of the lodgers at the Branch Bethel Saturday night narrowly escaped death from escaping gas. Four were taken out in an unconscious condition, some of those rescued being so far gone that they were not resuscitated for hours. About a dozen others were made ill by the effects of the gas, and every person in the building was more or less affected.

Mrs. C. F. Robel, first discovered that something was wrong. This was at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. She awakened her husband, who was temporarily in charge of the building, and he at once made the rounds to arouse the lodgers. William MacClaneghan, occupying room 4, was taken out in a deep stupor. His eyes were bulging out and his breathing was very labored. His case was the worst of any. He had been sleeping with his window closed and had thus experienced the full effects of the gas. It was not until eight hours after he had been taken out that he recovered consciousness. Mrs. Berg and her 6-year-old daughter, in room 13, were found to be unconscious. Mrs. Berg was in a very bad state and required constant attendance all day. The little girl showed none of the effects after a few hours. Mr. Berg was in a partially stupefied condition, but was aroused by the loud knocking of the superintendent at the door.

H. B. Strohm, occupying room 2, was lying unconscious on the floor. He was in an advanced state of asphyxiation, and it was six hours before he came to. He was so weak all day yesterday as to be unable to stand and complained of a pricking sensation in the soles of his feet. Superintendent Robel found it necessary to break open the doors of MacClaneghan's and Strohm's rooms.

As soon as the inmates were all out, Drs. Phelan and McComb were sent for and medical aid was given those in need of it. There were twenty-five people in the building and had not most of the windows been open on account of the heat, it is probable that there would have been a terrible casualty to record.

Plumbers had just finished in the building and the gas was turned on Saturday for the first time. A leak had been discovered, which the plumbers searched for and thought they had found and repaired. All of those affected by the gas were able to be up and about today.

The Test Cases.

Judges Ensign and Moer heard the test cases over the question whether an appeal may be taken from the municipal courts of Tower and Virginia Saturday afternoon. The arguments took up all the afternoon, and at their conclusion briefs were ordered to be submitted. Whatever the decision, the supreme court will pass upon it to make it final.

A BIG POKER GAME.

Some of the stories of the big poker games of the "old days" in Washington are taken with a large grain of salt, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. Many of them were similar to the game in which ex-Congressman Tom Ochiltree was engaged not so very long ago Ochiltree was discovered one morning coming down Fifteenth street looking very blue. A friend meeting him inquired what the trouble was. "Oh! I was in one of those big congressional games last night," sai dthe Texan.

"Well, I suppose from your looks that you lost," said the friend.

"Well, I should say I did," responded Ochiltree. "I lost $50,000 in one sitting last night, and the worst part of it is that $2.75 of it was cash."

IN THE DAKOTAS.

NORTH DAKOTA.

A lucky change in the direction of the wind Saturday evening saved Fargo from another disastrous fire. Just before 6 o'clock the old Headquarters hotel caught fire and with a strong west wind it looked as if the Red River Valley National bank, the general offices of the Standard Oil company, the Piano Manufacturing company and the Fargo Transfer company, with numerous offices, would go. The heat became so intense that glass fronts were shattered, but a change in the wind prevented the threatened disaster. As it was the Headquarters, the oldest hotel in North Dakota, was burned, with the ticket office and waiting rooms of the Northern Pacific hotel and the cigar and news stand of W. P. Morris. Joe Lamont, proprietor of the Headquarters, had no insurance and is a heavy loser.

L. M. Mooney, a Northern Pacific bridge contractor, was killed at Ulen. While at work on a trestle bridge he lost his balance and fell forty feet, striking on his head and breaking his neck.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Professor D. A. Saunders, state entomologist, has returned to Aberdeen from Ipswich. He found the grasshoppers well distributed in that vicinity and doing considerable damage. He took steps to have hopperdozers made and put in operation at once. The Milwaukee company furnished crude oil to start them, and will ship in five cars of freight free for distribution at various points on their line where the hoppers are working. Several general officers of that road arrived on a special this morning and went to James station to inspect the ravages of the hoppers and work of destroying them now in progress in that vicinity.

Joe Kirby, the Sioux Falls attorney, indicted for receiving stolen stamps from postoffice robbers, was Saturday night found guilty, the jury having been out fifty hours.

ROYAL BUT POOR.

Unless Queen Victoria on the one hand and the czar on the other contribute toward the maintenance of Prince Francis Joseph of Battenberg, and of Princess Anne of Montenegro, whose engagement has just been announced, it is difficult to see how they will ever be able to maintain an establishment befitting their rank, says the Chicago Record. The prince has at the most an income of $3000 a year—probably not so much—while Princess Anne is the daughter of a ruler so poor that he is compelled to depend upon the bounty of the czar, his patron, in order to make ends meet. It is probable, however, that Emperor Nicholas will dower Princess Anne to the extent of 1,000,000 roubles, just as he did in the case of Princess Helene when she was led to the altar by the crown prince of Italy. Anne, like her sister Helene, and their older sisters was brought up at the court of St. Petersburg under the personal supervision of the now widowed czarina, her parents being too poor to defray the cost of her education. The late czar became sufficiently fond of the girls to dower the two elder ones on their marriage just as his son has done for Princess Helene, and is expected to do in the case of Princess Anne. A million roubles, even with the present depreciated value of that much abused Muscovite coin, represents about $350,000 in English money, so that the young couple may in the long run not be so badly off after all.

NEW DOOR TRUST.

Of Which Fred Weyerhauser Will Be President.

Chicago, June 14.—The Inter Ocean says: A new door combination has been formed. It is a recently incorporated company known as the Western Door company, with $1,000,000 capital and headquarters at Rock Island, Ill. Frank Adams, formerly commissioner of the Manufacturers' Sash, Door and Blind association, but now of the Farley-Leetscher Manufacturing company, of Dubuque, Iowa, is one of the incorporators. He is considered one of the best posted men in the door trade, and he is really the organizer of the new company.

The plan is to practically form a door trust on a new plan, as the old trust formed in Wisconsin several years ago has been forced out of existence by the courts of that state. The first work of the new company is to combine all the sash and door factories along the Mississippi route. Most of the large factories have already been secured, and not only the others on the route but also all the Western and Northwestern factories will be brought into the company by purchase or otherwise.

One of the incorporators, speaking of the new combination, said: "The door business has been run at a loss for over two years, as there are too many factories for the trade, and many of them have had to remain closed part of the time to prevent overstocking the market. Even then there has been too much stock and prices are lower in proportion to the cost of lumber. The object is not to restrict, but to put it on a paying basis. Branch houses are to be opened in all leading distributing markets. Chicago will have one. There will also be one at New York, at San Francisco and also at Sydney and Melbourne, Australia. There is to be a regular set of officers and directors of the consolidated factories, and it is said that Frederick Weyerhauser, the lumber king, will be president.

HISTORY

Some of the Inside Variety Brought Up in the Merritt-Harris Case.

Syndicate of Merritts Was Formed to Prosecute the Rockefeller Claims.

Col. Harris Recommended to Them as a "Man Out of a Job."

The Merritt-Harris case over the ownership of 954 shares of the capital stock of the Security Land and Exploration company was taken up again before Judge Moer in district court this morning. The Merritts claim that the stock was put up merely as collateral to cover the cost of the Rockefeller litigation, and the Harrises claim that it was given to them as compensation.

Leonidas Merritt was the first witness for the Merritts. He told his story on direct examination plainly and in a straightforward manner. On cross-examination, however, he was not so clear, and there were several tilts between him and S. S. Harrison, who conducted the cross-examination.

On direct examination Mr. Merritt spoke of a syndicate which was formed to prosecute claims against John D. Rockefeller. It was composed of Leonidas, Alfred, A. B., C. C., and John E. Merritt and others, who had claims against Rockefeller. The syndicate held frequent meetings, and after it had decided to employ a good lawyer to fight Rockefeller, Col. Harris was selected. They discussed the matter a number of times, while the witness was in Mexico, and they only waited for his return to hire Col. Harris. Before he went away at one of the meetings, Col. Harris asked the witness to tell the story of his dealings with Rockefeller. He attempted to do so, but he was not feeling well, as the matter was put off until he returned from Mexico. When he came back they had another meeting, and the witness then told his story.

The organization was made to "fight Rockefeller to a standstill." As to the transfer of the stock, it was first suggested by Alfred that it would be a good idea to fix up a fund to prosecute the suits. The Harrises both talked it up, and they suggested this stock as something that would be good at all times. This was agreed upon at a meeting of "the syndicate." This transfer was made after the signing of the contract by which the Harrises took up the legal business of the Merritts. It was put up merely as a fighting fund, the witness claimed, and there had been no change in the arrangements since then. The claim of the syndicate against Rockefeller was that certain members of the family had been induced to change their stock in the different mines for stock in the Consolidated. The suit of Alfred Merritt was one of these claims.

On cross-examination by Mr. Harrison the witness said that Judge Dillon spoke to them of Col. Harris as a man out of employment. He said he was an old man, not likely to be bought up, and a fighter. They first met in a place on Superior street, where they talked the case over. When Col. Harris met with the syndicate they talked over the Rockefeller case.

"Wasn't the talk about the suit against the American Steel Barge company?"

"No, that was merely mentioned."

"Had you not been served with a notice that stock worth $500,000 would be sold in New York in March?"

"Perhaps, but we thought that could be attended to, and, honestly, I thought of little besides the Rockefeller suit. I was in trouble, and I thought I could get out of it through the Rockefeller suit."

The witness explained that he told Col. Harris that he had met Rockefeller; that Rockefeller had told him he was going to put into the Consolidated some stock in flourishing companies; that afterward these flourishing companies turned out to be no good, and that was the cause of the claims against Rockefeller. Afterwards the witness was given twenty-two hours in which to pay certain bills or get out, and "we had to get out."

Mr. Harrison spent some time in trying to get the witness to admit that the Harrises were retained to prosecute the barge company suit, with unsatisfactory results. The claim of the defendants is that they were first hired for $10,000 a year to prosecute the barge company case and that the stock was additional compensation for the Rockefeller suits. The witness was still on the stand at noon.

DROMEDARIES LIKE SMOKE.

The dromedary is patient, untiring, quiet, at the same time a rapid traveler, and in the long run it outrides the fleetest horse, while carrying double the load. It can, furthermore, stay five or six days without water, while any horse would in the meantime have become useless, says the Philadelphia Record.

Dromedaries have been known to continue at an even gait for seventy-two hours without resting. The distance between Cairo and Gaza, about 550 miles, was covered by dromedaries, carrying ammunition to the Egyptian army, within forty-eight hours at the time of the Syrian war. The best dromedary, for which a very high price is paid, is the so-called Ababdeh. A number of this species were taken to Algiers from the Nile valley, and the results of the experiment are very gratifying.

The Ababdeh is of originally Arabic origin, and many stories are told about its fine qualities, its intelligence and its faithfulness. The Arab leader of the dromedary succeeds very well in making the dromedary understand his slightest wishes, and one of the methods of obtaining good results from a dromedary is to allow it occasionally to inhale tobacco smoke. It certainly seems odd, but the dromedary has a very strong craving for smoke, and highly enjoys inhaling it whenever given an opportunity to do so.

THE MANDAMUS CASES.

Were Expected to Be Taken Up Today.

Two divisions of district court were working on court matters this morning, and both were engaged upon stockholders' liability cases. In Judge Cant's room the case of the American Loan and Trust company against the Tower & Soudan Railway company, to enforce the statutory liability of the stockholders, was on trial at noon, it having been taken up Friday.

In Judge Ensign's room the case of Charles G. Firoved, in behalf of himself and all similarly situated creditors, against the stockholders of the State bank was taken up this morning. This case also involves the statutory liability of the stockholders.

The case in Judge Cant's court was expected to come to an end early this afternoon, and the next case was the mandamus case of J. D. Holmes against the city council to compel the latter to appoint him assistant city attorney, on the ground that he is an honorably discharged Union veteran. The similar case of Dr. S. C. Maxwell, who wants to be health officer, involving the same issues, was to be taken up at the same time.

PATCH UP RATES.

Hard Task of the Western Passenger Association.

Chicago, June 14.—A meeting of the executive officers of the Western roads is being held here today discussing plans whereby the Chicago & Great Western, Wisconsin Central and Minneapolis & St. Louis roads may be brought back into the Western Passenger association and thus end the rate cutting which has brought the passenger business between Chicago and St. Paul and Minneapolis to a condition approaching demoralization.

Another interesting problem which is being discussed is how to keep the Soo road within bounds, or at least come to an amicable understanding with that system, all hope of getting the Soo into the association having been abandoned. The Soo demands differentials on both east and west-bound passenger business.

It has been proposed that differentials be offered to the Soo and the other systems holding aloof from the association in the hope of stopping the promiscuous rate cutting, but it is well understood that the Great Western, at least, would not accept a differential under any consideration, and this solution of the difficulty has been abandoned.

LABOR

An Interesting Session of the State Federation Held at St. Cloud.

Hot Time Over the Council's Action in Regard to Senator Culkin.

Secretary McEwen, Treasurer McDowell, Both of Duluth, Re-elected.

St. Cloud, Minn., June 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The State Federation of Labor convened in this city at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning. There was a decided change in the personnel of the delegation and quite a number of the old familiar faces of delegates were absent. The delegation, too, was considerably smaller than the convention held in St. Paul in December. Indeed, it may be said to be the smallest which has been held since the inception of the State Federation of Labor. St. Cloud is a little out of the way, and the xepense connected with sending delegates is too much for the outlying unions to bear the expense of representation. St. Cloud is not much of a union town, and indeed it was for this reason that the convention was held in this city. The organizations already in existence believe that their very existence depended upon the enthusiasm which would be infused by holding the convention in St. Cloud, and certainly the committee did all they possibly could for the comfort of the delegates in attendance at the convention, and they were housed in the various hotels in the town.

There was no meeting arranged for Saturday night, but the local committee held a reception at the Germania hall, and lots of handshaking and swapping old stories were indulged in.

First Vice President McCauley, of St. Cloud, called the convention to order, and introduced Mayor Samuel Mackrell, who shortly addressed the meeting and extended the freedom of the city to the convention. President Neary replied on behalf of the State Federation of Labor to the mayor's address of welcome, and appointed the following committees: Credentials, John Spooler, E. Christopherson, P. W. Rieberg; resolutions, J. C. Watson, E. R. Cobb, Joseph Fleck; constitution, E. B. Lott, A. Johnson, Frank McDonald; finance; J. W. Boos, W. A Miller, C. A. Rinke; officers' reports, George C. Findley, D. Hadley; rules and order of business, A. W. Field, R. Hair, G. C. Collins.

When the credentials committee had reported, reports of officers were called for. The president explained that his report was embodied in the report of federation council, and Secretary McEwen, of Duluth, reported as to the work of his office, and Treasurer McDowell, also of Duluth, reported a small balance in his hands, the result of the liberality of the unions affiliated in meeting the expenses of the State Federation of Labor incurred in keeping a lobbist at the legislature, and thanks were especially due the Duluth Trades' assembly for the loan of $50 to this end.

The reports were referred to the committee on officers' reports.

The most important report of the morning session was that presented by the federation council. It was a voluminous affair, and reviewed the work of that committee during the past six months. Twenty-eight meetings were held, ten communications sent to the legislature, two to the president of the United States, and two to the senators and congressmen from the state of Minnesota. The executive council also passed eight resolutions, furnished copies of the same to the press for publication, attended the meetings of the Powers Investigation committee, conferred with representatives of the State Immigration association and wholesale dealers and manufacturers in binding twine doing business in Minneapolis and St. Paul, and on several occasions presented labor's side of the argument before different committees on measures affecting the interests of organized labor.

The report concludes with the thanks of the federation council to Senators Stevens, Young, Pottgieser and Ringdal and Representatives McDonald, Martin, Laybourn, Grear and others for their efforts to secure the passage of measues in which organized labor as a whole was interested.

The afternoon's session was a hot one. There was a big fight over the report of the committee on officers' report. Objection was taken to the wording of the report, the St. Paul delegation contending that it reflected on the council's action in rescinding the resolution exonerating Senator Culkin's action in connection with the Powers investigation. For more than two hours the battle raged, and an adjournment was taken for supper, while the matter was referred back to the committee for revision. At the evening session the fight over the Culkin resolutions was renewed. The committee brought in a report exonerating the committee, but which said that their action was ill-advised. The report was adopted. The motion to reconsider the motion was lost on roll call, but illegal voting was charged by Murray, of St. Paul, and Delegate Schartz, of St. Paul, made a hot speech in which he charged that the grog shop was trying ta run the convention. The chairman was sustained by the delegates, and Murray, of St. Paul, announced a caucus of the St. Paul delegates in another room, and the convention took a recess for fifteen minutes. At the end of the recess the St. Paul delegates demanded a new vote on the Culkin matter, alleging irregularities in voting. Delegate McDowell made a motion that all objectionable phrases be struck out. This was carried and finally a motion that all reference to the Culkin matter be stricken out was carried. A vote of thanks was given the federated council, and the St. Paul delegates had won a victory. Had it not been for the calm councils and cool heads of the older delegates there can be no doubt that the State Federation of Labor would have received a setback such as it would have taken years to recover.

The following officers were elected: G. C. Collins, St. Paul, president; Ben Schosenborn, Winona, first vice president; Miss Maggie McClure, St. Paul, second vice president; W. E. McEwen, secretary; James McDowell, Duluth, treasurer. The next meeting place of the federation will be at Winona, and date not to be earlier than May nor later than July next year.

LAND OFFICE REGISTER.

Why Select a Man Outside St. Louis County?

To the Editor of The Herald:

Anything that is unusual is generally interesting, so it is said. If this be true a few words relative to the squabble over the appointment of register of the Duluth land office may not be amiss. In this connection the very unusual action of Congressman Page Morris in recommending Senator Culkin of Wrigh county to the position ought not only to arouse some interest among the people of St. Louis county and the Duluth land district at large, but should, it seems, excite those people to some sort of action. What would have been thought of Governor Clough had he appointed as judge of our district court men from St. Paul or Minneapolis, instead of Judge Cant? Would not the people of this judicial district have laid up a large quantity of "kicks" to be administered later when they would have the most effect? Most certainly they would, and the governor realizing this had not the hardihood to insult the intelligence of the people of this district by any such unusual procedure. But where is there any difference between that case and this? There is none, and I defy any one to show that there is.

The appointment of register of the Duluth land office is a local appointment. It belongs to St. Louis county by right, but under no circumstance or combination of circumstances should it be permitted to come from outside the land district. We have had enough of this in days gone by to satisfy all classes and conditions of men. When Page Morris goes outside of this county or land district to find a man for the position of register, the act is most unusual because it implies and presupposes the fact that there is no resident of the district who possesses the requisite amount of integrity and intelligence to enable him to acceptably fill the position, and it borders so closely upon insult to the inhabitants of the district that, while all will be aggrieved, many will no doubt look upon it as wholly uncalled for and reprehensible. As far as I am personally concerned, when we consider some of the appointments that have been heretofore made to that position, the appointment of a man outside on the ground of fitness would be a direct insult to every male inhabitant of the district who is above the age of 16 years. It is true that Wright county is a part of the Sixth congressional district, but that fact affords no more excuse than would be needed to appoint a postmaster and all the other Duluth officials from outside this city and county.

On the question of integrity and ability the ostensible argument that it is necessary to go out side of St. Louis county seems to fall senseless before the two Duluthians who have filed applications for the position already, viz: A. L. Warner and John J. Skuse. But if the action of our congressman is based upon other, or political reasons, then the people may with propriety render a stronger protest against its consummation.

A REPUBLICAN.

Duluth, June 14.

SILVERMAN IS SILENT.

Will Say Nothing About His Plans or Scheme.

Lazarus Silverman, of Chicago, and H. Blackman and F. L. Norris, of New York, left Saturday afternoon for Ely in President Greatsinger's private car, and returned to Duluth at noon today. They will leave for the East tonight or tomorrow. It has been reported that the trip had for its purpose the examination of the Csahaway falls water power, near Ely, which is owned by Mr. Silverman, with a view of utilizing it in some manufacturing enterprise. As Mr. Silverman had been inquiring of iron ore men about black hematite iron ore in such form that it could be taken out in six foot cubes certain gentlemen who had been watching closely the experiment of manufacturing artificial diamonds with the aid of the Niagara Falls electric forces at Buffalo, concluded that Mr. Silverman was about to engage in the diamond making business. Others thought that he was going to build a paper mill near the falls, and still others figured it out that he was going to build an electric iron ore smelter.

For all that Mr. Silverman will say about it any or all of these surmises may be correct. In any event he proposes to utilize the enormous power now going to waste for some purpose in the very near future and his trip to Ely with Messrs. Norris and Blackman was in the interest of some enterprise which he has under consideration. To a reporter for The Evening Herald Mr. Silverman said he had nothing to say concerning his plans further than that the water at Knife lake would not run uselessly over Cashaway falls as long in the future as it had in the past. In fact he said that within a year he hoped to have the waters harnessed and furnishing power for some useful purpose. It might be utilized for power to be used in the mines at Ely, for the manufacture of paper or some other purpose. It is doubtless Mr. Silverman's intention to adopt it to "some other purpose" but just what that is he is not yet ready to give to the public. When asked what he proposed to do with the six foot cubes of hematite iron ore he said it would be useful in the manufacture of iron. He declined to state the particular branch of business that Messrs. Norris and Blackman were engaged in, but declared that the trip to Ely had proven very satisfactory to him and that he would continue to work hard to make the 7500 horse power of Cashaway falls available for manufacturing purposes.

The water power can be "hooked up" at very small cost and as it is only a few miles from some of the largest mines on the Vermilion range it might with profit be used in connection with their operation.

Children's Day Exercises.

The children's day exercises at the First Methodist church yesterday morning were elaborate and very pleasing. An exercise for the younger scholars came first and afterward "The Young People's Republic," presented by the older pupils. A large flag was suspended and stars were separately pinned on it. There were six representing "Law," "Intelligence," "Fraternity," "Temperance," "Uprightness" and "Patriotism." Before each was pinned on the flag a brief address on the topic represented by it was made. The introduction to the "republic" was made by Miss Rose K. Butters, representing "Liberty." George Kelley spoke of "Law;" Miss Grace Drummond of "Intelligence;" Miss Virgie Willcuts of "Fraternity;" Sibyard McDonald of "Temperance;" Miss Emma Black of "Uprightness," and Harry Kemp of "Patriotism." The singing and recitations were all excellent.

Water Plant Construction.

A delegation of taxpayers consisting of P. S. Anneke, O. H. Simonds, Ward Ames and A. L. Ordean, had a conference with Mayor Truelsen today with regard to the progress of the work on the water plant. There was some talk over the necessity of having an experienced man to act as superintendent of construction. The talk was general merely and no definite suggestions were made.

FREE SONS OF ISRAEL.

Chicago, June 14.—At today's session of the Independent Order of Free Sons of Israel, Baltimore, was selected as the place for the eleventh quadrennial session of the order in 1902. It was decided to have an emblem of the order and the executive committee was directed to suggest and adopt a suitable design. The important standing committees of the order then made their reports.

The evening paper is always carefully read, especially in the town circle, and is therefore the best advertising medium.

HORSE AND TELEPHONE.

It is just as well to keep in mind that this story is told by a lightning rod agent, says the Detroit Free Press.

"I was down in Pennsylvania doing the best I could," he says, "and fell in with one of the greatest horse fanciers I ever knew. All his leisure time was devoted to his stables, and he had as much affection for his horses as some men have for their children.

"While I was there he was induced to trade one of his favorites for as showy a horse as was ever put under a saddle. The other man was a three-star professional when it came to a horse dicker, and it soon developed that my friend had been swindled to the queen's taste. The horse for which he traded had been doctored and fixed for the occasion. His wind was gone and there was nothing right about him unless it was his hair. My friend wanted to commence a suit at once, but his lawyer advised him to get possession of the horse he had lost. If it could be done by legal means, and let the other fellow do the suing. I was offered $100 to get the horse back without committing a breach of the law, and undertook the job.

"I made myself a good fellow with the men about the other stable, but never gave them an intimation of what I was after. Right by the door of the big barn was a telephone, and one evening I laughingly suggested that we give my friend a chance to talk with the horse he used to own. This tickled the men. I called my friend up, put the receiver to the ear of the horse, and he did the rest. Two men tried to hold him, but he shook them off, went through the door like a shot, cleared a 6-foot fence and flew 'home.' The sharper simply wilted and called the trade off."

OF COURSE IT WAS SAFE.

Chicago Post: "Yes," said the inventor, "my fire escape is absolutely safe and the greatest thing in the life-preserving line that was ever placed in the market. Why, a child can operate it and descend in it as soft and easy as in a cushioned elevator. We are going to give it a trial this afternoon with a dummy figure just to show how perfect it is."

"With a dummy figure?"

"Certainly."

"Don't you think it would be more convincing if you descended in it yourself?"

"Not to me, sir; not to me," returned the inventor, promptly, "and besides I have a wife and children dependent upon me for support."

A HEARTLESS STRATAGEM.

Washington Star: "How did they stop the elopement?" asked Maud.

"By a detestible piece of trickery," replied Mamie.

"They came very near getting away in safety."

"Yes. But her father put his head out of the window and shouted that her hat was on crooked, and when she grabbed for it she upset the tandem."

PRACTICAL EDUCATION.

Chicago Times-Herald: "My boy," remarked the old man to his young hopeful who had just returned from college for the regular summer vacation, "I'm really afraid that your education isn't quite practical enough to meet the requirements of life here on the farm."

"Why not?" inquired the young man in surprise.

"Coming up from the station you told me just how long it would take a railroad train, running sixty miles an hour, to come from the sun to the earth."

"Yes, sir."

"And you explained to me just how much heat would be generated by the earth if its motion were suddenly stopped by a solid body."

"Yes, sir."

"And yet when I told you a while ago to see how long it would take you to run out to the woodshed and bring an armful of wood for your mother you gave up the whole problem at once, sat down here and forgot all about it."

"Ah-e-r, but—"

"Well, now I'm about to do a little experimenting on my own account. I'm going to take a heavy trunk strap and see how much heat I can generate with it by stopping it suddenly against a solid body. Perhaps it is unnecessary for me to add that you will assist me in this experiment by furnishing the solid body."

The sophomore broke all records in getting to the woodshed and back. It was a veritable triumph for practical education.

BANK CHARTER RENEWED.

Paris, June 14.—The chamber of deputies today adopted clause 1 of the Bank of France bill, prolonging the charter of that institution until 1920.

RETURNS

The President and Party on the Way Back to Washington.

All Aboard the Train in Condition to Enjoy the Scenery.

President McKinley Strong and Cheerful and Mrs. McKinley Rested.

Battery Park Hotel, Ashville, N. C., June 14.—Soon after 2 o'clock this morning, the presidential train resumed its journey, homeward bound this time, and making the start from Sherman's Hill, an elevated suburb of Chattanooga. It was a happy thought to have the cars removed from the railway station to the fresher air of the environs since the heat was intense in the town. As it was the entire party had a refreshing sleep. Another hot day was passed. As it was 5 o'clock in the morning when the train reached Knoxville, Tenn., the crowd there gathered, saw only windows which, though uncurtained on account of the heat, permitted but tantalizing views of the interior of the train.

Very soon after breakfast President McKinley came into the correspondents' car looking, as he said he felt, strong and cheerful. He reported Mrs. McKinley as being well and freed from fatigue, and said that both he and his wife were thoroughly recuperated by the rest of the Sabbath. Secretary Sherman reported that Mrs. McCallum, his daughter, who had been threatened with tonsilitis, was rapidly recovering.

All aboard the train were in condition to enjoy the beautiful scenery of the day. At Marshall, N. C., twenty miles out of Ashville, and the home of United States Senator Pritchard, a short stop was made and Mr. McKinley shook hands with several hundred of the thousands thronging at the rear of the train. He had the usual pleasant word for each person whose hand he grasped, and he lifted one pretty little miss into the car to see Mrs. McKinley. There were cries for Mr. Sherman from a crowd of elderly, sturdy mountaineers, and the secretary came to a forward platform where he shook hands with those he could reach. Mr. Sherman said "I suppose you want to see my face, I assure you it is not so good to look upon as all those of the ladies of the presidential party, you would have done well to call for them."

Commissioner Evans remained at Chattanooga, thus reducing the party by one.

AMERICAN MECHANICS.

Having a Big Annual Meet in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, June 14.—The Junior Order of American Mechanics has taken possession of Pittsburg and will own it for the week. The twenty-ninth annual session of the national convention begins tomorrow, but the uniformed rank is meeting today and hundreds of delegates to the national council are now in the city. Among the leading officers already here are National Counsellor Perry A. Shanor, of Sisterville, W. Va.; Joseph Powell, of Denver, national vice counsellor; Edward S. Deemer, of Philadelphia, national secretary; W. S. Scheneck, of New Whatcom, Wash., national council conductor; Charles H. Temple, of Johnstown, supreme organizer; C. A. Creighton, Denver, supreme vice commander, U. A. M.; Charles L. Voris, San Marcia, N. M., department supreme commander U. A. M.

The convention will be one of the most important ever held by this large and powerful order. The delegates come from almost every state and territory in the country. The order is now firmly established in all but one or two states of the Union with thirty-eight state organizations and an aggregate membership closely approaching 200,000. By a lucky coincidence this is "flag day" too, so that the city presents an unusually gala appearance. Most of the down-town streets are in their holiday garb and the stars and stripes are floating from nearly every shop and building of the whole municipality.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Three Young Ladies Meet a Sudden Death.

Bellaire, Ohio, June 14.—The lives of three young ladies were blotted out yesterday evening by lightning while they were on their way home from the Methodist Episcopal church at Jacobsburg. The victims are Minnie McGuire, daughter of Rev. Thomas McGuire; Alpha Taylor, daughter of William Taylor, and Emma White, daughter of Simon White, all aged about 19 years. Sarah Bohring was badly stunned and may die.

They were residents of Jacobsburg, a village on the Bellaire, Zanesville & Cincinnati railway, eleven miles west of this city, and were walking together in the road about 100 yards from the church when they were struck by the lightning. It is believed that the steel corsets worn by the three that were killed were the chief cause of their death, as Miss Bohring, who was only stunned, wore none.

NAMED FOR POSTMASTERS.

Washington, June 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Morris has recommended the appointment of the following postmasters: J. Y. Breckenridge, Pine City; Fred C. Muske, Swanville; L. A. Cross, Hubbard; Nick Hannun, Pierz; William Wieber, Torah.

SOME RAILROAD DIVIDENDS.

New York, June 14.—The directors of the Lake Shore railway met here today and declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent. The following semi-annual dividends were also declared: Michigan Central, 2 per cent, and Canada Southern, 1 per cent. A quarterly dividend on New York Central, of 1 per cent was also declared. The quarterly dividend on Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis, preferred stock of 1¼ per cent was passed.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Easier Tone and Lower Prices at the Opening.

New York, June 14.—Receipts of lower prices for American securities from London, coupled with general realizations, imparted an easier tone to the initial trading on the stock exchange. The losses were confined to fractional limits aside from C. C. C. & St. L., which lost a point on account of a decrease of $25,125 in the gross earnings for the first week in June. The industrials were fairly steady, American tobacco rallying 1-2 after a lower opening. Manipulation in the specialties, in which the improvements were material, checked the reactionary tendency, and on large dealings values hardened throughout, with the low-priced shares assuming prominence. New Jersey Central was the main feature and rallied 3 per cent to 85. The short interest in the stock covered extensively, which caused a moderate inquiry in the other coalers, but the changes were slight. Sugar was taken in round amounts up to 125 3-8 and Consolidated Gas rose to 164. The Erie shares were without essential change, but improved in sympathy with the Southwestern group, showing the extreme variations.

The strength of the market became very marked, the improvements extending to all classes of securities. Local gas stocks were buoyant on purchases. East River Gas rose 3 per cent, East River Gas, preferred, 4¼ per cent, and Brooklyn Union Gas 1¾ per cent, while Consolidated Gas touched 164¾, a net rise of 3⅝c. The advance in the iron and steel shares was resumed with Illinois steel excep tionally strong and gaining 1⅞ per cent; C. C. O. & St. L. received support at the low level and rallied at 2 per cent to 25c. The preferred stocks sold at 70 against recent bids of 55. The changes in the more active stocks were also marked in some instances, Manhattan jumping 1½, and Sugar touching 126. The grangers showed more firmness than for some time and were freely purchased. Some of the industrials were inclined to sag, Chicago Gas and Tobacco losing a fraction. The bond market was moderately active and generally firm. Slight gains were made in the speculative issues and St. Paul gold 7s advanced 3 per cent. Sales of stocks to noon were 125,500 shares.

THE COMMERCIAL TOURISTS.

River Falls, Mass., June 14.—The commercial tourists from Mexico and the republic of South America reached this city today. They were escorted from New York by a committee of business men from Fall River and Boston. The day's program included visits to the American Printing company, the Fall River Iron works, the Globe Yarn mills and other extensive industrial plants. Later there was a reception by the citizens and members of the city government at the Casino. They depart for Boston at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

"SOUR MASH" BUCKLEY SUICIDES.

Milwaukee, June 14.—Deputy United States Marshal William L. Buckley, commited suicide by shooting himself this morning, at his home in this city. He was widely known in government detective service and figured quite prominently during the famous whisky ring trials.

THE ONLY WHITE BUFFALO.

During the summer of 1875 bands of Indians returning from a hunt far out on the plains brought in stories of having seen at different times and in different places, and always in the center of a large herd, a white buffalo, says Forest and Stream. They had used their best horses in the effort to overtake it, to no purpose, never being able to get anywhere near the animal. At first we did not pay much attention to these stories, but still it kept cropping up from different camps, and at last, in the fall of 1875, I myself had a chance to verify the truth of the report. I had been sent on duty north along the Red Deer river and was camped near a large band of Blackfeet, who were hunting south of that river. The buffalo had moved north in vast numbers and the prairie was black with them.

I had gone out one morning with a party of Blackfeet to see one of their hunts, and also to try and kill for myself. My horse was a good one and much faster than any belonging to the Indian hunters. I had got detached from the party, becoming tired of the slaughter, and must have been at least twenty miles from camp, when I made for a small clump of timber not far off, intending to build a fire and roast a portion of some buffalo meat I had on the saddle with me. As I approached the wood a band of about 100 animals burst out of the woods and made off to the south, and yes, most certainly, in the middle of them was a white buffalo. Although they were a quarter of a mile away, there could be no mistake about it. He was there as large as life and quite white, and running like a deer. There was no time to much more than take in the scene, but I gathered up the reins and was after him, determined to bag that buffalo or kill my horse.

Oh, what a race it was, mile after mile; and although all the band, with the exception of about a dozen, had split off and gone in different directions, the white animal, with his body guard of about a dozen, kept at about the same distance ahead. I could catch a glimpse of him now and then, and there was no doubt he was snow white. Get within shot I could not, for many miles. At last they began to tire, and, although my horse was tired also, I had good hopes of coming up and getting a shot. Alas! for such a chance. Of a sudden my horse lurched forward on his nose, sending me over his head onto the prairie, and turning a somersault himself, missing me by only a few feet. He had put his foot into a badger hole and brought my hopes of a white robe to a sudden end.

Electricity Applied to Plants Makes Them Grow Very Rapidly.

Practically Applied in Massachusetts and Found to Be a Success.

Process Described in All Particulars From a Popular Standpoint.

It has at last been practically proved that electricity is a real incentive to the growth of plants. This is the result of experiments made at the Massachusetts Agricultural college at Amherst, Mass., by Asa S. Kinney, an expert agriculturist, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. Experiments to this end have been conducted here for several years, but not until now has it been found that the electric fluid can be utilized by anyone to increase the power of germination of a seed planted in the earth.

Mr. Kinney conducted his experiments in the botanical laboratory of the agricultural college. He submitted different seeds to the action of an electric current, and found that germination was much accelerated. He took two lots of twelve groups containing 112 seeds each, soaked them in water until thoroughly moistened, and while wet placed them in glass cylinders open at either end. Copper disks which were connected with the poles of an induction coil were pressed against the seeds and a current passed through them for one or two minutes. After this the seeds were sown, the temperature being kept at 45 to 50 degrees. The result was an increase of growth in the seeds to which electricity was applied over the seed not subjected to the experiment of 30 per cent.

The objects of this experiment were three fold. First, to determine whether the seed germ responded in any way when subjected to electrical influence. Second, should there be any visible action, to determine whether it was injurious or beneficial. Third, to determine the effects of different strengths of current. These experiments were carried on from a scientific standpoint rather than from any practical application to which they might be put. The more surprising, then, is the fact that it was found that with apparaus within the reach of almost every grower the use of electricity may prove of great service in the germination of small seeds which under ordinary conditions start very slowly.

In the selection of germinating pans for this work two chief points were taken into consideration. First, that the normal or untreated seeds should have exactly the same environment as those treated, aside from the conditions brought about by the application of electricity. Second, that the conditions for germination should be as favorable as possible; that is, that there should be the proper amount of heat, air and moisture to give the best possible conditions.

The form of apparatus used in these experiments which seemed to fulfil the requirements very well consisted of two plates, an outer one of porcelain about nine inches in diameter and an inner of clay, seven inches in diameter. Within the inner plate filter paper is placed, upon which the seeds are sown. In the outer plate a constant supply of water was kept, which gradually passed through the plate of porous clay, keeping the filter paper within constantly moist. The seeds were sown upon the filter paper, which was divided into eight equal parts. Seven of these were used for the treated seeds, while the eighth was for the normal or untreated seeds.

A second piece of moist filter paper was placed over the seeds, resting upon them, and touching at various points the paper beneath. In this manner the covering was kept moist by absorption. In order to insure perfect darkness a piece of black cardboard was placed over the pan in such a manner as to shut out the light, but not to prevent a free circulation of air. The moist filter paper which constituted the covering of the seeds offered but little obstruction to growth.

The batteries used in the experiments were of two kinds, namely, four Leclanche cells arranged in series, giving an electromotive force of from four to five volts, and two No. 1 Samson cells, giving an electromotive force of 2 88-100 volts. Had long periods of treatment been desired, gravity cells would have answered the purpose much better. But as the current was never used for more than five minutes at a time, and then the battery allowed a period of rest no difficulty was experienced from its running down, and a comparatively constant strength of current could be obtained. The great advantage gained in using the salammoniac battery is the ease with which it may be set up and renewed when exhausted. In order that a large variation in electromotive force could be obtained an induction coil was employed that was a form of the Ruhnkorff apparatus. In some of the experiments hourly treatment was desired. This was accomplished by passing the wires from the battery to an electric clock and thence to an induction machine. Each hour the clock formed a connection, completing the circuit, and a current was passed through for a period of about thirty seconds.

The result of the experiments showed that electricity exerts an appreciable influence upon the germination of seeds; that the application of certain strengths of current to seeds for short periods of time accelerates the processes of germination.

Those lots of seeds receiving electrical stimulation gave a higher percentage of germination than the normal. The range in the strength of current which accelerates germination is exceedingly limited. Seeds subjected to but one application of electricity show the effect only for a few hours. Electricity, when applied hourly to germinating seeds or growing plants, does not lose its effect, but acts as a constant stimulation to their growth and development.

George E. Stone, botanist of the agricultural college, says of these experiments: "I know of no experiment along this line in which numerous measurements and comparisons of a large number of treated and normal plants placed under exactly similar conditions have been made. All experimenters, however, have not been able to obtain positive results by the use of electricity. It can readily be seen from the results of Mr. Kinney's experiments that many of the negative results often reported can be accounted for by the fact that the strength of current which accelerates germination and growth is quite limited, and consequently a current which did not come within this limit would have no effect.

"These experiments as well as many subsequent ones show conclusively that electricity when properly applied accelerates germination and growth; and furthermore, that experiments have progressed far enough to show that in many respects electricity acts similarly to light in its stimulating effect."

BEAUCHAMP'S COW.

Troubles an Atlanta Man Had With the Creature.

There are a great many different kinds of trouble in this world, but J. P. Beauchamp, a well-known citizen, had an experience with a cow on Friday night which puts him in the category with the modern Jobs, says the Atlanta Constitution. Beauchamp bought a cow in Gwinnett county and undertook to get her to his home in Atlanta, which is out on Marietta street, near Collins' brickyard. The cow never before having seen the sights in a great city became unruly as soon as she reached the limits Saturday afternoon. Then it was that Beauchamp struck upon the happy thought of leading his cow through the city after dark. There was no help for it. He had to pass right through the heart of the city, which he approached from Decatur street, and his route lay down that thoroughfare out Marietta street. The cow would not pass electric cars and the rumbling wagons in daytime, and Beauchamp thought everything would be all right when the shades of night fell and Atlanta was resting after the excitement of the busy day.

Beauchamp waited until about 1 o'clock at night, when there was not a street car or vehicle on the streets, and then he started up Decatur street with his cow. He had not gone many squares before a watchful police officer hailed him and asked him where he got the cow and why he was driving it through the city at such an unusual hour of the night. Beauchamp complimented the officer on his vigilance and Atlanta on having such watchful guardians of the peace, and explained the situation. It was some trouble, because the cow would not stand still, and he was in a profuse perspiration. He was at last permitted to proceed on his way after having lost fifteen minutes. But he was an honest citizen and did not wish to rest under any suspicion.

He had not gone two squares further before he was stopped by another policeman, and he again explained the situation as patiently as he could under the circumstances. Another fifteen minutes were lost. It chanced that the very hour Beauchamp had selected for his night trip through the city was when the watches of the police force had just been changed, and he began to encounter all the fifty or sixty policemen who were on their way home. Nearly every one of them stopped him and he was obliged to explain himself and his cow. He was getting mad, but he would not show it. Finally he reached the city barracks, where Capt. Thompson and several other officers were sitting out on the sidewalk. They hailed him and Capt. Thompson asked:

"What will you take for that cow, mister?"

Beauchamp mopped his dripping brow as he replied: "I know you want to ask me what I am doing out on the streets at this time of night with a cow. So just ask it."

"Well, that's what I will do," replied the police captain. And Beauchamp for about the fortieth time explained the situation.

"I don't think you will ever get that cow home," remarked Capt. Thompson, gravely, "for you will have to pass four or five more policemen on Marietta street."

"Good Lord!" exclaimed Beauchamp, "I've a good notion to give the blamed cow away. She has already cost me more trouble than she is worth. It has got so that she stops every time she sees a policeman."

He was allowed to proceed on his way, and in about ten minutes there came a ring at the telephone. The call officer answered the ring, and turning to Capt. Thompson he said:

"An officer has found a strange man driving a cow through the street."

"That's Beauchamp in more trouble," the captain said; 'just tell the officer that the stranger has a passport."

It is presumed that Beauchamp and his cow got home all right some time before breakfast. But he will doubtless never undertake to drive another cow through Atlanta at night.

THEY RAISED SNAKES.

Lamar Clay owns a beautiful home on Walnut street, near Bond. While removing some sod the other day one of his workmen turned up three young moccasins, says the Atlanta Constitution.

Mr. Clay's little child was playing around, and in his solicitude he made a closer examination, when he stirred up several other serpents of various breeds and sizes.

Near his residence, but across the street, is a large vacant area, on the hillside, grown up in eeds and brambles and hich has not been cared for in possibly twenty years. He turned his attention to that urban jungle, and has found several snakes on its borders within the last few days.

On inquiry, he found that some lads, who had nothing better to do, had turned the vacant lot into a snake corral last summer, while he and his family were away in the mountains.

The youngsters formed themselves into a regular band. They hunted the woods for miles around Macon, capturing all sorts of snakes that came their way. These reptiles they brought to the city and turned loose in the vacant lot, with the result that it has become a regular jimjam hatchery. During the warm spring days the snakes that had hibernated in the jungle and the young ones of the present year's crop have begun to wander around and disport themselves among the grass and shrubbery on neighboring lots.

Mr. Clay has become so alarmed that he will ask the assistance of the city authorities in cleaning up the vacant lot and killing the serpents that are lurking there.

A resident of the neighborhood, who watched the boys last year, says that they must have turned loose several hundred serpents of different varieties on the property during the season, and the development of this strange and uncanny industry right in the heart of one of the most thickly populated sections of the city has caused genuine alarm.

You may never know it happened if you fail to read The Evening Herald.

FISH NET

World's Largest One Is In Use on the Potomac River at Present.

Nine Thousand Shad and 350,000 Herring Its Record for a Haul.

Nearly Two Miles Long and It Is Handled By Steam Power.

A short distance from this city, on the Potomac river, is operated the largest seine in American waters, and probably in the world, says the Washington Star. The fishing grounds are located at Stony Point, Va., nearly opposite Indian Head, about twenty-two miles below Washington, the river at this point being one and three-quarter miles wide. The seine is owned by Capt. William Neitzey, of this city, and used only during the shad and herring season, or nine or ten weeks each spring, beginning about the middle of March. Although this seine has been hauled on this shore year after year for nearly a third of a century, few people, except those directly interested, are aware of its size and importance. The length of the seine is 1600 fathoms, or 9000 feet, 960 less than two miles long. Attached to each end are large, heavy ropes leading to the shore, one rope being 8100 feet long and the other 9900 feet long, a combined length of seine and rope of 27,600 feet, or considerably over five miles.

It is a novel and interesting sight to witness the hauling of the seine, and to observe the skillful manipulations which result in the capture of immense quantities of fish.

The living quarters of the men consist of two long, narrow buildings, one occupied by the officers and the other by the crew, the total number usually employed being seventy or seventy-five men. The only other building on the grounds is the engine shed, situated on the shore, nearly three-fourths of a mile south of the main buildings. This shed contains two engines, one known as the "land" and the other as the "boat" engine, which put in the "land" and "boat" ends of the seine, respectively. They develop twelve horse-power, and were constructed expressly for this purpose.

Two hauls of the seine are made every twenty-four hours—on each ebb tide—regardless of the weather. When the tide is highest the exact time is noted, and the water allowed to run out about an hour before preparations for the haul are begun. All hands are then called out; the seine crew embarks in several rowboats for the large seine boat, which is anchored a short distance off shore opposite the main buildings; other men proceed in a number of smaller boats to various points in the seine berth to meet the big boat as it comes around; while still another boat, containing a large stack of rope, one end of which is connected with the engine, three-fourths of a mile distant, makes off in the direction of the seine boat, paying out the rope as it goes. A few minutes afterward the captain of the seine crew is on board, and the boat, after lifting anchor, proceeds northward, almost parallel with the shore.

The seine boat is 70 feet long and about 12 feet beam. It is propelled with oars, having seats for twenty-four oarsmen, twelve on each side. Continued practice has made the crew expert rowers, the oars rising and falling with uniform regularity, and the click of the oarlocks sounding in unison. An extra men in the bow, the captain and the seine attendant complete the boat's crew, in all twenty-seven men. The captain stands with his back to the seine, facing the men and directing their movements, as well as steering the boat.

The seine is piled in the stern and occupies, perhaps, one-third the length of the boat. Its width or depth is accommodated to the depth of the water, ranging from twelve to thirty-eight feet deep, the lead line being supposed to always rest on the bottom. The cork floats, of course, hold the top line on the surface of the water.

On nearing the upper edge of the berth, the seine is first let overboard, running over an iron roller at the stern. This is called the "land" end of the seine, and to it is attached the rope brought out in the boat before mentioned, which reaches to the engine, now over one and one-half miles away. The rope is 8100 feet in length. The "land" engine immediately begins to haul in on this line as soon as the seine is thrown out, but its movement is very slow compared with the speed of the boat. The boat is now turned to the east, making for the channel. The center of the seine is indicated by a large can buoy. The channel being reached the boat is directed down the river until all the 1600 fathoms have run out, the seine being laid out in the form of a semicircle and the ends being at least a mile apart. This end of the seine is called the "boat" end.

An enormous coil of rope which has been lying under the seine is now disclosed on the top of the boat, one end of which is fastened to the seine and follows it out over the roller. This rope is to connect the boat end of the seine with the engine, and is 9900 feet long, or nearly two miles. The boat is now headed for the engine shed, which is but dimly discernible at such a distance, paying out the rope at it goes. Large wooden keg buoys serve to keep the heavy rope near the surface of the water. When the engines are reached the crew are landed, the rope is taken by the "boat" engine, and hauling on this end begun, the ropes running around grooved wheels to prevent them from slipping. The process of laying out occupies an hour and a half.

The five miles of rope and seine are now in the water, but, of course, the fish which are within the circle have not as yet felt any restraint imposed upon their freedom, and they do not discover their danger until it is too late to escape from it. The small boats, six or seven in number, which meet the seine boat at various points in the berth, can be seen very slowly rowing toward the land; they are following the seine, and are known as the "lookout boats," so called because it is the duty of the occupants to look out for vessels and prevent them from running over the net, as well as to look after the seine generally.

In about half an hour the land rope is all in, followed half an hour later by the boat rope, thus leaving nothing in the water but the seine. At this point several coils of rope, which have been piled on shore, are loaded into rowboats, one end remaining with the engine and the other taken out and hooked into the first "becket;" the "beckets," of which there are twenty-two on the seine, placed about 440 feet apart, are large wooden floats, two ropes about thirty feet long leading from each, one to the cork and the other to the lead line, each "becket" being provided with a ring; into the ring of the first "becket" is hooked the rope now brought out. The engine then pulls on this line, and when it is in another coil is sent out and hooked into the next "becket," and so on. Two gangs of men receive each end of the seine as it comes in, remaining in the water until the haul is ended, each gang being commanded by a captain. This part of the work requires great physical endurance.

When only about 1700 feet of the seine still remains in the water both engines are stopped, the rest of the hauling being done by the men themselves. By this time the tide has carried the seine down until the back or "bunt" has swung below the men, so that they have to pull against the tide. A few hundred herring are found gilled in the meshes, and this is the only indication thus far that any fish have been inclosed in the net which has swept such a tremendous expanse of water. The two gangs of men, which are about 100 yards apart, now begin to move slowly toward each other, pulling in as they go. This is continued until they have approached within fifty feet of each other, by which time the water within the constantly narrowing limits inclosed by the seine fairly glistens with the silvery fins and tails of the captured fish, which are frantically endeavoring to escape. A man follows the back of the seine, beating the water with an oar to frighten the fish toward the center and to relieve the pressure against the net. Fifty men are now working with the seine. The water in which those nearest the shore are standing is about knee deep, while those furthest out are up above their waists.

At this juncture a number of board planks are placed end to end in the water, reaching from one side of the opening between the men to the other, the tops of the boards extending several inches above the surface. This effectually closes every possible avenue of escape for the fish. The seine is now gradually worked past the ends of the boards, the enclosure in which the fish are held getting smaller and smaller, until the length of the cork line still in the water about corresponds with the length of the board line—i. e., about fifty or sixty feet—when the moment for the final maneuvers has arrived. The lead line is now moved slowly toward the boards until it touches the bottom of them. It is then carefully secured by the men, and at a signal from the captain raised out of the water. The scene which follows almost defies description. The fish are all retained between the cork and lead lines, this being the widest part of the seine, the middle, of course, resting on the bottom, the men holding up the sides or walls of the net, standing so close as to almost touch each other. The water, which is about waist high, is churned into foam by the thousands of struggling fish held in this comparatively small enclosure, not over 60 feet long by 20 feet wide; and it would seem that surely the climax of animal activity had been reached. Nearly everything appears to be herring, but occasionally larger fish are seen plunging in the mass. These are shad.

A large lighter is now brought alongside the net, and the cork line thrown over the rail. Four or five men with short dip nets get inside the circle, and, standing in the seething mass of struggling fish, commence to shovel them into the scow. The fish beat a merry tatoo on the bottom of the boat as they are thrown in. Soon, however, the bttom is covered and the pile rapidly deepens. The fish on top are all flopping vigorously, displaying a scene of the most intense activity, and bewildering the eye to look upon it. The incessant patter of such a multitude of fish in their expiring movements is unlike any other sound ever heard. The shad are separated from the herring, counted and put in a compartment to themselves, many of them being splendid specimens.

At the haul of which this is a particular description nearly 100,000 herring were taken, and over 500 shad, representing an aggregate weight of about 42,000 pounds, which tested the carrying capacity of the lighter. As to the herring this was considered a good haul, being above the average, while as to the shad it was somewhat below the average. The largest number of shad ever taken with this seine at a single haul was 9000, and of herring about 350,000. Within a few minutes after the lighter was loaded the tug having it in tow was steaming toward Washington, and the haul of the largest seine in the world, so far as is known, was ended, the whole time consumed from commencement to finish being six hours.

M. S. BURROWS.

MCKINLEY REMEMBERED HIM.

A story suggesting a quality of heart not usually employed in the cold-blooded disposition of place was told of President McKinley. Samuel M. Taylor, late secretary of state, is the author and incidentally a party in interest, says the Pittsburg Dispatch.

On a certain night of a recent campaign Mr. Taylor was billed for a camp-fire at Paulding. Mr. Taylor was born too late to shoulder a gun, and could not therefore add to the collection of reminiscences sprung on the audience; but he was equal to the occasion. He told a Jonathan and David story of two men from his home town, which is Urbana. The story was that two comrades happened to be imprisoned at the same time in Andersonville. One was little more than a skeleton, with health to fit, and the other was lusty, with enough meat on his bones to feed the tissues for many days.

One day the welcome news of a proposed exchange came. The healthy man's name was on the list, the name of the other was not. When this discovery was made the healthy man said: "Bill, I can stand this better than you. When my name is called you answer to it." Bill answered, therefore, when the name of Fred Hoisington was called, and went out into the Yankee lines. Fred had to remain nine months longer.

The story in due time reached Maj. McKinley, and he repeated it at the laying of the corner stone of Grant's monument. He has possibly repeated it on other occasions. Last fall, on one of Mr. Taylor's visits to Canton, the major asked him what had become of Hoisington. Fred was still at Urbana, living modestly, and Mr. Taylor advised the major accordingly, with a suggestion that Fred might do better if assisted in some way. The major did not forget. A day or two since Fred Hoisington was appointed an inspector of abandoned mineral lands for some Western state, at $8 per day and expenses.

NOT THAT KIND OF WOMAN.

In the seat opposite me sat a woman about 45 years of age, and as I glanced at her occasionally and noticed her severe expression I set her down for a temperance fanatic and a person who would scorn the slightest favor at the hands of a fellow traveler, says a writer in the New York World. Great was my surprise, therefore, at the end of a couple of hours when she leaned toward me and queried:

"Young man, might I ask you if you have any peppermint essence in your grip?"

I replied that I was sorry I hadn't and she resumed her bolt upright position and nothing further was said for a quarter of an hour. Then she kindly asked:

"Young man, do you carry the means to make a glass of lemonade when you travel?"

I didn't. I was sorry for her sake that I didn't, but, as a matter of fact, I didn't care for lemonade. She said it was just as well, and another fifteen minutes passed. Then she sweetly said:

"Young man, do you not carry a bottle of milk or cold tea?"

"Never, ma'am."

"You do not carry any sort of a bottle?"

"Well—er—you—know—"

"Young man," she continued, as she looked me straight in the eye, "is it wine or whisky?"

"Wine, ma'am."

"And I've sat here nearly three hours and you haven't offered me any! Come over and let's have a nip!"

As I sat down beside her she said I might call her Aunt Polly and that her severe expression was the result of soft corns, and during the afternoon she beat me twelve games of euchre and said she adopt me if she hadn't three boys already and all older than I was.

The Kodograph is a handsome Russia leather covered instrument, carries an extra fine lense and will do as good work as any of the highest priced cameras on the market. Its construction is so simple it cannot get out of order. It causes great joy to all. Every person can be their own photographer, as it does fine work well in the grown person. There are thousands of Kodographs in use and the best investment for them is their use, as it then recommends itself. You can produce a beautiful picture of your house, family, residence, surroundings of every nature at so small a cost, I cannot help but deeply interest you. In fact, you will feel lost without it. It being a pocket camera you will go; so attached to it, you will make it your constant companion. The actual size of picture of the Kodograph is 2½ by 2½, which is mounted on a card 3 by 3, thus making a beautiful and handy souvenir. Makes four (4) pictures without reloading. Should you go on a long journey, you can easily carry as many extra plate holders with you as you wish. Each plate holder holds two plates, is not at all bulky, but rather handy to carry. It is fast becoming recognized that the Plate Camera is the proper thing and is far superior to the film. In the Kodograph the negatives are made from glass, hence you can develop your own plates at any time. This is not so with the film; you must wait until you expose the full roll before you can see what you have. You can print as many pictures as you wish from each plate, in fact its results are always better, surer and more satisfactory. They are easier and a great deal less costly to develop, which you can do yourself after a few moments' practice. The actual size of the Kodograph is 2½ by 2½ by 6 inches. Can be easily carried in your pocket and is always ready to perform it's work. All you have to do is to touch the button—the Kodograph does the rest. Remember the Kodograph has a FINE LENSE, not a mere pinhead exposure. Like other cheap cameras on the market, and will produce the best results. The Kodograph is well made, in fact better than a great many of the high priced cameras, with their numerous screws, rods and what-not, it is simple—here is no complex mechanism to get out of order, yet it is provided with everything necessary.

FREE TO OUR PATRONS. One of these handsome Kodograph Cameras give FREE to our customers. For full particulars call on

AN OFFER

E. H. Gay Arrives Here to Make Another Water Plant Proposition.

His Watchword is Harmony and He Wants Everybody Satisfied.

Same Offer as the Last---Not to Be Made Tonight.

E. H. Gay arrived in the city today, with authority from both the American and English holders of Duluth Gas and Water company bonds, to submit an offer for the sale of the gas and water plants to the city, and all indications point to the conclusion that such an offer will be made in the near future. That an offer will be made Mr. Gay admitted. Nor did he deny that it will be at about the figure and on practically the same terms as the offer previously made, viz., $1,695,000, payment in 5 per cent 30-year gold bonds, the bondholders to take care of the company's outstanding obligations.

The bondholders do not rely, therefore, on a cut price to make a trade. What they conceive will be an inducement are figures that will be submitted going to show that the city will realize from the operation of the plants a sufficient income to pay the interest on the purchase price not only, but on the cost of the Lakewood extension also.

Mr. Gay said that he desires to work in harmony with the officials of the gas and water company and the city officials as well, and that he would make no move that did not meet with their approval. In fact, Mr. Gay's remarks led to the conclusion that he wants everybody to feel good and desired to make the memory of his visit a golden nugget in the treasure box of recollection.

"We feel that it would be well to again submit this question to the people," said Mr. Gay. "Under the new law passed last winter the question can be submitted in terms that will be easily understood. Hence a fair expression of the people's will can now be obtained. As the law stood before, it was impossible to submit the question in terms that would satisfy the technical requirements and be at the same time intelligible."

It is understood that the proposition Mr. Gay will make has the approval of everybody interested in the company and its bonds.

THE RIGHT OF WAY.

More Developments Saturday in the Crossing Case.

The Arthur avenue crossing fight continued all Saturday afternoon. The St. Paul & Duluth came in with a complaint in which the city and the street railway company are defendants, and in which it claims to be joint owner of the Arthur avenue right-of-way by virtue of a grant from the legislature. The argument took up the entire afternoon, and at the close of the session there was so much left to talk about that the matter was put over to Wednesday morning for further argument.

J. L. Washburn announced when Mr. Greene had finished talking for the street railway company that he had a request to make. He stated that he had understood that the street railway company intended to continue the work of laying its track that night, and he wanted the temporary injunction against the city extended to include the street railway company. J. D. Armstrong for the St. Paul & Duluth seconded his request, and H. F. Greene for the street railway company and City Attorney Richards promised that there would be no attempts at track building.

At the request of Mr. Greene it was stipulated that the street railway company might make a crossing in accordance with its crossing agreement with the Northern Pacific.

OFFICIAL NOTICE RECEIVED.

Department Notifies Maj. Sears of Sundry Civil Bill.

Maj. Sears is at Grand Marais, Mich., inspecting government work, and will be away until Wednesday. Upon his return he will find the official notice from the department of the passage of the sundry civil bill. This informs him that Duluth and Superior harbors get $437,500 to be expended during the next fiscal year. The Portage Lake canals also get $350,000.

Maj. Sears will proceed at once to get the work under way. He has been waiting only until he received this notice before ordering work to begin and has the plan of operations already mapped out.

Fell Thirty Degrees.

The possibilities of the atmosphere that envelop Duluth and this end of the lake were never illustrated in a more startling manner than on Saturday. The heat during the day was very great, the thermometer rising to 87 degrees above. It registered that point at 7 o'clock, at 9 o'clock it was 83 degrees above, when suddenly a northeast wind from the lake came up and then the thermometer took a mighty header. In just ten minutes it fell to 51 degrees, a drop of 32 degrees.

Yesterday afternoon it took another sudden drop between 2 and 3 o'clock, falling from 84 to 61 degrees, a difference of 23 degrees.

OLD RESIDENT DEAD.

Heart Failure Ends the Life of E. A. Liedel.

E. A. Liedel, one of the oldest residents of Duluth, expired of heart failure early this morning, at his residence, 528 West Second street. He had retired last night apparently in his usual health. At 4:15 o'clock he aroused some of the members of the family saying that he was suffering from a severe pain in the chest. Medical aid was sent for, but when it arrived Mr. Liedel's condition was hopeless and he died a few minutes later and within half an hour after the attack came on.

The deceased was 56 years of age. He came to Duluth in 1871, from Helena, Mont., engaged in business here, accumulating considerable property, in the shape of real estate, which he held at the time of his death. For a number of years, he was a member of the old volunteer fire department. In 1888, he removed to Hayward, Cal., where he lived until his return here March 28 last. On May 1, he engaged in the grain commission business with his sons, Edward, Jr., and Henry, at 237 and 239 Lake avenue south, in which he continued up to the time of his death. He leaves a wife and the sons named.

The funeral will take place tomorrow, under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity, Mr. Liedel having been a member of Helena lodge, No. 3, A. F. and A. M. Services will be held in the afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the Masonic Temple. Dr. Salter will deliver a funeral address. Interment will be at the old Lake Shore cemetery, London road.

MIND IS UNBALANCED.

Samuel Goen Taken in Custody By the Police.

A man giving his name as Sam Goen was arrested yesterday morning by Capt. Thompson, on the suspicion that he was mentally unbalanced. When accosted by the captain, who met him on Superior street, Goen said he was looking for the city attorney, to whom he wanted to make a complaint. He was a little hazy as to exactly what the trouble was and the captain inveigled him to police headquarters.

Goen, under confinement, fully verified the officer's suspicion as to his sanity, beating his cell door and yelling hideously almost continuously until evening. This morning he was less violent, but refused to eat. He was sent up on the hill for examination. Some of his friends who called to see him said that Goen is a peddler and that he left the city a few days ago with about $400 worth of goods for a trip. The police think he may have been robbed and that his reason has been affected thereby.

The Municipal Court.

In the municipal court this morning, James Jones and Ham Carleson paid $10 and costs each for being drunk. Anton Sorenson, Ole Rapp and John Anderson were consigned to the hill for ten days for the same offense. John Lund got a term of five days at the same resort, using abusive language being his offense. George Thornton and Owen Harcy, who were found sleeping in a freight car on the Omaha dock, told a tale of woe and were let off with sentence suspended. William Thompson, charged with drunkenness, was also allowed to go.

A Public Nuisance.

To the Editor of The Herald

On either side of Twenty-second avenue west between Second and Third streets there are kept about fourteen milk cows and to save pasturage expense the owners have adopted the plan of having their children herd them on open lots and along margins of sidewalks, but instead of herding, the children are playing and let the cows do as they please, at which time they are able to get a grab at a garden or flower bed belonging to the neighbors. Not later than this morning one of the beasts almost completely demolished one beautiful garden through nothing but carelessness. Is there no ordinance prohibiting herding cattle among the residences of our city and on other people's property? A repetition of this offense may result in a very heavy herding fee. We ask justice. SNUB THE QUEEN.

Roman Catholic Bishops in Kansas City Do So.

Kansas City, Mo., June 15.—Philip E. Burrough, British vice consul here, is exerting himself to promote a local celebration in honor of Queen Victoria. The vice consul has organized the Kansas City Victoria Diamond Jubilee association, composed of numerous subjects and ex-subjects of Great Britain and this association has collected a substantial memorial charity fund to be distributed on jubilee day. Other features of the celebration, as proposed, will be the offering of prayers for the queen in some of the local churches, and a big public meeting at Fairmount park.

It was desired to secure the participation of the Roman Catholic clergy in these exercises and with this end in view, Consul Burrough and Rev. W. P. George, of Westminster Presbyterian church, called upon Bishop Hogan and his co-adjutor, Bishop Glennon, to request their participation. Moreover, when this request was made the Roman Catholic clergymen were given to understand that $500 of the memorial charity fund would be given to the local Roman Catholic hospital. But the plan fell through.

The bishops declined to attend the mass meeting and they declined to offer prayers for England's queen in their churches. Bishop Glennon said to his interviewers "I shall order no prayers for England's queen in our churches. More, I shall, if necessary, expressly prohibit such prayers in all churches in this diocese. Our people have no occasion to invoke special blessings on Queen Victoria. As a good woman we admire her; as queen we've no prayers to offer for her."

A PRINCE OF TRAMPS.

San Francisco, June 15.—Konstan Von Rengartner has tramped 10,500 miles. He hails from Riga, in Russia, has crossed Asia afoot, took steamer to Seattle and last evening arrived here from the Washington seaport town. The hardest part of his trip was through Siberia. Rengartner intends to walk to the Atlantic seaboard. He pays his own expenses, writes for several Russian papers and is not walking on a wager.

A DOCTOR'S SUICIDE.

Greenfield, Ind., June 15.—Dr. Samuel Martin, aged 55, for the past twenty-five years one of the most prominent physicians of Eastern Indiana, committed suicide last night by hanging himself in his barn. He had been in ill-health for some time and was somewhat despondent.

SURPLUS WIVES.

Predicament of Some Cheyenne and Arapahoe Indians.

Perry, Okla., June 15.—The Cheyenne and Arapahoe Indians are wrought up over the new law which goes into effect July 1 relating to polygamy. After that time each of the forty Cheyenne Indians who has more than one wife will have to choose one of the two, three or five wives that he has, and the cast-off wives must go back to their relatives. The interest between the squaws, who have become enlightened to their situation, has become intense. Every squaw who wants to remain with her husband is doing her best to please him so that she will be the lucky wife. There are forty of these polygamists, and in all they have over 100 squaws.

BID IN BY STOCKHOLDERS.

San Diego, Cal., June 15.—The property of the San Diego Land and Town company, including the Sweetwater dam and water system, 4000 acres of lemon orchards and the National City & Otay railroad, sold at receiver's sale by order of the United States court, was bid in by the company. Receiver C. D. Lanning, by order of the court, turned over the entire property, valued at $5,000,000, to the officers of the company, free of debt. The headquarters of the Land and Town company are in Boston.

A MYSTERIOUS WOMAN.

San Francisco, June 15.—A new phase of the Hoffman tragedy was presented yesterday when it was reported that an unknown woman, strangely acting and noticeably careful to conceal her identity, was seen on several occasions leaving the down-town establishment of Hoffman & Rothschild. The coroner's inquest will begin this afternoon. Bookkeeper Figel has been subpoenaed as a witness.

WILL REDUCE THE STOCK.

Dover, Del., June 15.—The directors of the Dover National bank have adopted a resolution favoring the reduction of the capital stock of the bank from $100,000 to $50,000, as a result of the recent defalcation of Paying Teller Boggs.

TREATY

Hawaiian Islands Annexation Treaty Will Reach the Senate Tomorrow.

Ex-Queen Lil and Her Daughter Ignored in the Present Measure.

No Hawaiian Coolies or Chinese to Be Permitted to Come Here.

Washington, June 15—The treaty for the annexation of the Hawaiian islands to the United States will be sent to the senate by President McKinley tomorrow unless present plans are changed. Men close to the administration, and others who are engaged in pushing through the tariff bill, have been informed that the treaty will be transmitted to the senate tomorrow and it is stated that there will be no consideration of the Hawaiian reciprocity provision in the tariff bill until the treaty is received.

The one point of importance in which the treaty differs from the convention negotiated by Secretary Foster in President Harrison's administration is the omission of any provision for ex-Queen Lilnokalani and the Princess Kaiuolani. In the original treaty it was provided that the government of the United States should pay the ex-queen the sum of $20,000 cash, and the same amount of money as a pension each year during the remainder of her natural life, provided she in good faith submitted to the government of the United States and the local government of the islands. The Princess Kaiuolani being next in line of royal blood was to receive a cash payment of $150,000 but no pension, under a similar proviso as in the case of the ex-queen.

It is understood that any objection that might have been expected to the annexation of the islands based on the large proportion of coolies in the population has been forestalled by an article not only prohibiting the further emigration of such laborers to the Hawaiian islands, but also prohibiting the coming of any of the Chinese from the islands to other parts of the United States.

DULUTH IS COOLEST.

Hot Weather All About the Zenith City.

St. Paul, June 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The hot weather continues, 74 being the official figure at 7 o'clock this morning in this city, and 92 being given as the maximum and 72 as the minimum for the past twenty-four hours. The day started with all indications of at least equalling yesterday and Sunday. Winnipeg, Huron, Bismarck and Moorhead each report 70 at 7 o'clock, and Duluth with 62 is the coolest at that hour, Lacrosse having a record of 76 and Marquette 68.

ROASTING AT CHICAGO.

Chicago, June 15.—This is the hottest day of the season, the government thermometer registering 90 degrees at noon, a rise of 13 degrees since 8 a. m., and with everything favorable for a more extreme degree of temperature this afternoon. Thermometers on the street are from 2 to 5 degrees hotter. With the possible exception of a local thunder-storm which may materialize before night, according to the weather bureau, there is no prospect of relief in sight, and the hot weather, which extends over the West and as far east as the Allegheny mountains is liable to continue for some time. Up to noon no cases of prostration had been reported.

TAMMANY'S ORATORS.

Who Will Talk on the Nation's Holiday.

New York, June 15.—The invitations to speakers for the Fourth of July celebration of the Tammany society have been issued. On the list are Gen. John M. Palmer, Gen. Simon B. Buckner, William D. Bynum, William C. Whitney and other leaders of the bolt against the Chicago platform. William J. Bryan is also invited. It is said that Grover Cleveland and ex-Governor Flower were put on the list at the last moment, but this statement lacks confirmation. The ultra-silvermen are not well pleased with Tammany's action in extending the olive branch to the gold Democrats.

STEAMER FOUNDERS.

Colombi, Island of Ceylon, June 15.—The British steamer Istan, 2000 tons, bound from Jeddah for Calcutta with a large number of Mecca pilgrims, has foundered near the island of Socotra, 120 miles east of Cape Guaradafui, the eastern extremity of Africa. Ten natives were drowned, but all the crew of the Istan and the remainder of the pilgrims have been landed here.

HONORARY OXFORD DEGREES.

London, June 15.—Among the recipients of honorary degrees from the university of Oxford are Wilfred Laurier, premier of the Dominion of Canada; Sir William V. Whiteway, premier of New Foundland, and E. L. Godkin, of the New York Evening Post, editor.

OBJECT TO THE DUTY.

Burlington, Vt., June 15.—A citizens' mass meeting last night protested against the proposed $2 tariff on white pine lumber. Resolutions to this effect were adopted and sent to all members of the Vermont delegation in congress.

DUE TO MIKE DORAN.

Why Senator Nelson Objects to Diment's Appointment.

Washington, June 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. M. Dimet, of Owatonna, Representative Tawney's candidate for collector of customs at St. Paul, arrived here last night and, accompanied by Representative Tawney, today called upon all the members of the Minnesota delegation, including Senators Davis and Nelson. It is not likely that either Tawney or Dimet anticipate any results from their talk with Nelson, as he has several times positively stated that he would not consent to Diment's appointment to this place.

In this connection the suspicion is growing stronger every day among Minnesotans interested here that the failure to make this appointment is due to the influence of Mike Doran. Nelson not only refuses to agree to Diment's appointment, but is not urging anybody else and has never suggested another name as a compromise. Of course, the more delay there is in filling this office the longer Doran's son-in-law, Geraghty, the present incumbent, will continue to draw his salary. It is claimed that Doran has worked his influence as a gold Democrat for all it is worth. This is the way many Minnesota Republicans here explain Nelson's position.

FLOWER IS CHEERFUL.

Saw Evidences of Improvement In Duluth.

Washington, June 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ex-Governor Flower has returned to the East after a long journey through the West, during which he inspected several railroads and mines in which he has investments. Mr. Flower spoke very cheerfully of the business prospects in that section, and his opinion is valued as that of a man who is familiar with farming as well as commercial interests. He says that the indications point to a gradual business revival. Confidence is returning generally among all classes. The crops are looking well and it appears to Mr. Flower that fair prices will be realized for them.

"Confidence has been badly shaken by Western legislatures sandbagging capital," said the former governor, "but the legislatures have all, or nearly all adjourned and capital is getting over its timidity. When capital starts to investing its money, that is when it is no longer afraid to, labor will find employment. In Duluth, the spring has been very backward and the people there, I found, were talking pretty blue. I could see, however, evidences of business improvement over the same time last year. The railroads and lake vessels are doing more business and the mines are showing an increased tonnage. The frosts have done no general damage. Injury has occurred only in a few small spots here and there. Spring and winter wheat are hardy plants and the weather has not injured either seriously."

HOME AGAIN.

Presidential Train Returning to Washington Safely.

Washington, June 15.—The presidential train finished its journey of more than 1700 miles at 7:30 this morning, pulling into the Washington station on time to the minute. At 10:35 last night when Salisbury, N. C., was reached, a large crowd had assembled at the suburban station and saw the president for a moment. Immediately thereafter everyone went to bed and the night being cool, all the party gained a good rest. The semi-invalids, Secretary Alger and Mrs. McCullum, were reported as much improved this morning and the president when he bade the correspondents good-bye last night, said the trip had done him much good and had been thoroughly enjoyed from start to finish, despite the heat.

At the station here the in-coming was very quiet. The president and Mrs. McKinley with Secretary and Mrs. Porter, got into the waiting carriage and drove direct to the White House, while the other members of the party went their several ways. The railway service throughout the trip was all that could be desired and while high speed was attained at times, it was only on stretches of track where danger was reduced to the minimum.

Mr. McKinley had hoped to settle the vexing question of the Spanish mission while away, but his hope was not realized in this regard. He met thousands of Southern people on this trip and expressed himself as delighted with the journey and with his added knowledge of so important a portion of the republic.

JUDGE L. S. DAVIES DEAD.

Santa Cruz, Cal., June 15.—L. S. Davies is dead, aged 75 years. Before coming here ten years ago, he was a prominent character of Waterbury, Conn., serving as mayor and probate judge. He studied law in William H. Seward's office and called the attention of the latter, who was then secretary of state, to the fact that German citizens in his country were held liable for military duty in Germany. At Seward's suggestion the deceased prepared a measure which became a law, which prohibited Germany from drafting German citizens of America into the army. A brother of the deceased is Bishop Thomas E. Davies of Michigan.

SEEKS ABSOLUTE DIVORCE.

San Francisco, June 15.—Leilah Kirkham Yarde-Buller, daughter of the late Gen. Ralph Kirkham, of Oakland, arrived in that city last night. Her journey was taken to secure an absolute divorce from her husband, Walter Yarde-Buller, second son of Earl Churchston. This is the sequel to a divorce contest in the English courts a year ago that resulted in a decree of legal separation.

ATHLETE DEAD.

Chicago, June 15.—Fred S. Green, of Bloomington, Ill., died last night in this city, aged 38. Death was due to paralysis. He was for a number of years a renowned athlete and aerial performer, the original "Lavan" of "Lavan brothers, Russian athletes," under this name, with his brothers, he performed in nearly every great city of the world and before the crowned heads of many nations.

A GOLD SHIPMENT.

New York, June 15.—Lazard Freres today announced that they would ship $600,000 in gold by Thursday's steamer. The gold was obtained from private sources, none being obtained in the subtreasury.

Details of the Sudden Suicide of the African Speculator.

Talking With a Passenger and Suddenly Leaped Into the Sea.

Wife and Children Were on the Vessel—A Cleveland Claimant.

Funchal, Maderia, June 15.—The following details have been obtained of the suicide of Barney Barnato, while on the passage here from Cape Town. Barnato, who had been in ill health for some time past seemed to improve after leaving Cape Town; but he was never left alone and some one was constantly detailed to watch him.

Yesterday, after lunch between 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon he seemed to be in very good spirits and was walking up and down the deck on a passenger's arm. Suddenly Barnato asked his companion to fell him the time. But before he received a reply he wrenched his arm away and jumped overboard.

The fourth officer jumped overboard after him immediately, but he failed to save the life of the South African speculator, as heavy seas were running and the vessel was steaming at the rate of seventeen knots an hour.

As soon as possible the steamer was stopped, a life boat was lowered and pulled to the spot where the two men were last seen. The fourth officer was rescued in an exhausted condition and later the body of Barnato was recovered, floating head downwards. His remains have been embalmed and will be taken to England on board the Scott. Mrs. Barnato and her children were also on board the Scott.

The Barnatos lived in the Spencer house for several years and were returning to occupy their gorgeous home, just being finished on Park Lane, opposite Stanhope gate. The deceased speculator leaves two children, Leah Primrose, named after his first mine, and a baby boy named Ladas Roscberry.

BARNATO'S FORTUNE.

Cleveland Woman Wants a Share of It.

Cleveland, June 15.—Mrs. Blackman, of No. 405 Perry street, who claims to be the legitimate daughter of Barney Barnato, will at once take steps to acquire a share of his fortune. Mrs. Blackman and her husband will proceed to London for the purpose of demanding her interest in the fortune.

Mrs. Blackman claims to be a daughter of Barnato, by his first wife, whose maiden name was Anna Esther. She says the couple lived together in London for fifteen years and finally went to Yagestrof, Poland. Later a separation occurred and mother and daughter came to this country. Mrs. Blackman is determined to go to Johannesburg if necessary, to prosecute her interest.

TINMAKERS MAY STRIKE.

Pittsburg, June 15.—A strike in the tin plate industry seems certain, and the conference on the wage scale arranged for tomorrow is not likely to accomplish anything. The total number of skilled workmen employed in the industry is 2357, of which 273 are non-union men. The number of workers outside of the tonnage men employed with tin plate plants is 6265, and a strike on the new wage scale will throw about 8000 people out of employment.

ANTI-BUTTERINE BILL.

Springfield, Ill., June 15.—The anti-butterine bill, which prohibits the coloring of butterine or oleomargarine for the purposes of the market, has been signed by the governor. The bill was fought through the legislature by the Elgin dairymen and was bitterly opposed by butterine makers all over the country.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.

Senator Spooner's Sugar Amendment Voted Down.

Washington, June 15.—The Republican caucus last night determined not to incorporate in the tariff bill the amendment proposed by Senator Spooner to postpone the time when certain features of the sugar schedule should go into effect until six months after the bill was passed, with the intention of compelling the sugar trust to dispose of the surplus sugar that has been imported pending the consideration of the tariff bill at a rate which would not allow it a great profit. The position taken by a large majority of the Republican senators was that it would be impracticable to have various portions of the bill go into effect at different times. If the action was taken on sugar it would have to be taken on wool and other items.

The argument was advanced that in changing tariffs no provision could be made against the advantage taken by buyers of foreign goods. If a tariff was to be reduced importations would be held back and if a tariff was to be raised importations would be rushed in. This was notably true of sugar and all other goods, and the caucus decided that there was no way of reaching the importers, and that no single article should be selected upon to postpone the effect of the new tariff.

The defeat of Senator Spooner's proposition was not accomplished until there had been a sharp fight. The Western men were arrayed against the East, and Senator Spooner had several sharp tilts with senators representing states where there is a great deal of manufacturing. He said that the greatest opposition to the proposed amendment was because the Eastern manufacturers feared that it might be extended to wool, and they would not be able to realize on the large importations of free wool, which had been made in anticipation of the tariff on wool. Mr. Spooner's motion was voted down, 18 to 12.

INDIA'S EARTHQUAKE.

A Vanished Postoffice---Calcutta Streets Impassable.

Calcutta, June 15.—Telegrams with earthquake news, the echoes of the subterranean disturbances of Saturday last, are pouring in from every station north of Madras. The postoffice at Chittagong has been swallowed up.

The heavy rains of the past few days are increasing the damage done. Some of the streets here are closed to traffic and it is believed that the firing of the jubilee salute must be abandoned, as the firing even of a time gun is dangerous, shaking the damaged buildings.

Thousands of poor Europeans and Furaslans are homeless and are living in the open air.

DEBS' NEW MOVE.

A Co-Operative Brotherhood to Be Outlined Soon.

Chicago, June 15:—Eugene V. Debs today addressed a large audience at Handas hall, on the subject of the proposed "American Co-operative Brotherhood." PRESSMEN'S CONVENTION.

Detroit, Mich., June 15.—About 100 delegates to the International Pressmen's convention, and more than that number of union pressmen, who are not delegates, were present this morning at the opening session of the convention in the city hall council chamber. Mayor Maybury made a happy address of welcome, alluding to the progress of the printers' art and the wonderful and unerring facility with which the printing press is made to do its work in these days. President John McVicar, himself an old time printer, seconded the mayor's welcome. President Theodore F. Galoski responded briefly. A list of convention committees was announced by the president and meanwhile the committee on credentials went into session to examine the credentials and consider a protest offered against five New York delegates.

CABINET MEETING.

Hawaiian Annexation Was the Chief Topic.

Washington, June 15.—Probably because of the fact of his return was not generally known in Washington the president had few callers at the White House this morning before the time set for the cabinet meeting. A mass of mail had accumulated so the morning hours were fully occupied. All the members of the cabinet were present, and there were many matters of routine business that required attention today.

The meeting did not last an unusually long time. The matters of public interest under discussion were first the projected annexation of Hawaii, and second the state of affairs in Cuba. As to the first the administration's policy has already been defined and it is understood that what remains now to be done is to arrange only the details of the program by which annexation is to be attained.

Touching Cuba, as the president had an opportunity to talk only briefly with Special Commissioner Calhoun before he went South last week, and nothing of importance has developed since, there is little to be said. It can be stated unequivocally after the result of today's cabinet meeting that no important action relating to Cuba will be taken relating to the administration until the new minister to Madrid has been chosen and is at his post ready for the duties of the mission.

BURNED

Immigrant Landing Station at Ellis Island, New York Harbor, Destroyed.

No Lives Lost But All the Larger Buildings Are In Ashes.

Government Records and Immigrants' Baggage Gone ---Thrilling Rescues.

New York, June 15.—Fire at an early hour this morning destroyed the immigrant landing station that covered almost all of Ellis island, causing a property loss of about $780,000 to the United States government. All of the government records and the baggage of immigrants was burned. Two hundred and fifty immigrants were rescued from the burning structures and brought safely to this city. Not one of them received a burn. There are forty patients in the wooden hospital building in the rear of the main structure, who were carried out in cots just before the hospital took fire.

The cause of the fire is as yet a mystery. It started in the east end of the main structure, which was more than one thousand feet long and three stories high. The first floor of this building was almost entirely given up to baggage, while the eastern end of the second story was used for offices. The third story was used as a reviewing gallery. The middle and southern portions of the first two stories were used for landing bureaus and detention rooms. It was in this part of the building that most of the immigrants were sleeping last night.

When Chief Night Watchman Burke noticed the fire it was licking around one of the towers. He at once summoned the thirty men employed under him, who quickly unlocked the iron gates leading into the detention room and aroused the sleepers who were reposing on benches and cots. One of the night watchmen was also sent across the bridge to the woman's dormitory, a 2-story building in the rear of the landing depot. They were hustled down stairs into the yard in the rear of the landing depot and then conducted around the west end of the building and so on to the ferry slip, where the ferryboat John G. Carlisle was lying with steam up.

Meantime the men in the main building had been rushed out and down the main double stairway at the west end to the boat. Surgeon White and Assistant Surgeons White and Gideon had been aroused by the steam whistles and at once began to remove the forty patients in the hospital. It was seen at a glance that the big main building was doomed and it required quick work to carry out the helpless sick before the blistering heat prevented an approach to the hospital building. Doctors, nurses and attendants helped in the work. Miss A. Boltz, one of the nurses, carried out four of the children herself. In this way all of the forty sick people were carried into the large cabin on the Carlisle's main deck.

Meantime, some of the immigrants who had escaped from the main building had become anxious about their baggage and despite the fact that the east building was fast being encompassed by the flames, rushed back to save it. In all the known tongues they insisted that their all was contained in the boxes and bundles which they had brought over. Capt. Burke and his men had to fairly fight them back on the boat. They wept and wrung their hands when they found it was impossible to save their property.

The fire by this time had the entire main building in its embrace and the flames illuminated the whole harbor, light ing up the lower e nd of New York almost as plainly as day. Jersey City and Brooklyn were thrown into bold relief by the flames, which licked and crackled around the cornices and shrivelled up the great corrugated iron roof of the immaigrant building. Lighted by this glare, with the paint blistering from her sides, the Carlisle steamed out of the long slip into the upper bay. She had been preceded but a few minutes earlier by the transfer steamer Emmons, Hazel Kirk and John E. Moore, with three of the big immigrant barges. The battery in this city was crowded by thousands who were attracted thither by the lurid sky and the piers along the Jersey City and Brooklyn water front contained throngs of spectators speculating as to the possible loss of life. Every vessel in the harbor could be seen plainly. Even from Fort Hamilton and Staten island the burning was watched and could be plainly seen.

The wind was from the westward and thus prevented the flames from immediately igniting the smaller buildings in the rear of the main depot. Chief Engineer James and Engineer Kelly, who was in charge of the dynamo and engine house on the island, started the pumps and kept two steams of water steadily poured into the hospital building. In the meantime two sections of police had reached the island in the police launches and the fireboat New Yorker had also steamed over to the island and all the streams from her heaviest pumps were turned on the fire.

At 2 o'clock the flames were under control. The big station, the hospital, the laundry, restaurant, doctors' houses and a number of small outbuildings were in ashes. The engine house was the only building of importance on the island which escaped destruction. When the ferry boat Carlisle reached the barge office landing in this city this morning, ambulances from Gouverneur and Hudson street hospitals met the boat and patients from Ellis island were divided between the two institutions.

BRILLIANT SPECTACLE.

New York Harbor Bathed in Glowing Flames.

New York, June 15.—Ellis island is today a mass of black, smouldering ruins. All the huge buildings which since 1892 have housed hundreds of thousands of immigrants were demolished in a conflagration during the night, which constituted one of the most brilliant spectacles ever seen in New York harbor, and which threatened the lives of 200 emigrants who were on the island. As far as can be learned there was no loss of life. The exact amount of damage has not yet been ascertained, but it is said that the loss on buildings will amount to something like $800,000, while hundreds of volumes of valuable records have been destroyed.

The first steps taken today by the immigration authorities were to ascertain definitely, if possible, whether any of the persons who were on the island last night had been caught in the flames. There were no records left by which the temporary inhabitants could be accounted, so the immigrants were divided up into groups according to the ships they came in. Then they were submitted to close questioning. They were asked whether they missed any of their fellow-passengers. It was a chattering, noisy crowd. At last everybody seemed satisfied that all their shipmates were safe and sound on land, and the authorities came to the conclusion that in some wonderful way the fire which ate up the buildings on Ellis island as if they were matchwood had been without fatal result.

The absence of telephone communication with the island and the more or less confused statements of the persons who were hurried from the licking flames that threatened to leave them no refuge save in the waters of the bay, make it difficult to ascertain the exact cause, extent and details of the fire.

The thousands of people who stood on shore throughout the night and watched the immigrant buildings burn themselves out had a better idea of the actual happenings than those on the island themselves. It was a wonderful sight. Well out in the center of the harbor was a mass of flames that shot upwards and outward and seemed only to gain new life when the roofs fell inward to the heart of the fire below. The shores of New Jersey, Staten Island and the docks on the river were aglow with the reflected light. On the edges of the island where the flames had not reached there were hundreds of little dark dots, like black ants, scurrying to safety. Then from out of the dark water in the distances countless tugs steamed into the flood of light, and soon the island was surrounded with craft of all kinds.

Nightwatchman Christian tells the story of the fire very graphically: "I did not know anything about it," he says, "until I found myself in a cloud of smoke. I rushed to the northwest end, where the flames seemed to come from, and shouted 'Fire!' Six men slept there, and they only just got out. Then somebody rung the alarms which communicate with all the departments. The immigrants seemed dazed and we had to almost force them out. Then some of them ran back for some bit of trinket or bundle of clothing. We thought we had lost fifteen Italians for certain until we found them huddled together at the far end of the island. It was a few minutes before 1 o'clock when the fire started in one of the towers in one of the main buildings. Everybody but the watchmen were asleep. The fire boats and police poured water on the blaze for all they were worth, but for all the good it did it might have been oil.

"It was a wonder that the immigrants in the main building got out at all; it was still more of a wonder that the sixty odd patients in the hospital were saved. The nurses and doctors worked as cool and calm as any trained firemen. Some of the sick shrieked and shouted, but the nurses did not mind. They hauled them out on stretchers and laid them down where they would not get scorched. It was good work."

JANSSENS

New Orleans Dead Archbishop's Body Lying In State—Many Visitors.

Mortuary Procession Will Be a Great Civic and Military One.

Incoming Trains Loaded With Delegations to Attend the Prelate's Funeral.

New Orleans, June 15.—From early morning throngs have poured into St. Mary's church where the remains of Archbishop Janssens are lying in state. Every class in the community is represented. This morning at 8 o'clock a solemn high mass was held there in honor of the dead prelate, with Bishop Van de Vyver, of Richmond, officiating.

Nine bishops will officiate in the pageant today and the funeral services tomorrow. They are McQuaid, of Rochester; Gallagher, of Galveston; Forest, of San Antonio; Verdagner, of Laredo; Fitzgerald, of Little Rock; Heslin, of Natchez; Dunne, of Dallas; McCloskey, of Louisville, and Van de Vyver, of Richmond.

The mortuary procession, starting at 4 o'clock this afternoon will embrace religious, civic and military features, and will pursue a roundabout way from St. Mary's church to the cathedral, which has been already elaborately decorated. Governor Foster and staff, detachments of the state National Guard, court and municipal officers will take part, and the demonstration will be one of great grandeur. Arriving trains are bringing in delegations from all sections of the surrounding country to attend the funeral.

THE WELLESLEY GIRLS.

Will Have a Great Time on Float Day.

Wellesley, Mass., June 15.—The greatest event at Wellesley Female college is the annual celebration of float day by the crews of all the classes. The events will take place tomorrow. There will be six crews on Lake Waban—the senior, junior and sophomore crews, and three crews from the freshman class. The latter are rivals for the honor of representing the class during the three following years of the college course. The senior crew is the star crew of the college. The members are: H. L. Atkins, coxswain; port side, L. N. Laird, M. E. Simmonds, C. N. Crosby, L. M. Clarke; starboard side, Miss Louise Hutcheson (captain), L. S. M. Crofut, M. M. Cunningham and L. W. Cummings, all athletic-looking young women.

This is regarded as one of the best crews ever seen in college. Miss Hutcheson, its captain, is the leading spirit in the boating interests of the school, and has been very prominent in athletics throughout her course. Boating is the king of sports here. There are 131 girls in regular practice. These 131 girls are the result of a winnowing process. Only the strongest girls, or those whose health warrants a course in athletic training, are allowed to retain seats in the boats. In nearly every freshman class nearly half the girls want to try for the crew. They are all subjected to physical examination, and those who need development in any particular direction are given a course in gymnastics to correct their deficiencies. After a winter's work in the gymnasium they are again tested, and those who are most "fit" are divided into three 8-oared crews. The best of these crews will be on "float day" awarded the honor of representing the class. On that day the best crew on the lake will be made the "college crew," and there is little doubt that the '97 crew will hold the honor.

The suits of the crews consist of sweaters and bloomers, with a skirt which is discarded when the girls enter the boat. The colors vary with each class. No prettier sight can be imagined than six crews, in their bright-colored suits, flashing up and down the dark blue waters of the lake with an easy, supple sway of their lithe, muscular bodies, which is the very poetry of motion.

BUNKER HILL DAY.

The Main Feature of This Year's Celebration.

Boston, June 15.—The feature of this year's celebration of Bunker Hill day will be the presentation of the winged figure of "Victory" to the battleship Massachusetts is a gift of the commonwealth. A large number of warships have been promised by the navy department, and if they all rendezvous in the harbor the Hub will witness a finer display of the White Squadron than it has yet seen. The Bay state, determined to be unique and artistic at the same time, decided that enough silver services were already in the navy, and selected a gift that would grace the ship's exterior. To Sculptor Bela L. Pratt was intrusted the production of a bronze statue of "Victory," which will be placed in the space between the two big guns on the forward turret. The figure is of a winged female, whose arms are held down in front, clasping a sword, on which is written the word "Victory." A helmet is on the head and a steel armor incases the bust. The entire figure is a beautiful conception of artistic fancy and will be a lesson in art as well as an inspiration to duty to all the tars who may tread the deck of the mighty ship.

The ceremonies of presentation will bring together the leading men of the state, for it is distinctly a present from the whole commonwealth and not from any section. Another event of the day will be the carnival parade, which will include the entire outfit of floats of the Mardi Gras festivities at New Orleans. Civic and military bodies will parade and a company from the Ninth regiment, N. G. N. Y., will be among the visiting military detachments. In the evening a promenade concert and ball will be tendered the company by the citizens' committee of Boston.

AMERICAN ALCOHOL.

Japan Presents a New Market For It.

San Francisco, June 15.—Alcohol is now being shipped to Japan under circumstances which promise that the American article will be able to come into profitable competition with the German product. The latter has almost a monopoly of the trade, as with the advantage of an export bounty it has been laid down at rates that could not be met by the makers of American corn spirits.

Recently, however, reduced transportation rates have been obtained, making it possible to ship alcohol to Yokohama from Peoria at a profit. Thus far three carloads, comprising 585 barrels, have been forwarded to their destination. This is expected to be the opening of a trade which mounts up into the millions of dollars annually.

DECLINED

Wheat Was Weakened and Lower Owing to Small Advance Abroad.

Reports of Damage to European Crops Were Thus Discredited.

Heavy Clearances Caused a Reaction For a Short Time.

Wheat opened weak and lower today. The market was influenced by the Liverpool and Paris cables, which showed but little advance after yesterday's strong American markets, and this fact rather discredited the reports of damage to European crops. The weather West was ideal for the crop, warm and forcing with plenty of moisture in the ground. Chicago commission houses were all loaded with selling orders, but the demand had dwindled to almost nothing and the price declined. The market then steadied on receipt of cables reiterating the claims of damage to crops in Roumania and Bulgaria. Northwest receipts were 305 cars against 329 last week and 644 a year ago. Chicago receipts were 11 cars. New York clearances of wheat and flour equaled 120,000 bus, 46,000 bus of which was wheat.

The heavy clearances caused a reaction but as none of the other A-lantic ports added anything worth mentioning to swell the total of the day's exports and nothing else occurred to revive the spirits of the bulls, the price began to sag. Closing cablegrams quoted spot No. 1 spring ½d higher for the day at Liverpool; Paris 15 centimes higher for near and 10 centimes higher for the more remote futures; Antwerp 12½ centimes higher. Bradstreet's statement that the world's visible had decreased 3,868,000 bus had no appreciable effect upon the price.

Trading was very dull on the Duluth board. July wheat opened ⅜c lower at 71⅝c and sold down to 71⅜ under small business. The close was steady with buyers at 71⅝c, a decline of ⅝c for the day. The mills bought 5000 bus of cash stuff at ½c over July, and shippers took 6000 bus at ½@⅝c over July. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 72¾c, No. 1 northern, cash, 72c; July, 71⅜c bid; September, 64⅝c asked. No. 2 northern, 70c. No. 3, 68@69½c. Rejected, 58@62c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 72¾c; No. 1 northern, 72c. Rye, 34c. No. 2 oats, 21c; No. 3 oats, 20½c. Flax, 76c.

Car inspection—Wheat, 148; corn, 1; oats, 97; rye, 5; barley, 59; flax, 31. Receipts—Wheat, 59,483 bus; corn, 70 bus; oats, 59,940 bus; rye, 765 bus; barley, 12,385 bus; flax, 2590 bus. Shipments—Oats, 120,500 bus.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 207 Board of Trade, Chicago, June 15.—Too many traders went home last night prepared for a squeeze in July wheat. Cables this morning showed that foreigners neither shared our fears nor expressed much anxiety of their own crops. There was liberal selling all day by longs who were willing to take small profits and by a few large shorts who are confident of their position and adding to their lines. September wheat ruled much steadier than July. Reports today from the northwest state that conditions in the Red River valley were never more favorable for a bumper crop than at present and a well known crop expert now in the Dakotas wires that in his opinion the general condition is above par. Harvesting has started in some parts of Missouri. Clearances larger than usual but no new business reported at the seaboard and the milling demand here was conspicuously absent. July wheat closes at a cent decline and is in a position to respond readily to good buying or an attempt to buy.

Corn and oats fairly steady, declining early when wheat did, but recovering some later. The trade is inclined to wait until July before making an attempt to lift prices, for June has always been a bear month in corn and the present weather cannot inspire much bull enthusiasm.

Provisions easier on more liberal hog receipts. Trade only moderate.

Puts, July wheat, 68¾@68¾-⅞c.
Calls, July wheat, 70⅜@70⅝-¾c.
Curb, July wheat, 69¾c.

Lichliter, state councilor, called the convention to order. There were about 200 delegates and visitors present. Mr. Lichliter introduced Mayor Ford, who welcomed the delegates in a happy address.

SHOT BY A FARMER.

Indianapolis, June 15.—James T. Thacher, an advertising solicitor, was killed this morning by Harry Leonard, a farmer west of this city. Thacher, in company with some women, seized a horse belonging to Leonard and started off with it. Leonard, who said he thought they were horse thieves, pursued and shot Thacher with a shotgun.

WHERE FISHING IS GOOD.

Those looking for the best fishing grounds are reminded of Lake Tetonka, at Waterville, and Madison lake, on the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad.

Wall-eyed pike, bass and crappies are found in great abundance at both of these lakes, which have not been fished out to the extent of some of the older and better known localities.

Excellent hotel accommodations, boats, bait, etc., on hand, and all charges are very reasonable.

WEST END

No Special Celebration of Fourth of July Probable This Year.

Sawmill Workers Will Meet at Great Eastern Hall Tomorrow Night.

Company H. Being Strengthened By Enlistment of Recruits—Other News.

There will be no special celebration of the anniversary of the nation's independence in West Duluth this year. The disastrous attempt in this direction last year has discouraged the few ultra patriotic citizens who labored for a big display a year ago, and they will join with the crowds in observing the day in quiet and rest. A number of picnic parties have been arranged for and a few dances are on the program, among others being one to be given by Fred Filiatrault in the Sherwood block.

SAWMILL WORKERS' MEETING.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Sawmill Workers' Protective union, No. 6700 American Federation of Labor, will be held at Great Eastern hall tomorrow night. Members and candidates for initiation are expected to be present at 7:30 o'clock sharp. The union will in future hold open meetings at least once each month. The organization has been steadily growing in membership since the opening of the sawing season and is now stronger than ever before in its history.

RECRUITS TAKEN IN.

Several new recruits have been enlisted in Company H in anticipation of the good time that goes with a membership in the company in the annual encampment. The boys are working hard to get themselves in good form that they may make a creditable showing. Last year Company H had more men in line than any other company in the state and ranked high in drill and guard duty.

LEFT IN THE STREET.

A truck loaded with a section of the large force main pipe broke down yesterday at Thirtieth avenue west and was permitted to remain in the street all night. There was no light displayed to warn wheelmen and others of the obstruction and several accidents were narrowly averted. The big pipe lay half way across the pavement and was a source of great danger on so well traveled a thoroughfare.

BROKE AN ARM.

The 6-year-old son of Mrs. Flora Larabee, living on Fifty-sixth avenue west near Cody street, met with a serious accident last evening while playing on the sidewalk in front of his home. Another child gave the little fellow a push and he fell to the ground, breaking an arm.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

The West Duluth court of Foresters gave a pleasant social dance in Gilley's hall last night, which was fairly well attended, and a most enjoyable time was had. Dancing was continued until after midnight. The ladies served ice cream and strawberries to their guests.

John Allen, aged 49 years, died last night of consumption. The body will be shipped to Ottawa, Canada, for interment.

August Lofgren and bride are expected home this afternoon from their bridal tour.

H. B. Thompson, a prominent lawyer of White Sulphur Springs, Mont., wife and child are in West Duluth, the guests of R. W. Marsh at his home on Fifty-eighth avenue west. They will visit here for a week, when they will leave for an extended Eastern trip.

Dr. Robert Forbes will preach in St. Paul Sunday, July 4. His services for a speech on Saturday, July 3, and Monday, July 5, are in great demand, but as yet he has made no engagement for either date.

The West Duluth ball club will try it again next Sunday. This time the Cloquet nine will be their opponents and they hope to put up a better game than last Sunday, when they met with two ignominious defeats.

DRUMMERS' TRICKS.

Chicago News: "Yes," said Professor Roterberg, "there is a lot of fun in the business. But the newest branch of my business is teaching tricks to drummers. My best patrons in Chicago are drummers. They come to me and say: 'Professor put me next to a good card trick, teach me something new with the coins,' or 'Haven't you got a handkerchief trick that I can do?' I look them over and size up their possibilities. Sometimes in half an hour I can teach a smart drummer three or four tricks. He performs them in the country stores and gets the proprietor interested, just as the old-time drummer used to do when he told stories, then he sells his man a bill of goods.

"There are thirty or forty drummers who come to me regularly for instuction and some of them I have made adept sleight-of-hand performers. You see, the drummer must be interesting or he won't do. He can't tell his peculiar kind of stories any more because nowadays women are largely employed in country stores as bookkeepers or clerks and the average country merchant doesn't drink as he used to—that is, not at home.

"Sleight-of-hand tricks with coins, cards or handkerchiefs are the principal devices the smart drummer relies on to work up the interest of those he deals with and the modern drummer in some cases knows enough of the conjurer's art to earn his living as a professional."

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Considerable Trading and Higher Prices Prevailed.

New York, June 15.—The trading was in considerable volume at the outset and higher prices prevailed, the more noteworthy improvements being shown in the industrials. Sugar registered the extreme gain among the active shares of 7-8 per cent, touching 126 1-2, the best price of the present upward movement. Consolidated Gas jumped 1 1-4. The fluctuations in the railway shares were narrow, the grangers being in the lead and in brisk demand.

Short covering was on an extensive scale in the prominent shares and although the traders realized freely at the top level prices were well sustained and marked gains were made in some stocks on the extension of commission-house orders. The prominence of the hitherto neglected stocks in the speculation reflected clearly the revived development of an active outside interest. Sugar and New Jersey Central were pressed for sale and sagged ¾ and 1 per cent respectively. Lake Shore, Cotton Oil and other usually inactive shares displayed conspicuous strength on moderate purchases.

The market retained its strength for a brief time after the first hour, during which material gains were made in some shares. Tobacco advancing a point. This stock, however, soon shared in the general selling movement that developed and lost the gain. The scrip also receded 1½ per cent. Realizations gave the chief impetus to the downward trend with which government accelerated by the dislodging of long stock. Sugar fell to $1.25 1-4; Illinois steel, 2 per cent; Pacific Mail and Consolidated Gas, 1, and New York Central ruled about 2 points below the top notch. The railway list declined slightly and the grangers were offered freely. The bond market was very active, but prices were not greatly changed except in some of the prominent issues. Sales up to noon 124,000 shares.

THE WEATHER.

United States Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth. Synopsis of weather conditions for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 a. m., (Central time), June 15.—The northwestern storm still continues central over Montana. Its intensity increasing slightly. Showers have resulted at nearly all reporting stations of the Canadian Northwest and the adjacent sections of Montana and North Dakota, and local showers in Minnesota, Michigan, Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri. Thunder storms have been numerous in the Northwest. The rainfalls have been heaviest in Saskatchewan and Kansas, 1.92 inches being reported at Battleford during the past twenty-four hours and .94 inch at Dodge City.

The highest temperatures reported yesterday afternoon were as follows: Williston and Davenport, 96; St. Paul, 92; Bismarck, Huron and Winnipeg, 90. It is now warmer in the lake region than at the same hour yesterday and cooler in the Lower Mississippi valley; elsewhere the changes have been slight and variable.

Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity: Partly cloudy with thunder showers tonight and Wednesday; cooler tonight; fresh northwest winds probably becoming brisk to high tonight.

JAMES KENEALY,
Local Forecast Official.

Chicago, June 15.—Forecast until 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Generally fair tonight and Wednesday, except cooler and continued warm; winds mostly dl'sterly. Favorable for local thunder storms southeasterly. For Minnesota: Partly cloudy with local thunder storms tonight and Wednesday; fresh southeasterly winds.

CELEBRATING THE FOURTH.

The Fourth of July this year falls on Sunday, and unless an agreement be reached in some way, the celebration is likely to be divided over two or three days. Inasmuch as Saturday is a decidedly inconvenient day for a suspension of many lines of retail business, it seems to The Herald that Monday, July 5, should be observed as the holiday and that the celebration should be confined to that date. Monday will be a bank holiday, as it is made so by law, and this is an additional reason why it should be observed as a holiday in business circles generally. The joint celebration at the driving park by the bicycle club and Clan Stewart has been set for Monday, and The Herald trusts that all other societies will follow suit.

The city and county officials can aid greatly in this effort to have everyone celebrate on Monday by making formal announcement at once that their offices will be closed on that day.

BARNEY BARNATO.

The news of the death by suicide of Barney Barnato, the Kaffir king and great South African stock manipulator, comes from a remote section and as yet lacks official confirmation. Of course the report may be true, but in Barnato there was a continual spectacle of a man who could elevate or depress stocks by the most trivial methods. If Barnato coughed, Kaffirs would fall; if he gave a dinner or entertained a few friends, the stocks would climb upwards.

Six months ago Barnato was reported to be very ill, and Kaffir stocks depreciated something like £50,000,000 in the aggregate, but the offerings were all taken off the market, and when it was found that Barnato was quite well it was also found that the depreciated stocks had all, or nearly all, been bought by this prince of stock jobbers. His reported death has already caused a great depression in the securities, and the report that he has committed suicide may be only a ruse, although it seems to be confirmed in several quarters. It should be remembered, however, that the Morocco coast is a long way off.

TO REPRESS PROFANITY.

One of the latest movements in New York aims to repress profanity on the streets and in public places. The League of Purists has charge of the movement. It has chosen some thirty young ladies, workers in the organization, and provided each with a novelty in the shape of a bundle of "Curse cards." The plan is for the lady to carry a package of these cards whenever on a mission of charity, shopping, or promenading on the public highways. For instance, if she is traveling on an elevated train, and hears a man who has accidentally passed his station, or for any other reason, murmur a subdued "swear word" she is to hand him a curse-card, which invites him to fill in the blank form, and bind himself for a stated time to refrain from swearing. As a rule the culprit is so astonished by the request and so charmed by the winning smile of the giver of the card that he pledges himself.

The thirty ladies are of various nationalities, because in a great metropolis like New York swear words fly through the air in every tongue under heaven. They are expected to approach all sorts and conditions of men, and under all circumstances save one—which they realize is a dangerous time, and that is at the particular moment when a man is "seeing stars," caused by his neighbor having kicked his pet corn. The committee appreciates the fact that there is a limit to human endurance. The value of the movement has not yet been demonstrated, but if it results in diminishing profanity in any degree it may be regarded as a success.

THE SENATE'S REPUTATION.

"Mr. Hoar cowes Ben Tillman," said a headline in the morning paper today. Yet there was nothing the Washington dispatch following which indicated that Senator Tillman had been "cowed" by the old gentleman from Massachusetts Mr. Tillman was again insisting that the senate should purge itself of the charges of corruption in connection with the sugar schedule so freely made in the leading newspapers of the country. He declared that the people desired a thorough investigation of these charges; that they wanted the honor of the senate vindicated or the men who slandered it punished. And what was Mr. Hoar's reply? How did he "cow" the South Carolina senator, as the headline artist of the News Tribune describes it? Mr. Hoar said that the charges of bribery of senators are "received by serious people throughout the country with absolute contempt," and that to the great body of the people of Massachusetts "these charges are not only preposterous, but infamous."

But Mr. Tillman was not "cowed" by this assertion. While he claimed no special mission, he said he had come from the people, from the farm and to the senate more recently than the Massachusetts senator. He knew, he said, "that the only thing infamous in this transaction, in the view of the people, was the refusal to investigate, and this effort to hide behind the senatorial toga." If the senate persisted in this, then it was disgraced before the people. Public charges had been made that bribery was abroad in connection with this subject, "and unless you investigate, you stand convicted," asserted the senator.

Who will dare assert that Senator Tillman failed to represent the situation correctly? Senator Hoar's integrity is not questioned. He is an old man whose reputation is unsullied, but he does not come in contact with the people and has but limited opportunities for ascertaining public sentiment, and consequently he is probably honest in his belief that the charges affecting the honor of the senate are not seriously considered. But he is mistaken on this point. There are many people who do regard with grave suspicion the relation of certain senators to the sugar trust and who view the failure of the senate to investigate the serious charges as a semi-confession of guilt.

A quaint record of a boy's Fourth of July experience is published in "The Life and Work of Thomas Greenhalge, Governor of Massachusetts," just issued. In a diary written at the age of 13 the following entries were made: "Thursday, July 3, went to school all day. Marshall, who was absent, brought me half a pound of powder which I had ordered." The record of the Fourth of July is missing. "Saturday, July 5, did not get up till 11 o'clock. Went over to Hinckley's, and we went to the doctor's, and he had the powder in his face picked out." The subtle humor of the record will be appreciated by the "old boys," many of whom "have been there."

Few who read the letter in today's News Tribune, defending the selection of Senator Culkin as register of the Duluth land office, could be mistaken as to the identity of its author. The carmarks of one who already rejoices in the promise of a fat federal office were visible in every sentence, and the initials "L. M. W." were clearly perceptible between the lines.

Referring to the statement that John D. Rockefeller's cycling costume consists of plaid knickerbockers, brown leather leggings, sack coat, black Alpine hat and brown gloves, the Omaha Bee thinks it is no wonder a Baptist preacher expressed some doubt of the genuineness of John's piety.

The plans for the massive eight-track bridge which is to span the Hudson at New York city have been modified by the secretary of war so as to reduce the length of the center span from 3110 to 2710 feet, thereby reducing the cost of construction from $25,000,000 to $17,000,000.

TO BE ELABORATE.

Clan Stewart-Cycle Club Celebration to Be Large.

The committees from Clan Stewart and the Duluth Cycle club appointed to arrange the joint celebration to be held July 5 at the fair grounds met last evening in the club rooms to consider plans. The plans have been extended, and it is aimed to make the celebration one of the largest ever given in Duluth. Railroad rates will be secured so that people from surrounding towns may attend. The afternoon will be devoted to bicycle races and Caledonian games, and in the evening there will be dancing and probably fireworks. The program for the bicycle races, subject to change, is as follows: Mile novice, open, scratch; quarter-mile handicap, open to club members; two mile, open, scratch; mile handicap, open to club members; mile tandem; half-mile handicap, club members; quarter-mile, open, scratch; quarter mile against time, club members; five-mile handicap. In the latter race the trophy cup will probably be put up for first place. The Caledonian program will be announced later.

John Christie, E. F. Blowers and A. F. Dorner were appointed to have charge of all details. Alderman Rowley was asked to submit to the council a petition for a donation of $250 for the proper pyrotechnical display.

The Cycle club committee also met Manager Wray of the Union rink to arrange the track race between the Duluth and Superior clubs. The race, if possible, will be held from July 12 to July 17, and there will probably be six of the fastest riders from each club, each contestant to ride forty minutes each evening and the race each evening to last two hours. The Cycle club will give a cup to go to the club whose representative makes the greatest distance. In addition there will be a varied and expensive selection of prizes.

May Speak Here.

There is a movement on foot among some people of liberal religious tendencies in the city to secure Rev. H. S. McCawan, who created so much interest in St. Cloud a few months ago in the plan to form a union of many weak churches into one strong body, and who was a few weeks later refused ordination by a Congregational council, to deliver an address in the Lyceum theater upon the subject "Lyman Abbott and His Teachings of Evolution," next Sunday night. Mr. McCawan is an evolutionist and a very liberal theologian. Those who know him and have heard his address are enthusiastic in their efforts to secure him.

The Lawn Fete.

The postponed lawn fete will be given by the ladies of Morley church at the home of Mrs. B. C. Church, 28 South Twenty-first avenue east, Wednesday evening of this week. The plans indicate that this will be the most successful social ever given by the church. During the evening Mrs. McAuliffe and Miss Smallwood will sing, Mrs. Stocker being the accompanist. A song in costume by an unknown artist will be a feature. These together with the band will make an evening outdoors very delightful.

CONTEMPLATED MINE SALE.

San Francisco, June 15.—Charles D. Lane, the mining man, will leave for London this morning to complete the sale of the La Esperanza mine to English capitalists. This mine is situated about 150 miles from the City of Mexico. The purchase price is to be $6,000,000 Mexican money.

DRIVEN OUT BY INDIANS.

Wichita, Kan., June 15.—A party of prospectors, headed by William Cooley, an old Montana miner, ventured into the Wichita mountains last week and began to prospect for gold, which is reputed to be there in abundance. They were discovered by a band of Indians and forced to flee for their lives, leaving all of their tools and camp equipments. The Indians pursued them for many miles. The Indians are determined to keep the prospectors out.

BARNATO'S DEATH.

Report Causes a Sensation in Financial Circles.

London, June 15.—The officials of the Union Steamship company to which the steamer Scott belongs, confirm the announcement made last night in a special dispatch from Funchal, island of Maderia, that Barney Barnato, the South African "diamond king," com-

Carl Halverson, the farmer whose unwhile that vessel was on her way from Cape Town, which port she left on June 2, for Southampton via Funchal. The death of Barney Barnato has caused a sensation in financial circles. His office here was besieged this morning by hundreds of eager enquirers and even then his firm had not received confirmation of the news.

Throgmorton street was filled with excited crowds of brokers discussing the news of Barnato's death. His self-destruction is generally supposed to have been the outcome of his recent illness at the Cape, which, according to rumors on the stock exchange was in the nature of brain trouble. The African market, as a result of the death of Barnato, was depressed today. Barnato Consolidated was ⅜ lower; Johannesburg investment went down ½; Chartered company's securities fell pacing horses of the West. Fred Rand mines were ⅜ lower.

The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon commenting on the death of Barney Barnato says he has been mentally unwell for about three months past and that he has been under constant surveillence.

ALASKA'S GOVERNOR.

Washington, June 15.—The president today sent the following nominations to the senate:

Interior—John G. Brady, of Alaska, to be governor of the district of Alaska.

To be commissioners in and for the district of Alaska: Caldwell W. Tuttle, of Indiana, and John E. Crane, of Illinois.

IN THE DAKOTAS.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Mrs. Urba Dixon, a stenographer employed in the last legislature at Bismarck, has made application to the supreme court for a writ of habeas corpus for the release of her husband, who has been in jail there for some time charged with adultery. After the adjournment of the legislature, Dixon ran away with another woman, and was followed by his wife, who secured his arrest at Miles City, Mont., and he was brought back for trial. Mrs. Dixon has evidently forgiven her wayward spouse, and is making a strong fight to get him released from the charge she made against him. Both parties are well known in that section.

At Minnewaukan there was intense heat yesterday, the mercury registering 97 by the signal station instrument, and yesterday morning at 7 o'clock it was 91. The rainfall last week was half an inch. Much wheat sowed has just sprouted.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

War is being waged in nearly every town in the Hills against the peddlers and agents who have flocked there in hordes on the strength of the prospective boom. So numerous are they that in some instances people have posted notices on their doors to the effect that agents are not wanted. The new law is not very strict in the matter of peddling or soliciting without a license. Three towns have passed ordinances prohibiting "picture frames, book, photograph and dry goods agents and all agents and peddlers who sell by means of soliciting, articles that can be purchased at retail in the city, from selling the wares without first complying with the peddlers' license law." It has had the effect of clearing a majority of the fellows out.

An ordinance has been enacted in Vermillion which is a decided departure among the many attempts to control the sale of intoxicating liquors. Vermillion refused last April to issue licenses to any person for the purpose of selling intoxicating liquors. The ordinance declares that any one offering for sale spirituous, vinous, malt brewed, fermented or other intoxicating liquors as recall shall be deemed guilty of keeping a nuisance, and such place where such liquors are sold is declared a nuisance. And the ordinance further gives police officers the right to search suspected places. It is questioned whether the ordinance can stand under the provisions of the liquor law of the state.

A sensation was caused at Wessington by the arrest of two brothers, Frank and Harvey Hearst, and Jim Lion on a charge of stealing beef cattle from the herd owned by old Bros. The thefts have been going on for some time. The Hearst brothers operate a meat market and ship dressed beef to various points.

A BACHELOR'S REFLECTIONS.

New York Press: Now Barabbas was a gasmeter inspector.

Lots of women get married before they can afford it.

A man's cynicism is bounded on the north by his vanity and on the south by his digestion.

When a girl has pinned a flower on a man's coat she always tilts her chin up and looks at it sideways.

When a woman moves to cut down expenses, she always says it was because the other house wasn't good enough.

A woman never will believe any good of a widower who doesn't go around all the time with a pathetic look in his eyes.

A woman has to get indignant just about so often. If she can't get indignant at her husband, she chooses the liquor traffic or the government.

The Commencement Exercises of Maynard School Held Last Evening.

Miss Bessie Shores, of Ashland, Receives the Diploma of the School.

Address By Bishop Morrison on Education---Changes Next Year.

The commencement exercises at Maynard school were held last evening and attracted a large audience. The exercises were held in the large assembly room on the ground floor. It was handsomely decorated with plants and cut flowers as were also the parlors and reception rooms. All were brilliantly lighted and the entire affair was conspicuous as a social event as well as the commencement of an institution of learning.

Upon the rostrum were seated Bishop Morrison, Rev. A. W. Ryan, Rev. Wilson Aull, Rev. T. H. Cleland and Miss Jones, principal of the school. The program was opened with a chorus by the pupils. They sang "When Life is Brightest," by Pinsuti. Dr. Ryan read from the scriptures and Rev. Wilson Aull made the prayer. The school then sang "Frau Ku Kuh," by Hiller.

Bishop Morrison delivered the commencement address. He spoke of the pleasure which it always gave him to speak in an institution of learning and of the interest he always had in education. The idea and necessity of education has always been in the thoughts of men. The old writers of the book of wisdom knew its value. Their utterances were those of patriots, showing intense love of country and fatherland. In the portions of scripture read this evening, he said, is formed a picture of the state in prosperity. Its agricultural and all resources are presented and every evidence of wealth is shown and then is emphasized the fact that the training of the young is as necessary in the prosperity of a nation as material wealth. It is the door to its welfare. And in the fear of God and loyal and obedient service to him can only come the true education.

In this state of Minnesota, he continued, we are standing on the threshold of great things. It might be compared to some slumbering giant waiting to be awakened. Fifty years hence all these resources which are here will be opened and no one can estimate the greatness that will come. The future has always been underestimated and what seem wild dreams now will be realties some day. The resources here are in the infancy of their development. "I went to the iron ranges recently," said he, "and I traveled through a waste of more than 100 miles, with no farms, and no development. It will not be so always. Northern New York was that way two generations ago and now hundreds of thousands of people are there. So it will be with Minnesota. As we go westward we travel through a country capable of supporting multitudes and it will some day be inhabited by an immense population. What is the economy and the outlet to that vast territory? It is this very town. Think of the future of that great commonwealth which there will be and of that great city when the natural advantages prevail over those of places that have not these superiorities."

What kind of civilization there will be in that rich land it is perhaps difficult to say, the speaker continued, it needs the virtues of the sturdy Anglo-Saxon race, its enterprise, its vigor, its devotion to principle and law and order, and its love of individual liberty. "What is the life of a nation? It lies in righteousness, in right dealings between men, in honesty, integrity, intolerance of lies and treachery. Where righteousness prevails the nation is strong no matter how impoverished it may be. If righteousness depart the nation is dead, even though it may be teeming with material wealth.

HOME IS ITS LIFE.

"What shall be the guarantee of the righteousness of the nation? It must be the home. We have that word in our language—not every language has it—and we have what it means. It means something wonderfully sacred, wonderfully pure and wonderfully beautiful. And what is the life of the home? It is love. No matter how poor it is or what evidences of distress there may be if love be there the life of the home is safe, for love is stronger than death. Let love depart and the home is lost.

"And so tonight, gathered here at the commencement of this school we can see an occasion fraught with great possibilities. We rejoice in the development of modern women, in the evidencing of their capacity for usefulness. They have shown that they are capable of filling the higher places in life, but after all the highest place is to guard, cherish and keep inviolate the sanctity of the home; that which has made our nation strong. What shall be the education for her to keep the home? Shall it not be the education to keep God's law and the ten commandments? Shall it not be the education based on the fear of God? It is because I believe that this institution, while paying due attention to the sciences and arts, believes in paying attention to God's law, that I am anxious to speed its work. It is for this reason we should hold it up with our best strength and it should be our pride to see it stronger and better able to do its work."

Miss Jones, principal of the school, on behalf of the teachers and school presented the diploma of the school to Miss Bessie Shores, of Ashland, Wis. She created some amusement by remarking that it was the aim of all preparatory schools to have its graduates go to college, but that an average of one half is about the usual thing and schools that send three-quarters are very proud. Maynard school, she said, has the distinction of sending its entire class, and thought the school ought to be congratulated on accomplishing so much.

Miss Jones said that a year ago she told the people that it was her aim to teach her pupils along the lines of independent thinking, to make them capable of grappling with the questions of right and wrong. That desire is no less strong now and it is hoped to carry it on with greater thoroughness. To do this she wanted, she said, to be a little more old-fashioned—to introduce some old-fashioned methods of thinking and learning. One old-fashioned idea which she asked the parents to inculcate in their children is that to be educated is the business of young people, and not something to be gained at odd times. If they can be made to understand that it will do a vast amount toward helping the teachers. She asked also that the parents visit the school more, thus letting the pupils and teachers know that they have an interest in their work. Another thing she asked was for less hurry in education. A woman when she is 40 or 50 years old does not care much whether she left school at 20 or 25. Hurried work never assimilates. Culture never comes in a hurry. Cramming never brings the power that quiet thought and meditation do. The gradual and digested education is the best.

Miss Jones announced that in response to the requests of parents some changes in the policy of education will be made next year. The kindergarten, primary and intermediate departments will be opened to boys. The change in will be opened to boys. Reference was also made to some changes in teachers. Miss Jones paid a high tribute to the present corps of teachers and expressed her great regret that there were to be changes which would cause many of them to leave. Next year Miss Broadwell will be given charge of the intermediate department. Miss Geggie will have the primary department, Mrs. Schmied will have charge of the music. J. Romieux will be instructor in French and Mrs. William Bishop will be in charge of the kindergarten. Miss Jones spoke very highly of kindergarten work and said that if a pupil was compelled to dispense with the kindergarten or the high school training it would be far preferable to lose the high school.

The exercises closed with a benediction pronounced by Dr. Cleland.

Following the exercises there was a general reception. A pleasant feature was the presence of a number of the former graduates of the school.

A MATTER OF INTEREST TO TRAVELERS.

Tourists, emigrants and mariners find that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a medicinal safeguard against unhealthful influences, upon which they can implicitly rely, since it prevents the effects that an unhealthy climate, vitiated atmosphere, unaccustomed or unwholesome diet, bad water, or other conditions unfavorable to health, would otherwise produce. On long voyages, or journeys by land in latitudes adjacent to the equator, it is especially useful as a preventive of the febrile complaints and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, which are apt to attack natives of the temperate zones sojourning or traveling in such regions, and is an excellent protection against the influence of extreme cold, sudden changes of temperature, exposure to damp or extreme fatigue. It not only prevents intermittent and remittent fever, and other diseases of a malarial type, but eradicates them, a fact which has been notorious for years past in North and South America, Mexico, the West Indies, Australia and other countries.

IN THE SAME REGIMENT.

Coffee Seems to be In Very Questionable Company.

Injury has developed the fact that about one person in every three, has some form of disorder, caused by coffee drinking. They are slow to admit the reason, but find that their trouble leaves them when coffee is left out of their diet.

It makes little matter about the theories, although it is known to physicians and chemists that certain alkaloids exist in coffee in small quantities, the same as found in morphine, whisky, strychnine and tobacco.

The proof is plain enough, that for some reason, coffee is a direct poison to very many people. A warm, nourishing, palatable beverage is wanted at breakfast and perhaps at the other meals.

The chocolate, cocoa, etc., fails to fill the want in many cases.

After some hundreds of experiments, extending over a period of about twelve months, the Postum Food Coffee was finally discovered. It is a strictly pure product of the cereals (grains) alone. No coffee, chicory or other ingredients of any sort are contained in it. The color when brewed is the deep seal brown of Mocha which changes to a rich golden brown when cream is added, and the taste is almost identical with the milder and more expensive grades of Java.

About 70 per cent of Postum Food Coffee is made from the part of the wheat berry that contains the gluten and phosphates. It is well known that brain workers exhaust the phosphates rapidly.

It will well repay any individual who has any form of physical disorder, to try for ten days or two weeks leaving off the common coffee entirely and using Postum. A strong healthful nervous system will eliminate almost any form of disease, and by leaving off coffee, one gets rid of the active cause of nervous prostration, and by taking on Postum Cereal Food Coffee, one directly builds in the phosphates and the needed elements to reconstruct the gray matter in the nerve centers throughout the body.

Samples of Postum can be had by mail, free upon application at the home office at Battle Creek, Mich. Fancy broceries throughout the United States can furnish it.

The demand for Postum has been enormous and has attracted the attention of many imitators. There is but one original and palatable Cereal Food Coffee, as can be easily determined by test. The red seals, containing the words, "It makes red blood" and the registered trade mark of Postum Cereal on the package, will protect the buyer.

ORE SOLD

Pioneer Mine Has Disposed of Its Allotment Under the Pool.

Working of the Mine the Balance of the Season Is Assured.

Thomas Bardon Says a New Road Is Certain to Be Built.

Thomas Bardon, of Ashland, one of the managingfi directors of the Pioneer mine at Ely, in an interview with an Evening Herald reporter said that the entire allotment of the Pioneer under the Bessemer ore pool agreement, amounting to 225,000 tons, had been sold. The largest part of the total sales have been effected within the past ten days at the prices fixed by the pool on the basis of $2.65 for Norrie ore. As Pioneer ore is of a very high grade and low in phosphorous it commands the highest price paid for Lake Superior ore and the entire output nets about $3 a ton. This is the largest sale reported for a long time and insures the operation of the mine for the remainder of the season.

No shipments to speak of are being made from the stock piles, ore being loaded direct to the cars from the shaft. The 160,000 tons accumulated on the stock piles is being held for a possible demand for it toward the close of the season. Tonnage for the entire output has already been contracted for and the ore sold is being sent forward as fast as needed.

Mr. Bardon says that the prospects for a busy season are much brighter than they have been for some time and he looks for an increased demand for ore. He expects that lake freight rates will be much higher as soon as this year's wheat crop begins to move.

"Lumber at Ashland," said he, "is being sold at a lively rate, buyers from Eastern points being engaged in purchasing everything in sight in anticipation of the duty on lumber that will enable them to control the market and advance prices. The large movement of lumber, increased shipments of iron ore from Lake Superior ports and movements of the new wheat crop must make business good for vesselmen with a certainty that lake rates will go up."

Mr. Bardon is more confident than ever that a new railroad will be built to Ely in the near future. "Recently," said he, "the enterprise has assumed a more definite shape and it is now certain that a road will be built from some point on Lake Superior east of Duluth to Ely in the very near future. I am not now at liberty to say who is back of this project, but the independent mining interests on the Vermilion are too large and too powerful to pay exorbitant freight rates much longer. There are enough independent properties to afford a new line of road a good business. The ground has been carefully gone over and the money is ready to launch the enterprise as soon as a few preliminary arrangements are completed."

SOMETHING TO KNOW.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centers in the stomach, gently stimulates the liver and kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1.00 per bottle at Duluth Drug company's drug store.

FOUR BOXES DID IT.

Remarkable Success of a New Pile Cure.

People who have suffered for years or months from the pain and inconvenience of that common disorder, piles, will look with skepticism upon the claims of the maker of the new discovery for cure of all forms of piles, known under the name of Pyramid Pile Cure; nevertheless the extraordinary cures performed by this remedy are such as to warrant the investigation of any sufferer. As a case in point the following letter speaks for itself

Mr. Henry Thomas of sub-station No. 3, Hosack avenue, Columbus, Ohio, writes as follows:

Pyramid Drug Company:

Gentlemen: I want you to use my name if it will be of any use to you. I was so bad with the piles that I lost work on that account. Nothing did me any good. I read in Cincinnati of the many cures of piles by the Pyramid Pile Cure and I went to a drug store and asked for it. The drug clerk told me he had something else that he thought was better, but I told him I wanted to try the Pyramid first.

The first box helped me so much that I tried another and then to complete the cure used two more boxes making four in all. I am now completely cured. Have not a trace of piles and I had suffered for four years with the worst form of protruding piles.

I suffered death from piles, but I have found the Pyramid Pile Cure to be just as represented. I have recommended it to several of my friends and I am thankful to be able to write you what good the remedy has done for me."

Physicians recommend the Pyramid Pile Cure because it contains no opium, cocaine, or mineral poison of any kind and because it is so safe and pleasant to use, being painless and applied at night. The patient is cured in a surprisingly short time with no inconvenience whatever.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents per package, and if there is any constipation it is well to use the Pyramid pills at thesametime with the Pile Cure, as constipation is very often the cause of piles and the pills effectually remove the costive condition. Price of pills is 25 cents per package.

Write to Pyramid Drug company, Albion, Mich., for little book on cause and cure of piles; sent by mail free.

ROYALTIES REDUCED.

That Explains Starting Up of the Biwabik Mine.

The secret of the starting up of the Biwabik mine is now out. The royalty has been materially reduced, which enables the company to operate the mine at much less expense and compete successfully with the Mountain Iron, Oliver and Mahoning, the other big steam shovel mines on the Mesaba range. The Biwabik was originally leased from the fee owner, J. D. Williams, of Chicago, on a 30-cent royalty by the Consolidated and was sub-let to the present operators for 20 cents additional, making the total royalty 50 cents a ton. Just the amount of the reduction has not been learned, but it is probable that both the fee owner and the Consolidated have made some concession, perhaps enough between them to cut it down to the terms of the original lease, 30 cents.

It is quite likely that unless similar concessions are made by the fee owners of the Lake Superior group, the Consolidated will practically abandon these properties, taking out only the minimum amount of ore required by the leases and depend on their other properties that are now idle to supply the market. The Lake Superior mines are all underground properties and cannot be operated as cheaply as the surface mines, and are consequently placed at a great disadvantage in close competition with them. The Consolidated owns the fee of a number of properties that it is claimed are as good as the Lake Superior, which will undoubtedly be opened up soon unless there is a material concession made in the matter of royalties by fee owners which will permit of competition with other Mesaba mines on a more nearly equal footing. The Consolidated is in an independent position. It can much better afford to allow the Lake Superior mines to remain idle than the fee owners can, and if it should begin work on its other properties, an extensive output from the Lake Superior group, even though royalties should be reduced later, would not be probable.

ROE'S COAL MINES.

Duluth Parties Were Fooled at Grand Rapids.

Harry Roe, a gentleman of leisure who for the past six months has passed himself off as being the possessor of a very rich coal mine a few miles north of Grand Rapids, has run against a snag, says the Grand Rapids Magnet. Sam Heller, traveling salesman for the Heller Liquor company, of Duluth, became interested in the graphic description given by Roe of vast wealth that lay hidden beneath the roots of the majestic jack pines, the location of which was known only to himself. With visions of peace and plenty and the alluring prospects of a brown stone front in his mind's eye, Heller invited the jovial captain to accompany him to Duluth for two or three weeks' visit. This invitation the wily captain readily accepted, and after being liberally supplied with a goodly portion of Duluth's conversational compound, he returned to Grand Rapids after having promised to pilot an expert onto the lands.

Monday evening Mr. Heller, in company with an expert, arrived, and when Capt. Roe was informed of their presence he took down the back alleys at a clip that would certainly have gained for him a record had he been out for that purpose.

Diligent search failed to locate the captain, and when Heller was informed that Roe had never owned a foot of land in his life, he was thoroughly disgusted with himself for being taken in so easily. Capt. Roe is still numbered among the missing, but will probably show up in a day or two.

COUNCIL

Fire Department Again Form the Subject of Aldermanic Discussion.

City Attorney to Find Out Whether the Council Can Interfere.

Inspection of Street Sprinkling Causes Complication Over the Charter.

The council meeting last evening was noteworthy rather in respect of the things that were not done than for the things that were done. The matter of fire department expenditures was taken up, only to be passed on to the city attorney for further investigation. It was in the shape, this time, of a resolution, offered by Alderman Simpson as chairman of the fire department committee, providing that the fire department be limited in its annual expenditure to the sum of $70,000. The resolution was signed by Aldermen Simpson and Dahl, of the committee.

Alderman Simpson explained that the sum was 20 per cent lower than the estimate of the fire commissioners. "The dear people are not paying their taxes," he remarked, "and some curtailment of expenditures is absolutely necessary."

The resolution provided that the comptroller do not audit bills for any quarter in excess of one-fourth of the total authorized expenditure.

Alderman Crassweller, of the committee, who had not joined in the report, said that the measure proposed involved a new construction of the power of the council, and he moved that it be referred to the city attorney.

"Oh, we've had opinions enough," exclaimed Alderman Sang. "We pretty well understand the power of the council with reference to the fire department by this time." He went on to say that the council might as well see right now whether it has power to bring the fire commissioners up with a round turn.

Alderman Jefferson found a text for a short sermon on the extravagance of the fire department. There seemed to be no limit to the expenditures, he said, and it was enough to make a man sick.

"The miscellaneous bills for the year amount to nearly $11,000," interjected Alderman Sang.

The chair at this point stopped the discussion, which was wandering away from the subject, and the motion to refer was carried.

SPRINLING CAUSES TALK.

There was much discussion over the question of dispensing with the superintendent of street sprinkling, which finally ended in the passage of a resolution directing the board of public works to no longer employ a superintendent, and to place the supervision of sprinkling in the hands of the street foreman. The matter came up on the motion of Alderman Stevens that his resolution placing the work under the supervision of the health board be taken from the table.

Alderman Sang, who had been rummaging in a copy of the charter, found a section that seemed to fit, on the strength of which he objected that street sprinkling was not the board of health's business.

Alderman Jefferson, who also had a copy of the charter, opined that if the alderman from the Eighth had read carefully he would have seen that the council could make it the board's business. Other aldermen were looking up the charter by this time and there was an industrious turning of leaves. The threat of a discussion of the charter spurred to action Alderman Richardson, who bethought him, undoubtedly, that his last car left at midnight. With the look of a man reaching for a lifepreserver, he moved that the question be referred to the city attorney, at which there was a bleat from Alderman Simpson.

Then President Cochrane, who had also been diving into the charter, brought up something, and he ruled the original motion out of order. Then there was a new start taken and the motion as given above was carried.

CARROLL-PORTER ESTIMATE.

The matter of the Carroll-Porter estimate for $15,000, which had been held up by the board of public works was brought up by Alderman Shannon, who said it ought to be paid. Alderman Rowley of the waterworks committee explained that the pipe had been found defective. Alderman Simpson moved that "City Engineer Patton" be heard from on the matter, the motion being carried without a dissenting voice.

Mr. Patton said that it had been found that some of the lengths were too long on the top and that one would have to be rebuilt. The others would have to be reseamed. The sum retained on the contract would amply cover the expense of making the pipe right, he said, however. On motion, the estimate was referred back to the board for allowance.

A resolution introduced by Alderman Harker, was passed, requesting the city attorney to report to the council who is the city engineer and to advise the board of public works of his finding.

There was more reading of the charter over the question of directing the fire commissioners to accept Secretary Truelsen's resignation. A motion to that effect, made by Alderman Jefferson, being finally lost. A communication from the commission was received, stating that they were unable to get a secretary for $15 per month and that Secretary Truelsen's resignation had not been accepted. The request was made that the pay be restored to $40 per month. It was referred.

An ordinance fixing pawnbrokers' licenses at $125 per year, and an ordinance fixing billiard and pool table and bowling alley licenses at $5 for each table and each alley, were received and referred.

ENGINEER'S BOND FIXED.

T. F. McGilbray's bond as city engineer was fixed at $10,000 and a resolution was passed requesting the mayor to call a special meeting to take action thereon as soon as Mr. McGilvray could be heard from.

Allowance of an estimate in favor of N. F. Hugo, for $21,957.58 on his pipe contract was confirmed. A communication was received from the board of public works to the effect that the Guaranty company carrying the insurance on the construction work on the water plant had cancelled its policy. A resolution was passed directing the cancellation to be accepted and the rebate collected.

The appointment of Secretary Force of the police department to be sergeant, was confirmed.

RAINY LAKE GOLD.

Why Present Prices For Properties Are Low.

Are the properties of the Rainy Lake gold fields too high-priced at ruling figures? The Rainy Lake Journal of June 10 says it does not think they are, and believes there are good and valid reasons why prices should rule higher than they do at present, and that, too, notwithstanding the country is new and its capabilities not yet fully determined. It is true that deep levels as yet we have none. No mine is now down to the 400-foot level, although several have passed the 300-foot level. But, every shaft that so far has been put down from 100 to 250 feet has demonstrated the continuity of the ore body, and has also demonstrated the fact that richer values are obtained on lower levels, and that almost invariably the ores have grown stronger with depth.

When we consider these facts coupled with the fact that our ores are almost essentially free-milling in character with high values, and, that there is no lack of wood and water, with the further fact in most cases no timbering is needed in the workings, all tend to show that the gold properties of the Rainy Lake gold fields are worth higher prices, relatively, even though they be prospects, than those in localities that do not possess our manifold advantages. In fact, the prices that may rule in other localities do not and should not cut any figure with prices that may be demanded here.

The prices, however, in these gold fields are not high if we compare them with those prevailing for the same grade of property elsewhere. For instance, the prices so far obtained here range from $5000 to $150,000, though averaging about $25,000, and these prices, mind you, are for pieces of acreage ranging from 40 to 500 acres. Contrast these figures with those obtaining in the new and small district of free-milling ores at Randsburg, Cal., discovered last fall, where mining claims, no better than ours, with no water and no wood, being in the midst of a glaring desert, have a modest area of only 600 by 1500 feet, and yet those claims are selling at from $250,000 to $500,000, and are snapped at, even under such conditions, and at such prices.

One of the happiest men in these gold fields today is J. F. Tilson, who owns lot 5, section 25-71-23, on Grassy island, west of town. He discovered a new vein last week on the western end of the island, a good strong one, with fine, well-defined walls, that is over 5 feet wide on the surface, and that runs for over 600 feet up over a bill 60 feet high.

Theodor Freytag, owner of the Buffalo Gap gold mine, H. P. 249, on Bad Vermilion lake, was in town last week. Mr. Freytag has eighteen veins on the property that give big assays running from $8 up into the thousands in gold, with rich copper values. He is now negotiating for sale of the property to one of the biggest gold mining syndicates in Germany.

The office of the Foley mine burned to the ground last Friday morning. It is not known what was the cause of the fire. The assayer and amalgamator came near being burned to death, and as it was, only got out with their lives. It is stated that all the clothes and valuables of the office were lost in the fire, but that the books were saved.

The shaft on the Big American mine is now down thirty feet. Capt. Peterson and his crew are doing some good work on the mine letting off two big blasts twice each day. The shaft is in solid quartz that pans big and shows some free gold.

D. C. Dixon, of West Superior, who owns lot 5, section 25-21-71, on the American side, east of this town is very much elated over results of exploration on the property. The vein is over three feet wide, and shows free gold in quartz identical with that of the Little American.

Things are booming along in fine shape at the Little American mine. The shaft is now down over 120 feet, and is located in a fine ore body that shows lots of free gold and pans big strings of the yellow stuff.

W. B. Holman, who owns lots 1 and 2, section 31-71-20, near Brule Narrows on the American side, is very much gratified with the result of exploratory work done the past week. The property has two good strong veins over five feet wide that carry visible gold and give big panning results.

KILLED A HORSE.

John Fox Causes the Arrest of J. H. Hobart.

J. H. Hobart, a chimney sweep, was arraigned before Judge Boyle this morning on the charge of willful destruction of property. The complainant is John Fox, a farmer living near town. Fox says that Hobart drove out to his place recently and, representing that he was the humane officer, shot a sick horse belonging to the former. Fox related the occurrence to Humane Officer Haskins, who was attending to the case. The latter started an inquiry which resulted in Hobart's arrest. There is another defendant in the case, a well-known East End lady, who has taken an active interest in humane work lately. She, Hobart says, hired him to shoot the animal. A warrant was out for her today under the name of Jane Doe.

Investigating a Case.

The attention of Humane Officer Haskins has been called to the case of an 11-year-old boy, named Baker, whose mother is employed as cook at one of the colored resorts on the "Point." The boy, it is claimed, is kept by his mother at one of these places, thus becoming soaked in vice. Steps will be taken to rescue the kid.

STILL ON

The Merritt-Harris Case Continued in the District Court Today.

Alfred Merritt Claims Dividends Have Always Been Paid to Him.

Rockefeller Refuses to Consider a Settlement of the Cases in 1894.

In the Merritt-Harris case, A. A. Harris was called to the stand this morning by the plaintiffs for cross-examination under the statutes. Alfred Merritt was on the stand yesterday afternoon, and his re-direct examination was due this morning, but the plaintiffs' attorneys asked permission to call Mr. Harris before taking it up, as upon his answers to certain questions would depend whether or not they would have to telegraph to Cleveland for witnesses.

Mr. Harris, in answer to questions, admitted that he went to Cleveland in the spring of 1894 and that while there he talked with Franklin Rockefeller and the attorneys for the Standard Oil company about a settlement of the claims of the Merritts. Franklin Rockefeller wrote to John D. in reference to the matter, and upon his return to Duluth the witness found a letter from one of the Standard Oil company's attorneys. This letter conveyed the information that John D. Rockefeller wanted it understood that he did not owe the Merritts anything, and that he had nothing to settle.

Alfred Merritt resumed his place on the stand and scored what appeared to be an important point for his side when he testified that from the time the stock in controversy had been turned over to the Harrises up to date it had paid about $10,000 or $12,000 in dividends, and that every cent of it had been paid over to him. When the stock stood in the name of Col. Harris, the dividends were paid in checks to Harris, who immediately endorsed them over to the witness.

On direct examination the witness admitted that in a disclosure made in 1894 he had stated that he only had fourteen shares of Security stock. He explained this by saying that Col. Harris advised him that as the stock was put into the fighting fund it did not really belong to him. On re-cross-examination, when pressed, he said that to tell the truth, he wanted to slide through the examination as easily as possible. He denied that he paid back to Harris the dividends in cash. If he did it was in salary. When the last 320 shares of stock was transferred Henry Harris did not say that he was going to have that made out in his name as his share of the partnership proceeds.

An attorney who was listening to the case this morning invited destruction by suggesting to another listener that the court would probably "be more harassed" than usual in getting at the "merits" of this case.

THE MANDAMUS CASE.

Aldermen Called to Testify This Morning.

The mandamus case of Dr. S. C. Maxwell against the city to compel the relator's appointment as health officer, was taken up by Judge Cant yesterday afternoon, and was still on trial at noon today. Yesterday Doctors Speier, Goffe and Codding testified that in their opinion Dr. Maxwell was qualified for the position. At the conclusion of the relator's case the city's motion to dismiss was denied. This morning Aldermen Richardson, Sang, Burg, Rowley, Harker and Duren were on the stand for the city, explaining how they came to vote for Dr. Murray instead of Dr. Maxwell. They stated that they voted for Dr. Murray because they believed him to be the best qualified and capable of the two. The principal objection they had to Dr. Maxwell was his age.

In Judge Ensign's court the stockholders' liability case of C. G. Firoved against the State bank was still on at noon. Assignee Davidson of the State bank was on the stand this morning telling the court about the assets and liabilities of the defunct bank.

Tree Day Exercises.

The Maynard school tree day exercises will be given this evening on the grounds near the school building. They will consist of a presentation of the wood scenes from "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The hill back of where the stage is erected will be lighted with colored electric lights and will serve for the night revels of the fairies. There will be a number of dances with appropriate music. Extra cars will leave at 7:10, 7:15, 7:20 and 7:25 o'clock.

Chief Was Shocked.

Chief Hansen was out to see the elephant last night. In the course of his wanderings, he took in a show in which a female contortionist is the chief figure, which is holding forth on East Superior street. He made up his mind that it was a little too "swift" for Duluth, and he said today that it would not be allowed to continue longer than this week. That time has been positively fixed also as the time when female vocalists in saloons must go.

Another Discovery Made.

Mr. Patton visited Lakewood yesterday. He says he found that about 300 feet of pipe, between the pumphouse and the river had been laid according to measurements furnished by "certain irresponsible parties," which were from two to five inches above grade. This pipe he says will all have to be lowered.

Contractor Fredrickson, Mr. Patton says, has removed to the dock the sand, the presence of which in suspicious proximity of the mortar bed caused the engineer to indulge in some plain talk with the contractor, some days ago. Nothing is being done on the pumphouse.

MR. DACEY IS WRATHY.

Is Awfully Anxious to Get Mr. McGregor's Scalp.

There was one communication that City Clerk Richardson did not read to the council last night. It was pretty "hot" and the clerk was in doubt whether the fathers ought to hear it or not. It contained a sworn statement that in the opinion of J. F. Dacey, the firm with which A. T. McGregor is connected had by means of a political pull obtained contracts for city work, including the Prescott contract.

Mr. Richardson referred the communication to the city attorney for advice on the question of reading it to the council.

J. F. Dacey was still hot today, as hot as when he wrote the letter. He says he has secured an able attorney, and he proposes to see that Mr. McGregor either gets off the board of fire commissioners or gives up his contract for the boiler for the city pumping engines. He says that he has the opinion of several prominent attorneys, all of which are to the effect that Mr. McGregor's case is within the prohibition of the charter, City Attorney Richards to the contrary notwithstanding.

Mr. Dacey claims also that Chief Black favors Mr. McGregor in the matter of fire department repair work, regardless of public interest. He says that some of his men went into one of the engine houses to look at a boiler that needed repairing, and that Chief Black, when he heard where they were from, told them to get, saying that McGregor did all that work.

Mr. McGregor's friends make light of Mr. Dacey's charges and say the fact that he runs an opposition boiler works has enlarged his imagination.

J. F. Dacey this afternoon made application to withdraw the letter addressed by him to the council yesterday. He says he is going at the case in another way than through the council.

INVESTIGATING THE COST.

Citizens League Committee Considering Waterworks.

O. H. Simonds, P. R. Anneke and E. R. Cobb, members of the committee from the Citizens' league that is investigating the expenditures for waterworks construction and the manner in which the work is being carried on, called on City Engineer Patton and Treasurer Voss this morning. From Mr. Patton they secured figures showing the estimated and actual cost of some of the work done and the estimates for future work the figures at which contracts have been let therefor. An informal conference with Mr. Patton was held concerning the progress of the work, etc. The interview of the committee with the treasurer covered the points of the bond issue, the plan and outlook for repayment and the disbursements from the fund.

Will Furnish Employment.

Recently Andrew Carnegie sent his check for $1000 to the mayor of Hibbing for the benefit of the poor. In acknowledging the receipt of it the mayor requested that he be permitted to use it in providing employment for those able to work as well as to expend it for the worthy unfortunate who were not in a condition to do manual labor, the object being to discourage pauperism. The request was promptly granted and while the gift will be used for the benefit of those who needed it, those who will profit by it will be required to earn it honestly.

Charged With Assault.

George Crockett, a one-legged man, appeared before Judge Boyle this morning on the charge of assault. The complainant was a lad named Andrew Haller. According to his story, Crockett attacked and beat him yesterday for leaning on one of his wooden horses at a "merry-go-round" at the West End. Crockett pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for this afternoon.

Seven box car lodgers, whom Detective Donovan had routed out of a car at the foot of Tenth avenue east, lined up. They all promised to get work and were released with sentence suspended. James Carey, a plain drunk, went up for ten days.

The Christopher Excursion.

The excursion which will be given next Saturday on the steamer Christopher Columbus for the benefit of the Women's and Children's home is attracting a great deal of attention and if it should be a fine day a large crowd will make the trip to Bayfield and return. The ladies of the Home society are sparing no effort to make the excursion as pleasant as possible. There will be music by a band and dancing for all who desire it and in many other ways they will contribute to the entertainment of those who make the trip.

MARINE MATTERS.

Scarcity of Coal Cargoes at Buffalo Reported.

Buffalo, June 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The only tonnage taken for coal is the City of Venice for Duluth on a general charter. There was an unusual amount of coal reported to the custom house, but scarcely any of it is loaded. One shipper has half a dozen boats waiting for cargoes, with no coal for any of them. So the agents have shut down.

MORE ORE CHARTERS.

Cleveland, June 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—One shipper placed considerable Escanaba ore at 40 cents yesterday, but he has more up his sleeve, waiting for the break to 35 cents. The amount placed would tend to strengthen Chicago grain and react on Escanaba, but whether the reaction will be permanent will be known before the week ends.

ADAMS SUIT SETTLED.

Vandervort Case Attacking the Title is Withdrawn.

Some time ago W. F. Vandervort began a suit to recover title to the property on which the Adams mine is located. The suit was against E. M. Fowler and others, the fee owners. The suit was based on an old transfer of the property which was alleged to have been irregular. The fee owners in turn began a suit to clear the title to the property.

The cases have now been settled, the papers going on file today. A stipulation dismissing the suit begun by Vandervort was filed in the United States court. At the same time in the case begun by the fee owners against Vandervort, a stipulation was filed allowing a decree to be entered granting the relief demanded in the complaint.

Quit claim deeds were also filed in the register of deeds' office yesterday conveying the interest of Vandervort et al. to Fowler et al. The consideration given in the deeds was $2350.

LUTHERAN SYNOD.

Busy Day Put in at the Mansfield Meeting.

Mansfield, Ohio, June 16.—Rev. H. A. Haithcox, of Abilene, Kas., submitted the report of the board of education. The receipts of the board for the biennium just closed were: On apportionment, $17,221, and from other sources, $3409; total, $20,630. These have been used to aid in the support of Midland college, Carthage college, the Western theological seminary and Hartwick seminary.

The committee of the Lutheran synod to which was referred the offer of Dr. H. W. Kuhns, Omaha, to donate thirteen lots comprising a square in Omaha for the establishment of an orphan's home, reported this morning that Senator Charles Bogardus of Paxton, Ill., had telegraphed an offer to locate the proposed home in Paxton, and another telegram with a similar offer had been received from Sedalia, Mo. Dr. Kuhns rescued the floor and said he had twenty acres of land lying eight miles out of Omaha which he would donate for the founding of the home, if the synod preferred a country site.

The synod instructed President Hamma to appoint a standing committee to consider all offers, form plans for the character of the institution and report at the next general synod, two years hence.

The committee appointed was: Rev. M. F. Troxell, Springfield, Ill.; W. H. Dunbar, Baltimore; C. B. King, Allegheny, Pa.; L. P. Sudden, Lincoln, Neb.; Layman H. J. Penfield, Omaha.

A resolution was passed instructing the deaconess board to look for a permanent location for the mother house and report at the next biennium.

TIN PLATE CONFERENCE.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 16.—The conference of the tin plate manufacturers and workmen to fix a scale of wages for the year beginning July 1 next, began shortly before noon with both sides fully represented. The outcome cannot be predicted, but a disagreement seems possible as there is much disposition on the part of the manufacturers and workmen as well, to make no concessions. If a settlement is not reached by the first of next month, there will be a strike.

CHICAGO'S HEATED SPELL.

Chicago, June 16.—One death and one prostration, which will probably result fatally, were reported up to noon today as the result of the heat. The temperature during the night was very oppressive, the thermometer lingering around 82 degrees until the small hours. During the morning showers accompanied by a breeze from Lake Michigan caused the temperature to gradually fall.

CHICAGO'S HYENA.

Opens a Few Graves But is Not Captured.

Chicago, June 16.—Prowling about Graceland cemetery last night, "Jim," the big hyena which escaped from Lincoln park by gnawing a hole through the door of his cage, ravaged a number of graves in the burying ground where, with unerring instinct he had made his way immediately after his escape, and made night hideous with his howls. Today his keeper, Sweeny, of Lincoln park, was notified of the animal's whereabouts and reinforced by a small army of men and boys, spent the whole day in trying to capture him.

When the police were asked to assist, they refused flatly, saying they had no particular objection to being shot at by burglars, but had an unconquerable prejudice against being chewed by a hyena. "Jim" this afternoon had not yet been captured.

Noble, who is said to be one of the most notable crooks in the world with a record that includes operations in this country, England, Bavaria, Italy, Belgium and Switzerland, was arrested last night charged with being implicated in the robbery of Messenger Uhldebrand, on Sept. 9, 1896. The arrest was made on the confession of James Dalton, who is now in prison, the man who implicated Noble and others.

SIGNED

Secretary Sherman and Hawaii's Minister Sign the Annexation Treaty.

Fully Prepared For Its Submission to the United States Senate.

Sandwich Islands Are to Be Admitted as a Territory.

Washington, June 16.—In the great diplomatic room of the state department where, four years and four months ago, in the closing hours of the Harrison administration, the first Hawaiian annexation treaty was signed, only to be withdrawn from the senate and thrown into a pigeon hole, the representatives of the governments of the United States and Hawaii gathered this morning and signed a treaty by the terms of which, if ratified, the little island republic will become part of the territory of the United States. Of the persons who stood in the room today three were present when the original treaty was signed, namely, Special Commissioner Lorrin A. Thurston and Assistant Secretaries Adee and Cridler. The first named perhaps took a more sincere personal pleasure in the ceremony of this morning than any of the others, because of the stirring events of the last four years, in which he was so directly concerned.

It is a very unusual thing for a treaty of such importance to be signed early in the morning, but in this case it was desired that the convention be made ready early in order that it might be submitted to the senate on the day of its signature. The document itself had been prepared carefully over night, in fact, it was practically completed at the close of official hours yesterday, but it was necessary to make a comparison and the president wished another opportunity to go over the document, probably with a view to drawing up a message with which it will be accompanied to the senate. Therefore before 9 o'clock the persons who were concerned in the preparation of the treaty were at the state department. For the United States there were Secretary Sherman, Assistant Secretaries Adee and Cridler, Private Secreary Babcock an Assistant Secretary of State Gaytree. On the Hawaiian side were Minister Hatch, Lorrin A. Thurston and W. A. Kinney, all for this particular occasion, accorded as special commissioners, duly empowered to negotiate a treaty of annexation.

After the formal greetings the credentials of the plenipotentiaries were scanned and recorded. Secretary Sherman alone represented the United States in the signature of the convention, and it was part of the ceremony to record an authorization by the president just as much as it was the credentials of the Hawaiians from President Dole. Then came the reading and comparing of the treaty. Of this there were two drafts, one to be held by each, later on to be exchanged in the usual form. Altogether, it was twenty minutes after 9 o'clock when all was ready for the signatures.

The Hawaiian representatives had brought with them a gold pen in a plain holder, and at their request this was used for all of the signatures. Secretary Sherman signed first the copy intended to be held here, while Minister Hatch signed first the Hawaiian copy of the treaty, his fellow commissioners coming next in order. Mr. Thurston first, followed by Mr. Kinney. The treaties were sealed by Assistant Secretary Cridler, with a private seal carried in his watch chain, the copies were handed to their respective custodians and the treaty was made as far as the executive branch of the government could effect it. There was a general exchange of congratulations between the parties to the ceremony, and after a photograph had been taken of the commissioners the ceremony was ended.

Before the final signature of the document, the secretary of the state was presented a formal protest by the Japanese government, through its legation here, against the consummation of the agreement. The protest is understood to be based on apprehension that the special treaties now existing between Japan and Hawaii, under which the Japanese enjoy advantages, will be affected injuriously by complete annexation.

The treaty provides that the government of the Hawaiian Islands cede to the United States absolutely and forever all rights of sovereignty in and over the Hawaiian Islands and its dependencies, and that these islands shall become an integral part of the territory of the United States. The government of Hawaii also secedes to the United States all public lands, all public buildings and public property of every description. Congress shall enact special laws to govern the disposition of the lands in the Hawaiian islands. All revenue from these lands shall be used solely for the benefit of the inhabitants of the Hawaiian islands for educational and other public purposes. The Hawaiian islands shall be admitted into the Union as a territory of the United States, local laws to be passed by a local legislature, but subject to the approval of the president. Until congress shall apply the laws of the United States to the islands the present laws of Hawaii are to govern the islands.

The present treaties and laws governing Hawaii's commercial relations with foreign nations shall remain in force until congress shall take acton. Further immigration of Chinese laborers is prohibited, pending congressional action, and the entry of Chinese from Hawaii into the United States likewise is prohibited. The United States assumes the public debt of Hawaii, but with a stipulation that this liability shall not exceed $4,000,000. The treaty before it becomes effective shall be ratified by the proper authorities of the United States and of Hawaii. No mention is made of any gratuity to Lilliuokalani or Kaiulani.

Minister Heshi, of Japan, declined to be seen today about Japan's protest and Secretary Mutsu refused to discuss the matter in any way, but it is learned that the Japanese protest was made in person to the state department yesterday afternoon by Minister Hoshi. The news was presented to the Hawaiian legation and as soon as intelligence of it was obtained Minister Hatch started out to learn the particulars. The essential point as to the protest is against the annexation of Hawaii, or is merely a protest reserving to Japan all her rights under the existing treaty with Hawaii. It is believed that it is the latter.

The Japanese treaty with Hawaii was made in 1871 and provides that natives or citizens of one country shall have the uninterrupted right to enter into, reside and trade in the other country, and also shall have all the rights and privileges enjoyed by the people of any other country under treaty stipulations with Japan. Japan under the treaty consequently has a perfect right to have her immigrants enter the Hawaiian islands. Under international law the annexation of Hawaii to the United States would abrogate this treaty.

Moreover, a new treaty between the United States and Japan made some time ago, and to become effective in 1899, provides that the United States may exclude Japan, and if Hawaii is annexed the effect would be to permit the United States to exclude the Japanese from Hawaii. It is taken for granted, therefore, that the protest is one reserving Japanese interests under its treaty of 1871 with Hawaii.

Assistant Secretary Pruden arrived at the capital at 3:30 p. m. with the Hawaiian annexation treaty, but after consulting with Senator Allison he retired without presenting it, with the understanding that the senate would be prepared to receive the document at 4:45 p. m. The president sends a brief message with the treaty.

COL. McKENZIE'S OFFENSE.

Charges Against the Sault Canal Superintendent.

Washington, June 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The charges preferred against Col. McKenzie, supeintendent of the Sault locks, are not regarded seriously here by people who know Col. McKenzie. In fact the idea of it being possible that he should intimidate subordinates or fail in any way to administer the duties of his office correctly is scouted by his friends at the war department. The only information that can be pumped out by the greatest industry is that charges have been sent Col. Lydecker at Detroit for an investigation. No return is expected for a week or ten days.

One friend of Col. McKenzie, who knows something about the operations of the war department as regards the engineering division, says he thinks the charges against Col. McKenzie are wholly due to the fact that the force at the Sault locks has been too large and that Col. McKenzie has aroused enmity in carrying out the order to reduce the number of his men. "That town," he said, "to a large extent subsists on the money spent by the government upon these locks and any reduction in the force naturally arouses the antipathy of the people there."

SHOT TWO SOLDIERS.

Uncle Sam's Boys Catch a Wyoming Tartar.

Cheyenne, Wyo., June 16.—Charles Erswell, a telegraph operator, when riding home on his bicycle late last night, was attacked by a party of ten or twelve soldiers from Fort Russell. After he had been knocked from his wheel, Erswell shot one of the soldiers. He then managed to get inside his house, which the soldiers immediately bombarded with rocks and pieces of timber. They broke windows and forced in the kitchen door.

As they rushed into the house Erswell shot a second time, dropping another of the soldiers. The city police arrived at this time, and the soldiers retreated. The wounded men were taken to the hospital and guards placed about Erswell's home to prevent further attacks. It was learned that both of the wounded men belong to G company, and that one of them is seriously wounded. Their names have not been learned. Erswell surrendered to the authorities, but was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

QUEEN VICTORIA.

Balmoral, Scotland, June 16.—Queen Victoria left Balmoral today for Windsor castle. This is the first step of her majesty in the long program arranged to celebrate the sixtieth anniversary of her accession to the throne. Saturday next is known now as the eve of the jubilee, and by that time all preparations for the busy week to follow will have been completed.

QUEEN'S HEALTH GOOD.

London, June 16.—The sensational stories circulated in the United States by a newspaper in regard to the eyesight of Queen Victoria, which is said by that periodical to be so bad that her majesty is almost totally blind, are not believed here. Sir John Watt Reid, her physician, is now away on a holiday, so it is evident that her majesty's health causes no anxiety.

GRECIAN FRONTIER.

Constantinople, June 15.—(Delayed in transmission.)—The ambassadors of the powers submitted to the Turkish government yesterday the scheme for the delimitation of the frontiers of Greece and Turkey as drawn up by the military attaches of the different embassies during their recent visit to Thessaly.

It gives to Turkey the mountain crests on the frontiers of Thessaly, but the Turks are not allowed to retain any of the villages of Thessaly. Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish minister for foreign affairs said he would submit the plan to the sultan and to the cabinet.

CHICAGO BANKER DEAD.

Chicago, June 16.—Henry F. Eams, president of the Comemrcial National bank, and well known in banking circles all over the country, died at his apartments at the Lakota hotel today after a long illness.

NO FRAUD

Secretary Bliss Finds No Fraud Connected With Chippewa Pine Sales.

Purchasers Are Entitled to Their Lands and Patents Are Ordered.

Claim of State to School Lands Within Reservation Not Decided.

Washington, June 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The secretary of the interior has decided that the purchasers of Chippewa pine lands, where the entries were suspended by Secretary Francis in January last, are entitled to their lands, and has ordered the commissioner of the general land office to issue patents for the same.

The secretary in his decision, which was signed late yesterday evening, says that no proof of fraud has been adduced and that the price paid for the various tracts with the advertised appraised value of the land according to estimates approved by the department. He therefore concludes that there is no good reason for withholding the patents, and orders them to be issued.

The secretary also directs Commissioner Hermann to proceed with surveys of all the Chippewa reservations. He directs that the estimates of unsurveyed lands be submitted to the department, together with estimates of the cost of surveying the same, as contemplated in the act of 1889. The commissioner is to prepare this data in order that the work may be completed at the earliest possible day to protect the interests of the Indians and also the treasury of the United States. The question as to the right of the state of Minnesota to the school lands within the reservations is left for future decision. It is expected that it will be forthcoming in a short time.

ATTACKED HIS ABILITY.

Aldermen Claim Mr. Holmes Was Not Competent.

After the testimony was all in in the mandamus case of S. C. Maxwell against the city council yesterday afternoon, the similar case of Holmes was taken up. The relator had H. F. Greene, Theodore Hollister, W. D. Edson, S. D. Allen and himself on the stand to prove his competency. President Cochrane and Alderman Harker were on the stand for the city to explain how it happened that Holmes was not chosen as assistant city attorney. Mr. Cochrane testified to having statements made to the effect that Holmes was not competent, and Mr. Harker said that the conduct of the business of the city attorney's office under the old administration disgusted him. The hearing was postponed until next Monday morning.

This afternoon Judge Cant again took up the fight between the city and the street railway company and the Northern Pacific and St. Paul & Duluth railways, which had been continued from last Saturday afternoon. The case was expected to take up all the afternoon, if not a part of tomorrow.

Judge Ensign today was still hearing the State bank case at noon.

HAVING A FINE TRIP.

Alderman Hanson Is on His Way to Sweden.

T. H. Larke today received a letter from Alderman P. George Hanson, dated "Steamship Numidian, Quebec harbor, June 12, in which he says:

"We arrived here safely at 2 o'clock p. m. yesterday. We had a very nice trip over your road and arrived in Montreal on time. We are now safely on board the Numidian and are well pleased with the accommodations. It will take us about ten days to cross. The ladies are all comfortable and feel happy. I took them around Montreal and we took in the city, and a fine trip we had. I also took them around here in Quebec. A finer trip than down the St. Lawrence is hard to find, I think. The weather is fine and things look lovely."

In Mr. Hanson's party are Mary Larson, Emma Nelson, Augusta Johnson, Helen Oberg, Mrs. Bertha Jolin, Lewis Olson and Rev. K. A. Lundin. They are bound for Sweden to visit the Stockholm exposition.

NEW BRIGADIER.

Washington, June 16.—Col. Anson Mills, Third cavalry, who has been on duty at El Paso, Texas, for several years in connection with the Mexican boundary survey, will be nominated today to be brigadier general of the army. It is understood that he will be retired shortly.

It is understood that the nomination of a minister to Spain has been prepared, but all information as to the person selected is refused.

A DEAD BURGLAR.

Minneapolis, June 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The decomposing body of a burglar, shot by Henry H. Barber three weeks ago, has been found in a vacant lot five blocks from Barber's house. FORMOSA

Japanese Have Captured the Famous Rebel Formosan Chief Sen Sin.

German Drill Officers of Chinese Troops Decapitate Mutinous Soldiers.

Serious Rebellion Breaks Out in Kaochou and Leichou Prefectures.

San Francisco, June 16.—Advices from the Orient by the Rio De Janeiro says: In the recent engagemen between the Japanese troops and rebels against the rulers in Northern Formosa, the former, besides securing large quantities of Mauser rifles, succeeded in capturing the famous rebel chief, Sen Sin (Tan Shin), who has succeeded in evading capture ever since the arrival of the Japanese. Sen Sin, during the Chinese occupation, was one of the highest military officers in the Chinese army. Since the Japanese occupation he has received constant aid from Foo Chow.

The German officers who have been engaged in drilling the Chinese troops at Woo Sung, China, have had to extend their tuition to the point of teaching their charges the direful effects of mutiny. Recently it was decided to discharge about one half of the native drilled troops, who were in four camps of 500 each, replacing them by a corresponding number of foreign drilled men from the forts. The discharged soldiers were given three months extra pay, but they clamored for seven months, and on May 7 broke into open mutiny, looting the officers' quarters, pulling down the houses and threatening to shoot the general in command. The principal ringleader was seized, tried by drumhead court martial and summarily decapitated. It is stated that not a single Chinese official was present at the execution, all having fled. Throughout the night of the 8th the camp and magazine was guarded, and on the morning of the 9th, three more of the ringleaders were executed.

According to late advices from Swatow, the rebellion in Kaochou and Leichou prefectures, Kuang Tung appears to be quite serious. Brig. Gen. Cheng, with 5000 extra troops, has been sent to operate against the rebels. Shiht Ouch is to be the first city attacked by the government troops, and as a portion of the disaffected district is are on the sea coasts, the Canton squadron has been ordered to co-operate with Gen. Cheng's army.

Later details of the murder of the French Roman Catholic priest, Father Mazel, at Loli, in Kuangsi, show that the crime was committed by a marauding band, and that no anti-Christian sentiment animated the criminal's.

JAMAICA'S PLAN.

Will Increase Duties to Secure Reciprocity.

Washington, June 16.—In anticipation of the passage of the pending tariff bill by congress the legislative council of Jamaica has taken up a bill, on its own account, and according to the view of United States Commercial Agent Walton at Port Anton, duties on articles imported from the United States are to be largely increased with the expectation that later on a reciprocity treaty may be negotiated.

The duties remitted under the old reciprocity treaty of 1890 were not restored after the treaty was destroyed through the United States tariff act of 1894, and it is now believed that the duties will be restored to at least what they were before that treaty went into effect.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 16.—The Dental Trade association of America began its seventeenth annual convention at Lookout inn at 10 o'clock this morning. EAST INDIAN EARTHQUAKE.

Calcutta, June 16.—Further reports of the destruction caused by the earthquake of last Saturday show that great damage was done at Dacca, Jamalpur and Murshidabad. At the latter place the nawab had a miraculous escape. Great injury has been done to the plantations of Assam, Cachar and Duaro. A number of factories and machine houses have been wrecked at the three places named. At Krishnagar, Mymendinch and Silket all the courts and treasuries have been demolished.

BOMBS PLENTY IN PARIS.

Paris, June 16.—The Eclair this morning says that four bombs or infernal machines have been discovered in Paris during the past month and that during President Faure's journeyings several domiciles were searched. In connection with the alleged attempt upon the life of President Faure last Sunday, while on his way to the races at Longchamps, several arrests have been made, but only one man was detained in custody.

TURKISH TROOPS ACTIVE.

Lamia, Thessaly, June 16.—The Turkish troops are posting guns on the Othrys heights, concealing them beneath branches of trees. They have also placed artillery in the burned convent of Anaselitia and Turkish scouts have been seen during the night time on the neutral grounds between the two armies. This activity upon the part of the Turks has created much distrust among the Greeks.

COUNT ITO'S DECLARATION.

Paris, June 16.—The Matin today publishes an interview with Count Ito, of Japan, who is now in this city, on his way to attend Queen Victoria's jubilee celebration, in which he says Japan never had any idea of entering into a conflict with the United States as an outcome of the troubles between Japan and Hawaii incidents, he added, which have been greatly exaggerated.

The woman who wears an armor of good health protects herself against almost all the ordinary ills and troubles that beset her sex. The woman who takes proper care of the health of her womanly self, who is careful that the organs that constitute womanhood are always well and strong, will be happy in her wifehood and capable in her motherhood.

The best and most-used of all medicines for women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly upon the delicate feminine organism. It makes it strong and healthy. It cures all weakness and disease. It prepares a woman for her greatest mission, motherhood. It does away with the usual discomforts of the expectant period. It insures the health of baby and makes its advent easy and almost painless. Over 90,000 women have testified to its wonderful virtues. More of it is sold than of all other medicines for this purpose combined. Women who want to know more about it should write to its discoverer, Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y.

"The best doctors in Kansas City told me that unless I went to the hospital and had an operation performed I could not live," writes Miss Brochie Galloway, of Wilder, Johnson Co., Kans. "I had ulceration and weakness, and each month I would get down in bed and suffer severely for twenty-four hours. I could not keep anything on my stomach for five minutes at a time. I have taken four bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and am now well. I owe it all to your medicine. I can cheerfully recommend it to any suffering as I did."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a safe, sure, speedy and permanent cure for constipation. They never gripe. One is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. All medicine dealers.

The expedition was well planned and was gone twenty-seven hours before the authorities or Spanish consul knew that anything was going on. The whole affair was worked very quietly. The mysterious schooner left about daylight yesterday morning and no one seems to know what boat it was.

MEMORY

Sioux Warriors Want to Erect a Monument at Wounded Knee Battlefield.

Have Asked the Government For Permission to Mark the Place.

Will Make the Stone a Lasting Proclamation of Peace.

Rapid City, S. D., June 16.—The remaining braves of the Sioux tribes have petitioned the government for permission to erect a monument over the graves of the dead warriors slain at the battle of "Wounded Knee" seven years ago.

About eighteen miles west of Pine Ridge agency, extending along the ridge of a plateau, is the trench where lay 130 Indian warriors. The government has marked the place where many of the soldiers are buried with a fitting monument and now the remaining Sioux braves have asked that they may erect a shaft fifteen feet high, six feet at the base and tapering to an apex of six inches at the top in commemoration of their dead.

The stone is to be made of Sioux Falls granite and the expense of it will be born entirely by the Indians. It is desired to have appropriate epitaphs engraved on it in their own language and as an evidence of good faith to the government it is further desired to imprint thereon words that shall proclaim Wounded Knee to be the last battlefield on which the Indian shall show hostility to his white brother.

GET FLESH.

Get Strength, Vigor, Clear Complexion and Digestion, Not By Patent Medicine, But in Nature's Own Way.

Any honest physician will tell you that there is but one way to get increased flesh; all the patent medicines and cod liver oils to the contrary notwithstanding.

Nature has but one way to increase flesh, strength and vigor of mind and body, and that is through the stomach by wholesome food well digested. There is no reason or common sense in any other method whatever.

People are thin, run down, nervous, pale and shaky in their nerves, simply because their stomachs are weak.

They may not think they have dyspepsia, but the fact remains that they do not eat enough food or what they eat is not quickly and properly digested as it should be.

Dr. Harlandson says the reason is because the stomach lacks certain digestive acids and peptones, and deficient secretion of gastric juice.

Nature's remedy in such cases is to supply what the weak stomach lacks. There are several good preparations which will do this, but none so reliable as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which are designed especially for all stomach troubles, and which cure all digestive weakness on the common sense plan of furnishing the digestive principles which the stomach lacks.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give perfect digestion. First effect is to increase the appetite and increased vigor, solidify flesh, pure blood, and strength of nerve and muscle is the perfectly natural result.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest tonic known and will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. May be found at druggists at 50 cents for full-sized package or direct by mail from Stuart company, Marshall, Mich. Little book on stomach diseases mailed free.

ENGLISH HORSE RACES.

London, June 16.—The Lorillard-Beresford stables' 3-year-old brown gelding Sandia won the Fern Hill stakes of twenty sovereigns each with 500 sovereigns added, at the second day's racing at Ascot Heath today. Leopold Rothschild's Gallithia was second, and A. F. Alexander's Mandorlia third.

CONSTANT TORTURE.

No One But Sufferers From Rheumatism Realize the Real Meaning of Pain.

No Necessity For It.

Kickapoo Indian Remedies Have Been Proved by Thousands to be a Permanent Cure for Rheumatism.

Mr. Christopher Graham of Louis, Ia., suffered the most intense torture for many years from that most painful as well as dangerous disease—rheumatism. This disease owes its origin to uric acid in the blood. Let the system once become impregnated with this poison, and the patient suffers the most excruciating pain. Were it only the matter of the great agony that has to be endured, perhaps so much would not be thought about it—but it is the danger to life that causes rheumatism to be dreaded; the obnoxious poison settling in various parts of the body as it does, and continually shifting from one position to another, is the cause of the pain in the various limbs; once let it strike the heart, as it is apt to at any minute and the result is instantaneous death.

Take warning by Mr. Graham, for although he had been a sufferer for many years, he was fortunate enough in having this terrible malady checked in time to save his life. To use his own words:—

"I was afflicted with rheumatism for 20 years in my arms, legs, and back. I was utterly unable to work and my suffering was terrible. As a last resort, I tried a bottle of Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, and after I had used that I got five bottles more. They cured me. This was seven years ago, and ever since that day I have not felt a pain."

Kickapoo Indian Oil when applied externally is a quick cure for the pain of rheumatism relieving the patient immediately. Kickapoo Indian Sagwa when taken internally, neutralizes this dreadful poison, purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, liver and kidneys, making these great organs strong and healthy and by enabling them to dispel existing poisons through the natural channels effects a permanent cure. A single application of Kickapoo Indian Oil will prove its ability to allay pain. A few doses of Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, will show that it is a remedy that will result in a sure and permanent restoration to health.

You cannot afford to be sick when you have at your command the means of perfect health.

Remember that Kickapoo Indian Remedies are sold at all druggists.

IN THE DAKOTAS.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Sheriff McDonald has returned to Mandan from Glendive with Frank James, alias Lee Amen, a cowboy, whom he arrested with the OX on his 320 miles south of Wibaux. Amen was working with Dr. Macklin on a ranch near Mandan and was left alone with young Macklin, a 19-year-old son. He locked the son in the cellar, robbed the house and left, taking a horse and saddle. Young Macklin was confined three days with nothing to eat except raw potatoes and when rescued was in a starving condition. James, alias Amen, is a hard character. His father and Jesse James are first cousins. He broke out of the state prison of South Dakota about a year ago, where he was serving a sentence for cattle stealing, and is also wanted in Texas on the same charge. He acknowledges his guilt and is liable to receive from a five to seven years' sentence in North Dako ta.

At 1 o'clock yesterday morning, while the members of Professor Estes' family of the state university at Grand Forks were asleep up stairs, fire was discovered in the kitchen part of their residence, on North Eighth street, in passing down stairs Mrs. Estes was struck in the side by something and when she reached the outside of the burning building became unconscious and fell to the ground. Drs. Wheeler and Taylor were called, and are of the opinion that no fatal or serious will result, and believe that the temporary prostration is but the result of a severe shock. The fire department responded promptly, and in a very short time succeeded in extinguishing the fire.

The state has ordered 100 cattle vaccinated at Dickinson for black leg as an experiment. The disease is very infectious and many animals have died from it. The final inoculation, ten days from the first, was made today.

A posse of men started north from Dickinson in pursuit of horse thieves, who have driven off 100 animals belonging to ranchers living west of that place.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

A wedding at Miller this week had connected with it considerable of a romantic tinge. Charles Moneur, a prominent Scotch sheep owner living north of there determined early last fall to go back to his native land and bring a wife. In Scotland he had known a comely lassie whom he now believed would make him a good helpmeet. After reaching his old home in Scotland he learned that the now mature Scotch woman he remembered as a girl was many miles away. Notice from his foreman here of the deep snows forced him to return to save his sheep, letting the marriage question wait. Two days after his departure from Scotland the lady returned to her home and learned of his visit. A correspondence ensued and it was finally decided that she take ship for America and they be married here. This she did and the couple has just been wedded.

ROBBED OF $6000.

Mixed Up Stabbing Affray Near St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 16.—C. S. Collins, of Nashville, Tenn., who said he had but recently disposed of his hotel in that city and had the proceeds—$6000—on his person, was found badly wounded about midnight last night at Meramec highlands, fifteen miles from this city. He told the watchman of the inn, near where he was found, that he had been stabbed and robbed of the $6000 by Martin Ensley, a traveling man whom he had met in Nashville.

Shortly before 3 o'clock Ensley was arrested while waiting for a car. He denied the robbery and said a third person had held up both him and Collins. Ensley's vest was covered with blood, so the officers say, and they found several hundred dollars on his person. Ensley registered at the Southern hotel as from Memphis.

A TEXAS VICTORY.

Austin, Texas, June 16.—The jury in the case of the Waters Pierce Oil company, charged with violation of the anti-trust law, has brought in a verdict for the state, cancelling the company's permit to do business in Texas. The defendant will appeal.

POSTAL CONGRESS.

Finishes Its Labors at Washington and Adjourns.

Washington, June 16.—The Universal Postal congress, the fifth convention of the kind in the world, finished its labors yesterday after a closed session lasting several hours. The next congress will be held at Rome, Italy, in February 1903. The final session was devoted to the formal signing of the general treaty and of the detailed articles. The originals of all of the documents will be placed in the archives of the state department for preservation and certified copies will be forwarded to all the governments comprising the Universal Postal union. The deliberations of the final meeting were accompanied with much formality. Gen. George S. Batchelor, president of the congress, called the body to order shortly before 11 o'clock and after a few remarks and appropriate speeches, the documents were signed. It was late in the afternoon when the final adieus were said.

Following is an official resume of the results of the work of the congress:

First—The principal treaty which excludes the entry of Corea into the postal union; the declaration of the Orange Free State (which failed to send a delegate) that it hoped soon to enter the union, and the declaration of the Chinese empire (which was represented in the congress), that it will observe the regulations of the union as soon as the organization of its service is effected.

Second—The intermediary transit rates have been facilitated and the tariff diminished quite materially on a graduated scale for the ensuing six years.

Third—Uniform colors have been projected for postage stamps.

Fourth—Postal cards unpaid are subject to a double tax; that is 4 cents in place of the former tax, which was 2 cents, the same as for unpaid letters.

Fifth—Circulars produced on a machine (typewritten) in quantities of twenty circulars, all of the same character, are admitted to the international mails at the same rates as printed circulars.

Sixth—Samples of merchandise are admitted up to 350 grammes.

Seventh—Objects of natural history, animals, dried plants or preserved geological specimens, are admitted as samples.

Eighth—The question of the creation of a universal postage stamp was brought up and the proposition defeated on account of the difficulty which would occur in putting into practice that important innovation, especially because of the diversity of currency standards.

Ninth—Special arrangements concerning packages of declared values, postal orders, books of identity and subscriptions to journals have been thoroughly revised. This country is not actively concerned in these arrangements. They mostly affect the states of the continent of Europe.

The new treaty will become operative Jan. 1, 1899. Most of the delegates left the city for their homes tonight.

CUBAN MESSAGES.

Important News For the Junta Reaches New York.

New York, June 16.—On board the Ward line steamer Seguranca, which arrived today from Havana was F. R. Winn, of Sherman, Texas, who has been for some time with the insurgent forces at Pinar Del Rio, in the west end of Cuba. Winn succeeded in crossing the trocha ad reached Havana last Thursday and managed to elude the Spanish officials, finally getting on board the Seguranca without molestation from the authorities.

Mr. Winn is the bearer of important dispatches to the Cuban junta in this city. He is quite sanguine of the ultimate success of the insurgent cause and says the Spaniards are disheartened and weary of the fight. The guerrillas have all been killed off by the Cuban sharpshooters and the Spanish regulars do but very little fighting.

OUT OF QUARANTINE.

New York, June 16.—The passengers of the Panama railroad steamer Advance, who have been detained at Hoffman island since last Friday owing to the presence of yellow fever on that steamer, were discharged today.

Cancer

Mrs. A. H. Crausby, of 158 Kerr St., Memphis, Tenn., paid no attention to a small lump in her breast, but it soon developed into a cancer of the most malignant type. The best physicians in New York treated her, and finally declared her case hopeless. As a last resort, S. S. S was given, and an immediate improvement resulted; a few bottles cured her completely, and no sign of the disease has returned for ten years.

DECLINED

Wheat Dropped in Price, Owing to the Lack of Demand.

The Unexpected Strength at Liverpool Revived Talk of Foreign Crop Damage.

Selling Orders From the Northwest Were Reported at New York.

Wheat opened steady though at a decline caused by the state crop reports which, almost without exception, were favorable, and by the rains and hot weather throughout the West and Northwest. The unexpected strength at Liverpool, however, which opened at an advance notwithstanding the decline in American markets yesterday, revived the talk of foreign crop damage. Northwest receipts were high, 187 cars against 212 last week and 569 a year ago. The strength in corn caused an advance in wheat during the second hour of the session. Receipts at Chicago were eight cars and 25,000 bus were inspected out. Liverpool reported an advance of ¼d in July and ½d in April; Paris a decline of from 10 to 25 centimes. Clearances of wheat and flour from Atlantic ports were small, the total amounting to only 128,000 bus. New York early in the day reported selling orders from the Northwest, but there was good demand for cash wheat for shipment from there, and a large quantity was worked in yesterday, a shipping firm at Chicago sold 20,000 bus No. 2 spring in the forenoon, the price paid for it being said to have been 5c over July, and it was supposed to be for direct export. Another shipper had an order from Glasgow for No. 2 northern spring, but it was limited below working basis on today's market.

Trading was dull on the Duluth board. July wheat opened 5c lower at 71¾c, advanced to 71½c, reacted to 71½c but rallied and sold up to 71¾c at the end of the second hour. Towards the close it eased off to 70½c, and the close was firm with buyers at 71c, a decline of 1c for the day. Shippers bought sixteen cars of cash stuff 1c over July. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 72½c; No. 1 northern, cash, 71½c; July, 71c bid; September, 68¾c. No. 2 northern, 69½c; No. 3 spring, 66@66½c. Rejected, 62½@62¾c. Rye, 36c. No. 2 oats, 21¼c; No. 3 oats, 20½c. Flax, 75½c. GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of E. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 17 Chamber of Commerce and 307 Board of Trade, Chicago, June 16.—Liverpool surprised the trade by coming higher after our break. A stronger feeling existed here for a short time, partly in sympathy with the strong corn market, but there was too much July wheat on the market and liquidation in that future continued all day. July shorts appear scarce and the fact is becoming apparent that the bulk of the speculative short interest has been turned over into September. The numerous predictions of a July squeeze are doubtless responsible for this. July declined 1c today while September closed only ⅝c lower. At no time today was September wheat freely offered and there was an evident desire on the part of several leading shorts to cover.

Corn led the other markets today though gaining only ⅛c over yesterday. There was good buying attributed to country account by several houses who have lately been identified with the bear side. It is yet rather early to bull corn on crop damage but the planting was late and the prospects for a hot summer, if it is a dry season, too, we all ought to buy a little corn in July.

Provisions weak on excessive receipts and probable increase in French duties on pork products.

Puts, July wheat, 67⅝@68⅛c.
Calls, July wheat, 69¾@69⅞c.
Curb, July wheat, 68¾c.

IT'S CURES THAT COUNT.

Many so-called remedies are pressed on the public attention on account of their claimed large sales. But sales cannot determine values. Sales simply argue good salesmen, shrewd puffery, or enormous advertising. It's cures that count. It is cures that are counted on by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Its sales might be boasted. It has the world for its market. But sales prove nothing. We point only to the record of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, as proof of its merit:

50 YEARS OF CURES.

"A REPUBLICAN" REPLIES.

A Hot Answer to the "Morris Republican."

To the Editor of The Herald:

"A Republican who voted for Morris" had his pen picture in yesterday's News Tribune, and it was true to life to those who know him. He is local. He pretends to be a Republican and yet complains when one signs as "A Republican." Does me the name Republican as applied to party organization represent something national in character? It must be that it does, but if this is so why does the correspondent of the Tribune limit his party fealty to Page Morris? What is the matter with a McKinley Republican? If my adversary alleges that I am a "Pop" and voted for Towne for congress and then goes to work and signs himself "A Republican who voted for Morris," why might it not be justifiable in me to allege that he, by putting a limit upon his Republican principles and practices, was guilty of voting for Morris for congress and Bryan for president? Such an allegation, if established, would conform to his record heretofore in Duluth as regards politics.

Let us see: When Grover Cleveland was elected last time, this "Morris Republican" did not want a man outside of Duluth to have the land office, but on the contrary, he dictated a Democratic appointee out of a man who used to publish a Republican newspaper in Dakota. This "Morris Republican," who, when Democrats are in power, furnishes a federal office holder from his own office in Duluth, and when he Republicans are in office wants and is promised a fat job for himself, thinks, and ries to realize that he has grown mighty. In patronage he is great. When Democrats are in, he puts his clerk in federal office, and when the Republicans come in he receives the former clerk back into his office, and takes a job for himself as a "Morris Republican." I do not like a man who runs both political parties, because neither one can depend upon him in the hour of adversity. He eats and eats—and eats. When Mr. Baldwin was elected to congress from this district, this man who signs himself as "Morris Republican," while he may never have appeared over the signature of "A Baldwin Democrat," yet made Baldwin believe that he led the bolters of Duluth who defeated Searle and elected the blind alderman from the Fifth ward. He made him believe this to such an extent that Baldwin fell on his neck and said: Will-a-put me in twain. He did so and he Republican members from Dakota was appointed to an office which was and had been ably filled up to the time that this Baldwin and Morris Republican got in his work.

Now I will tell you, Mr. "Morris Republican," that you have never supported men on principle for principle. You look to yourself. You want the office of collector and you know that if A. L. Warner or John J. Skuse gets the land office Page Morris must disappoint someone else. I know Page Morris well enough to believe that he has never made the promise to take the office of congressman and give everything else to the outside. He is too smart for that, but you have led him into the great error of following your direction. Now I say to you furthermore that you do not support this man Culkin because you are a Republican, but because you are a United Republican—limited to your own ideas, intents and purposes. You know that if Page Morris wished to appoint a collector of the port from outside Duluth, you would squeal like a stuck pig and say: "Give me just another chance to put in a Democrat for congress," but you are trading your city brothers for a mess of pottage. You call me a "Pop" and say that if I had been watched in the booth I might have been seen to scratch in X opposite the name of Towne. Thanks to the law, such men as you can no longer see or intimidate the men who do the voting. You now seek to intimidate men whom you can make believe you had some hand in electing. This is why you limit yours if to "A Republican who voted for Morris" when you seek to ridicule a man who signed, as he ought—"A Republican." You commend me to pray, but I say to you that if you have no better argument to advance in the way of importing a man from Southern Minnesota, to take charge of our home affairs, than the Damaged "Pop," then your argument needs praying for. In conclusion, Mr. Goodplayer, let me say that I am not a "Pop" but that at times when I reflect or retrospect, it seems that I can see signs that indicate that it is the great people instead of a few politicians who must be satisfied. Duluth is large and will not brook an insult, even if preferred by both Page Morris and yourself.

A REPUBLICAN.

P. S.—The mere fact that I said "excite" instead of "incite" in my other letter is no excuse for your lack of "instep" concerning the wants and rights of the people of Duluth.

McGilvray Still Missing.

No word from T. F. McGilvray, city engineer-elect, was received today. So far he has effectually eluded the officer that is chasing him. He is supposed to be in the woods somewhere north of Tower. Nothing has been heard either from the man, an experienced woodsman, who left Tower to seek him.

Assigned to John D.

Two instruments were filed with the register of deeds this morning by which mortgages on the Franklin mine were assigned to John D. Rockefeller. The mortgages were made Aug. 1, 1893, and in March, 1895, by the Franklin Iron Mining company to William Rockefeller, and they are assigned by him to John D. Rockefeller. The consideration for each assignment is $124,000. The assignments are dated Jan. 1, 1896.

WEST END

Manager Gray of the Ironton Plant Expected Home Next Week.

Plans For Future Operations Will Probably Then Have Been Perfected.

Cycle Club Formed Last Evening and Plans Made For the Summer.

A gentleman connected with the Ironton Structural Steel company, who does not feel bound by the rule of secrecy that has been so rigidly enforced by the management of that establishment, said to an Evening Herald reporter today that all work at the big plant has been suspended, except in the machine shops where a number of men are still employed in making changes to rolls. Manager Gray is expected to return next week from the East, where he has been in consultation with the capitalists back of the enterprise, since the last successful run of the rolling mill. When he arrives it is expected that the future policy of the company will have been determined. The men who have been laid off were advised by Manager Gray to remain in the city, as he expected that he would be able to furnish them permanent employment in a short time. The Evening Herald's informant said that an enormous outlay of money, probably $1,500,000 more, would have to be made before the plant would be in a position to compete with the large steel structural plants of the East. It cannot now manufacture its own steel billets, but must depend on other mills, while when it will have to compete for business, for its supply. When Ironton has been unable to obtain them from Andrew Carnegie and the few they have bought already have been purchased from Bethelehem. The roller mill is now equipped for the manufacture of I beams only and machinery for rolling channels and angles will have to be supplied. Blast furnaces will also have to be built before the company can engage in the extensive manufacture of structural steel.

CYCLE CLUB FORMED.

About twenty enthusiastic wheelmen met at Ketchum's bicycle store last night and perfected the organization of the West Duluth Cycle club. Henry K. Brearley was elected president, C. W. Phillips vice president, Dr. L. B. Kenney, secretary and treasurer, and Henry Gifford, captain. A committee consisting of Henry K. Brearley, Frank Wade and Dr. L. B. Kinney was appointed to draft bylaws to be submitted for the approval of the club at its next meeting, which is to be held Wednesday evening, June 23. The club starts out with a membership of forty-eight, and it is believed that this number will be doubled in a short time. A neat and appropriate uniform is to be adopted and it is probable that the rink will be secured as a permanent home for the organization, where race meetings can be held. West Duluth has a large number of splendid wheelmen and unusual interest is being shown in the cycle club by them, which insures its success.

THE WEATHER.

United States Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth, Synopsis of weather conditions for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 a. m., (Central time), June 16.—The storm which has been central in Montana for the past two days, has increased in intensity and magnitude its center still continuing in that section. Showers have occurred in all reporting districts from the Rocky mountains eastward to Lake Erie, being most numerous and heavy in the Canadian Northwest, Minnesota and Western Montana. They have been light, but quite general, in the Lower Missouri valley and the Southwest, while over a large area including the western part of the Dakotas, Eastern Montana, Colorado, Wyoming and the greater part of Nebraska, no rain has fallen during the last twenty-four hours, and fair weather still prevails. The following are the heaviest rainfalls since yesterday morning: Havre, 2.08 inches; Medicine Hat, 1.74; St. Paul, 1.01; Detroit, .92; Helena, .76.

The temperature this morning is generally lower than yesterday in the upper lake region and has risen slightly in the Southwest. The highest thermometer readings reported yesterday afternoon were as follows: Pueblo and Swift Current, 94; St. Paul, Davenport and Havre, 90. It is now warmest in the southern part of the lake region and in the Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 50; maximum yesterday, 66; minimum yesterday, 50.

Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity: Generally cloudy, with rain, tonight and Thursday; continued cool; northeast winds increasing to high today.
winds increasing to high today.
Storm northeast signals are displayed at Duluth and Two Harbors.

JAMES KENEALY,
Local Forecast Official.

Chicago June 16.—Forecast until 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Minnesota: Thunder storms and probably local storms this afternoon and tonight; probably clearing sharing Thursday; cooler in western and southern portions Thursday afternoon, brisk to high southeast winds.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM.

The value of newspaper advertising and its superiority over any other method of advertising have been demonstrated in a striking manner at Minneapolis, where Ringling Bros.' circus was attended by immense crowds, the capacity of the great tents being thoroughly tested. Peculiar conditions have existed in Minneapolis for a few weeks. The Journal thus tells the story

"It has always been supposed by the advertising experts who control circus advertising that the billboard was the great agency by which the attention of the public was to be arrested and its curiosity aroused. This being accepted as one of the tenets of the profession, the Barnum-Bailey people executed a very clever coup in "cornering" the billboard space in Minneapolis before the Ringling Bros. appeared on the scene. But this neat bit of diplomacy on the part of the Barnum-Bailey people had the effect of bringing the case to an immediate issue, for the Ringlings were forced to depend upon newspaper advertising to reach their patrons. They accepted the situation boldly, though not without some misgivings, and proceeded to make the best possible use of their opportunities. Space in the Journal and other dailies was used with lavish hand and nothing was neglected that might interest newspaper readers in the coming of the circus.

"The only question was, how many people read the newspapers thoroughly? The two immense concourses of people who thronged the great canvas amphitheater of the Ringling Brothers yesterday gave a stentorian answer to this question. The answer was, Every one! The fact that at the evening performance every seat was taken and many were turned away at the doors is very significant. The truth is that the people of the Northwest are a reading people and a thinking people. Naturally, intelligent newspaper advertising appeals to them more forcibly than any amount of gaudily-colored paper on the dead walls. It has been a heavy blow to the billboards to have the immense superiority of newspaper advertising thus thoroughly demonstrated.

"The enterprising Barnum-Bailey advertising men, however, recognized very early in the game that it would be well to use the newspapers and they have made very large and effective use of space to announce the coming of their show on July 12. They, too, have learned much from the little advertising war that has raged here for some weeks past, and the Barnum-Bailey show will undoubtedly be a large gainer by the improved methods of advertising now adopted."

The result undoubtedly will be a large reduction in the amount of bill-board advertising by the circuses next season. They will depend more upon newspaper advertising, having given it a severe test that proved its value. The billboard, which is at the best an unsightly object on the streets, must soon be relegated to the dead past with the dodger and other useless methods to reach the public.

THE PHENOMENAL COLD.

The series of June cool waves passing over British America and the northern section of the United States have assumed more than usual importance this year. In a recent article accounting for the unseasonably cool weather, the New York Herald says that the apparent collapse of the summer at its very opening must not be regarded as foreshadowing necessarily a cool season. The phenomenal cold in the first half of June, 1881—which extended from the lakes to Maine and thence southward to North Carolina—was not followed by a cool season; it merely indicated a retardation of summer. In 1881 the mean temperature of June proved at New York to be fully up to the normal (64 degrees); in June it was 73 degrees, the normal being 74; August was, on the whole, 1 degree warmer than usual, the mean being 73, and September was 6 degrees warmer than the month normally is, having maintained throughout an extraordinary average heat of 72 degrees. As a whole, the season that began so unpromising was exceptionally hot. It is true that in 1881 the sun's energy was increasing quite rapidly, and 730 spots, many of them large, were observed on its surface, whereas in 1897 its energy is at a standstill and its surface but little perturbed. Nevertheless the comparison should suffice to dispel any hastily-formed conclusion that the present meteorological condition is that the warm season will be rather late in developing its strength over the Northwest, the lake region, the Central West, the middle states and New England, but that after the close of June its normal temperature in these sections will be fully maintained far into September.

Our summer heat, is in fact, the product of two great agencies of equal potency—the direct solar radiation and the water vapor distributed over the continent by the winds blowing from the sea into the interior. It is too early in the season for the latter to get in its work. But after the sun reaches, on the 21st, the limit of his annual northward movement, and the rich southerly winds begin to spread their ocean vapor over the whole country from the gulf coast to the Dominion, the illusion of the temperature deficit will probably vanish. Doubtless recent frosts have been injurious to the crops. Fortunately, however, the cloudiness which has prevailed generally in the districts overrun by the cold waves has served to restrict the areas in which "killing" frosts have occurred.

We may therefore enjoy the prospect of having plenty of warm weather yet and a summer season that will be of normal duration. The warmth that we have missed at the beginning of the summer season this year will be fully made up by an extension of the warm weather late into the fall season.

THE TERRITORY OF HAWAII.

A treaty for the annexation of the Hawaiian islands to the United States was signed in Washington this morning by Secretary Sherman on behalf of this country and by representatives of the republic of Hawaii. The treaty goes at once to the senate for ratification or rejection. It is confidently believed that it will be ratified by the necessary two-thirds vote. The Hawaiian islands are annexed in the form of a territory. This was deemed to be a better plan than making them a county of California. It will suit the residents of Hawaii better, and will undoubtedly be more satisfactory to the people of California. The treaty provides that this country shall assume the Hawaiian debt, but not in excess of $4,000,000, and no mention is made of the ex-queen or the princess who were provided for by pensions in the treaty which was negotiated by the Harrison administration and subsequently withdrawn by President Cleveland.

The Hawaiian or Sandwich islands, which will become a part of the United States by the ratification of this treaty, consist of eight inhabited and four uninhabited islands in the North Pacific ocean. From San Francisco to Honolulu (the Hawaiian capital) the distance is 2100 miles. The area of the islands is about 7000 square miles and the population in the neighborhood of 95,000. The four uninhabited islands are barren rocks. The size and population of the eight larger are shown by the following table:

Name.	Square Miles.	Estimated Population.
Hawaii	4,210	44,000

Honolulu, the capital, is laid out on the American style and there are some very fine buildings. The harbor is a fine one and there are lines of steamers direct to San Francisco, Liverpool, New York, Boston, Sydney, China and Peru. The climate in general is warm, with a sky usually cloudless. The northeast trade winds blow for about nine months, but during January, February and March the winds are generally from the southwest and are hot and damp. The principal exports are sugar, rice, coffee, hides, skins, tallow and wool. Sheep are raised in immense numbers.

Nansen is said to have given great offense to the "young Norway" party, to which he was supposed to be devoted, by going to Stockholm to lecture before the prince and the Swedish ministers and assuring them that he bore cordial greetings from the people of Norway. Not content with that, he actually called for the Swedish national hymn after dinner. The result was this piece of advice addressed to Nansen by a Norwegian separatist paper: "Go back to the North Pole, for there is nothing more for you to do in Norway."

One of the unusual provisions of the Raines law requires that excise cases in New York county be tried in the court of special sessions without a jury. The provision applied to no other county in the state. Judge Andrews of the supreme court has decided in a test case that it is unconstitutional to deprive a prisoner of a jury trial. Hence, this feature of the law is broken down.

Governor Russell of North Carolina has a remedy for lynchings. He thinks the executive should be given the power to convene a court instanter where the crime will warrant such a step being taken, and that a prompt and speedy disposition of the case should follow. The suggestion seems to be a good one and it might be given a trial.

It is charged in Chicago papers that $1,000,000 was spent to put through the Illinois legislature the gas company consolidation and street railway bills. No complaints of hard times have been heard from the members, and they are probably wondering why the people are clamoring for a national bankruptcy law.

Mr. Brice, of Chicago, still holds that he can turn metals into gold, but he is so patriotic that he would rather sell his secret to the government than disturb the treasury by doing the transmutation himself. Such patriotism should be handsomely rewarded.

Dean Matthews, of Des Moines, Iowa, said in a recent sermon on "Young Women in Business Circles:" "Young women, you have gone into the markets of the world as workers. Prepare to do your work on an equality with men, and do not think it a charity or ask it as a favor. And, above all, don't cry."

The false report started by the News Tribune that the officials at the Sault canal suspected crookedness in regard to the coal shipments to Duluth is now traveling the rounds of the press. The Marquette Mining Journal repeated it and now the Evening Wisconsin of Milwaukee gives it publicity.

Six miles of London streets are lined with stands erected for those who desire to witness the jubilee parade next week. It will be a grand spectacle and if the event passes off without a serious accident the London officials will undoubtedly feel pleased.

Tomorrow will be the one hundred and twenty-second aniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill, and it will be observed by many patriotic societies throughout the country. It was at this battle that Yankee Doodle learned how to crow.

It is said that the new Yerkes telescope brings Mars within 500 miles of Chicago. If this be true, the Martians may wake up some fine morning and find themselves annexed to the Windy City.

The Omaha Bee says the one drop of consolation in Chicago's cup is that the legislature did not surpass the iniquity of the Chicago river.

BRIGHT AND BREEZY.

Truth: Employer—I though you wanted to go to your grandmother's funeral this afternoon?

Office boy—Please, sir, it was postponed on account of wet grounds.

Chicago Post: They were discussing a mutual friend.

"Yes," said the new woman, "she is a very bright young girl, but she seems to have no aim in life."

"Oh, well," replied the young man, courageously coming to her defense, "you must not forget that very few women are expert shots."

Indianapolis Journal: "That brute," said the indignant buyer, "balked for three hours the first time I took him out."

"Well," said the seller, as he chewed a straw, "I told you he was a horse of wonderful staying ability, didn't I?"

Somerville Journal: This is the season of the year when it seems harder to push a lawn mower than it does to shovel snow.

Detroit Free Press: "They tell me Grimly, that your daughter sings with great expression."

"Greatest expression you ever saw. Her own mother can't recognize her face when she's singing at her best."

Washington Star: What is the matter?" inquired the officer.

"The enemy has stolen a march on me!" replied the general, in great agitation.

"Are you sure?"

"Almost. If not that, or else I have mislaid the manuscript."

Boston Transcript: Lodger—How much for the room I had last night?

Landlord—Two and a half.

Lodger—That's pretty steep, isn't it, considering I didn't sleep a wink? I was walking the floor at least half the night.

Landlord—So? Call it $3; 50 cents extra for wear and tear on the carpet.

Boston Globe: Doctor (to servant)—And how is my patient this morning?

Mary—Please, sir, 'e's dead.

Doctor—Then my duty is ended.

Detroit Free Press: "What makes you think Smoothly is an experienced fisherman?"

"Because he is one of the most natural and artistic liars I have ever had the pleasure of meeting."

Chicago Record: "Won't it be delightful when we all have flying machines?"

"I don't know about that; of course our creditors will have them, too."

DR. EDW. E. HALE

Tells of a Positive Specific For Nervous Diseases.

Edward Everett Hale, D.D., LL.D., the celebrated New England preacher, author and philantropist, writes:

"I am assured, by a careful inquiry among leading physicians and personal friends who have used it and in whom I have the utmost confidence, that Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets are invaluable in insomnia and all nervous diseases.

PRINCETON'S GRIEF.

Funeral of Graduate George F. Edwards.

New York, June 16.—The gay commencement of Princeton university was interrupted by the most pathetic spectacle that has ever been seen within the walls of old Nassau on graduation days. It was the funeral services of Dr. George F. Edwards, who was considered the most popular graduate of the university since he obtained his diploma in 1889.

Dr. Edwards was a college wag. Possessed of a fund of good nature, witty, loyal and generous, he was a hail fellow well met. At all the university functions he was a conspicuous and necessary figure. He was alive to the pranks of the "horse players," and earned in his college course the sobriquet of "horse" Edwards. In the burlesque games, in the college minstrelsy, in all the tricks of university life he was a leading character. The professors loved him and were amused at his innocent pranks.

He left college in the spring of 1889. Subsequently he entered the medical department of the university of Pennsylvania where he was graduated with honors. After a brief service in the Presbyterian hospital in Philadelphia, he went to Johns Hopkins university and began the study of tuberculosis. While there he was infected with consumption through coming in contact with patients. The first signs of the malady appeared in him about three years ago. Then began the long fight for life which culminated in his death at Princeton, but not before he had left his entire fortune of about $150,000 to the institution and to a university club, of which he was a member.

Dr. Edwards realized last fall that his end was near. He had gone to the Pacific slope in quest of health, but disease had mastered his vital powers. "I shall probably die next spring," said he to his friends, "but I desire to pass away in old East college, where I roomed in Princeton. I want to see one more Yale game and attend another Ivy dinner, then I shall be happy." So it happened that "Horse Edwards" arrived in Princeton shortly after the middle of last week. He was near death. He was back once more among the elms. He was there to die. He knew it and said so.

The dinner of the Ivy club, the famous eating club of Princeton, of which Dr. Edwards was a member, was held on Friday night in its beautiful house. The "horse" was there. He was propped up in a big arm chair in the room adjoining the banquet hall, so that he could hear all that was being said and listen to the speeches. All the Ivy men knew he was near by. As the night wore on and it was near the time that the sufferer should be in bed, he was taken to the dinner hall. The Ivy men rose to their feet and gave him cheer after cheer.

Dr. Edwards managed to find sufficient strength to arise and make his final speech to the Ivy club members. "This is the last time I shall be with you," he said, substantially. "I urge upon you all to be loyal to your university. How many pleasant hours I have passed here. The scenes now come back to me, and how thankful I am for the associations of the past. So good night and farewell."

That night he wrote a letter to a negro boy whom he had befriended and given an education. Next he started to send a farewell message to the Ivy club members and to dispose of his estate. Several times he lapsed into unconsciousness, but his friends managed to arouse him to finish the message. The farewell letter is filled with an appeal to Princeton men to be loyal to their institution. After a series of efforts he completed his will, in which he leaves nearly all of his fortune, estimated at $150,000, to Princeton university. The Ivy club will receive a bequest, and a small legacy is left to the negro boy whom he educated.

NELSON'S BACKBONE.

Not So Stiff as It Was Years Ago.

Washington, June 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Friends of Senator Nelson, who freely predicted at the opening of this extra session that he would be a considerable man in the senate when the tariff bill was under discussion, have grown rather tired of waiting for the junior Minnesota senator to come to the front. It was confidently asserted that he would not be bound by the caucus action; that he would hold up the tariff bill in the senate until Speaker Reed permitted the consideration of his bankruptcy bill in the house; that he would force the adoption of his anti-trust amendment and the abrogation of Hawaiian reciprocity treaty and oppose extremely high rates on any schedule in the bill.

So far Mr. Nelson has not shown any disposition to fight any particular clause in the bill. Had a vote been taken in the Republican caucus his amendment to abrogate the Hawaiian reciprocity treaty would have been overwhelmingly defeated. He has voluntarily abandoned his anti-trust amendment and will support whatever measure of this kind is prepared by the senate finance committee, and has never manifested the slightest inclination to take any action which would force Speaker Reed to allow the bankruptcy bill to come up.

Some people are now reaching the opinion that Nelson's backbone is not so stiff as it was when, as a member of the house, he bolted his party and voted for the Mills bill. So far in the present tariff debate he has followed the Republican leaders in the meekest kind of manner, and the outlook now is that he will keep on to the end. Nelson wants to succeed himself as senator and he now thinks it good policy to stick to his party to accomplish it. Otherwise he might "bolt."

DUNNELL STILL WAITING.

Washington, July 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—In spite of the fact that ex-Congressman Dunnell has the backing of the entire Minnesota congressional delegation, the president has not provided for him in any way. Congressman Tawney called at the White House again today to urge the president to take some action in this matter.

ENGLISH COAST GALES.

London, June 16.—The North of England and Scotland have been swept by heavy gales. The suburbs of Glasgow and the country around that city are flooded, and the railroads are submerged. A terrible storm has swept over Liverpool. Nelson's flagship, the Foudroyant, which is now touring the coast as a show ship, has been driven ashore and is expected to be lost.

MRS. BLACKMAN A FRAUD.

London, June 16.—Secretary Heney of Barney Barnato's companies says that the claim of Mrs. Blackman, of Cleveland, O., to be a daughter of the late South African speculator, is preposterous, as Barnato was only once married.

A BACHELOR'S REFLECTIONS.

New York Press: A man laughs from a sense of humor; a woman from a sense of duty.

'Tis better to have loved and won than never to have loved at all.

Man's creative power is limited by his passion; woman's by her love.

Most of men are lots more innocent than they think their wives think they are.

Women always act so surprised the first time they see a ballet and try to blush.

If Gabriel carries along a skirt and rustles it over some men's graves, he won't need his trumpet.

Half a woman's charm is in what you don't see, and the other half in what you think you see.

BUTLER FOUND GUILTY.

Noted Australian Bush Murderer is Convicted.

Sydney, N. S.W., June 16.—The trial of Frank Butler, charged with the murder of Capt. Lee Weller, while the man was on a gold prospecting trip, was concluded today, the jury rendering a verdict of guilty. Butler, after the murder of Capt. Weller, escaped from Australia, but was arrested in San Francisco afterwards and was extradited. The plea of the defense at the trial just concluded was that Capt. Weller committed suicide.

It is alleged that the condemned man has, in the course of his career, taken the lives in Australia of a number of other persons. It was his practice to advertise for a prospective partner, and having found one with means, murder him while in the bush.

This is the head of a Pearline woman. "There are others." And if the others don't look cheerful, it's no wonder. You've got to work hard, if you do your washing and cleaning with soap, and you've got to work a long time over it, and you're wearing things out with your rubbing. Pearline makes the work easy and quick; saves rubbing. The wonder is that any woman who has to do soap's hard work can look pleasant. Still, some of them do, in spite of it. 544

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—

Default has been made in the payment of the semi-annual installment of interest amounting to thirty-six dollars ($36.00), which became due on the first day of May, 1897, which default has continued to the date of this notice, upon a mortgage duly executed and delivered by Charles W. Hoyt and Jennie M. Hoyt, his wife, mortgagors, to The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of November, 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on November 26th, 1892, at 8:30 o'clock a. m. in Book 39 of mortgages, on page 47; and

Whereas, said mortgagors made default in paying taxes against the mortgaged premises for the years 1892, 1893, 1894 and 1895, and it was provided in said mortgage that the undersigned mortgagee might pay said taxes upon default of said mortgagors. The undersigned paid said taxes on the mortgaged premises for the above years on June 8th, 1895, amounting to one hundred twenty-five and 19-100 dollars ($125.19). The undersigned claims and has a lien against said mortgaged premises under the terms of said mortgage, for the amount so paid, with interest from day of payment at the rate of six per cent per annum.

More than ten days have elapsed since the default made in the payment of said installment of interest and the said The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company has elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable, at the date of this notice, under the terms of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained. There is therefore actually due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice, for principal on said mortgage debt and interest the sum of twelve hundred forty-three and 82-100 dollars ($1243.82); and for taxes as above stated, one hundred twenty-five and 19-100 dollars ($125.19), amounting in all to the sum of thirteen hundred sixty-nine and 01-100 dollars ($1369.01). No action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Therefore notice is given that under the power of sale in said mortgage contained, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The westerly thirty (30) feet of the easterly ninety-five (95) feet of lot one hundred and eighty-one (181), in block sixty-seven (67), of Duluth Proper, Second Division, more particularly described as follows: Commencing at a point on the northerly line of First street fifty (50) feet easterly from the westerly line of lot one hundred and eighty-one (181), block sixty-seven (67), Second Division; running thence northerly on a line parallel to the westerly line of said lot one hundred and eighty-one (181) one hundred and twenty feet (120), to a point on Summit avenue; thence along the westerly line of Summit avenue in a southeasterly direction to a point on said line of Summit avenue, eighty (80) feet distant from westerly line of said lot one hundred and eighty-one (181), and in a line drawn at right angles to said westerly line of said lot one hundred and eighty-one (181); thence southerly to a point in the northerly line of First street, eighty (80) feet easterly from the westerly line of lot one hundred and eighty-one (181); thence westerly along the northerly line of First street thirty (30) feet to place of beginning, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, and said lands being in St. Louis county, Minnesota. Said sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state on the 22nd day of July, A. D. 1897, at 10 o'clock a. m. on that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt of thirteen hundred sixty-nine and 01-100 dollars ($1369.01) and interest thereon, and seventy-five dollars ($75.00) attorneys' fees as stipulated in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

NEGLECT IS SUICIDE.

Plain Words From Mrs. Pinkham, Corroborated by Mrs. Charles Dunmore, That Ought to Bring Suffering Women to Their Senses.

If you were drowning and friendly hands shoved a plank to you, and you refused it, you would be committing suicide!

Yet that is precisely what women are doing if they go about their homes almost dead with misery, yet refuse to grasp the kindly hand held out to them!

It is suicidal to go day after day with that dull, constant pain in the region of the womb and that bloating heat and tenderness of the abdomen, which make the weight of your clothes an almost intolerable burden to you. It is not natural to suffer so in merely emptying the bladder. Does not that special form of suffering tell you that there is inflammation somewhere?

Shall I tell you what it is?

It is inflammation of the womb!

If it goes on, polypus, or tumor, or cancer will set in.

Commence the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands of women in this condition have been cured by it. Keep your bowels open with Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills, and if you want further advice, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., stating freely all your symptoms—she stands ready and willing to give you the very best advice. She has given the helping hand to thousands suffering just like yourself, many of whom lived miles away from a physician. Her marvelous Vegetable Compound has cured many thousands of women. It can be found at any respectable drug store!

Mrs. CHARLES DUNMORE, 102 Fremont St., Winter Hill, Somerville, Mass., says: "I was in pain day and night; my doctor did not seem to help me. I could not seem to find any relief until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had inflammation of the womb, a bearing-down pain, and the whites very badly. The pain was so intense that I could not sleep at night. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for eight (8) months, and am now all right. Before that I took morphine pills for my pain; that was a great mistake, for the relief was only momentary and the effect vile. I am so thankful to be relieved of my sufferings, for the pains I had were something terrible. I am, indeed, very grateful for the good Mrs. Pinkham's remedies have done me."

TREE DAY EXERCISES.

"Midsummer Night's Dream" By Maynard School Pupils.

Greatly to the disappointment of the faculty and pupils of Maynard school, the weather compelled the tree day exercises to be given at the Central High School instead of in the open air, as had been planned. It was singularly unfortunate, for elaborate preparations for having the entertainment out of doors had been made and everything was designed and arranged with that end in view.

But while the performance was not as complete in point of staging and scenery as had been anticipated and the stage of the High School was not as roomy as the open air would have been, a delightful entertainment was given, and the large audience found everything to its liking and nothing but praises were heard. The charming wood scenes of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," that airy and dainty creation of Shakespeare's, were given. The stage was handsomely arranged. A wood of natural trees and bushes was arranged and electric lights were scattered among the branches, while cut flowers and potted plants heightened the beauty of the scene.

The characters were all remarkably well taken and the costuming was elaborate and beautiful. The cast was as follows:

Theseus, duke of Athens .....
....Edith Davidson
Egeus, father of Hermia..Mamie Finch
Lysander and Demetrius, in love with Hermia..Katherine Thompson
....Katherine Chase
Bottom ....Helen Spencer
Hippolyta, queen of the Amazons..
....Lillian Skuse
Hermia, daughter to Egeus, in love with Lysander .....Grace Gilbert
Helena, in love with Demetrius.....
....Page Morris
Oberon, king of the fairies.....
....Lucy Sanborn
Titania, queen of the fairies.....
....Carrie Strait
Puck ....Katherine Schenck
Fairy ....Jessie Hartley
Peaseblossom ....Helen Congdon
Cobweb ....Katherine Hunter
Moth ....Anna Macfarlane
Mustardseed ....Edna Power
Other fairies attending Titania....
Pupils of primary and intermediate departments.
Attendants of Theseus and Hippolyta.

Little Katherine Schenck as Puck was especially good and received great applause. The dances were original and very pleasing. The Amazon drill by Hippolyta and attendants, the first, was decidedly graceful and pretty. The dance of Titania's fairies was probably the most popular. The little children gowned in bright colors went through a series of evolutions in a manner that was very fascinating. Titania's slumber song, the wake dance and the sunrise dance were all very fine.

Gives Mexican Silver.

A Napoleon of finance living in Grand Rapids has purchased a lot of Mexican dollars, each of which has a value in this country of 50 cents, with which he has been buying up time checks of the woodsmen and river drivers. He has evidently taken good care to use Mexican money only with the men who intended to leave town at once. A good many of the 50-cent dollars have found their way to Duluth, but the men on whom they were passed have not been able to return to Grand Rapids to prosecute the swindler.

Merit

Made and Merit Maintains the confidence of the people in Hood's Sarsaparilla. If a medicine cures you when sick; if it makes wonderful cures everywhere, then beyond all question that medicine possesses merit.

Made

That is just the truth about Hood's Sarsaparilla. We know it possesses merit because it cures, not once or twice or a hundred times, but in thousands and thousands of cases. We know it cures, absolutely, permanently, when all others fail to do any good whatever. We repeat

CATHEDRAL SCHOOL CLOSES

Final Exercises at Association Hall Last Evening.

The cathedral school commencement exercises were held in Catholic Association hall last night before a large audience and they were very entertaining. The presentation of diplomas and Bishop McGolrick's address were merely formal, as the names of the graduates have not yet been announced. Bishop McGolrick's address was brief, yet it was very instructive and interesting. In speaking of educational methods he said that he believed in delaying the education of young people until they are old enough to realize the importance of an education. He believed that the early years should be given up to healthful outdoor exercises, to prepare the mind and body for the work of the school room.

The girls of the school opened the program by a chorus, "Our Greeting," which they rendered charmingly. A drill by the small boys was cleverly done and a piano duet by Thomas and Victor Lanigan was much admired. Arthur Ryan gave a very pleasing violin solo, and Nellie Holland and Laura Nelson pleased the audience with a piano number. John Mackie, Nellie Shanley, Dale Stein, William Marshall, John Fogarty, Augusta Pember and Arthur Ryan gave recitations which were much applauded.

The conclusion of the program was a clever little operetta by T. M. Toune, "The Enchanted Wood," which was presented in a very pleasing manner. Those who took part were Margaret Jones, Nelly Kelly, Willena Marshall, Rebecca Jones, Nellie Holland, Katie Jackson, Charles Jones, Willie Flood, Joseph Piedelue, Mabel Reilly, Lottie Binney, C. Lanigan, John Fogarty and Charles Farrell.

Will Say Nothing Yet.

Gus Stevens, who has been for the past six weeks prospecting for mineral in the country east of Hunter's island, has returned, bringing with him many samples of rock found there. They were taken from the veins which a dozen years ago created a great deal of excitement and induced would-be gold mine owners to purchase 40,000 acres of government land. The speculators got their ideas so high because of a number of fraudulent assays that they were not satisfied with any ordinary showing and the country was abandoned in disgust. Mr. Stevens, who was the original discoverer of the deposits, has always maintained that gold existed there in paying quantities, and his trip was made for the purpose of investigating the truth or falsity of his theory. To a Herald reporter he said that until he had secured a number of assays he would not express an opinion.

Norrie Makes a Sale.

The Metropolitan Land and Loan company, operator of the Norrie mine at Ironwood, Mich., has recently effected a sale of 200,000 tons of ore and as a result a night force of 200 men was put to work in the mine, making a total force now employed of about 700 men, which is only half the number necessary to operate the mine to its normal capacity.

MADE A RICH STRIKE

The Old Gold Hill Property Near Rat Portage is Proving to Be a Wonder.

Nuggets of the Yellow Metal Are Found There Thicker Than Roses in June.

Capt. J. H. Triggs Feels Good Over the Discovery, Having Property in Close Proximity.

Rat Portage, Ont., June 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Dominion Gold Mining and Reduction company has made a strike on the old Gold Hill property that simply is sensational.

The find was made in a new shaft at the depth of ten feet. The somewhat slaty quartz is rich almost beyond description. Some pieces are almost half solid gold. Nuggets, leaf and wire gold, and the finer smaller particles of the yellow metal are thicker than roses in June. Pieces of quartz, broken by the blast, were found hanging together by strings of gold.

The headquarters of this company are in London. The local representatives are quiet, cool-headed, conservative men who do not believe in counting chickens before they are hatched. As a result, the news of the strike has not yet reached the ears of the general public. Upon my arrival from Wabigoon I received brief information of the facts and at once applied to A. M. Hay for corroboration of the report.

"Yes," said that gentleman, "we have made a very pleasing discovery, but really I do not think it best to say much to the public about it yet. We don't know how extensive this pay streak is. It may not last. These things are uncertain."

One thing I learned, however, and that is that the most of the specimens already have been shipped to England. I saw some that were left and they equal anything I have yet seen. There seems to be a general air of satisfaction about the office of the company, and I am positive Mr. Hay is more pleased and satisfied than he outwardly shows.

"Uncle Jake" Hennessy, who has been in this country for twenty years, who was one of the original owners of the Sultana and who has seen all the richest specimens ever found in the Lake of the Woods district, saw this ore as it was taken out of the shaft. He declares it to be the richest and most marvelous find he ever yet has seen, and when the Ophir and other specimens are remembered, that is saying a good deal.

The Gold Hill property is one of several that proved financial failures some years ago through mismanagement, bungling development or lack of finances. It then comprised about 1200 acres, if I am not mistaken. A Minneapolis syndicate originally owned it. Among those prominent in the company were Sam Leavett, Dan Burdette, Dr. Headerly and Messrs. Record and Barnett.

A stamp mill was put in and then the managers, Leavett and Burdette, decided that the ore was refractory. Expensive processes were tried, with the result that stamping was all that the ore required to extract the gold. These expensive experiments commenced in 1889, and in 1893 all the funds of the company were used up. Leavett became entangled in family difficulties and Burdette's private resources no longer were available. The other members also felt the press of the panic as well and became discontented and skeptical over the management of affairs. They refused to advance more cash, debts went unpaid, suits and judgments followed and the property went at sheriffs' sale. The Dominion Gold Mining and Reduction company bid it in for what was practically a song.

CAPT. TRIGGS' PURCHASE.

The Gold Hill property is the marking point for a group of the richest and most noted properties on the Lake of the Woods. Some years ago the Black Jack, one of the group, produced specimens of ore that went $100,000 in gold per ton. The old company erected a 10-stamp mill that could be started tomorrow if desired. This new strike was made about half a mile from the old shaft as the result of prospecting undertaken to find a proper point at which to sink a new shaft. At the depth of ten feet the vein is not less than forty-two inches wide, and is made up of quartz with some slate. The old shaft was sunk seventy feet by the original owners and the present company put it down to 120 feet last season. Very soon now work on it will be resumed.

One man not interested in this property feels pretty good over this strike, and he is Capt. J. H. Triggs. The captain arrived here May 10 and by June 10 he had purchased the old Winnipeg Consolidated property, one mile from the Gold Hill, and a splendid water power on Andrew bay.

The old Winnipeg Consolidated mine is situated on location F 22, on Big Stone bay, Lake of the Woods, fourteen miles from Rat Portage. It comprises 89.21 acres and was located and incorporated in November, 1882. It had a capital stock of $1,000,000, and at one time the shares sold at a good high figure. It was worked in 1883 and 1884, and probably has produced more gold bullion than any mine in the district excepting the Sultana.

Winnipeg parties comprised the company. Arthur Wellington Ross was president and P. J. and John R. Brown, a couple of men with Colorado mining experience, were the managing directors. Provincial boundary troubles, failure to perfect title and other matters brought evil days. The Browns sold their stock and skipped.

Today the shaft is down 110 feet. On the first level at forty-seven feet there is drifting twenty-five feet on the vein one way and thirty-five feet the other, as well as considerable stoping. On the second level, eighty feet down, there are drifts sixty-five and forty feet respectively and a large amount of stoping.

The vein in this mine, according to government reports, is 1 foot 6 inches on the surface and in the drift at 80 feet widens to 4 feet. The ore is rotten quartz with chloretic schist walls. The mineral runs from 50 to 80 per cent free gold, the remainder being iron pyrites.

When Capt. Triggs came here he said little but went quitly to work. Owing to the bad repute attending the title, everyone said that the property could not be purchased. That gave the captain a free field and when the title was cleared up a few days ago, he secured the mine on a working option at a very reasonable price. Diamond drill work will be commenced at once for the purpose of locating a suitable place for a new shaft and active development will be started before Aug. 1.

In addition to the Winnipeg Consolidated mine, Capt. Triggs has secured a splendid water power. Bordering on Andrew bay and surrounding the west end and head of Lily lake is location D 57. Lily lake, with its tributaries, comprises a water system seven miles long. The waters at the head of the lakes run for a mile between high banks or walls of solid schist. Within 300 feet of Andrew bay, into which the lake pours its waters, the course narrows to a width of forty feet and the water goes pouring down a descent that gives a fall of seventy feet.

At the head of the falls, the captain proposes to construct a dam 10 or 20 feet high so as to make a reservoir of the lake. Surveyors will go out the coming week to take levels. From the dam in the solid rock water will be conducted in iron pipes to turbine or Pelton waterwheels, which will easily furnish not less than 200 horse power for an electric light plant.

The mines in this country run in belts or groups. In this group on the eastern side of the Lake of the Woods are the richest in Western Ontario. This belt embraces the Scramble, Sweden, Norway and Bad mines, Sultana and Ophir, Pine Portage, Triumph, Gold Hill, Black Jack, Golden Gate, Winnipeg Consolidated, Jennie Leigh, Contact, Stella and others. This water power will furnish light and power for many of these properties, and ought to prove very valuable at an early day.

Capt. Triggs also has secured location D. 38, which comprises forty-three acres and adjoins Lily lake, about a quarter of a mile from the falls. It has several fine small veins, and is located in this best mineral belt.

THE SULTANA MINE.

I was out to the Sultana mine the other day. I gave something of the history in a former letter. The main shaft now is down nearly 400 feet, but I did not see its bottom. None but a chosen few are allowed to see any more of this remarkable producer of yellow gold than what is above ground. Mr. Caldwell and his hired men are secretive, non-communicative and as independent as the proverbial hog on ice. They deposit their gold bricks in the Imperial bank in about the same manner as a negro preacher approaches a hen house in the small hours of night. They hold back statistics as to production, cost of operation, and all that which are given out so freely by the big American bonanza mines. As a result, figures on the Sultana have either to be guessed at or filtered slowly through a few intimates of Mr. Caldwell.

J. F. Caldwell is entitled to all the credit of the world for the persistency with which he stuck to the development of the Sultana and made it a financial success. People gladly would do him honor now, and place him on an elevation as a pioneer and a success far above the heads of his fellows. But he won't have it that way. He is the unfortunate possessor of a peculiarly sensitive nature. He remembers and resents the fact that during his long struggle and before success came, the average man considered him either a lunatic or an idiot, and did not hesitate to say so. Such thoughts, together with incredulous smiles and words freely expressed, undoubtedly had some effect on Mr. Caldwell's credit as well as his feelings. Then along came J. Burley Smith and secured title to a large part of the Sultana lode under the waters of the lake, which Mr. Caldwell for eight years did not have the foresight to secure. As a result, he is very sore against the government, and as for the public, now that he is independent, he bears the same sentiment towards it as the late lamented Jay Gould. While the public, somewhat late it may be, now is willing to give Mr. Caldwell all honor and credit, he might, by making a good fellow of himself, occupy an enviable position in every way.

The Sultana now has ten stamps working on a splendid vein close to fifty feet wide at a depth of nearly 400 feet. Operations are being carried on with poor economy. The ore is handled too many times and by too many men. The ore cars, instead of sliding down an incline, as at Foley's, are hauled up one to the mile from the shafthouse, by a cable and steam power. The same power that runs the vanners, hauls the ore cars and when a load of quartz goes creeping up the incline, the vanners lose half their power and consequently speed and adjustment. As a result, gold and concentrates go out at the tail which should be saved.

Experts also criticise the screens. One told me recently that pieces of quartz as large as a goose shot go through the screens out of batteries and go rolling down the plates, making a pathway across the amalgamated surfaces and carrying off the gold about as a big boulder rolls down a snow-covered mountain, leaving a pathway and carrying the matter through which it passes along with it. One expert said that it would not surprise him to know that 30 per cent of the gold goes out with the tailings although he did not give it as his opinion that such was the case. Then the work of the hands, those I saw on the surface, did not seem to be well directed the day I was there, especially a crew in charge of a steam drill. Numerous experts, who have seen service and mines in operation in Australia, the Transvaal, British Columbia, Russia and the States, pointed out numerous defects, and unnecessary labor and expense. And they didn't do it to condemn the property, but as a proof of what a wonderful mine it is. "The fact that the Sultana is ding as well as it is," said one, "not only shows that it is one of the most wonderful mines in the world and speaks volumes for Western Ontario." At the same time, I am told that Mr. Caldwell and his manager are mortally offended over these criticisms, instead of being thankful and taking advantage of them. I have not written these lines to belittle Mr. Caldwell and his mine, but rather to show what wonderful results it gives under such disadvantageous conditions. Workmen are engaged in laying the foundation for a new building which will contain thirty new stamps, with room for fifty. With a new building and new machinery, new methods of operation may be in prospect. If so, the Sultana bids fair to surprise the whole world some of these bright days.

DEVELOPMENT NEEDED.

The late convention here impressed the fact that development work rather than prospecting is the great present need. A good deal is under way already and I think at the close of the season a highly creditable showing in that respect will be the result. There is an especial activity in this Sultana and Gold Hill group and belt. General Gordon, of Los Angeles, and formerly of St. Cloud and Minneapolis, has commenced work on a property not far from the Pine Portage and that old property itself now sees work renewed. Then, as stated, all is activity at the Gold Hill. Capt. Triggs will commence soon on the old Winnipeg Consolidated, and so on. I have neither space nor time to go into details.

Duluthians seem to be popular here and every week sees additions to the colony. J. W. Miller expects his family next week and Capt. Triggs rather hopes to have his better half join him in a month. C. E. Markell has a comfortable office splendidly located and he expects to bring Mrs. Markell up here soon. J. G. Banks is operating a photograph gallery and says it seems good to get away from hard luck stories. Edgar Brown is happy over his first crop of young skunks out on his skunk farm. He now has eighty old ones. Jim Buxton is studying the situation and preparing to do himself some good before long. J. D. Stryker has gone over into the Seine River country. J. Willcuts was here this week, but has started back to congratulate his brother Lee on his political good luck. The people here took immensely to N. J. Upham and hoped he would locate here, but he has opened an office in Port Arthur. That place is rather headquarters for the Sawhill Lake country, where the Wyllies are interested, and you may hear something from me in that direction some of these days. JOHN L. MORRISON.

It is a Duluth institution and its imperial council, the general governing body, is made up of Duluth business men. The imperial council is as follows: President, Hon. Andrew H. Burke; vice president, Charles E. Lovett; secretary, George C. Crosby; treasurer, Charles F. Leland; counselor, Albert E. McManus; medical director, William H. Salter, M. D.; organizer, H. R. Yolton; directors, W. E. Richardson, John Christie.

The officers of Alpha Council No. 1, elected last night are: Good samaritan, John H. Boyle; vice good samaritan, W. B. Henderson; past good samaritan, Henry Truelsen; high priest, N. D. Bellinger; junior messenger, J. K. Wightman; herald, F. L. Robinson; centurion, H. H. Phelps; watchman, Alex Boyce; trustees, Simon Clark, J. W. Rowley and W. D. Edson. A committee of arrangements, consisting of N. E. Morrison, Fred Russell, F. C. Schmidt and D. D. McInnis, was appointed. It will report at the next meeting Tuesday night.

Two Charges Made.

John Wallace appeared before Judge Boyle yesterday afternoon on two charges, one of assault and the other of permitting a trespass, both preferred by Alfred Thompson. The ground of the complaint in the latter case was that the accused had allowed his cow to break into complainant's garden. This case was dismissed on the ground that the owner of the animal is not criminally liable for its acts. In the assault case defendant admitted that he had "started for" complainant when the latter threatened to shoot the cow. He said he had an ax in his hand, as stated by complainant, but explained that he had been grinding it and forgot to lay it down when he made for Thompson. He was let off with a suspended sentence.

The Pavilion Opening.

Matt Kusell, of the Kusell brothers, who will manage the Pavilion this year, arrived yesterday, and will open his theatrical season a week from Sunday. It is proposed to give dramatic performances interspersed with vaudeville. The company has been engaged and it includes Herschell Mayall, who is favorable known here, Ruth Russell and Julia Stuart. Performances will be given nightly, with matinees Thursday, Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

"Happy man," murmured a mean, low-down animal of the kind alluded to by the fair operator.

And then the listeners—the mean things—laughed, and the fair operator pounded her machine for a long time without saying a word.

THE WEYERHAUESER PARTY.

Lumbermen and Railroad Officials Arrived Here Today.

A special train, consisting of a baggage car, diner, Pullman apartment car, Illinois Central private car and a St. Paul & Duluth private car, arrived in the city at noon today over the Northern Pacific from Ashland. It carried a party of lumbermen, capitalists and railroad men, the guests of Frederick, R. M. and C. A. Weyerhaeuser, the well known lumbermen.

Last December a number of Southern lumbermen gave the Weyerhausers and other Northern lumbermen a pleasant excursion over the Illinois Central to several Southern states where the lumber business is conducted on a large scale and the present trip is given in return to show the hosts of the mid-winter trip how lumbering operations are handled in the Northwest. The train left St. Paul yesterday morning over the Omaha under the direction of W. A. Scott, general manager of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad, and during the day visited the big lumber plants at Menomonee, Eau Claire, Chippewa Falls, Cornell, Hayward and Mason, arriving at Ashland last night. The party left there this morning, stopping at Iron River to see the mill of J. G. Ingram and then coming to Duluth. The original intention was to spend some time in this city today, but as the weather was so unpleasant it was decided to proceed at once over the Duluth, Superior & Western for a trip to the Mesabi range. The train left here shortly after 1 o'clock, the party being joined by W. F. Fitch, general manager of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, and D. M. Phillbin, general superintendent of the Duluth, Superior & Western. This afternoon the party will stop at Cloquet to see the large mills and booms located there and will then proceed to Virginia. They will visit the Mahoning and other mines on the range returning to Duluth tomorrow evening.

Tomorrow night or Friday morning they will go to Little Falls over the Northern Pacific and from there to St. Paul and Minneapolis, and then to Stillwater, from whence they will go to Winona by boat to see the St. Croix and Newton Rafting works. This will conclude the trip. Following is a list of the gentlemen comprising the party:

W. A. Scott, general manager, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railway, St. Paul.

J. C. Welling, vice president Illinois Central railway, Chicago.

J. P. Welling, Chicago.

E. P. Skene, land commissioner, Illinois Central railway, Chicago.

T. J. Hudson, traffic manager, Illinois Central railway, Chicago.

J. F. Merry, general passenger agent Illinois Central railway, Chicago.

Charles Wales, proprietor, "The Julien," Dubuque, Iowa.

George B. Burch, banker, Dubuque, Iowa.

HIS STORY

Col. Harris Gives Interesting Information as to Merritt-Rockefeller Litigation.

Contemplated Quo Warranto Proceedings to Break the Consolidation.

Claims the Security Stock Was Given as Compensation For Services.

A. A. Harris, one of the defendants, took the stand in the Merritt-Harris case this morning as the first witness for the defense. He told his side of the controversy clearly. He was asked to explain the Rockefeller case, and he did so, claiming that Rockefeller made certain false representations in forming the Lake Superior Consolidated Iron mines, putting in worthless stock as valuable, and getting in return first mortgage bonds of the Consolidated, while for their good properties the Merritts got stock which they afterwards had to sell out to Rockefeller at his own price. He related the amount of time and labor he put into the case, and said that he believed that "if he could win that lawsuit it would be the crowning act of his life."

In contradiction to the testimony given by the Merritts, he said that their early discussions were all about the case against the American Steel Barge company. The Rockefeller suit was not taken up until later. Their first meeting in his office was Feb. 27, 1894, when they brought in a notice that stock of the par value of over $1,000,000 was to be sold in New York March 14 to satisfy notes of the Merritts amounting to $432,575, made to C. H. Wetmore. The Merritts were much exercised over the notice, and they engaged the witness to go to New York to defend the suit, which he did. All of his time until April 1 was devoted to this case. About this time, also, the Merritts were contemplating quo warranto proceedings to be brought in the name of the state of Minnesota to break up the consolidation, on the ground that it was illegal. The idea was to force Rockefeller to do something for the Merritts. At that time he did not even know that the Merritts had a cause of action against Rockefeller, and when he found it out he ceased consideration of the quo warranto proceedings for fear it would hurt their case. Between Feb. 27 and April 24 the Merritts said little about the Rockefeller matter to the witness, although they did complain that Rockefeller had robbed them and frozen them out. During this time, also, the Merritts were engaged in suits against the Missabe road and some of the mines to recover for services as officers. The witness never heard of Rockefeller's alleged false representations until after April 24, when the contract between the Merritts and the Harris firm was made out.

WERE WILLING TO SETTLE.

On April 25 the witness went to Cleveland to see some of Rockefeller's people about matters of common interest. When Rockefeller forced them to sell out to him at his own price about $9,000,000 par value of stock he gave them a year's option to repurchase $5,500,000 of the stock at the same price, with 6 per cent interest. The Merritts still held that option, and when he went to Cleveland the Merritts authorized him to make a general settlement if he could. Leonidas Merritt told him to do what he could. If he could get $200,000 or $300,000 out of Rockefeller they would be glad to get it and they would release their option. While in Cleveland he talked with Virgil P. Klein, the attorney for the Standard Oil company, about the matter. He told him that the Merritts complained of their treatment by Rockefeller and of his action in freezing them out. He also told Klein that they were going to bring quo warranto proceedings to "bust up" the consolidation, at least so far as the road was concerned. He told him nothing about the alleged false misrepresentations, because at that time he knew nothing about it.

When the witness returned to Duluth he wrote to Mr. Klein, under date of May 8, telling him that the Merritts could not settle the barge company case, as they wanted a general settlement. In reply Mr. Klein regretted this. He saw no grounds for complaint against Mr. Rockefeller, but he could see that they were in an ugly state and disposed to stir up trouble. He did not believe that to be a commendable state. He said, further that Mr. Rockefeller said that he could not see where the Merritts had a cause of complaint against him. He wound up by saying that if the attitude of the Merritts was merely one of menace and not based upon any legal claim, he did not believe that Rockefeller was made of the kind of stuff that would yield to any such pressure. With the remark that this must not be understood to come from Mr. Rockefeller directly, Mr. Klein was "yours truly."

Col. Harris said that when the Rockefeller case was first brought to his attention he figured out that the entire family of Merritts had a good claim for about $2,000,000.

"Mr. Harris," said L. C. Harris, who is conducting the examination, "you have heard the testimony of the Merritts relating to these 954 shares of Security stock, which they stated were turned over to your firm as collateral to indemnify you for your salary and expenses. Is that true?"

"It is not true."

"Will you state how and why they were turned over to you?"

TELLS OF THE STOCK DEAL.

"In June, 1894, one of the Merritts, I have forgotten which one, turned over to me 634 shares. After my firm had made a full investigation of the claims of the Merritts and had come to the conclusion that they had a good cause of action, I told Alf that the amount involved was enormous, that Rockefeller was exceptionally solvent, and that I saw the great outcome of the case. I also said that when we made the contract of April 24 we did not have such litigation in mind, and I did not think it fair that we should undertake it without a little additional pay. I did not press him much, but he agreed with me and he said that he had 900 or 1000 shares of the stock which he would turn over to me as additional compensation. He said that it was then worth about par, $10 per share, perhaps a little more. July 5 I surrendered the old stock and got new certificates in my own name."

The witness said that he did not believe that it was usual for pledgees to have stock in their own name. When the stock was turned over the Merritts did not owe them a cent, and their salary of $10,000 a year was regularly paid. The remaining 320 shares were turned over to Henry E. Harris in January, 1896. His share of the partnership proceeds was to be one-third, and the division was about in that proportion. The stock in July, 1894, was worth $30 or $35 per share, the rise growing out of developments on the land owned by the company. He never used any of the stock for the benefit of the Merritts, and he did use it for himself.

"Did the Merritts know this?"

"I think so. I never concealed anything from Alf Merritt at any time or of any kind."

Col. Harris was still on the stand at noon.

The Bankers' Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Bankers' association of the state will meet here July 15 and 16. The members will arrive here on July 15 and the session will open at 2:30 o'clock. O. D. Kinney will make the address of welcome and President J. F. R. Foss, of the Nicollet National bank of Minneapolis, will respond. In the evening there will be an excursion on the lake. On the 16th the work of the meeting will be proceeded with and several papers will be read. The delegates will then drive over the boulevard and in the evening there will be a reption at the Kitchi Gammi club.

To Celebrate the Jubilee.

The Britishers at the head of the lakes are not going to allow June 22, the jubilee day of Queen Victoria, to pass unnoticed. They have arranged for an interurban cricket match to be played by teams from Duluth and Superior. There is a complete outfit of cricket paraphernalia at the head of the lakes, and the subjects of the queen expect no end of fun and excitement. To wind up the day's festivities in a fitting manner a banquet will be held in the evening, probably at the West Superior hotel.

New Signal Station.

The first signal hoisted at the wind signal display station of the United States weather bureau, recently established near Singer's tug office, in Duluth harbor, was hoisted at 9 o'clock this morning, and announced high northeast winds for the head of the lake. The location of a display station at this point will be a great convenience to vesselmen. They can be seen from any part of the harbor and in foggy weather will be especially advantageous because every vessel going through the canal will pass within a few feet of them. The flags on top of the federal building cannot always be seen.

Lawn Fete Postponed.

On account of the unfavorable weather, the lawn fete, which was to have been given this evening at the residence of Mrs. B. C. Church, for the benefit of the Morley Congregational church, has been postponed indefinitely as the weather man can give no assurance of favorable weather for the next few days.

CAUSED BY CARELESSNESS.

There Are Thousands of People Suffering Today, Who Have Not the Slightest Occasion to Do So.

Some of the most deadly diseases from which humanity is a common sufferer are caused by the entrance into the system, and the subsequent growth there, of certain micro-organisms, or germs. These diseases have been aptly called "filth diseases," because the germs which cause them flourish most luxuriantly in all sorts of organic dirt, or filth. Such germs commonly occur in water drawn from a contaminated water supply, or in ice taken from contaminated ponds or rivers, the most common of germ diseases are typhoid fever, diphtheria, cholera, cholera infantum and yellow fever. Physicians all agree that from impure water, the greatest danger arises. And when it is remembered that the only really pure water is distilled water, that ice water is often prolific in disease germs, and that even boiled water fails to purify it, it is at once seen how great is the danger that confronts us.

The best advice which can be given to people, whether residing in city or country, is to make use of some pure, effectual stimulant which will keep the blood in healthy circulation and prevent contagious germs getting a stronghold on a stagnant system. Nothing will do this so well as pure whisky, and the pure whisky best known to the world is Duffy's pure malt.

Not only will it keep the system in vigorous condition, but its addition to even contaminated water will render it harmless.

THE OFFER

Mr. Gay Is Likely to Be Heard From Next Monday Evening.

Price Asked Will Be the Same as Voted on Last Fall.

Mayor and Aldermen Seem to Be Against Submitting the Proposition.

It is very probable that the talked-of proposition from E. H. Gay on behalf of the bondholders for the sale of the gas and water plants will be made to the council Monday evening. Mr. Gay, who was at the city hall conferring with the officials today, as much as said so, in fact. The offer will include both plants, at the sum of $1,695,000, the city to assume the $250,000 outstanding first mortgage 6 per cent bonds, the balance to be paid in 5 per cent 30-year gold bonds.

The proposition meets with no favor from the mayor, nor with many of the aldermen. They maintain that the price is too high and that it would be a useless expenditure of money to again submit the question to the people at the figures named.

"Mr. Gay tells me that it will injure the city's credit if it does not deal fairly with the bondholders," said the mayor this morning. "Now, my opinion is, and so I told him, that it would certainly injure the credit of the city were it to do business on sentimental instead of business principles. I realize that the bondholders have made a bad investment and I sympathize with them, but, and as I told Mr. Gay, the city must deal with them on the basis of what the plants are worth. That is business."

The mayor said that he would be willing, as he said before, that the city should take the plants at the sum suggested at a previous conference, $1,114,000, although, he said, it is more than the plant is actually worth. "So far as profits go," continued the mayor, "we can parallel the pipe system with larger pipe for $800,000, which, with the extension, would make a complete new system to cost $1,550,000. Our income would be such that we could at once make a reduction in rates that the gas and water company, with its bonded debt of $1,856,000, could not meet. In addition to the fact that there would be no fear on the part of the people that we could not supply pure water, our plant would cover more territory than the present one does."

Alderman Rowley said that he does not believe in submitting a proposition at the figure named. "If they would make a proper reduction," said he, "it would be the proper thing to buy. This proposition has been submitted once and it would be nonsense to submit it again. I was in favor of submitting it before, as it could be done without great extra expense at the general election. But in view of the result then, I do not think it proper to submit a similar proposition again."

Alderman Shannon said that he would not vote to submit a proposition at the figure named. "I do not care to suggest a price," he said, "but if they want to sell to the city, my opinion is that they will have to make it a pretty good bargain. If not, let them keep it. I don't believe in harassing the town with another election unless a figure that would be a good bargain should be named. It costs about $4000 to run a water bond election. In the words of Gen. Grant, 'let us have peace'—at least for a while, anyway. We can't afford an election every few days."

Alderman Simpson said that $1,695,000 is too high, and that he did not believe in again submitting a proposition at that figure. The people had expressed themselves.

Alderman Trevillion said the figure named would never go. It is too high.

Alderman Berg remarked that it is pretty steep.

Alderman Jefferson gave a very Frenchy shrug. "We want nothing to do with it at that price," said he.

Alderman Sang said that he is not in favor of calling an election at this time on a proposition at the price indicated, especially in view of the absence of any requests therefor from the people.

Alderman Crassweller said that he is against submitting a proposition to purchase at the figure named.

Alderman Duren said that is too high, but that it may be cheaper to buy at that price than fight injunctions for two or three years.

WRANGLING PRESSMEN.

List of Nominees For the Union's Offices.

Detroit, Mich., June 17.—The convention of the International Pressmen's union got into a tangle today over a question as to whether amendments to the constitution, which had been adopted a year ago and printed in pamphlet form, were actually a part of the constitution. The question arose during the making of nominations of officers. The convention finally voted to work under the original constitution, except in cases where it conflicted with subsequent amendments and the members and helpers were given recognition among the candidates.

The nominees, who will be voted on tomorrow, are as follows: For president—Jesse Johnson, Nashville; Joseph J. Birmingham, Washington. First vice president—John A. Warden, Pittsburg; John W. Williams, Toronto. Second vice president—Frank Pampusch, St. Paul. Third vice president—Robert M. Holly, Boston; William J. Hintz, Buffalo; William Dunn, Minneapolis. Secretary-treasurer—William G. Loomis, Detroit; James H. Bowler, Chicago; James Gelson, Cleveland. Delegates to American Federation—Joseph Wall, Boston; George Cleinheist, Philadelphia; James O'Day, New York.

MENAGE IN MEXICO.

Living With His Family in the Capital.

Minneapolis, June 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The whereabouts of Louis F. Menage, the fleeting president of the defunct Northwestern Guaranty Loan company, has been disclosed. He is now living with his family in the City of Mexico under his own name. The indictment against him here is supposed to be still in force although several years ago but the county officials are making no efforts to secure his return.

The disclosure of his whereabouts by his friends is supposed to be the prelude of an effort to arrange for his return.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

Champaign, Ill., June 17.—At 1 o'clock this morning the National History building at the university of Illinois was struck by lightning, resulting in damage to the building, furniture apparatus and library of probably $75,000. The building itself is damaged to the extent of $7500, and the loss on the contents cannot be accurately ascertained for several days. Everything in the building was water-soaked.

THE SPANISH MISSION.

Washington, June 17.—It is formally announced that Stewart L. Woodford's selection to Spain was announced by the fact that he agreed to go to his post immediately upon confirmation, something very much desired by the president, and also to remain there throughout the present administration, an arrangement not subscribed to by some other possible appointees.

BISHOP WILLIS' VIEW.

Plymouth, Eng., June 17.—Bishop Willis, of Honolulu, has just arrived from Hawaii. In an interview he is quoted as saying that the feeling in the islands is against the United States and greatly in favor of British annexation, but, the bishop adds, Great Britain has held aloof, although a third of the capital of the country is British. Continuing, Bishop Willis said that he thought that if Great Britain would not take the country, the next best course was for Japan to reinstate Queen Lilluokalani.

Referring to the proposed annexation of the islands by the United States the bishop said the proposal was only advanced in order to please certain politicians, as America did not want the islands, "because the Chinese exclusion act would become nullified, if Hawaii was annexed." In conclusion the bishop was quoted as saying that there is no doubt that Japan will enforce her claims in Hawaii, in which country her commercial prospects are good.

JUST A FAKE LETTER.

Chicago, June 17.—Both Dietrich Bicknese and Mrs. Wilhelmina Miller, brother and sister of Mrs. Adolph Luetgert, for whose alleged murder her husband Adolph Luetgert, the rich sausage manufacturer is under indictment, deny the genuineness of a letter received by Alderman Schlacke, signed "Louise Luetchert," in which the missing woman is represented as saying she is living with friends in Chicago. The letter, the brother and sister say, is not in their sister's handwriting, nor did she spell her name that way. The police laugh at what they call a clumsy fake and intimate that the discovery of the letter's real author, if ever made, will be attended by some sensational developments.

BADGERS WILL NOT ROW.

Milwaukee, June 17.—A special to the Wisconsin from Madison says: The race between the university of Wisconsin crew and the Minnesota eight will not be rowed this year. Members of the Wisconsin crew claim the members of the Badger crew were treated discourteously at Minnetonka last summer and the newspapers were unfair to them.

Damaged the Wires.

The lightning last night worked havoc with the police telephone system. The polar relay at West Duluth and the fuses in the office boxes there and at headquarters were burned out. The damage had been temporarily repaired by noon. Several lines are down and some of the instruments in the patrol boxes were also damaged.

TREATY

President McKinley's Message Which Accompanied Annexation Treaty.

Brief Review of the Negotiations Leading Up to the Present Treaty.

Full Text of the Document Which May Annex the Islands.

Washington, June 17.—The following is the full text of the message sent to the senate yesterday by President McKinley to accompany the Hawaiian treaty:

To the Senate of the United States: I transmit herewith to the senate, in order that, after due consideration, the constitutional function of advice and consent may be exercised by that body, a treaty for the annexation of the republic of Hawaii to the United States, signed in this capitol by the plenipotentiaries of the parties on June 16. For a better understanding of the subject, I transmit in addition a report of the secretary of state, briefly reviewing the negotiation which has led to this important result.

The incorporation of the Hawaiian islands into the body politic of the United States is the necessary and fitting sequel to the chain of events which from a very early period of our history has controlled the intercourse and prescribed the association of the United States and the Hawaiian islands. The predominance of American interests in that neighboring territory was first asserted in 1820 by sending to the islands a representative agent of the United States. It found further expression by the signature of a treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation with the king in 1826—the first international compact negotiated by Hawaii. It was signally announced in 1843, when the intervention of the United States caused the British government to disavow the seizure of the Sandwich Islands by a British naval commander, and to recognize them by treaty as an independent state, renouncing forever any purpose of annexing the islands or exerting a protectorate over them.

In 1851 the cession of the Hawaiian Kingdom to the United States was formally offered, and although not then accepted, this government proclaimed its duty to preserve alike the honor and dignity of the United States and the safety of the government of the Hawaiian islands. From this time until the outbreak of the war in 1861 the policy of the United States toward Hawaii and of the Hawaiian sovereign towards the United States was exemplified by continued negotiations for annexation or for a reserved commercial union. The latter alternative was at length accomplished by the reciprocity treaty of 1875, the provisions of which were renewed and expanded by the convention of 1884, embracing the perpetual cession to the United States of the harbor of Pearl river in the island of Oahu.

In 1888 a proposal for the joint guaranty of the neutrality of the Hawaiian islands by the United States, Germany and Great Britain was declined on the announced ground that the relations of the United States to the islands was sufficient for the end in view. In brief, from 1820 to 1893 the course of the United States toward the Hawaiian islands has consistently favored their autonomous welfare with the exclusion of all foreign influences save our own, to the extent of upholding eventual annexation as the necessary outcome of that policy. Not only is the union of the Hawaiian territory to the United States no new scheme, but it is the inevitable consequence of the relation steadfastly maintained with that mid-Pacific domain for three-quarters of a century. Its accomplishment, despite successive denials and postponements, has been merely a question of time.

While its failure in 1893 may not be a cause of congratulation, it is certainly a proof of the disinterestedness of the United States, the delay of four years having abundantly sufficed to establish the right and the ability of the republic of Hawaii to enter, as a sovereign contractant, upon a conventional union with the United States, thus realizing a purpose held by the Hawaiian people and proclaimed by successive Hawaiian governments through some seventy years of their virtual dependence upon the benevolent protection of the United States. Under such circumstances annexation is not a change, it is a consummation.

The report of the secretary of state exhibits the character and course of the recent negotiation and the features of the treaty itself. The organic and administrative details of incorporation are necessarily left to the wisdom of the congress, and I cannot doubt, when the function of the constitutional treaty-making power shall have been accomplished, the duty of the national legislature in the case will be performed with the largest regard for the interest of this rich insular domain and for the welfare of the inhabitants thereof.

WILLIAM McKINLEY.

Executive Mansion, Washington, June 16, 1897.

TEXT OF THE TREATY.

What the Document Contains In Full.

Washington, June 17.—The following is the full text of the Hawaiian treaty sent to the senate yesterday: The United States of America and the republic of Hawaii, in view of the natural dependence of the Hawaiian islands upon the United States, of geographical proximity thereto, of the preponderant share acquired by the United States and its citizens in the industries and trade of said islands, and of the expressed desire of the government of the republic of Hawaii that those islands should be incorporated into the United States as an integral part thereof, and under its sovereignty, have determined to accomplish by treaty an object so important to their mutual and permanent welfare. To this end, the high contracting parties have conferred full power and authority upon their respectively appointed plenipotentiaries to-wit: The president of the United States; John Sherman, secretary of state of the United States; the president of the republic of Hawaii; Francis March Hatch, Lorrin A. Thurston and William A. Kinney.

Article 1—The republic of Hawaii hereby cedes absolutely and without reserve to the United States of America all rights of sovereignty of whatsoever kind in and over the Hawaiian islands and their dependencies; and it is agreed that all the territory of and appertaining to the republic of Hawaii is hereby annexed to the United States of America under the name of territory of Hawaii.

Article 2—The republic of Hawaii also cedes and hereby transfers to the United States the absolute fee and ownership of all public, government or crown lands, public buildings or edifices, ports, harbors, military equipments and all other public property of every kind and description belonging to the government of the Hawaiian islands, together with every right and appurtenance thereunto appertaining. The existing law of the United States relative to public lands shall not apply to such lands in the Hawaiian islands; but the congress of the United States shall enact special laws for their management and disposition, provided that all revenue from or proceeds of the same, except as regards such part thereof as may be used or occupied for the civil, military or naval purposes of the United States, or may be assigned for the use of the local government, shall be used solely for the benefit of the inhabitants of the Hawaiian islands for educational and other public purposes.

Article 3—Until congress shall provide for the government of such islands all the civil, judicial and military powers exercised by the officers of the existing government in said islands shall be vested in such person or persons, and shall be exercised in such manner as the president of the United States shall direct; and the president shall have power to remove said officers and fill the vacancies so occasioned. The existing treaties of the Hawaiian islands with foreign nations shall forthwith cease and determine, being replaced by such treaties as may exist, or as may be hereafter concluded between the United States and such foreign nations. The municipal legislation of the Hawaiian islands, not enacted for the fulfillment of the treaties so extinguished, and not inconsistent with this treaty nor contrary to the constitution of the United States, nor to any existing treaty of the United States, shall remain in force until the congress of the United States shall otherwise determine. Until legislation shall be enacted extending the United States customs laws and regulations to the Hawaiian islands, the existing customs relations of the Hawaiian islands with the United States and other countries shall remain unchanged.

Article 4—The public debt of the republic of Hawaii, lawfully existing at the date of the exchange of the ratification of this treaty, including the amounts due to depositors in the Hawaiian postal savings bank, is hereby assumed by the government of the United States; but the liability of the United States in this regard shall in no case exceed $4,000,000. So long, however, as the existing government and the present commercial relations of the Hawaiian islands are continued, as hereinbefore provided, said government shall continue to pay the interest on said debt.

Article 5—There shall be no further immigration of Chinese into the Hawaiian islands except upon such conditions as are now or may hereafter be allowed by the laws of the United States, and no Chinese, by reason of anything herein contained, shall be allowed to enter the United States from the Hawaiian islands.

Article 6—The president shall appoint five commissioners, at least two of whom shall be residents of the Hawaiian islands, who shall, as soon as reasonably practicable, recommend to congress such legislation concerning the territory of Hawaii as they shall deem necessary or proper.

Article 7—This treaty shall be ratified by the president of the United States by and with the advice and consent of the senate on the one part, and by the president of the republic of Hawaii, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, in accordance with the constitution of the said republic, on the other; and the ratification hereof shall be exchanged at Washington as soon as possible.

In witness whereof the respective plenipotentiaries have signed the above articles, and have hereunto affixed their seals.

Done in duplicate at the city of Washington this sixteenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven.

ROBBERS

Baltimore & Ohio Train Escapes a Daringly Planned Hold-Up.

One of the Gang Peached on His Pals to the Sheriff.

Exciting Event Near Salem, Illinois—One Robber Is Fatally Shot.

St. Louis, June 17.—E. P. Garner, car accountant of the Wabash railway, with offices in East St. Louis, brought to this city details of an attempt to wreck and rob a Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern passenger train on a culvert between Odin and Salem, Ill., about sixty-five miles east of St. Louis. Mr. Garner is a brother of A. C. Garner, ex-city marshal of Salem, who was Sheriff Barnes' lieutenant in thwarting the robbers' plans. Mr. Garner said there were three men involved in the attempted wrecking, and that two of them were caught, one being fatally shot. The would-be robbers are residents of Salem and were known about the village as hard characters. Abe Tweed, the robber who was shot, was out on parole from Chester, Ill., penitentiary. Thomas Schumacker, the other man captured, is an ex-convict from the Indiana penitentiary.

These two men, the one who escaped and a fourth banded together not long ago to do a general business in the criminal line. They were to deal in everything from petty larceny to train robbing. After they had planned to hold up the New York express on the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern the men had a difference and the plans were broken up in a row. One of them told Sheriff Barnes, upon the sheriff's promise to protect him and not divulge his name, of the plan to wreck and loot the train, but said he did not know the date and place selected. He promised to find out and report these particulars, and he kept his word.

Returning to his former pals, he said he was sorry he had left them, and begged to be let in on the fat thing they were about to pull off. The rogues relented, took back into their fold the deserter, and then proceeded to lay bare the plot. The night New York express, they said, was the train likely to yield the best haul, and the Shennafelt culvert, midway between Odin and Salem, was picked out as the best and safest spot. All day Wednesday the three men hauled railway ties to the trestle. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon the man who peached, who by some pretext was excused from the day's work, reported the situation to Sheriff Barnes.

The sheriff collected a posse of six men and started from Salem along the track. About 10:30, when they came near Schennafelt culvert, the three robbers could be seen, and almost in the interior of the trestle was a high pile of ties thrown across the express train's track. The wreckers were gathered together on a side of the embankment, in convenient position to jump aboard the cars as soon as the train came to a standstill. Sheriff Barnes and his posse got within thirty yards of the wreckers before they were discovered. When they saw they were discovered the wreckers ran down the side of the embankment. The express train was now due in about twenty minutes. Sending back two of his men to flag the train, the sheriff, Mr. Garner and two others went after the fugitives.

"Halt!" called out Mr. Barnes, and one of the wreckers, who turned out to be Schumacker, surrendered. The other two continued to run and Garner fired. A man, who proved to be Tweed, fell, and Garner sent two more bullets after his fleeing partner. Neither shot took effect and the man escaped.

STORM IN WISCONSIN.

Railroad Washouts and Much Damage Occasioned.

Milwaukee, June 17.—The rains of last night, which were heavy throughout this state and the entire western country, amounted to something like a deluge in portions of Lafayete and Iowa counties along the line of the Mineral Point branch of the St. Paul railroad. A downpour began there about midnight, and it is estimated that about four and a half inches of water fell between that time and this morning. This not only flooded portions of the country, but caused a half dozen quite heavy washouts along ten miles of the line between Mineral Point and Calemina, cutting off the branch entirely. In all about a mile of track was washed out.

The most serious washout was at Gratiot Junction, near Darlington, where the track was badly undermined and portions of it swept out of line. From there to Calemina the track was badly washed out in places. Barns and outbuildings were prostrated in many places. At Madison large trees were uprooted in Capitol park, and the telephone system was rendered useless by tangled wires.

AMERICAN MECHANICS.

Pittsburg, June 17.—The entire session of the national council Junior Order of American Mechanics was devoted to a discussion of the recommendation of the finance committee to abolish the office of general organizer and substitute special organizers. The resolution was not concurred in and $7500 was voted for the use of the general organizers. This afternoon the delegates took a trip up the Monongahela river on a boat. The council will probably conclude its business on Friday. The most important question to be considered is the matter of legislating out of the order all the members engaged in the liquor business. This move would be strongly opposed.

A GOOD PLACE LOST.

Because the Minnesota Members Did Not Agree.

Washington, June 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fact has just come to light that one of the assistant attorney generalships might have gone to Minnesota if the congressional delegation from that state had agreed upon the man. E. M. Johnson, of Minneapolis, who was recently nominated by Governor Clough to a judgeship, was an active candidate for an assistant attorney generalship and did not give up the fight, even after he received the state judicial appointment. As these positions are now all filled, there is no chance for Minnesotans in this direction.

J. M. Diment expects to leave here for Minnesota tomorrow and it cannot be ascertained that his chances for securing the collectorship at St. Paul have been improved by his visit here. Senator Nelson is as positive as ever not to consent to Diment's appointment or that of any other Minnesotan from the First district until Professor Swenson is taken care of. It is rumored here today that the outcome of this contest may be the selection of "Hi" Foote, of Minneapolis, for collector. He is not antagonistic to any of the Minnesota members.

C. A. Nimocks, of Minneapolis, is still in the race for appointment as United States railway commissioner. If he can get Senator Nelson's support he thinks he can be appointed. It is doubtful whether he can induce Nelson to endorse him. He says Senator Davis has already consented to urge his appointment. Nimocks will leave for home Saturday, whether he gets the position he is after or not.

SENATOR DAVIS PLEASED.

Believes That Hawaiian Treaty Will Be Ratified.

Washington, June 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The president's message presenting the Hawaiian annexation treaty to the senate has struck a popular chord and is the subject of general approval. A few Democratic senators will oppose its ratification, but it is not expected they can do more than delay final action on it. Senator Davis is much pleased with the treaty. He has taken a deep interest in Hawaiian affairs for years, and the present treaty is doubtless largely due to his efforts in behalf of annexation. As chairman of the senate foreign affairs committee, he will be the principal figure outside of the state department in the negotiations which will follow, and will bend every effort to secure ratification of the treaty. Speaking of this treaty and its effects, Senator Davis said:

"I am in favor of such a treaty, and while I cannot discuss its terms, I believe they are satisfactory. It appears to me that it is only a question of time until some great nation will acquire the islands, and why not the United States? We have declared our policy to be that no other nation shall get possession of the islands, so there is nothing left for us but to take them ourselves. I believe this move of the administration will be one of the most popular that could be made. The good effect of it will become apparent in a very short time. If it was followed up with some decided act with relation to Cuba, the response from the country would be enthusiastic. I believe an annexation treaty will eventually be ratified by the senate. There will be some opposition, of course, but the predominating sentiment is in favor of annexation."

A DES MOINES PARTY.

They Took in the Sights in Duluth Today.

Frank B. Ross, general agent of the St. Paul & Duluth railroad, was kept busy this morning showing a large party of tourists from Des Moines, Iowa, the points of interest in Duluth. The visitors arrived here this morning from St. Paul in two special cars and returned this afternoon to Minneapolis. They were the guests of C. L. Davidson, member of the Iowa state board of railroad commissioners, and W. W. Ainsworth, secretary of the board. There were thirty-one of them altogether, most of them being young ladies and gentlemen. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather they visited Lester Park, took a ride up the Incline, looked through the High School building and saw the bulls and bears in the trading room at the Board of Trade building, concluding their sight-seeing by going on board the North Land. Those in the party were C. L. Davidson, member of the state board of railroad commissioners; W. W. Ainsworth, secretary of the board; Miss Mary Ainsworth, Miss Grace Ainsworth, Miss Grace Baker, Mr. Dockstader, L. W. Dennis, Miss Minnie Dennis, Miss Minnie Ewan, Miss May Griffis, Miss Belle Hughes, Miss Clara Klempbeller, Dr. A. M., Linn, Mrs. A. M. Linn, Miss Mary Martin, Miss Daisy Martin, Professor A. C. Newell, A. M. Odell, Albert Pears, H. Frank Ball, Miss Stevens, Charles Shissler, Miss Neva Sheidler, Miss Lena Schmelzer, George Tanes, Mrs. George Tanes, C. S. Walker, James Wilson, Mrs. James Wilson, Miss Jeanette Webb, all of Des Moines, Iowa, and Miss Blanche Scott, of Redfield, Iowa.

New York, June 17.—The directors of the Des Moines & Fort Dodge railway have declared a dividend of 6 per cent on preferred stock payable Aug. 2.

SHORTAGE

Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Road Finds Its Duluth Account Shy.

Causes the Arrest of Its Former Agent, John Promberger Today.

Charged With Embezzlement of an Imperial Mill Check For Freight.

John Promberger, formerly local agent here for the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railway, was arrested this morning on the charge of embezzling the sum of $1400 belonging to the company. The warrant was sworn out by E. H. Eden, Mr. Promberger's successor as agent for the company. The accused was taken before Judge Edson on the charge of grand larceny in the first degree. He waived preliminary examination and was committed to the county jail. Bail in such cases is fixed by a judge of the district court.

The complaint recites that the accused, as agent for the railway company, received, April 14 last, from the Duluth Imperial Mill company, a check for $1400 in prepayment of freight on a shipment of flour, and that, on the following day, he cashed the check at the First National bank and converted the proceeds to his own use.

The representations on which the complaint was secured were that very soon after Mr. Eden took charge of the company's affairs here, he ascertained that there was something wrong. He reported the matter to the company and a detective in the company's employ at once came on to investigate. Mr. Promberger was called in, and he acknowledged having received the check and cashing it. He asked for a little time and an opportunity to make the sum good, which was granted and he and the detective left for Eastern points, where Mr. Promberger expected to be able to raise the amount. All attempts were unsuccessful, however, and Mr. Promberger, in charge of the detective, returned to face the music, arriving here this morning. The arrest was made at the company's office by Court Officer Marshall shortly before noon.

A Herald reporter called on Mr. Promberger this afternoon, but he declined to have anything to say. He had not consulted his attorney and preferred to keep silent until he had.

Judge Moer this afternoon fixed Mr. Promberger's bail at $4000 and he is making an effort to procure it.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

William McDonald Arrested But Denies His Guilt.

William McDonald, of Pine Station, on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway, about fourteen miles from Duluth, appeared before Judge Edson this morning on the charge of having passed a forged check for $8 on A. Wieland, the shoe dealer. The preliminary hearing was set for tomorrow morning, and McDonald was committed to jail in default of $500 bail.

The offense is alleged to have been committed Saturday. The check is on the American Exchange bank, is dated June 12, and purports to have been drawn by William Osbourn in favor of W. A. Johnson. According to the story of the clerk who took the check, McDonald represented himself as Johnson and said that the signer was Mr. Osborne, the steamboat man. The clerk received the check and paid to McDonald in money the balance, amounting to about $4, above the price of a pair of shoes purchased by him.

When the forgery was discovered Detective Troyer took the check to the office of Capt. Osborne, for whom, it was found, McDonald had formerly worked, and compared the signature with specimens of the latter's handwriting, a sufficient resemblance being detected, in the officer's opinion, to warrant the arrest of the accused. McDonald was arrested last night at his farm near Pine Station by Deputy Sheriff Fjellman. The prisoner admits having purchased the shoes, but denies any knowledge of the check.

THE THUNDERSTORM.

One of Most Violent in Years---Heavy Rainfall.

The thunder storm which hung over Duluth last night was one of the most violent which has visited here in years.

It was peculiar, too, from the fact that it came while a cold northeast wind was blowing and during the time of the storm there was no perceptible rise in temperature. The storm came from the southwest, as most thunder storms do. It broke about 10:30 o'clock and the lightning was exceedingly vivid and the thunderbolts crashed with such frequency as to remind one of a cannonade. The air was full of electricity and street cars, the electric company and the telephone wires were bothered considerably. About 12:45 o'clock the storm came up again, at 3 o'clock it returned about as fiercely as at 11 o'clock and at 5 o'clock the thunder again rolled ominously, but did not become very heavily. This was the last sign of the storm and Mr. Kenealy announced this morning that the storm center had moved far westward. The weather, however, is likely to continue unsettled for at least a day or two.

The amount of rainfall from 7 a. m. yesterday to 7 a. m. today was 1.34 inches. During the entire month of May the rainfall was 1.63 inches. In Chicago during the same twenty-four hours there was two inches of rain.

WARNING

Nations Which Discriminate Against American Farm Products to Be Warned.

State and Agricultural Departments Taking United Steps in the Matter.

If Discrimination Continues This Country Will Adopt Retaliatory Measures.

Washington, June 17.—The action outlined in the interview with Bellamy Storer before sailing for Europe looking to vigorous representations to Great Britain, Germany and Belgium, and doubtless to France, for a modification of the discriminating measures against American cattle is the result of the indefatigable efforts of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson to combat the prejudices of the old world against our farm products and to secure to our exporters at least the same rights as are enjoyed by those of other countries.

Ever since the new administration began Secretary Wilson has been pushing this matter and taking advantage of every opportunity to gain the ends sought. He has had frequent interviews with the president and with Secretary Sherman on the subject. Several of the new diplomatic appointees have had conferences with the agricultural department officials, at which questions of this kind were discussed and the situation explained. The state department is now co-operating in the movement, and in various ways has instructed its representatives going to the countries named to present statements of the case to the respective governments setting out the discriminations imposed on our products, together with data showing them to be unjustifiable.

Those statements will also show that the restrictions placed by our government on exports of cattle preclude any material danger of loss by disease, or otherwise. Official reports of experts in the field will be cited to demonstrate that American cattle products show a much greater exemption from disease than those of practically all other countries. These representations will be accompanied by the significant warning that if the unjust discriminating measures are continued, proper action will have to be taken by this government. Discriminating nations will be given to understand that the rights of American exporters must be recognized or else privileges accorded foreign producers withdrawn.

Chester, Third artillery, to be major; First Lieut. T. J. Lewis, Second cavalry, to be captain; First Lieut. J. D. C. Hoskins, Third artillery, to be captain; Second Lieut. W. M. F. Quay, Third cavalry, to be captain and assistant quartermaster.

WATER FOR SCHOOLS.

Chicago Has Finally Solved the Long Wrangle.

Chicago, June 17.—After nine months of wrangling the board of education last night definitely and finally settled the water problem in the public schools for a period of three years. It authorized the award of contracts to two filter companies for all the schools in the city save twenty for $88,000, the filtering plants in the schools now in existence and to be erected to be installed and maintained at the expense of the companies for the duration of the contract.

When ex-Health Commissioner Keir ordered the board to either provide pure water for the 200,000 children in its care or shut off the city water supply, nine months ago, the water question was taken up. It has been agitated ever since, and for two or three months the city water supply was cut off, entailing great suffering among the children. Three weeks ago the supply was turned on again, with the authority of the health department, and it was agreed to wait until after the summer vacation before taking any further steps toward the solution of the water problem. This was because the sentiment of members of the board was so thoroughly divided between different makes of filters, the boiling process, spring water schemes and many others that a settlement seemed impossible.

Last night the buildings and grounds committee took another turn at the water question, and when its labors were brought to an end a settlement had been effected. It was found by the committee that the two filter firms had put in bids of almost equal price and had an equal number of supporters on the committee. A compromise was then arranged, the companies to divide the work evenly at the rate of $88,000 for all the schools for three years, the price being that of the lowest bidder. The twenty schools ordered equipped with boiling and cooling apparatus are to be equipped as ordered, but the filters will be placed in the remaining 360.

A consumptive hopes and hopes, but a time comes when hope ends, and the black shadow of despair forecasts the coming of death. Thousands of doctors say that consumption is incurable. Thousands of consumptives believe that there is "nothing much the trouble and that there is no need to bother with medicine." Both are wrong. Consumption is the most deadly of diseases but it is distinctly curable. It has its inception, like all other wasting diseases, in disorders of the digestive organs, and the first step towards its cure must be the relief of these disorders.

Ninety-eight per cent. of all cases of consumption are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Thousands of consumptives have testified to their complete and permanent recovery through its use, after they were given up by the doctors and all hope was gone. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, makes assimilation perfect, fills the blood with the life-giving elements that build up new, firm and healthy tissues, and acting directly upon the lungs drives out all disease-germs. It is a specific for all lingering, bronchial, throat and lung affections.

"I have been troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia" writes Geo. H. Slater, Esq., of Yates City, Knox Co., Ills., "for the last two years. I got a bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and took it as you directed. It did me so much good I am going to get another bottle and take it. It is the best medicine in the world for those who have stomach trouble. I have recommended it to several already."

The best medical book ever published in any language is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Over 680,000 copies of this book have been sold for $1.50 each. STATE SUPREME COURT.

Several Decisions of Great Local Interest.

St. Paul, June 17.—The supreme court handed down ten decisions yesterday, signed by Justice Mitchell. A decision of some interest was that given in the case of Mrs. H. Lytle, which involved the right of the city of St. Paul to license and regulate pawnbrokers under the charter. Mrs. Lytle claimed that she did not require a license, as she issued no tickets, but took notes and chattel mortgages from the borrowers, and that, therefore, she could not be put in the class with pawnbrokers. The trial court decided for the protection of the city's attitude, and this decision is affirmed by the supreme court. Other decisions handed down include:

Hector Langevin, respondent, vs. William Bloom, appellant; judgment affirmed.

Frederick Mittwer, et al, appellants, vs. Charles F. Stremel, et al, respondents; order affirmed.

The Security bank of Minnesota, respondent, vs. Willis J. Holmes, et al, appellants; order affirmed. A covenant incumbrance runs with the land, and when a mortgage contains such a covenant an action on it may be maintained by a purchaser at a foreclosure sale under the mortgage.

Joseph A. Manheim, et al, respondents, vs. Carleton college, of Northfield, Minn., appellant; order affirmed. Evidence considered and held sufficient to justify the court in finding that one H was the agent of the defendant and acted within the scope of his authority. The maxim of "deminimis, etc." applied.

Ann E. Morey, appellant, vs. city of Duluth, et al., respondents. One executed a mortgage to plaintiff on an unplatted 10-acre tract in the city of Duluth. Subsequently to the executing and recording of this mortgage the city of Duluth obtained from the mortgagor a deed of a strip sixty feet wide across the tract, and opened and improved it as a public street. The only right that the city acquired by this deed. Subsequently the plaintiff sold the premises under a power of sale, and bid in the entire tract for the amount due on the mortgage, but this sale, although valid as to the mortgagor, was invalid as to the city, because no notice of the time and place of sale was served on it, as required by statute, the city having long been in occupancy and actual possession of the 60-acre strip. Held, that the plaintiff was entitled to a second foreclosure as to the city and any other omitted parties; that such second foreclosure would not affect the rights of the mortgagor under the first foreclosure and that he need not be made a party to the suit. But held, that under the facts a strict foreclosure without sale, barring the city of all right in the premises unless it redeemed the entire tract by paying the whole amount due on the mortgage, would be neither "just or equitable." The fact that the party is not entitled to the specific relief prayed for is no ground of demurrer if, on the facts alleged, he is entitled to some relief. Order reversed.

Andres Mickelson and Carrie Mickelson, respondents, vs. Duluth Building and Loan association, appellants. The record not purporting to contain all the evidence, and there having been no assignments of error that raise the question of the sufficiency of the findings of fact to justify the order for judgment, the order denying a new trial is affirmed. Certain special reasons are suggested why the court ought not to pass on the relative rights of so-called building societies and their borrowing members, under its scheme as contained in its articles and bylaws, unless put in possession of all material facts. Order affirmed.

S. C. Lobdill, respondent, vs. Laboring Men's Mutual Aid association of Chatfield, Minn., appellant. Order affirmed.

John B. Heron, respondent, vs. St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway company, et al, appellants. Order affirmed as to Great Northern Railway company and reversed as to St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway company.

In the case of the Manchester Fire Insurance company, appellant, vs. F. D. Redfield, et al, defendants; John Goodnow, et al, respondents, the company again wins out and the bondsmen, Goodnow, et al, get the worst of it. The order of the lower court is reversed.

Uncompahgre Utes Kicking About the Allotments of Their Tribal Lands.

Dissatisfied With the Act Which Reserves the Mineral Lands.

Sioux Indians Request to Erect a Monument an Evidence of Civilization.

Washington, June 17.—The Washington authorities have received no advices as to the holding of a big powwow among the Uncompahgre Utes in Utah, as reported, to protest against the projected allotments and opening of the lands in severalty. Like many of the tribes who view allotments with disfavor, as contrary to their traditions and customs, the Uncompahgres have not wanted their lands divided, and believe that their rights are thus invaded. They claim a much larger stretch of territory than is recognized by congress, which, after an executive order setting apart the Utah valley of the Uintah river, affected by later governmental acts, gave them the right to allotment of these lands of the reservation.

The allotments were directed by the Indian appropriation bill for 1896-97, which provided for the allotment in severalty of all agricultural lands of the Uncompahgre Indians and the opening of unallotted lands on April 1, 1898, to location and entry, except those containing gilsonite, asphalt, elaterite and similar valuable deposits. The results have been the issue of a protracted fight in congress, and the Indians probably base their opposition, to some extent, on the ground that these valuable properties belong to them.

The allotments have not yet been begun. The affair is not expected to result in any serious trouble at this time, and the Indian officials have no uneasiness as to the outcome.

SURPRISES OFFICIALS.

Request of Sioux Indians Regarding a Monument.

Washington, June 17.—The desire of Sioux Indians to erect a monument to their warriors who participated in the battle of Wounded Knee, as reported in a dispatch from Rapid City, S. D., has not been officially communicated to the Washington authorities, and pending the receipt of the petition of the Indians attention will be paid to the matter. Just what action will be taken then is only conjectured, though many of the veterans in the Indian service think it only would be just to the Indians—in view of the extenuating circumstances of the fight and as a simple token of recognition of the valor of the tribe.

No similar issue has been raised so far as the authorities here can recall, though such marks of commemoration as stones, etc., have been placed on battlefield to represent the marches of some of the Indian leaders. Th attempt to raise a substantial shaft on lines of government monuments already erected it an idea new in Indian history and is taken to indicate greater civilization among the Indians than was looked for.

CONFIRMATIONS HELD UP.

A MATTER OF INTEREST TO TRAVELERS.

Tourists, emigrants and mariners find that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a medicinal safeguard against unhealthful influences, upon which they can implicitly rely, since it prevents the effects that an unhealthy climate, vitiated atmosphere, unaccustomed or unwholesome diet, bad water, or other conditions very liable to health, would otherwise produce. On long voyages, or journeys by land in latitudes adjacent to the Equator, it is especially useful as a preventive of bowel complaints and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, which are apt to attack natives of the temperate zones sojourning or traveling in such regions. It is an excellent protection against the influence of extreme cold, sudden changes of temperature, exposure to damp or extreme fatigue. It not only prevents intermittent and remittent fever, and other diseases of a malarial type, but eradicates them, a fact which has been notorious for years past in North and South America, Mexico, the West Indies, Australia and other countries.

BARNATO'S RELATIVES.

Two Cigarmakers in Boston Claim Kinship.

Boston, June 17.—Two men in Boston claim to be the first cousins of Barney Barnato. They are Barnett Meyers and Wolf Meyers, cigarmakers at the North End. "Barney Barnato's right name was Barney Isaacs. His father and our mother were brother and sister," said Barnett Meyers. "We grew up together in London and my brother and myself came here with our parents about forty years ago. A short time before we started for America, I met Barney Isaacs on the steamer. We were both named Barney after our uncle, Barnett Isaacs. He shouted across the street to me: 'How do you do, Barney,' and I shouted back: 'How do you do Barney,'"

"What are you going to America for," he asked. "You can't get ahead over there."

"Oh, I want to go to America. I think there is a good show there," said I.

"Better come to South Africa with me," said Barney; "there's lots of money to be made."

"Barney was poor then and he was a beggar. I called at one of his offices in London three or four years ago and when I came away he gave me $125, I never asked him for money. There are other relatives, but not so very many. Some are wealthy. There is his eldest brother, Henry Isaacs, worth about $80,000. Then there is Kitty, his sister-in-law. She is worth several millions. I suppose we will get a good share of the property when the thing is settled up.

FATHER KNEIPP DEAD.

Famous Water Cure Priest Succumbs to Illness.

Munich, June 17.—The Rev. Father Kneipp, known throughout the world for his water cure who has been suffering for some time past, died at Weerishofen.

Father Sebastian Kneipp was born in the Bavarian village of Ottobeurn about seventy-five years ago. He was the son of a weaver. He was educated at the Roman Catholic hospital in Augustberg, where he attracted the attention of the bishop of Augustberg, who obtained permission to educate him for the priesthood. When 6 years old he was attacked with nervous prostration and returned to the hospital. There, in an old book, he read an article on the efficacy of cold water as a cure for disease. He began experimenting on his own case, and eventually effected a cure.

When 25 years of age he entered the priesthood and was sent to the church of his native town, where he remained nine years, and in addition to attending to his priestly duties, practiced the water cure and met with considerable success. Some forty-two years ago he was transferred from Ottobeurn to Weerishofen, near Munich, where he continued to heal the sick by cold water cures and attracted much attention. In 1889 he wrote a book detailing his theory and since that time his name and his methods have become familiar throughout the world. By permission of his bishop he gave up his duties as a priest and with the assistance of three other priests devoted all his time to the healing of the sick.

No fixed charges were made and the voluntary contributions of those who had been benefited paid for the construction of a sanatorium at Weerishofen in 1890, capable of accommodating 600 children. In the following year a second and a third building were erected, large enough to accommodate 1200 priests and sisters for the church. In 1894 accommodation for 300 lepers and 1000 consumptive patients was added. By this time the revenues of the sanitarium had so increased that they enriched the church and also greatly benefited Weerishofn. The town was provided with electric lights, a splendid system of waterworks and many other modern improvements.

Father Kneipp has treated many distinguished patients, including the emperor of Austria, the Archduke Joseph of Austria, the Archduke Augustin of Austria, several members of the Rothschild family and the pope. Last year it is estimated about 20,000 people were treated by Father Kneipp and his assistants.

SHORT AND SUICIDED.

Cashier Norton in San Francisco Feared Examination.

San Francisco, June 17.—Isaac Norton, cashier of the United States internal revenue department in this city, has committed suicide. He had been notified by Revenue Collector Willburn that his accounts were to be examined, in consequence of the succession of Capt. Thrasher as special agent of the department. Norton replied that he would be in attendance and went on with his work.

At lunch time he purchased a vial of carbolic acid, rented a room in the annex to the Baldwin hotel and took the poison with fatal results. He had given a bond for $20,000 with the National Surety company, of Kansas, and the collector says that if there is any shortage it cannot amount to more than $5000 or $6000.

MEAT PRODUCTS.

United States Ministers to Fight Foreign Discrimination.

New York, June 16.—"After the queen's jubilee the United States ambassadors to Great Britain and Germany, Col. Hay, Dr. White, respectively, and I, as United States minister to Belgium, will take vigorous steps to secure a modification of the laws against American sheep, cattle and meat products, which now mean a loss to American agricultural interests of millions of dollars a year." So spoke Bellamy Storer, the new United States minister to Belgium in his cabin aboard the American steamship St. Paul, which left for Southampton today. Mr. Storer will proceed as rapidly as possible to his post.

"This action," continued Mr. Storer, "will be simultaneous. The administration at Washington is determined to protect American agricultural interests and to do its utmost to have the discriminative laws of European countries against our products changed. The administration has called the attention of all United States representatives to the urgency of vigorous action. Great Britain and Germany control Belgium, and all three are influenced to discriminate against American meats by the agrarian element in their parliaments. They pretend that our sheep, cattle and meats are not sufficiently protected against disease, and claim that they must have their own inspection, which acts as a prohibition of the importing of our meat products. The fact is, our system of inspection is the most systematically complete in the world. The trouble has existed since Bismarck's day of power and although the United States has tried to effect a modification, it has not succeeded so far."

Hawkins and Emma E. Hawkins, his wife, mortgagors, to Sarah C. d'Autremont, mortgagee, bearing date the tenth day of December, 1891, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the eleventh day of December, 1891, at eight o'clock a. m., in Book 71 of mortgages, on page 583. Wheat Started Easy at a Decline But Sold Up a Cent.

The Early Weakness Was Due to the Ideal Crop Conditions.

Large Clearances From the Seaboard Responsible For the Later Rise.

The opening in wheat today was easy at a decline, the weakness being due to the weather reports, bountiful rains having fallen throughout the wheat belt in the last twenty-four hours, accompanied by moderately high temperature, forming ideal conditions for the growing crop. Liverpool opened at only ¼d decline, showing unexpected firmness in view of yesterday's weak American markets. Second cables, however, showed a further slight decline. Northwest receipts were again very light, 218 cars against 221 last week and 35 a year ago. Trading was very dull, approaching almost absolute stagnation at times, and prices fluctuated sluggishly within narrow limits. The general feeling was bearish. The first thing to reassure the bulls and inspire the market enough to hold on their wheat was when the day's clearances from Boston were found to be 200,000 bus. The price commenced on that to recover, but there was too little life in the trade, and too few anxious shorts in view of the favorable crop weather, to give prices much of a boost. Later in the day, when the total quantity cleared from the seaboard was equal to 585,000 bus, of which 432,000 bus was wheat, the price gained another slight improvement. Later still, 125,000 bus cash wheat was marked at Chicago for immediate shipment and that added a little more strength to the market. It was followed to work its way up 1c per bus without starting any panic among the shorts.

Trading was very dull on the Duluth board. July wheat opened 5c lower at 70½c and advanced after the first half hour to 71c. Later it became firmer and sold up steadily to 72c at noon. Towards the close it eased off to 71¾c, and the close was firm with buyers at that figure, being an advance of ¾c for the day. Shippers bought 20 cars of cash stuff at 1c over July, but got nothing. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 72¾c. No. 1 northern, cash, 72½c; July, 71¾c bid; September, 64¾c bid. No. 2 northern, 69¾c. No. 3, 68¾@69¾c. Rejected, 68¾@69c. Rye, 45c. No. 2 oats, 21¾c; No. 3 oats, 20½c. Flax, 75¾c.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 207 Board of Trade, Chicago, June 17.—There was an easy feeling in the wheat market and Liverpool came lower. The large seaboard clearances and the taking of 150,000 bus cash wheat here, the first round lot in a long time, caused a spurt of strength but it was short lived for July wheat was pressing on the market all day. The close was unchanged from yesterday on July with September 1c higher. The feature of the day was the demand for September wheat which was credited to purchases made by a large St. Louis bull short. July wheat has been sold constantly for the past few days by several large commission houses and numerous bobbers are transferring their lines over into September and December. Probabilities for good weekly clearances and a decrease of about 1,500,000 bus in the visible. The crop situation in the Northwest has been bettered by the recent rains.

Corn fairly steady, closing a fraction lower. Good rains in the West have materially improved the situation and sellers are getting more confidence.

Provisions easy early on large receipts but firmed on large buying by local packing concerns.

Puts, July wheat, 67¾@68c.
Calls, July wheat, 69@69¼c.
Puts, July wheat, 68¾@69c.

KNOW NOT WHAT TO DO.

Owners of the class of vessels carrying from 2500 to 3000 tons and upward are at a loss what to do with them because of the light offerings of freight and extremely low rates. The only alternative appears to be to place them in ordinary, and this they dislike to do now that the season of summer heat has arrived. Wooden vessels dry out rapidly while in idleness at this season of the year, and before being sent out again must be subjected to more or less calking. Vessels of the class referred to are losing some money every trip, but the amount will not equal the shipyard bill in the event that they are withdrawn from service for any length of time at present.

Experienced vessel owners place the average expenses of a steamer for a round trip of twelve days at about $1500, which includes grain-handling charges and insurance—in fact everything. On 80,000 bushels of corn at 1 cent, and 2500 tons of coal at 20 cents, the gross return is $1850, or $150 less than the estimate of expenses. In some cases owners are carrying no insurance and have reduced the wages of masters and subordinate officers so as to make the present earning limit and the expense account balance each other pretty well, but there are many who have not gone to that extreme. Those who have cut heavily are owners of large fleets, and it is said that in one of these fleets masters of steamers who had been receiving $1500 up to the close of last season are now being paid but $1000. The announcement of this cut of 33 1-3 per cent must have startled the skippers severely, but they yielded without a murmur.

THE ROCKEFELLER BUGABOO.

"This talk of the Rockefellers playing hog and putting in boats to carry all of the ore in the lake trade is absurd," said Frank Kirby, of Detroit. "I have figured out that an average carrying capacity the fleet now owned and in process of construction by the Rockefeller interests could not carry 8 per cent of the ore alone, to say nothing of the other freight. Of course, this means figuring the average amount of ore carried during, say, the last ten years. I do not pretend to say just what is the cause of the stagnation in the shipping business, but it certainly is not, up to date, because the Rockefellers are doing it all."

WEST END

Mr. Stowell's Claim Against Manufacturers Bank May Delay a Dividend.

Had Not Filed It and It Had Not Been Counted Upon.

Alderman Sang Says City Is Better Cleaned Than Ever Before.

The filing of a claim for over $4000 against the Manufacturers bank by W. H. H. Stowell will result in delaying a second dividend to depositors in any event and it may perhaps reduce the amount to be eventually divided among the bank's creditors. Receiver Peaslee said in speaking of the matter today that Mr. Stowell's claim had not been taken into consideration by him as although he had been regularly notified to file it, he had failed to do so within the prescribed time. The court will have to pass upon the legality of it, and in the meantime the funds in Mr. Peaslee's hands for the deposit will be tied up. Just when another dividend can be paid it is now impossible to determine.

HAS BEEN WELL CLEANED.

Alderman Sang said today that West Duluth had been more thoroughly cleaned up this year than ever before and at a much less expense notwithstanding the increased number of health inspectors. He said that the additional inspectors had made it possible for the health department to keep closer watch of individuals and request them to clean up and care for garbage thrown in alleyways and streets, thus reducing the expense of hauling it away by the city. What is true of West Duluth applies to the whole city. He said that as compared with last year the expense of "house-cleaning" in Duluth this season has netted a saving of about $1500 all due to the fact that the inspectors have required property owners to do their own hauling. Alderman Sang says that more inspection work is necessary in West Duluth than in the East End of town, because of its lack of sewers and that unless streets and alleys are closely watched and kept clean that bad results will follow.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

Rev. George W. Keithley, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church, is enjoying his vacation on his farm in Southwestern Missouri. In a letter to a friend he stated that he would return home next week and occupy his pulpit as usual, Sunday, June 27.

The closing exercises of Longfellow school were held yesterday afternoon.

The West Duluth Cycle club is being enthusiastically boomed by the wheelmen and its members are planning some very pleasant events to take place as soon as the organization is in good working order.

Several new members were initiated by the Sawmill Workers' Protective union at the regular semi-monthly meeting last night. There was a good attendance and a large amount of routine business was transacted.

MINNESOTA LUTHERANS.

Elect Officers and Transact Much Other Business.

St. Paul, June 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—This morning the session of the United Norwegian Lutheran church was occupied for some time by the representative of the committee on credentials. Upon recommendation from this committee, Boyd congregation, Minnesota, was adopted by the church. Rev. E. J. Muss, Mr. Guelyck Amundson and Sever Johnson were elected as advisory members.

The election of officers came up. No contest was made on the election of Treasurer H. Lars Swenson, and he was voted upon by acclamation. When it came to the secretary, the present secretary had things his own way and Rev. J. Jenson was announced as the successful candidate. Rev. T. H. Dahl, the present incumbent of vice presidential honors, was reinstituted in the same office by a vote of acclamation.

The most important committee within the convention is the nomination committee as it practically decided who shall be the members of the different committees. The following were nominated: Rev. N. Wikse, Rev. G. Rassmussen, Rev. O. Nilson, Rev. J. Olson, Rev. O. Hafstad, Rev. A. Ofstedal, Rev. Sateell, Rev. O. Wold, Rev. Osthy, Rev. H. Hegge, Mr. Kvavli, A. Kluoni, O. L. Neilson.

The report of the Pittsburg publishing house showed that the total receipts were $51,916.95, leaving a profit of $5129.65. Books had been sold to the amount of $29,045.51. A total of 55,587 books and pamphlets have been published during the past year.

The report of the president of the board of trustees was read by Halle Stensland, ex-Norwegian Swedish vice consul, Madison, Wis. The report closes: "It has been previously decided that the surplus of interest received from the theological fund be added to the capital. It is a source of gratification to state that $1800 has in this way been added to the fund, which in connection with $600 received from unexpected sources makes a total of $2500.

The District Court.

Judge Ensign yesterday afternoon heard the last of the evidence in the State bank case, and it was continued for argument. Judge Cant some time ago heard the case of the State bank against M. O. Hall, to set aside a satisfaction of a note for $15,000 set off against part of Hall's stock, and the judges will hear both arguments before the decisions are rendered.

This morning Judge Ensign took up the case of Fannie S. Wilder, et al, against Mary S. Thompson, et al, to clear title to a large amount of property on Minnesota Point. The case was on trial at noon.

RAISED THE CHECK.

W. M. Abrahamson is Out Eighty Dollars.

A woodsman who was slicker than he looked, "did up" W. M. Abrahamson, of the Hub Clothing company, to the tune of about $80 Saturday. The trick was done by means of a raised time check on Mitchell & McClure. Abrahamson gets $2.70, the amount for which the check was issued, the balance he takes in experience. The man entered Abrahamson's store late in the afternoon and said he wanted to make some purchases. He had been working all winter for Mitchell & McClure, he said, and had received what was coming to him in a time check. He wanted to convert it into money right away, and in view of the fact that he wanted to do some trading in Abrahamson's line, and the further consideration of a small "shave," just to pay for his trouble, Abrahamson accommodated him. The man took $2 or $3 worth of goods and then left in good humor, money. On Monday Abrahamson discovered when the gazelle came in. He had a fit, and it is probable that is all he will get out of it, as a vigorous search has failed to locate his friend.

FRAMING THE TARIFF.

The wine schedule of the tariff bill was completed in a little over an hour and then the senate took up the cotton schedule.

Richard Schell, of this city, was the owner of the Lafayette flats, and sale was made by him through the Wades to Mr. Kerr.

A few days ago Jane A. Lavanway began divorce proceedings against W. W. Lavanway. This morning a dismissal of the case was filed, stating that it had been fully compromised and settled, and requesting the clerk to dismiss it. It was to have been up in special term of district court Saturday, but the clerk is requested to refrain from placing it on the calendar.

GOVERNOR ALTGELD'S TRADUCERS.

Criticism of the political views entertained by ex-Governor John P. Altgeld of Illinois is proper on the part of those who differ with him, but there is no excuse whatever for the dirty character of the campaign which has been steadily carried on for about a year by a certain political clique in Chicago, represented in the press by the Chicago Chronicle, wherein have appeared the vilest charges and insinuations against the personal integrity of the former governor. A large number of outside newspapers, some misled by the false statements of the Chronicle and the crowd which it represents and others ready to malign a political opponent without regard to the facts, have reprinted these articles and no doubt have caused many unprejudiced people to believe that Governor Altgeld's administration was crooked and that he was guilty of dishonest acts.

There is no truth in these charges and insinuations, and the infamous action of Governor Tanner in signing the Yerkes-Allen bill has been the means of causing several of the Republican papers of Chicago and other cities to admit that Governor Altgeld's administration was straight and honorable. The Chicago Tribune, which bitterly opposed Altgeld, now admits that Mr. Altgeld would never have signed the Allen bill; that "he would rather have lost his right hand." The Chicago Times-Herald says: "It is authentically reported that John P. Altgeld was offered $100,000 to sign gas bills such as John R. Tanner signed a few days ago. He spurned the offer." In the same paper appears a letter from Clarke Gapen, a well known citizen, confirming this statement and adding that "later on the offer was made in a very indirect way that if the governor would place an order with any broker he might select for certain stocks and sign certain bills, an increase in value of the stocks amounting to $500,000 would be assured him." Mr. Gapen also says:

"My own relations with Governor Altgeld have, moreover, been of exactly such a nature as to convince me of its correctness. During his administration an expenditure of over $1,500,000 was made by me and over my signature. He never directly or indirectly attempted to influence that expenditure in any way in the interests of his personal or political friends or in his own interest, politically or otherwise. On the contrary, his repeated injunction was to get as much as possible out of the appropriations for the hospital and its inmates, regardless of whom the purchases were made. * * * When it is considered that the expenditure alluded to is the largest in the state government, and when it is taken into account that the officers and employes numbered over four hundred and received salaries of over $150,000 per year, ranging in amount from $200 to $5000 per year, the facts stated ought to have a value in forming an estimate of this much and unjustly maligned man. He had the misfortune to appoint some officials who were faithless to their trusts, and what public official does not have that misfortune—the ingrate at heart with smiling countenance is ever at his side seeking to feed out of the hand he later will bite; but I can say, for one, that I never came into contact with a man whom I believed more honest, or whose aspirations on behalf of science or philanthropy were higher or nobler."

The St. Paul Globe, another political opponent, says: "Mistakes he made, one or two serious ones, and he has a disposition not altogether lovely. We share neither some of his views of public policy nor his pessimism; but that he gave his state one of the best administrations it has ever had was the admission before the campaign, of all, including candid Republicans. The very hue and cry raised against him was but the trick of the Tanners to get access to the public crib, and we have had, ever since they got there, admissions of Republican papers of their shameless rapacity."

The friends and admirers of Governor Altgeld, who have known how baseless were the indiscriminate charges of crookedness leveled against him by a gang of political cut-throats in Chicago, and who were satisfied that the truth would force itself to the surface in due time, may well be pardoned for feeling highly pleased with the tributes which the anti-Altgeld press is now paying to the ex-governor and the administration which he gave to the people of Illinois.

ECONOMY NECESSARY.

The governor of Pennsylvania was requested by the legislature the other day to furnish information as to the probable shortage in the state treasury, and to suggest what taxation should be imposed to make up the deficiency. Governor Hastings' response is noteworthy. He stated the probable amount of the shortage, but did not advise additional taxation. On the contrary, he expressed the belief that taxes are high enough, and the proper way to reduce the shortage is to reduce expenses. He urged that under present conditions economy in the expenditure of public moneys should control the legislature in its appropriations and said: "There are two ways for states as well as individuals to successfully meet such exigencies as the present conditions impose. The first thing is to increase the income to meet existing outlay. This is practically impossible for state or individuals at this time. The other is to reduce expenditures, so as to live within the income. This is good housekeeping."

This advice is applicable everywhere. As the Omaha Bee says, there is a general demand for economy in public expenditures—national, state and municipal. Notwithstanding the severe business depression of the last four years, during which most people have been compelled to practice the most rigid economy and many have found it difficult and others impossible to pay the taxes necessary to the support of government, public expenditures have been maintained or increased and for the whole country are undoubtedly very much greater now than in the time of highest prosperity. Hence it is that nearly everywhere, as in Pennsylvania, those charged with the duty of providing revenue are finding the problem of how to get more money to meet the demands upon the public treasury exceedingly perplexing. The question of finding new sources of revenue, of adding to the already large list of things taxed, must in time become general unless there is change of policy in regard to expenditures.

Development and advancement necessarily add to the yearly expenditures of the national government as well as the states and municipalities. The growth of population carries with it increased demands for public expenditures. The postal service, for instance, is being constantly extended, and other branches of the federal service call for greater outlays. The state institutions must meet increased demands owing to augmented populations, as is shown by the experience of Minnesota with her charitable and correctional institutions. The number of insane grows in proportion to the increase in the population, and enlarged hospital facilities are necessitated. The cost of government in municipalities is increased also by the growth of the municipalities themselves. It costs much more to run the city government of Duluth today than it did five years ago, and the increased cost is largely legitimate, due to the growth of the city in population and business. As the city continues to grow, the cost of the government will naturally become greater.

Reference is made to the legitimate increase. At the same time, unless due vigilance be exercised by the citizens, there will be unnecessary expenses added. Unquestionably, as the Omaha paper says, there is a great deal of public expenditure that is not strictly legitimate or necessary and which could be dispensed with without impairment of the public service and without disadvantage to the public interests. A penurious policy is not to be desired. An economy which would put a check upon progress and development would be even more objectionable than extravagance. Both are to be avoided. The prerequisite to reform in the matter of public expenditures is to elect as legislators honest and practical men who will place the public interests and welfare above personal or partisan considerations. If this policy be pursued in the nation, state and municipality, there will be no cause for complaint about burdensome taxation because the cost of government will be increased only in proportion to the growth of population and business, which growth will necessarily add to the amount of taxable property. It is the unnecessary expenditure which must be guarded against. The legitimate expenditure will never cause the taxpayer to groan.

The professional workers for woman suffrage are trying to induce women to join their ranks by the statement that women would work for prohibitory liquor laws if they had the ballot. The Colorado statistics do not sustain this claim: In 1892 out of a presidential vote of 93,843 the men cast 1638 votes for the Prohibition candidate. The next year suffrage was given to the women of that state. In 1896 out of 189,141 votes cast for president, only 1717 were cast for the Prohibition candidate. So that, although the presidential vote was more than doubled, only seventy-nine more votes were cast for Prohibition, when both men and women voted than were cast by the men only in 1892.

Gen. Green P. Garner, who died in Chicago recently, took part in thirty battles in the Mexican and civil wars, and was wounded at the storming of Chapultepec. He was in the battles of Palo Alto, Cerro Gordo and Buena Vista. At the latter engagement he became "cannon deaf" and never entirely recovered his hearing. In the civil war he was promoted from the ranks, and left the service with the title of general.

The representative of the Ottoman government at Washington scored a point the other day, when he took occasion in denying a story of Turkish atrocity in Epirus to refer to the Urbana lynching as "a great cruelty." Of course the Urbana lynching cannot be compared in cruelty to the atrocious deeds of the Turks in Armenia, but it is sufficient to cause the United States to feel humiliated.

The appointment of Levi M. Willcuts as collector of the port of Duluth is not unexpected. Mr. Willcuts has been a hard worker on behalf of the Republican party, and was certainly entitled to recognition for his services during the last campaign, when he was chairman of the Sixth district congressional committee.

It is said that the capitol commission, now in session at St. Paul considering the bids for the superstructure of the new capitol, is inclined to favor Ohio or Indiana sandstone. What is the matter with Minnesota sandstone or Minnesota granite?

Benjamin Allgood, of Williamsport, Pa., was fined $15 the other day for hugging Mrs. Harmer. Of course his defense was that he though it was Allgood and would not Harmer.

An anonymous letter on the coming school election has been received by The Herald. If the author will append his real name to it The Herald will publish the article.

The family of the late secretary of the treasury, Daniel Manning, has had cast in Troy, N. Y., a 100-pound bell for the United States cruiser which bears his name.

Fourteen divorces were granted in two hours and a half the other day by a Kansas City judge. He must have been trying to rival the Chicago record.

The Turks are massed in great strength in Thessaly, and the powers may find it difficult to get them out.

The new state capitol should be built of Minnesota stone.

CALHOUN AND CUBA.

Chicago Post: It is just possible, you know, that Mr. Calhoun should have recollected that he was not sent to Cuba as a newspaper correspondent.

Chicago Times-Herald: The principal point in Commissioner Calhoun's report seems to be that it confirms a prevalent impression that the late Dr. Ruiz is dead.

Chicago News: Mr. Calhoun has not only established the fact that Dr. Ruiz is dead, but that he will stay dead a long time. As Dr. Ruiz was a resident of Cuba, Mr. Calhoun's mission was not altogether fruitless.

Globe-Democrat: The published interviews with Special Commissioner Calhoun, who has just returned from Cuba, reveal very little of his opinion regarding the relative strength of the Spaniards and the insurgents. On one point, however, he has told what he thinks. He believes that the war will not end until one or the other of the combatants is thoroughly beaten. It is clear, therefore, that he does not suppose any of the purchase schemes have the slightest chance of success. It is equally clear that he has no faith in the efficacy of any of the promised or projected reforms by the Spaniards. The conflict will go on until either the last of the Cuban bands are crushed or the Spaniards are driven out of the island.

Philadelphia Record: Special Commissioner William J. Calhoun, who has just returned from Cuba, where he took part in the investigation of the Ruiz case, expresses regret at the inability of the investigators to obtain the important testimony of Col. Fonsdevicla, who commanded the Spanish in Guamabacoa at the time of Dr. Ruiz's death. Fonsdevicla, said Mr. Calhoun, had disappeared, and could not be found. The employes of the Cuban news factory at Key West, nevertheless, appear to have no difficulty in locating the missing witness, and, according to yesterday's budget of Key West "fakes," the colonel is in the immediate vicinity of Guanabacoa engaged in his congenial occupation of butchering policos. Thus the writers of fiction have demonstrated the superiority of their methods over those of the investigators of facts.

SPEAKER REED IN SESSION.

Memphis Commercial Appeal: Speaker Reed takes the chair and says: "I will please come to order. I don't believe in the efficacy of prayer, so I will dispense with it today. The records of the preceding meeting are considered read and approved. There is no unfinished business on hand, and even if there was I don't consider myself a quorum at this stage of the game. Did I hear a motion to adjourn? Well, I should remark, for my hearing is very acute, and when it comes to adjourning I am a quorum from Quorumville. If I am in favor of adjourning I will please signify it by saying 'aye.' If I am opposed I don't know myself. I have it. I stand adjourned."

LAUGHING MATTERS.

Puck: Van Dabble—This is my latest picture. I sold it yesterday.
Visitor—Indeed? You are a genius!

Chicago Post: She was heartbroken.
"My beautiful bathing suit is absolutely ruined," she moaned.
"How did it happen?" asked her mother anxiously.
"I accidentally got it wet."

Truth: Mrs. Newed—Was I nervous dear, during the ceremony?
Miss Spiteful—Well, a trifle at first, darling, but not after William had said "yes."

Cleveland Leader: He—June is the month of weddings, isn't it?
She—Oh, Herbert, why didn't you speak earlier and give me more time to get ready?

Chicago Tribune: "Several times during the delivery of his commencement day oration he paused and took a drink of water. He was very dry."
"You mean he was very thirsty."
"Yes, he was thirsty, too."

Cleveland Leader: "No," he said, "it is impossible to take something from nothing."
"I don't know about that," she replied, as she picked a long brown hair from his coat collar.

Truth: Cholly (splashing about in the briny)—Oh, girls, I love the ocean. It does me good.
Miss Pert—Yes, and the salter the better.

Indianapolis Journal: "The face," said the oracular boarder, "is an exact index to the mind."
"Not an exact one," said the Cheerful Idiot. "For instance, when a man has his temper ruffled, his brows are knit."

Harlem Life: Parker—What! That your mother? Why, she doesn't look old enough to have a daughter as—a—ahem—as—er—as young as you.

Detroit Free Press: "Well—well—it is sad to see pedestrianism waning into a lost art."
"Lost art! Not much; since the advent of wheels and trolley cars the human race is twice as nimble as it used to be."

Pittsburg Chronicle: "Papa," said Sammy Snaggs, as he paused, pencil in hand, "how can you make a Greek cross?"
"Mention the concert of Europe to him," replied Mr. Snaggs.

THE OFFICE SEEKER.

Washington dispatch to the Chicago Record: He wanted to borrow $20. "I am sure that my nomination will go in next week," he said; "both the senators from my state have assured me so. The president has said that my name is the only one under consideration, and while he has not made a positive promise he has all but said that he intended to appoint me. He knows about my work in the last campaign before and after the convention. He remembered some things I did not and spoke about them without being reminded, and thanked me in a very pleasant way. When I was leaving the White House he shook hands with me and asked me to come again. I told him that I didn't like to trouble him, but I would call again before I left town, and asked him if he could give me any idea when my nomination would be sent to the senate. He replied that he intended to strike up the matter very soon. Since then both of the senators have seen him, and they are confident that he is not only going to appoint me, but that he will do so within a very few days, and if you can let me have $20 it will carry me over this month, and I will be able to refund it to you next month out of my pay. I have been on board due tomorrow, at $10 a week, and it is good policy to pay promptly, as the house is full of government clerks who talk a good deal and have friends among the employes at the White House. One must keep up appearances, you know. If people find out that you are down on your luck they will shake you mighty suddenly."

This story might be told by many men in Washington with very little variation. The town is full of them. Some of them need more than $20 to settle their board bills, but they all have the same confidence that their appointments will be announced very soon, and some of them must certainly be disappointed, for the places are too few to accommodate everybody.

It wouldn't be right to give the name of my friend, but when the campaign opened last fall he was a railway station agent, receiving a salary of $80a month, and was asked to do some work among the Norwegians in the Northwest, where he had considerable influence. He was so successful that the Republican committee of his state induced him to continue his work, but in order to do so he was compelled to resign his position. Upon an assurance that in case of McKinley's election he would be given an office which would pay him much better, he sent in his resignation, threw his whole soul into the work and undoubtedly was a great vote winner, particularly among people of his own race who were discussing free coinage. After the election he went home, gave up his house, cleared up his affairs, took his wife for a visit to her family in Pennsylvania, and, leaving her there, came down to Washington to attend the inauguration and get an office. He stopped at a modest hotel and paid $3 a day for awhile, but when he found that he was likely to be detained he went to a boarding house, where he has been ever since. He did a good deal of treating when he first came to Washington and enjoyed himself with the boys, but he has settled down to sober earnest and economy now, and if he doesn't get his appointment he will be stranded.

"It will pay $2000 a year," he said, "and they tell me there are some perquisites, but it's a darned long time coming."

MINING LAWS NEEDED.

Minneapolis Tribune: Last year Minnesota began to show up among the gold-producing states. The report of the director of the mint shows the product of the yellow metal in this state for 1896 to have been $800. This is a very small amount, but it will do as a starter. It is known that just north of the line from our gold fields in British America, numerous fortunes have been made in gold mining, and the auriferous prospect is regarded by experts as just as good on the Minnesota side. The reason that gold mining has been neglected on the Minnesota side of the line is because the land laws do not protect prospectors as regards those lands. It is not very pleasant for a prospector to risk his life and health and spend his time and money in search for gold, only to have his claim jumped after he has struck "pay dirt." If the mining land laws of the United States were extended to these Minnesota gold-producing lands, there would be a rush to the Minnesota gold fields, and it is possible that in a few years our state would rank near the top among the gold-yielding states.

DON'T CROWD.

Don't crowd: this world is large enough
For you as well as me;
The doors of art are open wide,
The realm of thought is free;
Of all earth's places, you are righ:
To choose the best you can,
Provided that you do not try
To crowd some other man.

What matter though you scarce can count
Your piles of golden ore,
While he can hardly strive to keep
Gaunt famine from the door?
Of willing hands and honest hearts
Alone should men be proud!
Then give him all the room he needs,
And never try to crowd.

Don't crowd, proud miss! your dainty silk
Will glisten none the less
Because it comes in contact with
A beggar's tattered dress;
This lovely world was never made
For you and me alone;
A pauper has the right to tread
The pathway to a throne.

Don't crowd the good from out your heart
By fostering all that's bad,
But give to every virtue room—
The best that may be had;
Be each day's record such a one
That you may well be proud;
Give each his right, give each his room,
And never try to crowd.

WHAT DOOLEY SAYS.

Chicago Evening Post: "I've been thinkin' over a piece in this paper here," said Mr. Dooley solemnly.

"What's it all about—th' Sharkey fight?" asked Mr. Hennessy.

"No," said the philosopher, "it's called 'Is pop'lar govermint a failure?' The ma-an says, says he, that it seems impossible f'r to get men to sarve th' people so long as th' ignorant an' unidjacated are allowed to vote 'Whither ar-re we dhriftin'?' says th' la-ad. 'Whither ar-re we dhriftin'?' he says.

"Now, to my way iv thinkin', Hinnissy, this here whither-ar-re-we-dhriftin' boy is wrong. If I had the amindin' iv th' iliction laws I'd make idjactional tests iv th' other kind. I'd allow na wa-an that cud read wurruds iv more than three syllables to vote f'r prisident. Thim that undherstud th' classical languages she'd be barred fr'm votin' f'r congressmin, an' all large property owners, mimbers iv th' Chicago club, deacons iv th' church, presidints iv banks, professors iv colleges, an' high-flyers iv th' Civic Featheration sh'd not be alowed to cast a vote f'r city an' state offices.

"I'll explain mesilf. I'm familiar with th' hishtry iv me counthry. Who was again Lincoln f'r president? Th' rich an' idjacated. They hated him, Hinnissy, an' he was a good man. I was a Douglas Democrat mesilf. That's because I was rich an' idjacated in thim days. I'm broke now an' I've larned a lot. Who was again Grant? Th' rich an' idjacated. They said he was a dhrunk, a common dhrunk, with no idjacation an' bad manners an' smelled iv th' tannery an' was not in their set. Who ilected Tanner? Th' rich an' idjacated. Jawn wasn't rich an' idjacated himsilf whin they took him in, but thanks to their good hearts he's got over wan defect an' he's bein' idjacated in a way that'd make Spike Hennessy think he was in th' third reader.

"No, sir; it's on'y th' poor an' unidjacated that can properly r-run th' counthry. Whin a man gets th' kind iv larnin' they give at a college where they have to hire detectives to prevent la-ads f'm tipping off signals in football games to other colleges an' whin he comes out into the wur-ruld an' finds that it's a chalm to gr-reatness to build up a city be tearin' down th' idee that steadin' is wrong, an' whin he sees our friend Yerkuss as th' most leadin' citizen since—since the Injuns wint away, he's not in a position to chose a prisident or a gov'nor or even an aldherman. He ought to lave th' votin' to those with smaller advantages in the wur-ruld. Th' Lord knows, that's about all th' fun they have these days. Who d'ye think th' la-ads down on Mitchigan bullyvard wud ilict prisident iv the gas trust? Abraham Lincoln?

"Not that th' poor an' unidjacated don't make mistakes in choosin' th' standard-bearer iv th' people, as th' man said that unmarried Jawnny Powers. But that's th' foorce iv a bad example. It's because they see th' r-rich an' idjacated supportin' sthrong ar-rm boys an' dure-mat thieves into th' legislachure an' thin supportin' thim otherwise while they're there. Moralities, as Duffy's son says that's at Saint Ignachius, is a rilitive matter. What's good manners back in th' dumps is bad manners in Ashland avnoo. A Bohemian think nawthin' iv marryin' his grandmother, ub; other people have bethter taste. 'Tis like what me frind Father Kelly said to th' man that come to him to say he'd missed mass. 'Well,' says th' good man, 'if 'twas in th' ol' counthry you'd be excommunicated, but,' he says, 'in parthlue juditchous 'tis another matther, an' I'll lave ye off this time,' he says, 'on'y don't let it happen again.' So it th' poor an' unidjacated live amidh th' thievery an' corruption iv th' r-rich an' idjacated, it's no wondher they decide wanst in awhile to open a till or take a leather. But if th' bad example was taken away f'm thim they'd be all right."

"It isn't pop'lar gover'mint that's failed," said Mr. Hennessy. "'tis unpop'lar."

"Well," said Mr. Dooley, "there's no doubt about th' unpopularity iv th' prisint state governmint. Whether 'tis a failure or not, I dunaw. Father Kelly thinks it is. He says it stands th'ther in Bradstreet's, but in th' books iv th' recordin' angel it's marked 'bankrupt.'"

A BACHELOR'S REFLECTIONS.

New York Press: If Eve had ever tried to work house-cleaning on Adam there wouldn't have been any need of an apple tree.

The main reason why girls like to go to parties and dance with new men is so they can study each man's method.

It isn't every girl that is thoughtful enough to hang up a whisk-broom out on the piazza when she puts up the hammock.

After a girl has once heard that some one has said she had a pensive face she always goes around trying to look sad and grieved.

Some men are so suspicious that whenever their wives are solicitous about their health they think they are wondering what would become of them and life insurance.

Everybody dreams, only some dream truer than others.

The man who teaches a girl to smoke cigarettes remembers Eve.

When a man is really in love every girl's picture looks like one girl.

With the man it's wine, woman and song; with the women it's ice cream soda, men and grand opera.

HOW HE GOT HIS START.

A hale old gentleman with ruddy complexion and a gait that made him out 40 rather than 60 years old, marched along in the Turner procession last week. He was a "passive," but his erect carriage showed that he had been an "active" in his younger days, says the St. Louis Republic.

"See that man," said Billy Kentnor, as he pointed out his friends and acquaintances among the marchers to a coterie of newspaper men who viewed the procession. "He is the president of one of the most prosperous banks in the northwestern part of the state. When he was a little more than 25 he came from New England and landed in Kansas City, when that town experienced its first boomlet. He came from good old Puritan stock, but strict parental authority proved too much and he ran away to carve out his own fortune. When he landed in the city by the Kaw he had on a shaky suit of clothes and a stovepipe hat that had seen better days. He was a modest young fellow, talked like an old man rather than a country youngster and his application at a flourishing bank got him employment in that institution as a roustabout. From the first the cashier of the bank showed a great friendship for the youngster. He talked to him about the advantages of being rich and told him how he had a plan by which he could help him along the road to fortune quicker in one night than it would take twenty years to accumulate. He was going to rob the bank and wanted the New England lad to be his pal. While he worked at his office late at night the young fellow was to come in upon him, throw about the furniture to indicate a struggle, then to bind him, leave a few marks on him and carry away the money to be hidden in the boy's room and divided when the excitement was over.

"Now, some of the boys would have raised a hue and cry, rushed to the president of the bank, only to be denounced and ridiculed by the cashier, who had the confidence of the bank men. The New England boy had better sense than that. He promised to be with the cashier at the appointed time, and he was. He tied him as tight as a sailor could have done, he blacked both his eyes and scratched his face and gave him a drubbing just to show that he was keeping faith with him. Then he went to the president. The president went to the police and together they took care of the cashier. The directors at their next meeting voted the New England lad $5000. It gave him his start in an upward career and formed part of the capital with which he started his prosperous North Missouri bank."

NEW POSTMASTERS.

Six Named on Endorsement of Congressman Morris.

Washington, June 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Congressman Morris secured all the fourth class postmasters appointed today. There were six Republicans named to fill offices now held by Democrats, as follows: Forreston, Mille Lacs county, E. N. Bacon, vice E. E. Price, resigned; Hubbard, Hubbard county, T. A. Cross, vice J. C. Courtney, removed; Pierce, Morrison county, Nick Hennen, vice Joseph Bentfield, removed; Pine City, Pine county, J. G. Breckenridge, vice Susan Shearer, removed; Swanville, Morrison county, T. C. Muske, vice W. J. Sullivan, removed.

The appointment will not be made for some little time. Maj. Baldwin's successor will probably be appointed next.

QUEEN AT WINDSOR.

Aged Ruler is in Very Good Health.

Windsor, Eng., June 17.—Queen Victoria arrived here from Balmoral at 9 o'clock. Thousands of people lined the route from the railroad station to the castle. Her majesty looked the picture of health and repeatedly bowed to the cheering of her subjects.

Her majesty's bright and cheerful aspect when she arrived here gave emphatic contradiction to the story published in a New York newspaper this week that she had become totally blind. In addition it is learned that the queen has personally read numerous documents and programs connected with the jubilee festivities during the past few days, and that within the same time she has with her own hand written frequent corrections and alterations. It is also known that her majesty has recently corrected the proofs of a new book on her reign.

As to her general health, evidence of its being perfectly satisfactory for a woman of her age is furnished in the fact that it was at first arranged that, on returning to the palace on jubilee day, June 2, the order of the procession would be reversed, in order to enable her majesty to return at the earliest possible moment, but she has now decided to keep in the same place along the whole route, thus involving another half an hour of fatigue in the streets.

NEW ORLEANS WHIRLWIND.

New Orleans, June 17.—A little whirlwind occurred yesterday afternoon. It started in one of the public squares, blew the roof off a public market and injured about thirty houses, spending itself in about six squares and hurting nobody seriously. There was a rainstorm over the rest of the city, but no other section felt the terrific wind.

A CINCINNATI MURDER.

Cincinnati, June 17.—The police with the patrol wagon were called to Tim Riordan's saloon at midnight last night where they found Thomas Kinsella bleeding profusely. Riordan said he had fallen in a hemorrhage. Kinsella died. Tim Riordan is under arrest charged with murder. Now he says he shot Kinsella, that he was scuffling with his own brother when his pistol went off and shot Kinsella, who was sitting at a card table.

THE PHILIPPINE REVOLT.

Madrid, June 17.—An official telegram from Manila announces a desperate combat in the Philippine islands against the rebel Gen. Aguinaldo. The Spanish losses were over 100 killed and wounded. The news has caused a profoundly painful impression.

THE MORTGAGE WAS PAID.

When the advertising agent of one of the greatest shows on earth—for in the circus business "greatest" is not a superlative term at all—visited a small town in Kansas last summer he called upon the editor of the local paper and inquired the cost of a double-column display advertisement in the next two issues, says the Chicago Times-Herald.

"Two hundred and eighty dollars," was the reply without a moment's hesitation.

"Great Scott! Are you crazy?" cried the agent. "What would you charge us for a full page?"

"Two hundred and eighty—just the same."

"But how do you figure it?" expostulated the circus man. "Haven't you any settled rate for space advertising?"

"See here, mister," earnestly remarked the editor, "I don't pay any attention to space in this deal, but I do know just what an advertisement in this paper will cost you. You may have a column, or a page, or the whole blamed paper, just as you like. There's a mortgage for $280 on this shop, and your circus has got to help me out with it. If it doesn't I'm a goner, that's all. You move right in here and run the whole shooting match for a couple of weeks to suit yourself, but we've got to ante up $280 before next Saturday night. Now, then, are you a friendly Indian or are you a hostile?"

All the "dates" and extra posters used last season by that show throughout the West were printed in a little one-horse newspaper office in Kansas. The paper is still issued regularly, and its editor shows every evidence that he is at peace with all the world and is prospering.

CLASS DAY

Exercises of the Graduating Class at the High School Last Evening.

History By Miss Gertrude Wallace and Prophecy By W. Hale Horton.

An Indian Legend, "Peace Pipe of the Ojibways" By Miss Scott.

The commencement exercises of the Central High school opened last evening at the Assembly hall with the class day program of the class of '97. The night without was appalling, but within it was pleasant enough, and the signs of the storm did not prove fierce enough to keep away a large crowd of people, though, of course, there would have been more had the weather been more propitious. The exercises were well arranged, and were given in excellent style. The program was admirably made up, and each one who had a place upon it showed that his or her performance was the product of days of study and rehearsals. It was clear all through the evening that the audience was delighted.

The curtain did not rise until nearly 9 o'clock, but when the scene on the stage finally disclosed itself, there were many expressions of delight. The stage had been turned into a wood scene, and low over the heads of the class seated in the center of the stage hung the green boughs of the trees. Across the proscenium arch depended rows of ribbons of yellow and white, the colors of the class. In the center was the class motto, "Semper Parati," with the letters formed of cut flowers. The program was opened with a song by the class, "Alma Mater," a graceful composition by A. F. M. Custance, the musical director of the high school.

Following the "Alma Mater," Gertrude R. Wallace gave the "Class History," written in a bright, entertaining style, and read with good effect. It contained many things which appeared to strike appreciative veins among the pupils, stories about teachers and stories about pupils. It also contained much that was fully appreciated by the audience, and when a reference was plain only to the pupils, the audience smiled in sympathy. "In the fall of 1893," she began, "when nature was putting on its gorgeous dress of autumnal glory, a happy company of girls and boys were gathered in the upper hall of the High School building. Ours is the first class that has spent the full four years in the new building, so to us this magnificent high school peculiarly belongs. Our first year was one of pleasure, and I might say of triumph, for all of the other classes bowed down to our worth and genius. Even the seniors, who had not descended to the juniors, received us as friends and co-mates. Words of wisdom proceeded from our literary society, and we had wonderful picnics and social occasions. Our first class colors were royal purple and gold, but owing to the jealousy of the other classes and out of regard to their feelings, we finally changed them to yellow and white, and chose as our flower the stately marguerite."

AMUSING REMINISCENCES.

Then the historian talked about the teachers, especially of several who began their career in this school during the period covered by the class history. The speaker aroused many amusing reminiscences among her classmates, and considerable laughter in the audience, by the humorous manner in which their trials and tribulations were set forth. Meanwhile, according to the speaker, the studies of the class progressed famously, and it passed them all with flying colors. A number of jokes upon teachers and pupils followed, among others one on certain feminine members of the botany class, whose names were mercifully suppressed. These young people strayed away from the class upon one of its Woodland excursions, and came back in time to see the car with the rest of the class on its way to town. There was only 15 cents in the party, and it was a long way to town. Finally a bright mind suggested that the party board a car and ride until the conductor asked for fares. If they were put off boys to Yale and Harvard, where they naturally covered themselves with glory. The youthful seer gave a lively description of a football game between rival colleges, in which the day was only saved by the prodigious deeds of members of the class of '97. He located other members of the class in business situations, guiding his selection by phases of character peculiar to the members. He also graphically pictured a number of class members lobbying with the members of some future council, of which the historian was a member, to secure the passage of a measure locating a museum for the preservation of the members of the junior class.

AN AIRSHIP TRIP.

The prophet gave a vivid description of a trip in an airship bound for Jupiter. One of the members of the class had discovered that a magnetic current passed between the poles of the two planets, which is capable of transmitting objects with incredible speed. So the discoverer made an airship with which this force might be utilized. One of the members of the class was dressed in the height of the fashion prevailing at that time. "His head was held stiffly aloft by a 4-inch collar," said the seer, "over which he cast admiring and complacent glances at the daintily fringed trousers which dangled over his thin, high-heeled boots. Who would ever have supposed that Cecil Martin would have turned out that way? And Paul Garrison was to establish a tailor shop on Jupiter to keep his old friend Cecil in his wonderful lace-fringed trousers." The motor is started, and the ship dashes away. But a couple of members of the class whom the seer has very accommodatingly united in matrimonial bonds, arrive just too late. The husband bids the airship return, and perforce it obeys the stentorian voice of the great tragedian, John Doran."

The prophet described several members of the class associated with the greatest newspaper of the future, "The Amazonian War Cry," of which one of the members is editress-in-chief. The prophecy concluded with the wholesale destruction of half the class by drowning while enjoying a cruise on the Red sea. He allowed the dead members the comfort of becoming spirits and gather with the remainder of the class on a planet set aside for its especial benefit.

Miss Dora Swan sang Pinsuti's "Queen of the Earth" in charming style. Her voice is clear, full and sympathetic, and she displayed excellent control of all its capabilities. She was obliged to respond to an encore.

Ruth Scott gave "The Peace Pipe of the Ojibways," an Indian legend in verse in the Longfellow "Hiawatha" style, illustrated by tableaux. The composition was a very creditable one. A pretty Indian tale is told in the fascinating versification of Hiawatha, full of charming descriptions characterized by great felicity of expression. The delivery of the young poetress was excellent. The opening lines were as follows:

"Oh, ye people of the Northlands,
Dwellers by the Gitchie Gumee,
Listen to these Indian legends;
To these stories of a people.
Hear these curious ancient records
Of Iyu Lyth, the friend and cousin
To the noble-hearted Tauuty.
Listen how this brave explorer
Found a new and glorious country,
Wonderland and mystic waters
Where the spirits used to gather.
Listen to these truthful stories
Of the peace pipe of the Ojibways.
Of the peace pipe, small but mighty,
Which a water spirit fashioned."

Continuing, the verse speaks of how the strength of the peace pipe changed the Ojibway nation;

"Changed their hearts
And made them better."

It tells how, thousands of moons ago, powerful water spirits lived within the upper valleys of Gitchie Gumee, and danced their weird war dances on the shores of Spirit island to the music of the waves and the answering wail of pine trees. The turbulent spirits fought much, mounted on their steeds, the waves. One day Gitchie Nebenawbaig, ruler of the spirits of the water, broke off a fragment of red clay, moistened it with water, and moulded it into the peace pipe. As he sat and smoked it the smoke arose in clouds, and he smoked many times until at last the spirits ceased from fighting. Then came the Ojibway chieftain, and he was so affected by the magic pipe that he told the water spirit that it should be placed higher than the war club, and that peace "should be greater glory than the war scalps of the treacherous Dacotahs." The chief and his warriors smoked it, and the nation was won to peace. The great Indian nation dwelt for many years at the head of Gitchie Gumee until the days of the Chief Wegooch. From an expedition against the Dacotahs he had brought back instead of scalps the beautiful Winona as his wife. Winona died, leaving her more beautiful daughter Ocelia.

The verses, in charming style, tell of the wanderings of the Indian maiden through the woods, where the arbutus grows, until she met a party of white men, the voyageur Du Lhut and his followers. They protested friendship, and Ocelia led them to her father, who bade them welcome. Little Thunder, Ocelia's Indian lover, looked upon the white men jealously, and in council sought to incite the warriors against them. Wegooch was puzzled, but Ocelia spoke for peace, and Du Lhut and the Indian chieftain smoked the peace pipe in friendship. This pretty story of the first visit of the white men to the site of Duluth sounded much prettier in flowing verse ornamented with graceful fancies and charming descriptions, and it was warmly received by the audience.

TABLEAUX IN COSTUME.

The tableaux were given in costume, and they represented the most striking of the scenes of the legend. In the first there was a group of Ojibways with their chief as a central figure, holding above them the peace pipe. The second tableau represented Wegooch telling Ocelia of her mother, Winona. The next showed Ocelia protecting her pet fawn from the white men. The fourth pictured the white men presenting her with beads and mirrors, and the next showed Wegooch's welcome to the white men. The Indians' council and final smoking of the peace pipe concluded the series.

When the legend had been told and the pictures concluded, the class assembled upon the stage, and Eby Gridley, the president, presented the peace pipe to Earl Jamison, president of the junior class, accompanying it with an address. After speaking of the attachments formed through four years of school life, he said:

"But we do not realize how dear our school life is to us until we are near its close. Tonight our hearts are filled with sadness at the thought that we are leaving this building never to meet again as a class. The bonds of class friendship, especially during this senior year, have grown stronger than in most high schools because of the harmony which has always existed among us, the harmony symbolized by this pipe and illustrated by this beautiful Indian legend.

"Discussions have arisen at times during class meetings and in the heat of debate we have been carried beyond peaceful argument. Then some classmate or whom the sweet spirit of Ocelia has descended would beseech us to listen more calmly to the opinions of others and to be more charitable in the expression of our views. Under this influence our opinions would melt into each other and our final decision would be firmer and more comprehensive because of the many sources from which it was formed. The class of '97, hoping that this symbol of peace and concord, which has been such a boon to us, will continue to exercise its gentle influence on you and on all other classes to which it may be handed down, presents this pipe to the class of '98."

With an appropriate address the junior class president received the pipe, bidding the class of '97 Godspeed through life. The exercises closed with the singing of the class song by the class. Tonight the graduating exercises will be held, and the following program will be given:

FOUR BOXES DID IT.

Remarkable Success of a New Pile Cure.

People who have suffered for years or months from the pain and inconvenience of that common disorder, piles, will look with skepticism upon the claims of the maker of the new discovery for cure of all forms of piles, known under the name of Pyramid Pile Cure; nevertheless the extraordinary cures performed by this remedy are such as to warrant the investigation of any sufferer. As a case in point the following letter speaks for itself

Mr. Henry Thomas of sub-station No. 3, Hosuck avenue, Columbus, Ohio, writes as follows:

Pyramid Drug Company:

Gentlemen: I want you to use my name if it will be of any use to you. I was so bad with the piles that I lost work on that account. Nothing did me any good. I read in Cincinnati of the many cures of piles by the Pyramid Pile Cure and I went to a drug store and asked for it. The drug clerk told me he had something else that he thought was better, but I told him I wanted to try the Pyramid first.

The first box helped me so much that I tried another and then to complete the cure used two more boxes making four in all. I am now completely cured. Have not a trace of piles and I had suffered for four years with the worst form of protruding piles.

I suffered death from piles, but I have found the Pyramid Pile Cure to be just as represented. I have recommended it to several of my friends and I am thankful to be able to write you what good the remedy has done for me."

Physicians recommend the Pyramid Pile Cure because it contains no opium, cocaine, or mineral poison of any kind and because it is so safe and pleasant to use, being painless and applied at night. The patient is cured in a surprisingly short time with no inconvenience whatever.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents per package, and if there is any constipation it is well to use the Pyramid pills at the same time with the Pile Cure, as constipation is very often the cause of piles and the pills effectually remove the costive condition. Price of pills is 25 cents per package.

Write to Pyramid Drug company, Albion, Mich., for little book on cause and cure of piles; sent by mail free.

Saturday's Excursion.

The ladies of the Duluth Home society feel confident that the bad weather which prevails now will clear up by Saturday and give a fine day for the Christopher Columbus excursion. The boat will go rain or shine, but the trip will, of course, be more pleasant if the day is a fine one. The Duluth City band will accompany the party and furnish music throughout the day. The scenery along the route the boat will take is beautiful and the trip will be a delightful one. There will be dancing for those who wish it and refreshments will be served on the boat. The boat will leave West Superior at 9 a. m., and Duluth at 9:30 a. m., and will reach Duluth on the return trip at 9 p. m. A number of the teachers in the schools will remain here over Saturday to make the trip. The price of tickets for the trip is $1; children at half price.

Mr. Baker to Sing.

The meeting will be held in the Grand Central palace. The program on Monday afternoon, June 28, will be rendered by ten musicians, and the tenor soloist will be Mark C. Baker, formerly of this city.

EMIL OLUND REMOVED.

L. M. Willcuts Appointed Collector of the Port.

The dispatches from Washington bring the news that Emil Olund, collector of the port of Duluth has been removed and L. M. Willcuts appointed in his place. The announcement was a decided surprise to Mr. Olund and to people in general. No charges were filed against him so far as known and it is not probable that any were filed.

Collector Olund's four years of service would have expired on May 14 next year. He had supposed in view of what was given out as the policy of the administration—to let officeholders serve out their four years—that he would not be molested. The removal is somewhat conspicuous too, from the fact that it is almost the first made in the state, above fourth class postmasterships. Just what this means some of the officeholders cannot figure out in their minds. One prominent Democrat gave it as his opinion today that within a short time every federal officeholder in Duluth not under the civil service laws would be removed. Some time ago it was unofficially given out in Washington that all collectors of ports might be removed before the new tariff bill goes into effect so that officials friendly to the administration's revenue bill could be placed in office. Possibly the removal is along this line.

The removal of Collector Olund also means undoubtedly that Chief Deputy A. L. Hudson will go. All of the other employes under Mr. Olund come under the civil service rules.

All of the congressmen concerned were united in their support of Mr. Willcuts, which easily explains the quickness with which the appointment was secured. His application and endorsements were filed only a few days ago. That he will be speedily confirmed is certain. The appointment comes to Mr. Willcuts as a reward for party service and he undoubtedly has earned it. That he is thoroughly capable everyone will admit, and the appointment will undoubtedly be generally commended. Mr. Olund has made a good collector and has maintained a high standard of efficiency in the office.

ST. CLEMENTS SCHOOL.

Closing Exercises Were Given Last Evening.

The commencement exercises of St. Clement's school took place last evening in St. Clement's hall at Twenty-first avenue west and Third street, in the presence of a large audience. The program was an interesting one, the numbers being all excellently rendered.

Among the features were a recitation by Master John Callahan entitled "John Maynard," a recitation by Master Charles Nolan entitled "Bernardo del Carpio," and a humorous lecture by Harold Phillips. The opening number was a song "Bright Be Each Heart" by the whole school; a chorus, "Clap, Clap, Hurrah; a duet, "The Happy Little Wife," by Harold and Ethel Phillips and a song by Mary Kieserling, which was followed by a tableau. A piano duet was rendered by Laura Nelson and Cecilia Grimes, Miss Deborah Heffern was accompanist for the vocal selections. There was a well executed military drill by the boys and a rainbow drill by the girls. The exercises closed with an operetta "A Day in the Woods."

ARTHUR AVENUE CROSSING.

J. L. Washburn Replies For the Northern Pacific.

The Arthur avenue fight was taken up before Judge Cant yesterday afternoon, and Henry F. Greene concluded his argument in behalf of the Duluth Street Railway company. J. L. Washburn then arose to answer his arguments. He read the complaint, dissecting it as he went along. He took exception to the innocent manner in which the street railway company described the happening of June 7. He said that a "mob, with the mayor, who had been promised the opportunity of making a speech at the opening of the bridge, at its head, went to the Arthur avenue crossing like thieves in the night and tore up the tracks." He submitted that this was lawlessness and that lawlessness was lawlessness even though it be committed by a man with brass buttons, or by a man on whose breast was inscribed "I am the only pebble on the beach."

The case was not resumed today, but was adjourned until Tuesday, owing to Judge Cant having gone to St. Paul.

AN ORE BASIN FIGHT.

The old bed of the lake contains 15,000,000 tons of ore and the value of the property in litigation is several millions.

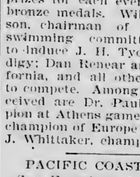
MANY SICK BABIES.

Food Unfitted to Conditions of June Weather.

Stomachs Overwhelmed By an Indigestible Diet.

Immediate Cause of So Much Diarrhoea and Cholera Infantum.



Every close, lifeless heated spell of weather this summer will be another crisis in babies' lives.

Hot weather predisposes the child's digestion to be easily disordered by unsuitable food. But it is always the diet that is the directly exciting cause of cholera infantum. Babies taking their food heartily and thriving on it are never seriously affected by the hottest days or nights.

The whole problem of keeping baby well during the heated season narrows itself down to a question of a simple, nutritious, absolutely pure diet, not too bulky nor difficult for the child's powers of digestion. This diet is unquestionably lactated food.

Lactated food solves the problem of keeping very young children well nourished and healthy at all seasons.

"In looking over my cases of summer diarrhoea for the past few days," says Dr. Holt, physician to the New York infant asylum, "I find that in more than 400 of these cases the exciting cause was improper feding."

Babies often become so weakened by faulty nutrition during the summer that they grow listless, hardly hold up their heads and take little notice of things about them. Time and time again has lactated food been given to these little pining infants to the immense gratification of parents. It takes but a short time for the splendid food to brighten the dull eyes and to make a romping, noisy, plump baby that was but a little while before a thin, pitiable, white-faced child, and a source of extreme anxiety to its parents.

Countless mothers now sleep soundly, knowing their precious charges are safe when fed regularly on lactated food. No mother with a sickly child should delay putting it on a vigorous diet of lactated food. It means a strong, healthy child, in place of a weakling. Read this letter from Mrs. E. Lanore Eggleston, 1695 Pennsylvania avenue, Minneapolis:

"I have found lactated food indispensable in promoting the health of my baby girl. I have allowed myself once or twice to get out of the food, but in a day or so baby's bowels would become all out of order. I would again begin giving her lactated food, and without the aid of medicine she would get well. I consider it the perfect food for babies."

CHAMPION SWIMMING RACES.

Chicago, June 17.—The Chicago Athletic association will hold the next national swimming championship meet of the American Athletic union on July 3 in Lincoln park lagoon, Chicago. There will be five championship races, distances, 100 yards, 220 yards, quarter-mile, half-mile and mile, with three prizes for each event, gold, silver and bronze medals. William Hale Thompson, chairman of the championship swimming committee, is endeavoring to induce J. H. Tyers, England's prodigy; Dan Renear and Brewer, of California, and all other crack swimmers to compete. Among entries already received are Dr. Paul Neumann, champion at Athens games in 1896; F. Kniese, champion of Europe in 1893, and George J. Whittaker, champion of America.

PACIFIC COAST WHEELMEN.

San Francisco, June 17.—One of the principal objects of the California Associated cyclists, that of forming a vast affiliation of Pacific coast wheelmen, extending from Mexico to British Columbia, is about accomplished, and within a few days the association expects to be able to officially announce that the governing body of the cyclists in Mexico has recognized the association. The British Columbia wheelmen are waiting to learn whether or not the California Associated cyclists really control racing in this state before accepting affiliation. With recognition from these two important bodies, it is said that representatives from both will come to California to participate in the big meets that are projected, and these gatherings of the men of the wheel partake as much of an international character as any meet held under the auspices of the League of American Wheelmen.

IN THE DAKOTAS.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Court at Williamsport has adjourned till July 12, when the trial of the second alleged Spicer murderer, George Defender, will come up. Defender will attempt to prove an alibi. He insists that he was forty miles from the place of the murder at the time it was committed. The two Indian boys, Holy Track and Philip Ireland, both declare that Defender assisted in the murder, and that his special task was the killing of the two innocent babes in the house. So far the public is not aware as to what corroborative testimony the state can offer in addition to the story of these two Indian boys. But they say that they have conclusive testimony.

Two prisoners made their escape from the county jail at Grafton by going through the ventilator in the roof. They just got out ahead of their trials. Their names were Tony Smith and A. Arnott. They had been jailed for violating the liquor law. It was Arnott's second appearance, and if found guilty he would have gone to Bismarck.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Land Commissioner Lockhart will not place filings for the state on the Fort Randall lands, says a Pierre dispatch. Under the act granting it to the state he must file on all of it or none. He has thoroughly gone over the tract, and while there is some good land on it, there is such a large percentage of rough land that he does not consider it for the best interest of the state to take so much practically worthless land to secure that which is good. The state has until July 1 in which to make its filings, but will not attempt to secure title. This will give the land to settlers, who will be allowed to file as soon as the time limit granted to the state has expired. The land commissioner has gone to Nebraska, where he will work on his immigration scheme to secure settlers for the lands which the state has at its disposal, and incidentally preach the gospel of South Dakota in any section, whether the state holds any lands in the location asked about or not.

The compositors of the Sioux Falls Press, the leading Populist paper of the state, struck Tuesday night because of the repeated failures of the company to pay wages as agreed. The business manager of the Press is a man who has fought the Typographical union for three years.

REBUTTAL

The Merritts Present Their Further Testimony in the Harris Case.

Lon Merritt Claims They Never Approved the Quo Warranto Proceedings.

Col. Harris Explains the Payment of Dividends on the Stock.

In the Merritt-Harris case yesterday afternoon Col. Harris continued to testify, and he explained the statement by Alfred Merritt that all the dividends on the stock in litigation were turned over to him. He said that the reason the dividends were paid to Alfred Merritt was because the witness had loaned him 400 shares of stock to help him out on an indebtedness which it was feared would throw Alfred into a receivership if it were pressed. This would have injured the suit. The stock was transferred to a Mr. Betts, of Pennsylvania, who advanced the money to pay off the indebtedness. When the witness wanted Betts paid a large dividend was due, and as there was no ready money on hand the dividend was used to release the stock and to pay Betts. It was understood that Merritt was to repay this money. It was not unusual for the witness and Alfred Merritt to help each other out in that manner. The loan was never repaid though Mr Merritt had stated that he would pay it.

J. F. Eby and E. C. Gridley both testified that Alfred Merritt told them that he owned but fourteen shares of Security stock and that Col. Harris owned a large block of it, and Mr. Eby testified that he hoped Col. Harris would make a good thing out of it.

An objection to the testimony of J. W. Reynolds, who was the Merritts' attorney before they entered into a compact with the Harrises, was sustained on the ground that it would disclose the confidential relations of attorney and client.

On direct examination Henry E. Harris corroborated his father, especially as to the division of the stock between them. On cross-examination he was asked if he had not collected $50,000 life insurance for Mrs. C. C. Merritt and if the work was not outside of the contract. He said that he had collected the money, but that it was under the contract and he had not received a dollar of the money in fees. He said that a part of the money had not been turned over to Mrs. Merritt, but was held out by the insurance agent because before the death of C. C. Merritt the policy had been transferred from C. C. Merritt to the C. C. Merritt estate.

REBUTTAL TAKEN UP.

This morning, after calling Alfred Merritt for a brief cross-examination, the defense rested, and the plaintiffs recalled A. B. Merritt in rebuttal. He testified about the occasion when he with others began to withdraw the business of the Merritts from the Harrises. They called several times to get papers, and finally Col. Harris said that he would not give them up unless he could get $25,000 in cash. He also made threats that he would throw some suits of theirs which were pending if he did not get the money. On cross-examination the witness admitted that the next day after one of the demands were made Col. Harris argued a case in court for them at his request. Finally Col. Harris proposed a settlement, but he wanted to wait until Henry got back from New York, as he kept the accounts. They found out soon after that the Harrises were about to dispose of the stock, so they did not wait for the settlement, but began this suit.

George W. Buck, treasurer of the Security company, was placed on the stand and testified that the average value of the stock was about $29, and that it was sometimes higher and sometimes lower.

Roswell H. Palmer testified that on one occasion he was in Col. Harris' office, and Col. Harris told him that he did not know how the argument of the Rockefeller case in the court of appeals would come out, but that they had some security stock as collateral, and it would carry them a long way. On cross-examination he admitted that he was closely associated with the Merritts and had been for years. He said that no one else was in the office at the time Col. Harris made the remark credited to him, but he admitted that several others had been in the office just before that. He also admitted that there had been some discussion as to the payment of certain fees for services in the Rathbun case.

M. M. Clark testified that when they went to Col. Harris to get the Merritt papers the colonel became excited and demanded $25,000 in cash for the papers. He said: "You want to break with me. I have been suspecting it for a long time. You can't afford to break with me. I know too much about you." He spoke also of pending suits and said that if they did not pay him they would not get the papers, and if they did not have the papers they could not win the Lone Jack suit, which was then pending. Later he said that $25,000 was his ultimatum and he would not change it. Cross-examined he admitted that he had long been associated with the Merritts' as Leonidas Merritt's secretary.

Leonidas Merritt was recalled and testified that when Col. Harris went to Cleveland he did not authorize him to settle the claims against Rockefeller for any specific amount, in fact there was no mention of a compromise. Witness said that when Col. Harris came back from Cleveland he said that Virgil P. Klein had tried to bribe him indirectly by speaking about $100,000 and a trip to Europe, which Mr. Klein said would be a good thing for Col. Harris. He never heard before of the letter from Mr. Klein speaking of a settlement of the barge case, and when Col. Harris went to Cleveland there was no talk of the barge case.

In relation to the quo warranto proceedings to which Col. Harris testified yesterday, the witness stated that the Merritt family never approved of them, and that the witness never heard of them until Col. Harris took him to St. Paul for the purpose of introducing Col. Harris to Attorney General Childs. He did not know what the visit was for till the papers were produced in the attorney general's office.

He decled that the stock was given to the Harrises as compensation for their services. He was still on the stand at noon. The case is drawing near the end, and will probably go to the jury sometime tomorrow.

At 3 o'clock the evidence was all in and the arguments to the jury had been begun.

THE MINING ENGINEERS.

Plans Being Made For Their Meeting Here.

Professor F. W. Denton, of the University of Minnesota, has been in the city this week working with George D. Swift, secretary and treasurer of the Lake Superior Consolidated Iron mines on a pamphlet descriptive of the mines on the Minnesota ranges for distribution among the members of the American Institute of Mining Engineers on their visit to Duluth, Wednesday, July 11. Besides accurate descriptive matter concerning the different mines, the book will contain a fine colored map showing the location of every mine that is or has been shipping ore. In addition to these features it will contain the itinerary of the party.

Mr. Swift is in receipt of a letter from Dr. David T. Day, of the United States geologica' survey at Washington, who has charge of the Eastern arrangements for the excursion of the institute in which it is stated that there will be 175 persons in the party. On arriving in Duluth Wednesday morning the engineers will proceed at once on their trip over the ranges and will make no stop in this city until their return.

Mrs. Shesler asks for absolute divorce and an order giving her her maiden name of Bennett. H. R. Tinkham is her attorney.

IS VICE PRESIDENT.

W. J. Olcott Succeeds J. T. McBride in That Capacity.

At a special meeting of the directors of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railroad company, held in this city last Saturday, John T. McBride resigned the position of first vice president and William J. Olcott was elected to succeed him. Mr. McBride still continues with the company as general manager, which position he has held in connection with first vice presidency. There has as yet been no official circular issued defining the respective duties of Mr. Olcott and Mr. McBride and until it is printed the importance and scope of the change cannot be announced. Both Mr. Olcott and Mr. McBride are out of the city making a tour of the road.

HAS BEEN SETTLED.

Case Against Hobart and Jane Doe Adjusted.

The case against H. G. Hobart and a well-known East End lady, whose name appears in the proceedings as "Jane Doe," who were charged with unlawfully destroying a horse belonging to William Fox, has, it is said, been practically settled. The husband of the lady, accompanied by a county official, drove in the rain out to Fox's place yesterday and effected a peace. It is rumored that the anxious husband offered to buy the horse, the pigs and the whole farm if the prosecution should be dropped. It is said that Hobart and the party who went with him both assert that Fox not only gave them permission to shoot the horse, but showed them where to take it. They claim that the only person really injured is Humane Officer Haskins, whose feelings were hurt because of the infringement on his prerogatives.

Pool Players Quarrel.

Three pool players in the Spalding hotel billiard room got into a row last night, becoming so obstreperous that the police were called in and the combatants were taken to the station in the patrol wagon. The hotel management refused to make a complaint, it being desired only to get the men out of the house. No names were given, but it is said that one of the three is a bartender in a Duluth saloon and the others are from outside of Duluth.

The Weyerhaueser Party.

The Weyerhaueser party's special train arrived in Duluth at 3 o'clock this morning and left at 4 o'clock over the Northern Pacific for Little Falls. While at Cloquet yesterday afternoon the rain poured down in torrents and the excursionists were unable to see as much of the Weyerhaueser plant there as they wished. When they arrived at the Mahoning mine, however, there was a temporary let-up in the storm and they had an opportunity of seeing the workings of steam shovel ore mining.

Senate Making Rapid Progress With the Schedules of the Dingley Bill.

Controversy Over the Tariff on Wrapper Tobacco Settled By Compromise.

Senate Tackles the Flax, Hemp and Jute Schedule ---Vest's Remarks.

Washington, June 18.—The progress made with the tariff bill during the past few days has encouraged many senators to believe that the bill will be completed sooner than generally anticipated. There is a fair understanding between the Republican senators and their Democratic opponents that the bill will not be delayed in any manner by extended speeches made for the purpose of delay. The senate seems anxious to get away as soon as possible. The Democrats will not come to any agreement as to fixing times for certain schedules to be considered, or to limit the time in any manner until there can be a definite understanding as to the intention of the Republicans concerning the proposed monetary commission which, it is said, the rest will recommend before the adjournment of congress.

Senators who are in charge of the opposition to the bill served notice on some Republican senators that if there should be an attempt to pass a bill for a monetary commission, or if the Democrats became convinced that it was the intention to bring forward such a measure, the debate on the tariff bill might be prolonged indefinitely. They were willing to allow the tariff bill to go through, with their protests against the increased rates, but they do not want to consider the commission bill at this session.

Whether this will have any effect upon the program of the Republicans has not yet been determined, but the desire of the Republicans to get the tariff bill through and get away from Washington may result in postponing any proposed action until next December. It has been pointed out that there will be great difficulty in retaining a quorum here after the tariff bill has been passed, and that among other considerations may result in an informal understanding that the tariff will be the only important question to be considered at this session of congress.

Already there is talk of consideration of the tariff bill in conference. The Republican members of the ways and means committee are noting the changes in the bill from day to day and are preparing themselves to consider the bill in conference with the least possible delay. The committee has not acted as a body, so nothing can be said as to the determination of the house members on any particular schedule. The controversy over the rate of duty on wrapper tobacco, which has been in progress ever since the tariff bill was taken up in the senate was settled today so far as the Republican members of the finance committee could settle it, by agreeing upon the rate of $1.75 per pound. This is a compromise rate. The growers of wrapper leaf wanted a rate of $2, while the manufacturers asked that the rate should not exceed $1.50. The committee has held many meetings to consider the question, but as both sides were very persistent in pressing their claims, no decision was reached till today.

Owing to the interest in the Hawaiian annexation treaty, Mr. Davis, of Minnesota, secured an agreement for the printing of 5000 copies of the treaty and other documents.

The consideration of the tariff bill was then resumed at schedule J, relating to flax, hemp and jute and manufactures thereof. Mr. Vest, of Missouri, made a test contest at the outset, moving to strike out the first paragraph, flax straw, at $5 per ton. He said the whole flax schedule was based on the idea that we could produce the flax, but he denied this. Ireland was the only country in which the flax for linen could be successfully produced, and he declared that the Minnesota flax had not proved satisfactory. The amendment was rejected, 18 to 28, Mr. McEnery voting with the Republicans.

Mr. Allison, in charge of the bill, withdrew the senate amendment on flax not hackled or dressed, leaving the house rate of 1 cent per pound stand. He also withdrew the committee amendment on dressed flax, leaving the house rate of 3 cents.

"It is evident," remarked Mr. Jones, of Arkansas, that all the committee reductions are to be abandoned, and the chairman might as well move to accept the higher house rates in bulk."

ITALIAN NAVAL DEBATE.

Rome, June 18.—In the chamber of deputies today, during the debate on the naval estimates, Signor Santini urged that the flying squadron be chiefly employed for the protection of Italian commerce in North and South America. Signor Farina dissented from this view of the duties of the squadron, declaring it to be a grave mistake to suppose that differences with the American republics could be decided by force. Admiral Brin, minister of marine, agreed that Italian naval manifestations on a large scale in American ports would imperil Italian subjects, but, he pointed out, it was useful to send single vessels into American waters on certain occasions.

THEY WANT TO AFFILIATE.

Altoona, Pa., June 18.—At this morning's session of the miners' convention it was resolved to affiliate with some national labor organization. The Knights of Labor was suggested, but the decision was postponed until after the federation of check weigh funds shall have been accomplished. The convention claims to represent 25,000 miners.

JURY DISAGREED.

Alderman Dickinson Not Convicted of Boodling.

Minneapolis, June 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The jury which has been sitting in the case of Alderman C. E. Dickinson, charged with accepting a bribe from the Penny Press for securing the contract for city printing, reported its inability to agree this morning, and was discharged after being out forty hours.

BARNATO'S RELATIVES.

Here is one Who is in a Penitentiary.

Buffalo, June 18.—Samuel, Barnett, who is serving a sentence in the Erie county penitentiary for assault, declares he is the brother of Barney Barnato, the South African diamond king who committed suicide recently by jumping overoard from a steamer. Roland Barnett, of Montreal, who has also claimed that he was a brother of the diamond king, he says is his brother, and the Chicago woman calling herself Alice Esther he believes to be his sister Alice Esther Barnett, who went to Africa several years after Barney had established himself there, to keep house for him.

A NOVEL CASE.

Private Soldiers Imprisoned For Making a Request.

Omaha, Neb., June 18.—W. R. Patrick has been called to Fort Crook to obtain if possible by legal process the release of five enlisted men who had been sentenced to thirty days in the guard house for mutiny. According to the story told by the soldiers who came up and engaged the services of the attorney, the privates were detailed a few days ago to proceed to the house of their company commander and clean it from top to bottom. The work was performed under protest and when completed the men requested the privilege of laying their alleged grievances before the commanding officer of the post.

This request, it is claimed, was refused by the company commander, who sent all the men to the guard house. They were tried by the post court martial and sentenced to thirty days in the guard house and to forfeit $10 pay. The men are all of Company D, Twenty-second Infantry. It is the intention of the attorney to commence habeas corpus proceedings in the federal court in order to obtain the release of his clients. The privates at Fort Crook are much excited over the affair.

COLLINS MAY DIE.

Preparations Being Made For Martin Ensley's Defense.

St. Louis, June 18.—Charles D. Collins, the Tennessee horseman, who was brutally beaten and robbed at Merrimac highlands is still in a critical condition as the result of fourteen wounds on his head. Dr. Pittman believes that his patient's condition would improve should the weather become cooler, but at present he says the chances of recovery are not so bright as they were Wednesday.

Preparations are being made for Martin Ensley's defense. His sister, who is the wife of J. H. P. Hodgson, United States navy, has engaged Lee Merriwether, late state labor commissioner, by wire, and instructed him to spare no expense in the way of hiring detectives and running down clews. The intimate friends whom Martin Ensley has in St. Louis do not believe in his guilt. One of these friends said: "The defense believes it can be proven that Collins did not have $6000 in his pockets. He possibly had that much Thursday morning, but evidence is already coming to light that he lost a large sum at the fair grounds that afternoon. Detectives have been engaged to locate where the hammer was bought and they think that may throw some light on the mystery."

Ensley is held in jail at Clayton, Mo., no one having volunteered to go on a $6000 bond for him.

OHIO SENATORSHIP.

Republican Chairman Not Sure of Re-election.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 18.—The Republican primary election for the endorsement of M. A. Hanna for senator, was one of the most bitterly contested primaries in the history of the city. A factional fight between the Foraker forces, represented by Mayor McKisson, and the Hanna forces had been precipitated. In order to concentrate their strength the Hanna forces had placed a legislative slate in the field. This slate was broken by the Foraker men, but the legislative delegation nomination will, however, vote for Mr. Hanna for United States senator, if elected next November.

EDWARDS NOT GUILTY.

Washington, June 18.—The jury, under orders from the court, this afternoon brought in a verdict of not guilty in the case of E. J. Edwards, New York, correspondent of the Philadelphia Press, on trial for contempt of the senate sugar trust investigating committee. The ground was that Edwards never had been legally summoned. District Attorney Davis gave notice that he would call up the case of Brokers Macartney and Seymour, the last of the recusant witnesses, on Monday next.

PHILADELPHIA CRICKETERS WIN.

Brighton, Eng., June 18.—Sussex cricketers were all out today for 252 runs in their second inning, giving them a grand total of 298 for both innings. The Americans having scored 216 runs in their first innings, have only 83 runs to make in their second inning to win the match. The gentlemen of Philadelphia won the match by eight wickets.

AMERICAN TOBACCO CASE.

New York, June 18.—The trial of the officers of the American Tobacco company indicted for alleged conspiracy under the anti-trust law of this state, was resumed today. Theodore E. Allen was recalled by the prosecution and asked again concerning his suit against the defendants at the time of the formation of the so-called trust for commissions earned, as alleged, in bringing the companies together. He declared that all differences had since been amicably adjusted, and that he has now on good terms with all of them.

LOGAN

Monument to the Dead Soldier Statesman to Be Unveiled in Chicago

Governors of Nearly All the States With Staffs Will Attend.

Great Civic and Military Display Will Mark the Occasion.

Chicago, June 18.—Twenty governors of as many different states in the Union have signified their intention to be in Chicago at the unveiling of the Logan monument on July 22. It is said that at least two-thirds of the other governors to whom invitation have been sent will accept and make Logan day the occasion of one of the most notable assemblies of state executives in the history of Chicago.

Those who have signified their intention of being here on that day are: Alabama, J. F. Johnston; California, J. H. Budd; Connecticut, Lorrin A. Cooke; Florida, W. D. Bloxham; Georgia, W. Y. Atkinson; Iowa, F. N. Drake; Idaho, F. Steunenberg; Maryland, Lloyd Lowndes; Massachuetts, Roger Wolcott; Minnesota, D. M. Clough; Montana, Lieutenant Governor A. E. Spriggs, representing Governor Robert B. Smith; North Dakota, F. A. Briggs; New Hampshire, George A. Ramsdell; New Jersey, John W. Griggs; Oklahoma, C. M. Barnes; Oregon, William P. Lord; Pennsylvania, D. H. Hastings; Rhode Island, Elisha Dwyer; South Dakota, Andrew E. Lee; Virginia, Josiah Grant; Washington, J. R. Rogers.

It will not only be the most representative, but by far the most picturesque, for the state executives will come attired in all the pomp and circumstance of war, accompanied by their staffs in full uniform. With the 7000 troops from the the Illinois National Guard, the regiments of regulars from Fort Sheridan and other army posts in the West, the Grand Army posts from all over the Northwest, the militia from the other states and the miscellaneous organizations the parade on Logan day will be a memorable event.

The question of President McKinley coming has been settled by a letter from Washington which unofficially declared the president and cabinet would be in Chicago on Logan day.

CURRENCY COMMISSION.

Will Not Be Appointed During This Session.

Washington, June 18.—It appears to be well settled that no effort will be made by the president to secure authority for the appointment of a currency commission at this session of congress. Until within a week or so the president had believed such a measure might be passed in the closing days of congress, while the two houses were in conference on the tariff bill. But the president is now advised by the Republican leaders in the senate that it would be useless to present this question. The silver senators, it is said, have decided to oppose any such measure, and they could easily bring about considerable delay.

Unless some change comes in the situation the president will be compelled, reluctantly, to permit this important matter to go over to next winter.

WALKS ON WATER.

Robert Cook will Travel From Pittsburg to Boston.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 18.—Robert Cook, of Boston, is in Pittsburg arranging to perform the remarkable feat of walking from Pittsburg to Cincinnati on water, a distance of 400 miles. Cook is the inventor of a pair of shoes by which he can walk on water. He claims that with the use of them he can make as good time as a man walking along an asphalt street.

While in Chicago a few days ago this was questioned. Cook offered to wager $1000 that he would walk a distance of 400 miles in fourteen days and do it easily. This was quickly taken up by John Leopold. The start will be made from the Sixth street bridge in this city on Sept. 1 at noon. He will be accompanied by a small steam launch.

HISTORICAL LANDMARKS.

Quincy, Mass., June 18.—The birthplaces of Presidents John and John Quincy Adams have been reopened to the public. The John Adams house is in charge of Adams chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, and the Quincy Historical society has undertaken the work of preserving the John Quincy Adams home. Both of the old houses have been refurnished to correspond to old colonial times.

IRON FURNACES RESUME.

Youngstown, O., June 18.—Within a short time three furnaces in the Mahoning valley, which have been out of blast for some time, will resume. They are the Struthers furnace at Struthers; the Andrews Brothers & Co.'s furnace, and the furnace of the Youngstown Steel company, of this city. The Andrews and Hitchcock furnace at Hubbard resumed operations Tuesday.

PARIS' DAILY BOMB FIND.

Paris, June 18.—The Soliel says that a fresh bomb was discovered at 10:30 this morning at the corner of the Boulevard St. Denis and the Rue St. Denis. The find in other quarters is declared to be only a harmless hoax.

COMPLIMENT FOR TAYLOR.

Madrid, June 18.—The official Epoca, commenting on the retirement of Hannis Taylor, United States minister to Spain, says: "Mr. Taylor has largely contributed to maintain the good relations (between the United States and Spain) and he will leave the best impression here."

Love's young dream is one that fills the heart with intensest joy. Sometimes the happy dream is realized. Frequently, it is not. In many cases loving young couples fall short of true married happiness because of the ill-health of the young wife. A woman who is tortured by pains due to weakness and disease of the organs that are distinctly feminine, cannot be an amiable and helpful wife. Troubles of this nature rack the nerves with pain and sap the strength. Under their malign influence the most amiable and helpful disposition will become soured. The wife that promised to be a cheerful, capable and willing helpmate surprises her husband by proving a sickly, nervous, fretful and helpless invalid. This unfortunate outcome of "Love's young dream" may be prevented or remedied by resorting to the right medicine for troubles of this nature.

The right medicine is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Over 90,000 women have said so in unsolicited letters to its discoverer Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. The "Favorite Prescription" acts directly upon the organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible. It makes them strong and healthy. It allays inflammation and soothes pain. It relieves the strain upon the nerves. It prepares for motherhood and insures the health of the child. All medicine dealers sell it.

"I take pleasure," writes Mrs. Jessie Pulfer, of Eulogy, Bosque Co., Texas, "in writing you again. I am in better health than I have been in six years. I think your medicine is the best in the world. I hope every woman who is afflicted as I was will take it. Your 'Favorite Prescription' has saved my life. I was not able to get up when I was sick until I began to take your medicine. I cannot thank you enough for what you have done for me. You can use my statement as you like."

Constipation is the all-embracing cause of ill-health. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe.

STEED FOR WEYLER.

A $300 Bay Nag Bought For the Butcher.

Kansas City, Mo., June 18.—Weyler, the Spanish general, will soon bestride a saddle horse which was bought in Kansas City and raised in Missouri. The animal has been shipped via New Orleans to Weyler by a local firm which has sent nearly 500 mules to Cuba during the past sixty days for the Spanish army.

Recently an order came from Weyler for a first-class saddle horse, and the agents were commissioned to buy the best they could find in the Kansas City market. A handsome bay was selected. It is stated that the price paid was $300.

INDIA'S EARTHQUAKE.

Province of Assam Thoroughly Devastated.

Calcutta, June 18.—Almost the whole of the province of Assam has been devastated by the earthquake. The ruin is appalling. The courts, treasuries, jails and hospitals have collapsed. The loss of food supplies is enormous. The crops are nearly ruined and great scarcity of food is expected. All traffic is difficult, as numbers of roads have been completely demolished. Earthquake shocks still continue to be felt in the province of Assam and much alarm is felt, especially as renewed shocks have been reported from various places in Bengal. Heavy rains are immensely increasing the damage.

MONSOON HAS COMMENCED.

Bombay, June 18.—The monsoon has fully burst and it is raining heavily and continuously.

WOULD ROB THE SUTLER.

Fort Sill, Okla., June 18.—F. M. Held and an accomplice named Davidson are under arrest charged with attempting to rob the post exchange last night. After gaining admittance to Exchange Steward Hays' room and choking him into submission, they compelled him to open the post safe. While engaged in opening the inner door they were interrupted by guards and arrested.

WON BY RIGNALD.

London, June 18.—At the fourth day's racing of the Ascot Heath meeting today, Leonard Brassey's bay colt Bay Rignald (4 years old) won the Hardwicke stakes of 2000 sovereigns, added to a sweepstakes of 10 sovereigns each for 3-year-olds and upwards, distance one mile and a half. Lord Cadogan's Lowly was second and Hamur Bass, the Novitiate colt third.

STREET RAILWAY DEAL.

St. Louis, June 18.—Negotiations for the purchase of three street car lines, two of which are electric and the other cable, comprising what is known as the Missouri Railway company, have been closed. Edward Whittaker, president of the Lindell street railway system, and C. D. McClure, one of the heaviest stockholders of the system are the purchasers.

WILL STAR SEPARATELY.

Chicago, June 18.—A special to the Times-Herald from New York says: Julia Marlowe, who is recognized as being the representative American tragedienne, and her husband, Robert Taber, have decided to part, and each will star independently next season. The reasons for separating are not known. The couple were married two years ago this summer.

HOFFMAN

Startling Evidence Gradually Coming Out About the Dead San Franciscan

An Excited Woman Seems to Cut a Figure in the Tragedy.

A Mother-in-Law and Two Mysterious Men Also Are Interested.

San Francisco, June 18.—Sensational and surprising evidence has been given at the inquest into the cause of the mysterious death of the well known merchant, Isaac Hoffman. The trend of the evidence is to upset the theory that Hoffman was murdered by his bookkeeper as the outcome of the latter's financial irregularities.

Rufus Manuel, a clerk in the assessor's office, stated that at 6:25 on the evening of June 1, he saw two men outside the door of Hoffman's office, one of whom was tall and stout and wore a beard, while the other was smaller and had an auburn moustache. The taller of the two invited the other into the office, saying he would explain. Both seemed to be excited. At the entrance of the office on Bush street the witness noticed a woman heavily veiled walking up and down and apparently waiting for someone inside.

Detective Crockett stated that while conducting his investigation in Hoffman's office, soon after the tragedy, a young woman, who proved to be the nurse girl employed at Hoffman's house, came in and said that she had been sent to find out why her employer had not come home to supper as usual. She was very much excited, and stated that when Hoffman left home that morning he was in a bad temper.

Louis Diedman, a merchant, swore that he saw Hoffman at the door of his office on June 1 at 6:15 o'clock, and asked him if he was happy, to which Hoffman responded that he could not be happy with such a mother-in-law.

MEXICAN MATTERS.

No Lottery Concession For Lower California

City of Mexico, June 18.—An official gazette denounces the report published in the United States that the government has granted a charter for gambling houses at Tijuana, Lower California. The request was recently made by some Americans for a charter for a lottery in Lower California, but the government did not consider the petition.

Invitations are out for a mass to be solemnized on June 28 in Professa church, in this city, for the repose of the soul of the late Emperor Maximilian.

A charter for a new bank deposit discount and emission at San Luis Potosi has been granted under the new banking law, the capital not to be less than $500,000. The incorporators include Americans, Mexicans and Germans.

PRAYERS FOR THE QUEEN.

New York Episcopalians Will Invoke Next Sunday.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 18.—Bishop Huntington has authorized clergymen and lay readers in the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Central New York to include in the services on the first Sunday after Trinity a prayer, a copy of which he has issued, for Queen Victoria and the welfare of England. The prayer is to follow that for the president of the United States.

MAXWELL'S HARD LUCK.

San Francisco, June 18.—Despite the fact that he was compelled to testify in the Davis will case to the effect that he believed the signature to the alleged will to be a forgery, George Maxwell, after twenty years' service as paying teller for the First National bank of this city, has been summarily discharged for having violated the confidence of that institution in his startling testimony.

IMPORTANT LAND SUIT.

Corsicana, Tex., June 18.—Suit was filed in the district court yesterday by the attorneys of the Cartwright heirs to recover land and property situated in East Corsicana. The property is roughly estimated to be worth $600,000, and it is settled by resident owners, besides, it is in the portion of the city where the half dozen flowing wells are situated.

EXPECT A CYCLONE.

Columbus, O., June 18.—Cyclonic conditions exist here. There are indications of severe storms. The newspapers have bulletined this information, received from the local weather bureau.

SPAIN'S ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

New York, June 18.—A dispatch from Madrid says: Premier Canovas is willing to pay the widow of Dr. Ruiz $40,000 if the United States government will not press an official claim.

JACKSON IS A PERJURER.

Cincinnati, June 18.—A Times-Star special from Springfield, Ohio, says that George H. Jackson, who became famous in the Pearl Bryan murder trial by testifying that he drove the carriage in which Scot Jackson and Alonzo Walling conveyed their victim to the Kentucky highlands, where her body was found, was today found guilty of perjury in a case where he had given testimony in a criminal trial in Springfield. Sentence has not been pronounced.

ALWAYS WAITING.

The Dread of Trouble That Makes Life Unbearable When Doubt as to the Coming of Pain Exists.

Why Anticipate Chronic Sick Headaches?

The Re-occurrence of Pain Nearly as Bad as the Agony Itself.

A sick headache is often quickly over and soon forgotten. But the kind of sick headache that comes oftener and oftener, continually increasing in its intensity, is the kind that should be attended to, for if neglected, not only is the suffering to be expected any moment, but the general breaking down of the entire system is the final result.

Make the stomach right in its action, see that the kidneys work properly, take care that the liver is in perfect condition, and purify the blood. With these vital parts of the body strong and willing to perform their proper functions, sick headaches as well as other diseases disappear.

Mrs. Riley Hampton of Murphysboro, Ill., writes to the Kickapoo Indian Medicine Co., as follows:—

"Gentlemen:—I suffered intensely with sick headaches. I was troubled with black spots before my eyes, and had severe pains in the back. I had several doctors treat me, but nothing ever did me any good, until I purchased a bottle of Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, and it cured me and I would highly recommend it to all who suffer likewise."

Kickapoo Indian Oil will temporarily dispel the pain, but Kickapoo Indian Sagwa must be taken to effect a permanent cure.

Remember that Kickapoo Indian Remedies are the same to-day as when used centuries ago by the Indians.

Kickapoo Indian Remedies are sold by all druggists. Kickapoo Indian Sagwa is sold for $1 per bottle.

TO SAVE RIVERA.

Secretary Sherman Will Request Spanish Clemency.

Washington, June 18.—A telegram from Senor Palma of the Cuban junta at New York received by Secretary Quesada of the provisional legation reads: "Prosecuting attorney has asked for death sentence on Ruis Rivera and Bacallao."

Steps were taken immediately to prevent, if possible, the summary execution of such a sentence. Senator Morgan and others were seen and arrangements were made to have influential senators call upon Secretary Sherman to urge him to request interference by the Madrid government and a direct appeal will be made to the president. It is said that Minister Taylor will be instructed to obtain from the Madrid government assurance that the lives of the two insurgent leaders will be spared.

Other dispatches from Senor Palma convey the impression that he is convinced that only prompt, heroic efforts can save the lives of the imprisoned Cuban leaders. The fact that Spanish Minister De Lome has authoritatively denied within a week that it was the intention to execute Rivera and Bacallao increases the indignation felt by those friendly to Cuba's cause. The feeling is that the prisoners may be shot before anything can be done for them through diplomatic channels.

BISHOP CHENEY.

Intimates He Will Wear What Vestments He Likes.

Chicago, June 18.—Bishop Cheney, who has just returned from New York, where he has been attending the general council of the Reformed Episcopal church, was asked for his version of the one exciting controversy of the council, which has been known as the vestment contest. Bishop Cheney said: "I wish it to be understood that I favor no particular garment or church vestment, but I am opposed to any particular garment or robe being prescribed. If we are restricted in what we shall wear we shall be told what we must sing or eat, for instance. I was opposed to any restriction being put upon our Christian church liberty.

"A layman of Philadelphia precipitated the difficulty by offering a resolution prescribing a black robe and that only as the clerical dress for church services. The white surplice and black scarf were decried as Roman Catholic, and the bishop's robes, which I only wear in the discharge of my episcopal office, were denounced. I contended only for the fullest liberty in choice of vestments.

"My resignation of certain chairmanships of trusteeships, the gifts of the general council, does not mean separation from the church. There is no question of secession involved. The synod of Chicago which backed me in the position I took of fullest liberty, will not separate from the church, but the result may be that the synod may feel indifferent about representation in the general council in th future, or when it meets three years hence."

Harding is said to be the finest locality for stock business in South Dakota, if not in the Northwest; for the reasons that it is seventy-five miles from a railroad on the south and more than 100 from the Northern Pacific on the north, thus insuring the stock industry from the encroachments of those who contemplate farming for a livelihood; grows grass superior in fattening and strengthening purposes to that found elsewhere in the range country, and there are many fine streams, including the Little Missouri, Valley creek, Moreau's and numerous spring creeks which furnish pure water and first class ranch sites as well as ample timber for building and fuel purposes. These facts have caused the locality to become settled with "little" stockmen, who, as a rule, went there almost penniless and by frugality and good management have amassed bunches of cattle that number them the most independent and happy class of people in the United States. They have accomplished this by obtaining employment from the large companies during a few months of the year and raising the larger portion of their food supply on their homesteads, while their stock is regularly increasing.

STRONGER

Wheat Started Out With a Decided Bullish Tendency This Morning.

A Rise on the Liverpool Market Was the Main Influence.

Other Factors Combined to Prevent Any Large Advance Being Made.

Wheat had a strong opening today. The improvement was due to Liverpool, which market showed decided strength, which was in her unexpected as the American markets were not especially strong yesterday. Some of the edge was taken off later, however, by the statement that the Liverpool advance was merely the result of shorts covering. Domestic weather conditions were very favorable, clear and hot in the Southwest, warm and showery in the Northwest. A large decrease in the visible was looked for. Northwest receipts were light, 237 cars against 228 last week and 515 a year ago. The Atlantic port clearances were small, the quantity of wheat being only 69,138 bus, and of flour the equivalent of 135,000 bus. The closing cables made the net advance for the day at Liverpool 5d. Paris a decline of 5 centimes for July and an advance of 5 centimes for later deliveries. Antwerp reported an advance of 12½ centimes for American red winter wheat. The dullness of speculative trading, the favorable weather for the domestic crops, the small exports for the day and the changing at Chicago of long holdings of July to September combined to wear away the hope of permanent improvement which the opening advance at Liverpool had raised, and prices began to drop. It was estimated that Duluth wheat stocks will show a decrease of 175,000 bus this week.

The volume of trading on the Duluth board was fair. July wheat opened ⅝c higher at 72¼c, soon declined to 72c and later dropped to 71⅝c. After noon it recovered to 72c and closed at 72⅝c, an advance of ⅛c for the day. Shippers bought 20 cars of cash stuff at ⅛c over July. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 73¾c; No. 1 northern, cash, 72⅝c; July, 72⅛c; September, 64⅞c bid; December, 65⅝c. No. 2 northern, 70¾c. No. 3, 65¼@68¼c. Rejected, 59½@61c. Rye, 34c. No. 2 oats, 21¼c; No. 3 oats, 20¾c. Flax, 75¾c.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of R. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 307 Board of Trade, Chicago, June 18.—The July wheat situation was more interesting today than for some days past, the action of the market being rather suggestive of manipulation. Scattering long wheat came out freely on the advance but on the decline offerings were light and the market showed the presence of good buying orders. A little cash business was done but that and the clearances looked small after yesterday's business. The ½c advance was on the higher Liverpool quotations, where traders are evening up prior to the jubilee holidays and they are evidently all short there the same as they were at Whitsuntide. One export house at New York says good demand from the continent; while another house reports reselling. Some buying here on reported damage to crops by earthquake in India which is very far fetched. Outside of the July situation the market was weak and there was nothing to greatly encourage buyers.

Corn and oats easier. The weather conditions have taken the gimp out of the corn at present and the buyers of the past few days sold freely.

Provisions rather weak and packers were the notable sellers.

Puts, July wheat, 68⅝@68¾-½c.
Calls, July wheat, 69¾@69¼c.
Curb, July wheat, 68⅞@69c.
Puts, September wheat, 64¾@64⅝c.

PRODUCE MARKET.

Strawberries were scarce this morning —"not enough to go round," said one of the Michigan street lenders If a fresh lot isn't hurried through tonight Duluth people will not have shortcake on Sunday. As if to compensate for the scarcity of strawberries the California orchards sent us their first lot of peaches and plums, and there were some extra fancy pineapples from Union River, Fla. Red raspberries were in and ruled low for early offerings. Cucumbers were very low and very good and, in fact, nearly everything in garden truck was plentiful Eggs stiffened up a little and butter was weaker. Despite the cold weather business was very good on Michigan street.

WEST END

Company H of the Third Regiment Mustered Out By Col. Shandrew.

Did Not Come Up to the Standard Required Of It.

Talk Among Politicians of a Possible Change in the Postoffice.

Company H, Third Regiment Minnesota National Guard, was disbanded last night by Capt. Holmberg, in compliance with orders received from Col. J. C. Shandrew. The company was mustered out of the service because of its failure to come up to the required standard of efficiency at the recent annual inspection. The officers were at that time warned that unless a decided improvement was shown by the report for the month of May, it would no longer be permitted to remain in the service. The required improvement was not made, and the company was disbanded as a result. The officers and members of the company are not entirely at fault, for there are some excellent excuses to offer for their failure to make a creditable showing. Many of the members were employed in the woods during the winter, and were unable to attend drill meetings, and as the annual inspection took place shortly after their return, they did not have time to regain their old time proficiency. Besides this, a number of new recruits had been enlisted, and they also assisted in reducing the general average of the company. The arms and accoutrements of the company will be returned to St. Paul and the armory abandoned. It is probable that the vacancy in the regiment caused by the disorganization of the company will be filled by the reorganized Fergus Falls company, which was mustered out a short time ago. Company H has been in existence five years and four months, and during most of that time has stood well in the regiment. The men in the company may, within thirty days, enlist in other companies if they wish and receive credit for former service.

SET THEM TALKING.

The removal of Collector Olund has set the political gossips in West Duluth to talking of the possibility of a change in the West Duluth postoffice in the near future. The term of the present incumbent does not expire until next year, but there are those who believe that a change will be made before that time. Those most prominently mentioned for the position are C. C. Salter, Jr., and August Stewart, although there are others who are likely to enter the race.

RUNNING EIGHT YEARS.

The West Duluth Sun, with its issue of this week, enters upon the ninth year of its existence, and Editor Murphy, who established the paper and has conducted it continuously since the original incorporation of West Duluth as a village, feels encouraged to say that the Sun has become an established institution, and that its permanency is assured.

WILL BE REPEATED.

The operetta, "Snow White," recently given at Great Eastern hall by local talent, under the auspices of the ladies of St. James' church, will be repeated at the same place next Wednesday night for the benefit of St. James' court C. O. F. Some important changes have been made in the program. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the performance.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

J. E. Johnson has sold his blacksmith shop to J. C. Merrick and Peter O'Donnell.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

A Strong Opening With Some Notable Improvement.

New York, June 18.—The stock market opened strong and the improvements reached notable proportion in many shares and extending to 1 per cent in Tennessee Coal and Bay State Gas. The grangers were a fraction higher and the international shares also showed an advance.

The bullish feeling was in the ascendant in the stock market throughout the opening hour and on heavy purchases material gains were effected in all classes of securities. The specialties were the chief features. Sugar was marked up to 125 1-4c. Chicago Gas to 90 5-8c and gains of equal importance were made in other industrial stocks. The improvement in Sugar stock was aided by the decided strength of the Sugar market, further advances being made in certain grades of the staple. The Anthracite Coal group was quiet. The railway shares showed less bouyancy than the specialties, but gained substantial fractions generally with the Western shares leading. The dealings in Gould stocks were on a large scale with Western Union, Manhattan and Missouri Pacific averaging gains of four points. The stock market developed an easier tendency after 11 o'clock on the announcement of shipments of $600,000 in gold to Europe on Tuesday and $100,000 tomorrow. Realizations were freely made, but the losses were not important, the offerings being well absorbed and some stocks exhibiting decided firmness. Sugar was quite erratic within a narrow guage, but the fluctuations otherwise were trival. Union Pacific was active and receded almost a point. The loss in the railway shares generally were the more noteworthy, the grangers leading the decline. The bond market showed values slightly enchanced in leading issues. Sales of stocks to noon, 131,000 shares.

A TOTTERING TRUST.

Philadelphia, June 18.—The soda water fountain trust is in a bad way. After ruining many firms by their inside dealings there is every likelihood of the trust sharing the same fate that undertook their competitors. The trust has paid no dividends for two quarters. The directors seem unable to give a satisfactory explanation. Since the beginning of the year the stock of the trust has depreciated nearly one-half in value, and in case of a reorganization the second preferred and common stock will apparently be wiped out. Its dissolution is predicted.

A POLITICIAN'S SUICIDE.

Chicago, June 18.—W. L. Church, a well-known politician, was found dead today in a room at 153 Randolph street. Death had been caused by asphyxiation from gas which was flowing from an open jet. Despondency over illness of long standing is believed to have been the cause of the suicide. Church was 45 years old. He leaves a widow and three grown children.

PROFESSORS ALL PASS MUSTER.

Austin, Tex., June 18.—Several days ago the Texas legislature appointed a committee to investigate the charge that Northern professors were engaged at the state university and were teaching the pupils to look with contempt on Southern traditions. The committee today made their report, after a careful examination, stating that they had found the report to be wholly untrue and that no such teachings were being introduced and nothing at all objectionable to Southern principles was being taught in the university.

THE WEATHER.

United States Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth. Synopsis of weather conditions for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Chicago, June 18.—Forecast until 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Showers tonight and Saturday; brisk northeasterly winds. For Minnesota: Showers tonight and Saturday; brisk northeasterly winds.

THE SATURDAY HERALD.

The Saturday Herald of tomorrow will be an exceedingly attractive number. Among its special illustrated features will be an interesting article on the great "diamond jubilee" of Queen Victoria, which is to be celebrated in London next week. A good portrait of the queen will be presented, and there will be pictures of the American cruiser Brooklyn and the United States representatives who will take part in the celebration, as well as pictures showing the route of the brilliant and dazzling procession which will move through London's streets, representing the parliament buildings illuminated in honor of the event, and giving a splendid view of London bridge and vicinity in gala attire.

There will be two important musical gatherings next week—one at New York and the other at Philadelphia. The national convention of the music teachers in the former city and the gathering of the Northeastern Saengerbund in triennial fest at Philadelphia will be the subjects of interesting and illustrated articles tomorrow. Another illustrated article will tell about the Confederate reunion at Nashville next week, which is expected to be the greatest gathering since the war of the soldiers who wore the gray. Another event of interest next week will be the Ohio Republican convention. There are picturesque possibilities connected with it, and The Saturday Herald will tell all about them and give pictures of the prominent politicians.

The theatrical and sporting gossip will be full and fascinating. The great boat race at Poughkeepsie on the Hudson will be discussed, and the article will be accompanied by handsome illustrations. The social columns will be as interesting as usual, and the ladies will find under the heading "Across the Tea Table" another bright and entertaining article by "Agate." Many other special features will add to the attractive character of The Saturday Herald, which, as usual, will contain all the news of the world and particularly of Duluth and the Northwest.

THE HUDSON BAY ROUTE.

The Philadelphia Ledger says: "It seems the statesmen and capitalists of the Canadian Northwest have sufficient faith in the Hudson Bay route to Europe to procure the sending out of a government expedition to explore Hudson straits and learn what it can about its practicability, having special regard to the matter of ice. The scheme is an alluring one, for it is calculated that, by building a railroad from Duluth to the head of Hudson bay, to communicate there with a line of steamers, the products of a vast region, including our own Northwestern states, can be carried to Europe in half the time now required, and at much less cost. It does not seem possible that navigation can be kept open, especially in the straits, for a long enough season to make the enterprise profitable; but this question has passed the stage of surmise. The facts to be gathered by the exploring party will probably decide it on a basis of proof, and the project will be carried out or abandoned accordingly as the difficulties in the way shall be found surmountable or the reverse. It is scarcely necessary to point out that the United States has a vital interest in the scheme, since, if it shall be found practicable, a large proportion of our Western commerce is likely to be diverted from American ports."

The Ledger is somewhat mistaken as to the plans of those who are enthusiastic over the Hudson Bay route. They do not intend to build a railroad from Duluth to Hudson bay. The road would start at Winnipeg. There is no doubt that if it were built, and the navigability of Hudson bay and straits during six months of the year demonstrated, much of the Northwestern commerce would travel by that route. It is hardly probable, however, that the road will be constructed for many years to come, if ever. Capital is timid about taking hold of a scheme which many people look upon as visionary, particularly when steps have already been taken both by the United States and by Canada looking towards the opening of a deep waterway from the great lakes to the Atlantic ocean. If a 20-foot channel were established all the way from Duluth to tidewater, there would be little heard of the Hudson Bay route, because, with vessels carrying wheat direct from Duluth to Liverpool without breaking bulk, the objects of the proposed new route would be fully met.

The Mesaba Range says: "This country needs an increase in its standing army just as much as it needs a big navy—and it has no use for either, except to furnish fat positions at big salaries for would-be-aristocrats who are not fit to do anything else. When this country needs defenders plenty will be found and they will not come from the ranks of the moneyed aristocracy. This statement sounds well, but it is not true. The country would not lack defenders, it is true, but trained soldiers could do much more at the beginning of a war, and all the "defenders" that might present themselves could not take the place of a large and efficient navy.

The royal united service institution has had its special exhibition in London, and some of the objects shown there were remarkable. Here was the map Gordon kept, indicating the advance of his ever victorious army and the engagements which took place. Chinese Gordon had his peculiarities, and so it was his wont, whenever there was a battle and lives were lost, to mark the locality by pricking his own finger and making just there a smear of blood, and so Gordon's war map has many such red daubs.

The Philadelphia Inquirer prints three lists showing factories starting up, increased employment, new corporations, and other substantial improvements. The list list published shows that during the second week of June factories employing 5000 hands started up, seven new railroads were chartered and ground broken for several new mills and factories. This is certainly a good showing.

The indications are now that the Hawaiian annexation treaty will not be brought to a vote in the senate until the regular session next December. The opponents of the treaty threaten to filibuster, if it is pressed now. Senator Davis evidently intends to pursue a conciliatory course with senators who are undecided.

Rev. Edward Everett Hale has been selected to deliver the Fourth of July oration for the city of Boston, and has notified the mayor that he will accept. Strange to say, during all of Mr. Hale's years of public service he never before has been asked to deliver an oration on the Fourth for the city in which he lives.

Senator Nelson withdrew his anti-trust amendment to the tariff bill, because some other senators claimed it might have a bad effect on legitimate business institutions. He does not appear to have reflected that this claim might have been suggested to the other senators by the sugar trust or some other combine.

President McKinley's mail averages from 1900 to 1300 letters a day, besides several large sacks of newspapers. This is the largest mail in the history of the presidential mansion. Most of them are probably from office seekers or wiseacres who have plans to produce prosperity.

While complaining of the cold weather, think a moment about the people in other cities who are sweltering with the heat, with the thermometers indicating 95 and 100 degrees in the shade. Which kind of weather do you prefer?

In a recently published interview, Ibsen is quoted as saying that he has never placed on the stage a personage whom he has not himself seen in real life. Evidently he has seen some very queer people.

If the weather bureau officials do not make an early change in the weather conditions, they cannot blame the people for clamoring for a change in officials.

Queen Lil's protest against Hawaii's annexation will be filed alongside of Japan's little protest.

TWO CRIMINALS FREED.

Managua, Nicaragua, via Galveston, Tex., June 18.—Two natives, named Ayerdis, father and son, who were accused in January of waylaying and murdering Henry Pollox, an Englishman, and found guilty after a protracted trial, have now been declared not guilty because of the imperfect formalities of Nicaragua's supreme court.

THE PINE ESTIMATORS.

E. A. Arnold of Itasca County to Be Superintendent.

A Washington special to The Herald today says: It is almost certain that the Menominee plan for the disposal of the dead and down timber on the Chippewa reservation of Minnesota will be adopted by Commissioner Hermann. It is also understood that E. A. Arnold, of Itasca county, Congressman Morris' candidate, will be appointed as representative of the general land office to supervise cutting of this dead and down timber and its sale. The plan mentioned allows the Indians to cut the timber themselves, shape it into commercial logs and haul it to the banks of streams to be sold to purchasers. The commissioner says that this plan is one that will prevent any frauds being perpetrated on either the Indians or the government, and will do away with much of the scandal that has been rife since the first estimates of pine timber were made. Commissioner Hermann has also determined to make Wright's estimates of the pine on unsold contracts visited by him last winter the basis of sale instead of the Douglas estimates, when the secretary orders the resumption of sales.

W. M. Crome, of St. Paul; S. H. Newberry, of St. Paul, and John McCarthy, of Stillwater, are mentioned as among the probable crew of estimators. Judge Morris is anxious to have the two Duluth men, appointed by Maj. Baldwin, retained. Representative Eddy will have the naming of two estimators, Morris two and Senator Nelson two. The others will probably be appointed by Land Commissioner Hermann and Secretary Bliss, as it is understood that they want a few of the appointment, but all will be experienced men.

SHRIVER ACQUITTED.

Not Guilty of Contempt in the Sugar Investigation.

Washington, June 18.—John S. Shriver, the correspondent of the New York Mail and Express, today was declared not guilty of contempt in refusing to answer questions of the senate committee in relation to the sugar trust investigation. Mr. Shriver was the fourth of the alleged recalcitrant witnesses, Messrs. Havemeyer and Searles, president and secretary of the American Sugar Refining company, both having been discharged, while Broker Elverton R. Chapman was convicted and served one month in jail.

Judge Bradley based his decision in the Shriver case on two points; first, that the witness had not been legally summoned; and second, that the question asked him was not pertinent. The contention of the defense that communications to newspaper men are privilege as a class, the same as are communications to priests, lawyers and physicians, the court refused to sustain, but as the court did, on the other hand, hold that to ask the witness the name of his informant was not a pertinent question, the counsel for the defense now hold that a precedent is established which virtually brings newspaper witnesses within the privileged class.

THEY PREFER GEN. BUCKNER.

Louisville, Ky., June 18.—The Kentucky ex-Confederates will present the name of Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner for commander-in-chief of the Confederate Veterans' association, when it holds its annual meeting in Nashville next week. They have been in communication with Gen. John B. Gordon, of Georgia, and he has stated that he would not allow his name to be presented for re-election. Gen. Buckner is easily Buckner the foremost men in Kentucky, being the vice-presidential nominee of the National Democratic ticket last year.

NEW PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

Washington, June 18.—In the senate today bills were passed for public buildings at Cleveland, Ohio, to cost $2,700,000, and at McKeesport, Pa., to cost $200,000.

INDEPENDENT TELEPHONES.

Springfield, Ill., June 18.—About fifty delegates from the most important independent telephone companies have met here and organized a state organization. Delegates to the national convention at Detroit, June 23, were selected.

GET FLESH.

Get Strength, Vigor, Clear Complexion and Digestion, Not By Patent Medicine, But in Nature's Own Way.

Any honest physician will tell you that there is but one way to get increased flesh; all the patent medicines and cod liver oils to the contrary notwithstanding.

Nature has but one way to increase flesh, strength and vigor of mind and body, and that is through the stomach by wholesome food well digested. There is no reason or common sense in any other method whatever.

People are thin, run down, nervous, pale and shaky in their nerves, simply because their stomachs are weak.

They may not think they have dyspepsia, but the fact remains that they do not eat enough food or what they eat is not quickly and properly digested as it should be.

Dr. Harlandson says the reason is because the stomach lacks certain digestive acids and peptones, and deficient secretion of gastric juice.

Nature's remedy in such cases is to supply what the weak stomach lacks. There are several good preparations which will do this, but none so readily as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which are designed especially for all stomach troubles, and which cure all digestive weakness on the common sense plan of furnishing the digestive principles which the stomach lacks.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give perfect digestion. First effect is to increase the appetite and increased vigor, added flesh, pure blood, and strength of nerve and muscle is the perfectly natural result.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest tonic known and will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. May be found at druggists at 50 cents for full-sized package or direct by mail from Stuart company, Marshall, Mich. Little book on stomach diseases mailed free.

REPLY BY MR. GAY.

His Reasons For Submitting Water Proposition Again.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Referring to your editorial comments of Monday evening, June 14, in which you expressed the view that "the last vote on the water question demonstrated that the people believe that $1,695,000 is too high a price" for the Duluth Gas and Water company plants, permit me to call to your attention that, in interpreting the result of that election, the court in effect held that the ballot used was such as did not permit of an intelligent vote upon the proposition. Thus, while it was generally conceded that it was the real intention of the citizens of Duluth to vote on the issuance of bonds for the purchase of the existing plants at a cost of $1,695,000, the form of ballot, in spite of its close following of previous decisions, was so technical in its nature and so surrounded by legal verbiage as to fail of its purpose to record the true intention of the voter.

It is this very fact which justifies the board of aldermen in submitting the same proposal at the polls a second time, now that there has been incorporated into the laws of this state a simple form of ballot, whose terms cannot fail of ready comprehension and intelligent action by every voter in Duluth. In no other way can the true will of the people toward this proposition be ascertained. Under these circumstances no occasion now exists for reopening the question of the price of $1,695,000 which has been arrived at only after prolonged negotiations, conferences between the bondholders, mayor, aldermen, leading business men and city engineer, with resulting concessions on both sides—discussed at caucus meetings, stands recommended by the jobbers' union, and was finally submitted to the people by a well-nigh unanimous vote of the last common council. My difficulty has rather been to induce the remainder of the bondholders to accept so low a figure as the one named, which represents a discount of $150,000 from the face of the outstanding bonds, and contrary to all the Belknap propositions, places no value whatever upon the stock.

The new representative of the foreign bondholders, atorneys of high standing and ability in New York, are entirely satisfied with the legal status of the company, and were inclined to favor the policy of possession of the property and enforce all its rights through the courts. But after months of negotiations I have prevailed upon them to adopt the present amicable course as likely to result in the earliest and best solution of the vexed question; and this has resulted in their placing in my hands the right to close a sale upon the same terms as those last submitted. That price, $1,695,000, is $400,000 less than the people voted to pay upon the original Belknap proposition and $500,000 less than the actual cost of the property, as shown by the company's books. It represents the lowest figure that will be accepted by the bondholders for both the gas and water plants.

The same reasons that existed for the submission of the question to a vote of the people last November exist today in even greater degree: the honorable mayor has always maintained that a special election such as that now proposed is necessary in order to secure a true index of the will of the voter, whose mind is thus untrammeled by collateral issues such as existed in the general election. But a consideration of more direct importance to the welfare of the city at the present juncture is the fact that the interest upon the $1,106,000 5 per cent city intake bonds purchased by me in October, 1896, has become a draft upon the city treasury without corresponding revenue to offset the same, except through increased taxes. That this large yearly expenditure would practically cease immediately upon the city's acceptance of the present proposition is readily demonstrated by the following figures, which are taken from the books of the Duluth Gas and Water company:

Gross receipts	$163,112 68
Operating expenses	48,695 08
Net earnings	$114,417 60
5 per cent annual interest on purchase price of $1,695,000	$84,750 00
5 per cent annual interest on estimated cost of completing intake, say $700,000	35,000 00
	$119,750 00

Attention is especially called to the above favorable financial showing, as the misapprehension appears to have gained ground that the gross earnings of the company were but $120,000. This sum I stated in the negotiations of last autumn as representing the net earnings of the property during 1895—the last normal year. It would be difficult to name a more adverse business period than 1896, with its two panics and political agitation. The earnings of our property under such conditions may fairly be considered at their minimum, and as affording ample evidence of at least holding their own in the future, after making important reductions in rates both upon gas and water, in the event of possession by the city.

Now that the intake pipe from Lakewood will be brought down to the existing company mains, according to estimates, within a few months, the time would appear to be ripe for the settlement of Duluth's water question so far as relates to the company plant. The city would thus receive immediate financial benefit from the acceptance of the present proposition from the realization of the revenues of the company, which, as already pointed out, are sufficient to meet not only the interest on the bonds which would be issued in payment, but also upon the city intake bonds, which must otherwise be an unrelieved charge upon the treasury. The broad benefit to be realized by Duluth from the closing of the water question cannot be measured in money values. The removal of that blight and its replacement by a widely-heralded statement of an honorable settlement with the water company bondholders would inevitably lead to renewed confidence on the part of investors both in Europe and America, the influx of new capital at low rates and the immediate acceleration of all her material interests. Very truly yours,

E. H. GAY.

A BACHELOR'S REFLECTIONS.

New York Press: Marriage is the undertaker of love.

As soon as a woman thinks she loves a man she takes the Lord into her confidence.

When a woman makes a mistake she always says it is just what comes of no trusting to her instincts.

A woman can have a good cry any time and get petted for it, but when a man wants to have a good drunk he has to lie and act hypocritical.

TWO DOLLAR RATE.

Elks Get a Cheap Fare For Their Minneapolis Trip.

If ever there was any doubt of a large number of Duluth Elks attending the national reunion and grand lodge meeting of the order in Minneapolis next month that doubt was dispelled last night at the meeting of the local lodge, when the bids for transporting the Elks and their friends were submitted by the competing lines of road. The St. Paul & Duluth offered a rate of $4:30 for the round trip, half fare, but the breath of the antlered brothers was fairly taken away when it was announced that the Eastern Minnesota and Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha had combined on a rate of $2 for the round trip. As an additional inducement the combination agreed to carry the band of twenty-five pieces free. The offer provides that the trip shall be made on the Omaha to Minneapolis, returning by the Eastern Minnesota. Tickets will be good July 7 and 8, and may be used for the return as late as Sunday evening, July 11. They may be procured by Elks and their friends through I. T. Walker, secretary of the Minneapolis Elks' club.

The Elks had not expected better than a half fare rate and it is probable that if the bids had been uniform that the business would have been given to the St. Paul & Duluth. It is probable that the St. Paul & Duluth will promptly meet the rate offered by the combination of its two competitors and perhaps go it a little better, but no matter how much of a cut may be made the Elks will go by the Omaha and return by the Eastern Minnesota, this decision having been reached by resolution of the lodge last night.

The large hand-painted banner and flag recently ordered for use in the big Elk parade in Minneapolis July 8 were received yesterday and exhibited at the lodge meeting last night. They are exceedingly handsome and will set off the Elks marching club in uniform in fine style. It is now believed that practically the entire membership of the lodge will go to Minneapolis and the probability is that as great a percentage of its total strength will be in line in the parade as will be shown by any other lodge in or out of the state.

DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE IN THE conditions of a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Thomas Benton and Maggie Benton, his wife, mortgagors, to The Union Building and Loan Association, mortgagee, bearing date February 3rd, 1894, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on February 6th, 1894, at 8:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 60 of mortgages, page 251; which default consists in the non-payment of monthly interest and premium on the principal sum of said mortgage for more than a space of six months after the same has become due.

And whereas the four shares of stock described in said mortgage have been sold for the non-payment of dues.

And whereas, said mortgage contains a provision that in case of default in the payment of monthly interest or premium, or any part thereof, for the space of six months after the same shall have become due, or should the said four shares of stock described in said mortgage be sold for the non-payment of dues, then in either or any such case, the whole principal debt secured by said mortgage shall immediately become due and payable, and the mortgagee in either such case is authorized to sell the mortgaged premises at public auction to satisfy the mortgage debt, interest and premium and all costs and charges, and also the sum of fifty dollars ($50.00) attorney's fees. Said mortgagee has elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole debt due because of such defaults as aforesaid, and there is claimed to be due and is actually due on said mortgage at the date of this notice, the sum of seven hundred seventy-three and 50-100 dollars ($773.50).

And whereas said mortgagors made default in paying insurance premium for insurance upon the buildings upon said premises, and the mortgagee said six dollars ($6.00) on April 26th, 1897, for insurance premium, which the mortgagee had the right to do under the terms of the mortgage, and said amount is to become a part of the mortgage debt and be secured by said mortgage.

GRADUATE

Members of High School Class of '97 Receive Their Diplomas.

Fine Program of Music and Able Essays Given Last Evening.

Addresses By Principal Loman, Supt. Denfeld and President Hugo.

At 10:20 last night occurred the crowning event in the school lives of the largest class that ever passed out of the public schools of Duluth after finishing all its work in all its various stages. Sixty-two young men and young women, at the above hour last night, after spending twelve years or more at hard work in the public schools, received the diploma which is documentary evidence that they have done their work and that so far as the public schools can carry them they are fitted for their life's work.

The event last night was conspicuous among similar events, not only because of the size of the class, but because of the beautiful nature of the exercises, the large attendance and the thought, reading and study shown by the graduating exercises. All were on practical subjects, and all were handled in a capable, scholarly and finished manner. The manner in which the graduates delivered their productions was also worthy of note, and the delivery of Sabra M. Ellison was particularly creditable. Those who received diplomas were as follows:

Imogene Austin, Charles William Benson, Fannie Bowers, Lena Brown, Selby T. Brown, Arthur Herman Burg, Daisy Ida Butchart, Earl W. Kelly, Gertrude N. Kennebrook, Lillian Kenney, Adelaide Klichli, Hale A. Klichli, Elizabeth Kuhns, Lulu Lafferty, Dora F. Swan, Laura Ward, Mary E. Weddell, Ethel J. Wheeler, Margaret Whiteford, Louis Wieland, Ida May Congdon, Olive Wilkinson, Mary Davis Maginnis, Martha E. Deichsel, Margaret Elizabeth McLean, Emilia Meinhard, Lillian Meinhardt, Sabra M. Ellison, Clara Beatrice Murphy, Bert Gaskell, Walter Palmer, Florence Halling, Arthur Richardson, Henry M. Holden, Armenia Maude Smith, Gertrude R. Wallace, Anna Louise Lindbeck, Byron John Culbertson, Julia A. Davis, Katherine A. McLean, Gertrude Frances Eaton, Henry Ehrmanntraut, May H. Merritt, Paul C. Garrison, Winnie Oppel, Eby Grant Gridley, Ethel Quigley, Edward Hermann, Martha H. Sjoberg, W. Hale Horton, Cecil R. Martin, Agnes Dole, Bessie Drummond, Bert N. Merritt, Jennie C. Fawcett, Coleman F. Naughton, Donald G. Gearhart, Camille Herbert Poirier, Edith Hermann, Ruth Scott, Roy J. Holmes, Reuben Smith.

The hall, notwithstanding the continued gloomy weather, was comfortably packed from front to rear, and few vacant seats escaped occupancy. The decorations were simple but neat and tasteful. Over the front of the stage the class colors, yellow and white, were draped in graceful folds, while on either side of the stage were grouped masses of potted plants, harmonious banks of bloom and green. Not the least pleasing spectacle was presented by the class itself. Grouped upon the stage in a so phalanx, were the young women in light and tasteful gowns for which the more somber colors of the wearing apparel of the young men formed a background. In front, on either side of the stage, sat Principal John Loman, whose hand and skill have guided these pupils through most of their high school careers, Superintendent R. E. Denfeld, Rev. G. H. Humason and President T. W. Hugo of the school board.

The exercises opened with an invocation in behalf of these young people by Rev. G. H. Humason, D.D.

ARGUMENT FOR GOOD ROADS.

Adelaide Julia Klichli gave a paper, showing both study and thought, her subject being "Good Roads." "It has been said," she began, "that free circulation of the commodities of trade are essential to the welfare of a people as is the unimpaired circulation of the blood to the human organism. This is shown by the fact that roads came into existence immediately after men and beasts. The animals made paths, and then primitive man by constant use developed them into trails, and finally made independent ones. The Indians at the time of Columbus' discovery of America had a complicated system of roads, and the pioneer explorers followed them through secluded ways. When man began to use beasts of burden the trails broadened into highways. The Incas of Peru constructed wonderful thoroughfares, one nearly 2000 miles long, with suspension bridges over mountain torrents, stairways in rocks, and arches of masonry over ravines. India had good highways 3000 years before Christ, as well as a high degree of culture. The condition of a country's roads shows its degree of enlightenment. In India these great roads were lined with shade trees and comfortable seats. The roads are still in existence. The great Persian empire could not have held together but for its good roads. Over some of them the king's couriers could carry messages 250 miles in a day. The Chinese built paved roads 3000 years ago, and the Egyptians must have had pavements or they could not have built the pyramids. The Roman empire built excellent roads, made to sustain the traffic of 2000 years. The Appian way was the most picturesque of all the approaches to Rome. Some of the best thoroughfares in England today were built by the Romans 1500 years ago.

"Napoleon was the first of modern statesmen to understand the relation of good roads to culture. His introduction of improved systems made France's highways the best in the world today. England traces much of her progress to the influence of good roads. In North America the early settlers realized the importance of roads, but they were too poor to build them. Hamilton made a vain effort to secure roads, as he saw in them an important factor for the strengthening of the Union. While efforts were being made to build roads the railroads came in to distract the public attention. Yet Europe is covered with wagon roads which are models of excellence and durability, while in the United States they are few and far between. In Duluth our only highway is London road, which, with the boulevard, makes a beautiful drive. Roads would aid greatly in the development of the country. The county road to the ranges, which is now building, will aid to decrease the exorbitant rates of freight charged by the railways, and will open up a great amount of good land now practically unavailable. Later it will be extended to Rainy lake.

"The advancement of road-building has been impeded by the fact that the construction and care of the roads is too much for the people of the rural districts to bear, owing to the centralization of the population in the cities. As the benefits go to all, the burden should be distributed. George Washington, himself a surveyor and engineer, believed that the state should take care of all road building. In this state we have next to that, the county system, but control by the state is better. Young men should be trained in the art of building good roads, and more schools and colleges should teach road engineering. The location of a highway should never be entrusted to anyone but a skilled engineer. A system of good roads all over the country would cost but $500,000,000 or $600,000,000, and the saving in transportation charges would make the roads pay for themselves in two years, besides the effect of enhancing the value of the property touched by the roads."

The first of the many pleasing musical numbers of the evening followed. Miss Dora Swan's deep, full voice appeared to advantage in Blake's bright and lively "Trip to Fairyland," accompanied by the class in chorus.

A PLEA FOR CULTURE.

Martha Herbertha Sjoberg gave thoughtful expression to "A Plea For Culture." In opening she quoted Theodore Parker's aphorism: "In America everyone gets a mouthful of education, but scarcely anyone gets a full meal." "He was pleading for broader education,' said the speaker. "I plead for what is broader still—culture. Culture is not knowledge, for knowledge is simply a clear perception of truth. It is not education, if by education we mean the development of the mind alone, for both knowledge and education are but means toward culture. It is not character—that is the foundation; it is not strength—that is the cornerstone; it is not taste—that is the beautiful carving; it is not refinement—that is the quality of the stone itself. It is not any one of these alone, but their harmonious combination. The cultured man is he whose faculties have all been developed, but each of which he has trained with such regard to every other that no one attracts attention to itself. The cultured nature may be compared to an orchestra in which each instrument is essential to the harmonious whole, but in which no one instrument can be played to the exclusion of any other.

"Physical culture is the harmonious development of all the faculties of the body. Athletics and physical culture are not synonymous, as athletic training aims to develop some muscles to the exclusion of others, while the aim of physical culture is the perfection of the whole. The body needs good, pure air, exercise, cleanliness and rest, yet the kind, nature and proportion of these necessaries are little understood. The development of the body gives happiness, since it gives us full command of all our powers. A body in good condition is a fortress defended against all disease, yet that of the average mortal is a palace with windows and doors open to all comers. But one nation, the Greeks, brought force, grace any symmetry. Our usefulness in life depends in a great measure upon our physical development. Good health is the basis of moral and mental development. The greatest value of physical culture lies in its relation to mental culture.

"The necessity of mental and moral culture is as evident as the necessity of physical culture. Everything in life aids in development. Sorrow and thought are potent factors. The influence of mind upon mind is powerful. The superior minds work upon those below them. The parent has untold influence upon the child, and teacher, preacher, orator and author all have their influence upon culture. Every mind chooses its own master, and a wide choice is found in books which give mental breadth, poise and authority. Art and nature are also among the means of culture. Mental culture can have no value unless every intellectual question is decided by moral standards. Under moral culture come the forming of habits of order, self-control, obedience, love of truth and reverence for all that is good and great. I appeal to all to secure the highest culture, for it will make you happier and more capable of giving happiness to others."

The Temple Ladies' quartet gave one of their charming numbers in their usual pleasing style. The audience applauded vociferously until the quartet appeared again and gave another number.

A DISCUSSION OF CRANKS.

The subject of "Cranks" was made an interesting sociological study by Sabra Marilla Ellison. She opened with the fable of Saturn, who in the beginning had no one to see him occupy his lonely throne but Uranus. Finally Saturn was driven by the monotony to the extreme of making an oyster. He feared to make anything else, so he kept on making oysters. Uranus suggested that he should make something else, and finally he made Jupiter. He feared again, and finally Jupiter had to kill him to save the world, else there had been no progression. "This represents," said the speaker, "the Conservatives and the Innovators or Radicals. Their struggle for supremacy is the theme upon which history has written variation after variation, and it is still writing them. The Conservative supports all existing things, good or bad, and always looks backward. The Radical aims to secure the best possible conditions for humanity, and always looks into the future. The one never advances, the other is never still. Alone either would go to direful extremes. Together they make a perfect whole. Both are essential. The Conservative establishes what the Radical introduces.

"The world recognizes too much the value of conservatism, and desires it for the governing principal of nine-tenths of its acts. Consequently, the conservative is a spoiled child and the radical has to look out for himself. The Radicals have many hard times, yet they are never lacking. To their persistence in spite of suffering and the scorn of ridicule the history of all progression is due. The apparently wild ideas have aroused laughter before success had been attained, but if they had suffered ridicule to stop them the world would lack much that it now has. It is easier to be a conservative than a radical, for it is easy to yield to public opinion. Radicals are called "cranks," and they are not so inappropriately named when one considers that a crank is what you turn things with. They make the world move. Cranks do succeed sometimes, but usually after they are dead. The unpopular idea of yesterday is often the common sense of today. The cranks of today are the heroes of tomorrow. Heresy and treason are often converted into Christianity and patriotism merely by the passing of half a century.

"On the tomb of Sir Christopher Wren in Westminster abbey you will find the legend "Would you see his monument? Look about you." America is a monument to radicalism. The slave question was the production of cranks. Now Look about you." America is a monuming with the brewers and distillers, or with the revenue which it receives from them builds prisons to receive their victims. The time is rapidly coming when a slavery far more terrible than that of the negro is going to possess America if she does not wrest herself away. But she shall not fail in this extremity."

Miss Anna Farrell sang Planquette's "Legend of the Bells" with beautiful effect. She was accompanied by the class chorus.

DULUTH'S ANCIENT HISTORY.

Selby Thompson Brown read a scholarly paper on "The Ancient History of Duluth." "Ages and ages ago," he said, "thousands, tens of thousands, yea, millions of years before man, this earth was in existence, but it was very different from what we see today. Its present features were only reached after passing through great changes involving immense periods of time. Geology teaches of six eras to correspond with the six days of the Bible creation, each era making a distinct change in the earth's history. Excepting the first each marks the decay of an old type before a higher one. The first era showed the globe in its nebular stage. Gradually it took shape and substance. A crust was formed and its surrounding vapors condensed into a complete blanket of nature. Thus the earth was prepared for life, which appeared in the Eozoic age and continued through the Palaeozoic, Mesozoic, Cenozoic and Psychozoic ages.

"The Eozoic age began with the erosion of the crust by the waves of the primal sea. The matter worn away was deposited again in strata, which formed into rock and owing to the contraction of the crust caused by cooling was upheaved to form the first land, in the Western hemisphere. North America then consisted of a strip of land from the Arctic ocean to Lake Superior, just to the site of Duluth. Boston may boast of its culture and Chicago of its population, but Duluth is the oldest city in the United States, and was once the most southern city. Those old Eozoic rocks rest beneath the very foundations of this High School building, though the strata have been destroyed by the action of great heat. To this era belong the iron fields of this country. During the Palaeozoic and Mesozoic eras the earth crept southward and the sandstone of which the High School is built was formed. Sandstone was formed on the site of Duluth, but subsiding several thousands of feet fractures were formed, through which matter rock exuded, forming ridges called trap-dikes, of which the hill in the center of the city is one. There are several of them throughout the city, and Superior's waves break over one at Tenth avenue east.

"During the Cenozoic era came the glacial epoch. The Hudson Bay country was covered by an immense ice field to the depth of 2000 or 3000 feet. This moved south with irresistible force, carrying beneath it stones which scratched the surface of the rocks, many instances of which are to be seen about Duluth, as well as many foreign boulders dropped as the ice melted. Passing on south the ice scooped out a great basin which afterwards filled with water and formed what the geologists call Lake Agassiz. This lake covered the present location of the great lakes. On the hill 564 feet above the lake is the boulevard, the old lake shore. Since the glacial epoch changes have mostly been brought about by erosion, which sculptured the hills, cut out ravines and river beds, formed the soil, and gave the lake shore its present appearance. All of this, of course, took time inconceivable. The sediment created by the wearing out of the bed of the St. Louis river caused the formation of Grassy, Rice's, Connor's, Minnesota and Wisconsin Points.

"About 250,000 years before the birth of Christ, with the Psychozoic era, began the chapter in the world's history in which we are most immediately concerned. This chapter is called 'man.'"

Harry G. Gearhart sang "The Yeoman's Wedding Song," by Prince Poniatowski, in a strong, rich baritone, responding to an enthusiastic encore.

SPHERE OF MATHEMATICS.

Agnes Sybil Dole made a very ingenious original and entertaining paper out of "Mathematics," an apparently dry subject. "Mathematics," she said, "is used by mankind in every phase of life. The architect uses it in planning rooms, the astronomer weighs the celestial bodies, determines their paths and foretells their positions by its aid. It is necessary to the mariner, and without it commerce would be unknown. In the form of time, it is the very basis of our civilization. Even physics and chemistry, so-called exact sciences, are exact only so far as they conform to mathematics. Through the microscope we see that the cells of the tiniest living organisms are arranged according to mathematical laws. In everything great and small, in our universe, we find mathematics, and everywhere it is absolutely perfect. Other sciences may be inaccurate, but mathematics is exact. It is the one perfect thing, so we might expect that it could be applied to things higher than those in our universe, and that it should be something peculiar, containing things we cannot understand.

"An interesting line of thought is suggested by considering the various powers to which quantities can be raised. If x represents a line, then x squared will represent surfaces, x raised to the third power a cube, but what is x raised to the fourth power? The inhabitants of earth know only three dimensions, length, breadth, and thickness, but may there not be a world with a fourth dimension? Let us first imagine a universe with one dimension. This would be represented by a single point, since it possesses neither length, breadth nor thickness. The sole being in such a world can form no conception of any other than himself, for he knows nothing of dimensions. He can have no knowledge of No. 2, for he himself is one and all, being really nothing. Imagine a world of only one dimension, length, or of two dimensions, length and breadth, what a complication would ensue if an inhabitant of the world of three dimensions tried to explain the third dimension to an inhabitant of the world of only two dimensions. Having no knowledge or power of understanding of the third dimension, of course the pentagon from the land of two dimensions could not appreciate the explanation of the inhabitant of the land of three dimensions.

"This shows that all conception of a higher dimension by those of a lower dimension is impossible, although capable of mathematical demonstration. Yet there is that in us through which we instinctively perceive a higher sphere. Yet we have learned through analogy that we cannot understand or enter it. It might not be far from us, because it is clear that a world of greater dimensions could contain those of lesser. This supposition would clear up many Bible phrases. Some one says, 'if there is a fourth dimension, why not a fifth, since X may be raised to its fifth power?' Why not, indeed? There may be no limit to the number of dimensions of which we have no comprehension. We have studied mathematics for ten years, and we shall not cease now. We shall pursue it until finally we leave this land of three dimensions, to realize in a grander universe the meaning of the symbol of x raised to the fourth power."

Miss Dole illustrated her paper by the use of the blackboard and by cardboard geometrical figures. After her's, which was the last paper of the evening, the class sang A. F. M. Custance's chorus, "Alma Mater," a swinging and tuneful composition.

Principal John Loman then arose to present the class, which he did in a few well-chosen words of advice, commendation and farewell. In addressing the class he told its members that now that they were out of his control he did not wish to offer advice, but he did wish to tell them one thing. That was an old-fashioned saying, but one that would serve them throughout their lives: "Stick to it." In presenting them to the superintendent he said that he had watched their career with more than ordinary interest in their work in the "people's college." They had attained high standard in their studies, and he believed them to be qualified for graduation.

Superintendent Denfeld said that while he had not been so intimately acquainted with the class as the teachers and principal, he had followed its work as best he could, and he wished to compliment them upon the high literary standard reached by their productions. He told them that in whatever way of life they sought they should "mean business." "When you take a thing up, never lay it down until it it finished, Mr. President, I present to you the class of '97."

President Hugo began by complimenting parents and guardians upon their exhibition there, and the pupils upon the advantages they had had and the good use they had made of them. He spoke of the value of home training and influence. He said that to the class he had no words of advice to give, for from what he had heard he was sure that the members of the class were qualified to give advice to him. Congratulating the class upon the high standard of its work, he wished them God-speed, accompanying it with the wellwishes of the entire school board. He then presented the diplomas.

CHRISTOPHER EXCURSION.

Big Steamer to Make a Great Trip Tomorrow.

Tomorrow the excursion on the big whaleback steamer Christopher Columbus will be given, the boat leaving Superior at 9 a. m. and Duluth at 9:30 p. m. The run to Two Harbors will be made first, where a short stop will be made, and the boat will cross the lake to the Apostle islands touching at Bayfield. The boat will arrive here on its return at 9 p. m. The Christopher is an ideal excursion boat. She can carry easily and comfortably 4000 people, and if the weather is unpleasant can house them all in her great cabins. She makes great time and is undoubtedly one of the swiftest boats on all the lakes. A trip on her is a delightful pastime and long to be remembered. The run to Bayfield is a magnificent one. The scenery is grand, especially through the Apostle islands, one of the most beautiful places on the continent. During the trip there will be ample entertainment for those who go. The Duluth City band will play, and there will be dancing for those who wish it.

The trip is given for the Duluth Home society's building fund for the erection of the new Women and Children's home. The object is one that will commend itself to everyone who knows anything of the home and what it does. A handsome sum ought to be netted for the round trip is only $1, with half fare for children. There will be refreshments for sale on the boat for the benefit of those who do not wish to be burdened with baskets.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cura is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address

Too Much Refuse.

A great many complaints are heard from people who are fond of boating as to the condition of the water in the harbor. The bay is full of sticks, boards and small logs that are a menace to small craft. The cause for this is principally found in the fact that large rafts of logs are brought into the harbor and then opened up, the refuse being allowed to drift over the bay. Duluth's harbor will never be as clean as an inland lake, but there is no reason why it should not be reasonably clean. There ought to be some way to force the raft towing concerns to take care of their refuse. Another nuisance and one that is fraught with danger is the presence of so many half sunken logs. A tow boat or sail boat running on to one of these could easily have a hole stove in its bottom and loss of life might occur.

Assays Run Low.

A number of assays have been made of the samples of ore brought down from the country east of Hunter's island by Gus Stevens, and all of them are encouraging. No large results were obtained, none of the rock running to exceed $4 per ton, but all of it showed the presence of gold. Mr. Stevens said that he felt considerably encouraged because he had demonstrated with little effort that gold-bearing quartz exists in the eastern part of the state and he believes that further prospecting will prove that veins exist there which it will pay to mine. He says the formation there is similar to that in the Rainy Lake and Seine River country which lies west of it and he believes that development will show it to be equally as valuable. He will return in a short time, to still further pursue his investigations.

A RACING MATINEE.

A Series of Events Arranged For July 3.

The first horse racing of the season will be held at the fair grounds on the afternoon of July 3, under the auspices of the St. Louis County Fair association. There will be three races for a number of 3-year-olds now training at the fair grounds, and the other two for speedy horses from Duluth, Superior, Carlton and other surrounding points. There will be three purses of $99 each, one for each event.

This will be good news to a large number of people who enjoy the sport, and the opening races of the season will undoubtedly be largely attended.

BAIL NOT FURNISHED.

John Promberger is Still in the Sheriff's Custody.

Up to an early hour this afternoon John Promberger had not furnished bail in the sum of $4000 and had no been released. It was said last night that bail could be procured and Mr. Promberger's release obtained but that he was liable to arrest on other charges of a similar character. The amount of the defalcation is in excess of $4000. The railroad people do not say how much it is but it is understood to be about $4000. It was thought this noon that an arrangemen would be made whereby Mr. Promberger would be sure of no further molestation if he furnished $4000 bail. The amount would be ample to secure his appearance and that is all that is wanted.

There is some talk to the effect that the matter will be settled but no statement as to this has been auhorized. Mr. Promberger will have nothing to say and his attorney, C. O. Baldwin, is equally silent.

SECRETARY SHERMAN'S VIEW.

Washington, June 18.—In view of the fact that false and misleading statements have been sent out from Washington as to Secretary Sherman's position on the question of the annexation of Hawaii, the secretary today said that as a rule he was opposed to the United States acquiring outlying territory, but he regarded the condition of the Hawaiian islands as exceptional, on account of the claim of Japan to these islands. He, therefore, approved the treaty making Hawaii a possession of the United States, but not entitled to admission as a state.

Merritt-Harris Case Given to the Jury at Noon Today.

One Issue of Fact is All the Jury is to Determine.

One Side or the Other Is Untruthful, Said Judge Moer.

One of the most peculiar cases ever tried in this county was given to the jury at noon today, and with it went one of the hardest questions that could be given to a jury. When the twelve men who were chosen to well and truly try the Merritt - Harris case come to an agreement, they must by their united voices damn the reputation of one of the parties, according to the court's charge and in the general opinion. One party or the other, according to the court's charge, has deliberately falsified and it is for the jury to determine which one.

The evidence was all in early yesterday afternoon, and the closing arguments of the attorneys for the defendants took up the time nearly to 5 o'clock. This morning the plaintiffs' attorney made their closing arguments and Judge Moer finished his charge and turned the issue over to the jury at noon. He refrained in his charge from going into the evidence, for fear, as he stated, that he might unintentionally give the slightest color of his own opinion, to his interpretation of the evidence.

"This case not only involves the value of the stock in controversy," he said, "but it involves the reputation of the parties themselves. The plaintiffs are old and well-known residents of the city and the case involves their reputations for integrity and truthfulness. If you decide against them you stamp them as deliberately falsifying, and place upon them a burden which they have to bear hereafter. In case the verdict is against the defendants not only their general reputation but their reputation as attorneys of this bar is involved. The verdict, whatever it may be, will cast a cloud for all time upon the reputation of one of the parties, and you should therefore give the case careful consideration.

"It seems impossible to reconcile the statements of the parties upon any reasonable hypothesis. It does not seem that a mistake could have been the cause of the difference between the statements of the parties. One side the cause of the difference between the lying. Often differences of statement between interested parties may be honest on both sides and may be explained as coming from misunderstanding. That does not seem to be possible in this case. It must be believed that it is deliberate falsification on someone's part."

The case is really a court case, with one issue for the jury, and that the most important issue in the case. The jury has to answer one question, being their decision upon the testimony. The question to be considered is as follows:

"Was the stock in uestion assigned by the plaintiff, Alfred Merritt, for and on behalf of the plaintiffs jointly, to the defendant, A. A. Harris, for the purpose of securing said defendants A. A. Harris and Henry E. Harris, for the payment of their fees stipulated by the contract exhibit "A" attached to complaint, and to secure the reimbursement of any moneys that might be expended by said defendants, A. A. and Henry E. Harris, for or on account of the plaintiffs, or any other persons for whom defendants should perform legal services pursuant to exhibit "A" and to provide a fund for carrying on the action in which Alfred and Leonidas Merritt were plaintiffs and the American Steel Barge company was defendant, and also the action in which Alfred Merritt was plaintiff and John D. Rockefeller was defendat?"

The answer must be "yes" or "no." If "yes," the Merritts are entitled to the stock. If "no," the Harrisces are entitled to it.

PRESSMEN ELECT OFFICERS.

Detoit, Mich., June 18.—Election of officers was the first business of the International Pressmen's union today. The results were as follows: President, Jesse Johnson, of Nashville, Tenn.; first vice president, John W. Williams, Toronto, second vice president, Frank Pampusch, Minneapolis; third vice president, Robert H. Kelly, Boston; secretary-treasurer, James Gelson, New York, re-elected; delegates to American Federation of Labor, James J. O'Dea, New York, and George Kleitheinz, Philadelphia. The convention then proceeded to consider an action regarding the nine hour movement unfinished from yesterday.

THE CANALS OF MARS.

As the result of long-continued and very successful observations in Arizona and Mexico, Percival Lowell concludes (as quoted in the New York Herald) that the canals of the planet Mars show such "a marvelous system as cannot well be due to any natural forces, and finds its best explanation in the presence of local intelligence on the planet, which has purposely created a system of irrigation for the perpetuation of its own existence." Mr. Lowell thinks that there is little or no water in lakes or seas on Mars, and that the planet's water supply comes from the snow and ice at its poles, which melt rapidly in summer. The canals he believes to have been constructed to care for and to distribute this annual flood from the fast-melting ice caps of the polar regions, says Harpers' Weekly.

Such astronomy as this that Mr. Lowell has been busy with must be of great use to keep the imagination in a healthy state. It involves a real change of thought to get one's mind off the earth entirely and to busy it with Martian investigations. It will be interesting to learn what the observers who peep through the great Yerkes telescope, for which lenses of unprecedented size have been very recently completed, will have to say about the Martian canals.

CAPT. MALONEY DEAD.

Former Citizen of Duluth Died at Grand Forks.

Capt. H. E. Maloney, of Grand Forks, N. D., formerly of this city, died yesterday. The weather in Grand Forks on Tuesday was extremely warm, and Capt. Maloney drank too much ice water. It brought on an attack somewhat similar to apoplexy and consciousness left him. Up to the time of his death yesterday he had not regained his senses. Capt. Maloney was born in Northern Michigan and was 56 years of age. He sailed on the lakes for a number of years and finally settled in Grand Forks, being one of the pioneers of that place. A few years ago he came to Duluth and lived here five years. About two or three years ago he returned to Grand Forks and at the time of his death was keeping a hotel there. He leaves a wife, two sons and two daughters. All are at Grand Forks except one daughter, Mrs. J. D. Sattler, of this city.

Charged With Larceny.

H. G. Hobart and Mary Klimmert appeared before Judge Edson this morning on the charge of grand larceny in the second degree. Their hearing was set for Monday morning. Bail was fixed at $200 each, in default of which they were committed. They are charged with the theft of a quilt, table, lamp, album and some bedclothes from the room of Albert Dahlman, residing at 1612 East Sixth street. Hobart is the man who was arrested recently for shooting a horse belonging to a farmer near town.

Chickens Were Stolen.

George Blanchard, a boy living at Eleventh avenue west and First street, was arrested this morning charged with the theft of some chickens from the premises of Knute Larson, 201 West Seventh street. He pleaded not guilty before Judge Edson and his trial was set for Tuesday morning. A warrant is out for a lad said to be Blanchard's accimplice.

NOT A DEFEAT.

So Says City Attorney of the Morey Decision.

The opinion of the supreme court in the case of Ann E. Morey against the city, reversing the action of the district court in sustaining the city's demurrer to the complaint, has been received by City Attorney Richards. Although technically a victory for the plaintiff, he says, it is practically one for the city, as the specific relief prayed for—that the city be made to redeem the whole tract in order to preserve its right to the street—is declared to be inequitable and unjust. The case involves the title to Branch street through ten acres in the vicinity of Thirtieth avenue east. When the city obtained a deed to the 60-foot strip, there was an outstanding mortgage, in the subsequent foreclosure of which the city was not made a party. In the present action the plaintiff sought to place the whole burden on the city. This relief the court denies. The plaintiff is relegated to a foreclosure as to the city, with a decree for the sale of the whole tract on proper terms.

A DESTITUTE FAMILY.

Poor People Found at the Omaha Depot.

A couple who said they were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hall, of Renville, and their two children were found at the Omaha depot last night in a destitute condition. They were taken charge of by the police and quarters for the night were secured for them at the Branch Bethel. They said they were en route from Renville to Ely, where Mr. Hall has employment. His wife, whom he had left at Renville, when he set out to find something to do, had been taken sick and not being able to be away from his work nor to support them at Renville he had started to take the family to Ely. Mrs. Hall getting out of bed to go. When they arrived here, Hall had but 4 cents left and had no friends here on whom he could call for help. The county superintendent of poor refused to take charge of the case and the police will make arrangements to get the family to its destination.

Waived Examination.

William McDonald, who, it is alleged, passed a forged check for $8 on A. Wieland Saturday, appeared before Judge Edson this morning on the charge of forgery. He waived examination and was held to the grand jury under $500 bail, in default of which he was committed to jail. Capt. Osborne, by whom the accused was at one time employed, announced that he would make an effort to procure a bond for him.

Will Make a Statement.

The officers of the salvage corps say they are and have been ready and willing to render an accounting as directed by the council. The reason they have not done so thus far is that they have received no official notification of the action of the council. A certified copy of the resolution has been sent them at the suggestion of the mayor, and it is probable that the statement of receipts and expenditures will be forthcoming Monday.

The Employers Acceded.

The threatened strike of the Waiters' union yesterday was averted by the outstanding employers conceding the eleven hour day clause and signing the scale at a late hour in the afternoon. There is now no point at issue between the waiters and the employers respecting the scale.

BROKE TWO RIBS.

T. H. Glidden of Cleveland Has an Unfortunate Accident.

F. H. Glidden, president of the Glidden Varnish company, of Cleveland, O., is lying in a Duluth hospital with a couple of ribs broken. Mr. Glidden arrived in Duluth Tuesday night on the steamer Coralia in company with a party of gentlemen consisting of Commander George F. I. Wilde, of the United States navy, Commander B. P. Lambertin, Maj. Stockman, in charge of the Cleveland weather bureau, and Captain George P. Mcay, manager of the Monominee Transit and Mutual Transportation companies. They remained on board the Coralia Tuesday night, but early Wednesday morning started to come ashore on the tug Inman. The weather was very wet and disgreeable, and Mr. Glidden in getting aboard the tug slipped and fell, breaking his ribs. He was brought to the city at once and taken to a hospital where he is now getting along nicely.

It was the intention of the party to make a trip over the Duluth & Iron Range railroad Wednesday and President Greatsinger had his private car attached to the pay car special for their accommodation, but when the time came and the party did not put in an appearance the car was cut out and the pay car started on its trip without them. The excitement attending the accident caused the party to forget their Iron Range trip and President Greatsinger was not notified that they had abandoned it until several hours afterward. Captain McKey is still in the city waiting until Mr. Glidden is in a condition to warrant his removal.

A GAMECOCK'S PREDICAMENT.

New Orleans Democrat: "I always knew that game roosters were thoroughly up to date in everything and always ready to fight anything, whether it be a circular saw or a bald-headed eagle," said Chief Clerk Roome of Assistant Manager Fay's office in the Southern Pacific building yesterday, "but it was a revelation to me to see a gamecock act the part of a rat terrier. I saw a black-breasted red a day or two since wade into a covey of mice that Dr. Mercier had corralled for the bird's amusement, and inside of six minutes the rooster had killed sixteen of the rodents and had eaten eight of the covey. The doctor says that bird has a particular fondness for mice and never seems to get enough.

"Some time ago, after a diet of the mice, the rooster grew sick. He lost his appetite and seemed about to give up the ghost, and the doctor was greatly worried because of this fact. After treating the fowl for a couple of days he chloroformed him and dissected his craw. To his astonishment he found three mice in this portion of the bird's anatomy, one of them still alive. The mouse had gotten its tail into the small entrail leading to the bird's gizzard, and consequently had put a stop to the digestion of the rooster. The mouse must have realized this and that it was his sole chance of life, for when the doctor attempted to withdraw the tail the mouse set up an awful squeaking and feebly objected to the process. To make the matter more interesting, the gizzard had gripped the end of the mouse's tail and would not let go.

"Between the two the rooster came very near dying, but upon the mouse and tail being removed and the craw sewed up again, the bird speedily recovered, but now it runs from a mouse as if it were a bull terrier."

GLAD JUST THE SAME.

A man of distinction who came to the postal congress, says the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Record is Chang Yen Hoon, who was minister plenipotentiary from China during the Harrison administration. At that time the legation was in Stewart castle, and many and elaborate dinners were given to the denizens of the republic by the then Chinese minister, who, however, kept the women of his household well in the background.

At his first large reception the minister was coached by one of his American friends as to the etiquette of the occasion. He was told that the guests in passing out would say they had had a very enjoyable evening, and he must say: "I am very glad."

It went very well until a tipsy official came along and varied the order by saying, boisterously: "Well, I must go now."

The minister was ready with his "I am very glad," and he said it as if he meant it.

STEAMER ASHORE.

Chicago, June 18.—(Special to The Herald)—The Hudson Line Transportation company's steamer F. P. M. No. 1, with seventy passengers aboard, went ashore last night on the beach near the Athletic field at Evanston. Twenty minutes later she was able to get clear again, and continued on her way to Chicago. The high seas and the fog of the early morning were the cause of the steamer's mishap. The lights in the lighthouse were invisible, and in fact the boat went aground almost under the house. The boat was running very slowly at the time, and this fact probably prevented serious consequence.

NO GENERAL INVESTIGATION.

St. Paul, June 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A Madison, Wis., special to the Dispatch says: The reports that all the state institutions would be investigated after the board of control closes the investigation of the Waukesha Reform school, are apparently without foundation. Judge Lyons, of the board, says the institutions are subject to investigation by the board the year round. The first he heard of cruelties at Mendota insane hospital was in the papers this morning, but Superintendent Dr. Lyman, has been ordered to investigate and report to the board.

MAY QUIT

Rumored Today That E. H. Gay Would Not Present His Offer Now.

Aldermen and Mayor Have Offered No Encouragement to Do So.

Mr. Gay Maintains That He Has Not Changed His Mind.

It was rumored today that E. H. Gay had determined not to submit a proposition, just now at least, for the sale of the gas and water plant. He had not received the encouragement he had expected, it was reported, and had decided to wait. It was stated that Mr. Gay's hopes had been dashed by the attitude of the alderman on whom he had called, but that he had been assured by prominent men outside of the council and city officials that the present time is inopportune for presenting his proposition.

Mr. Gay denies the truth of these reports. The offer would be made, he said, although he could not say how soon.

"Why should not the present time be ripe and proper," he said. "We contend that the proposition was really carried at the fall election. Conceding that the ballots rejected were rightfully thrown out, then we say the will of the people in the matter has not been expressed."

The figure, Mr. Gay said, would be that indicated, $1,695,000.

TAKES A ROSY VIEW.

G. G. Hartley Thinks There Are Good Times Coming.

G. G. Hartley retusned yesterday from New York. To a reporter of The Evening Herald he said today that a more cheerful feeling prevails in business and financial circles in the East than has been manifest for a long time. This is partly due to the fact that there is every probability that the Dingley bill will be passed in a short time and that congress will then adjourn and go home permitting the business of the country to adapt itself to the changed schedules with a degree of confidence that they will be permanent, something which has not been experienced for a long time. The division in the ranks of the Democratic senators on the question of protection, eight of whom are voting with the Republicans, is interpreted as meaning that protection has now become the fixed policy of the government, which will enable business plans to be made for a long time in the future, with a reasonable certainty that they will not be further interfered with by tariff agitation.

Mr. Hartley says that there is an abundance of money in the country and can be obtained at low rates of interest in any legitimate enterprise and that it is being loaned out in large sums in the West as well as the East. Traveling men were met in largely increased numbers on trains and all were unanimous in reporting the receipt of large orders and a very general revival in business. Reports received by moneyed men in the East from Western cities were also encouraging with perhaps the possible exception of Duluth and Superior. Travelers from ansas city, Minneapolis, Portland, Ore., Tacoma and in fact all sections say that signs are encouraging, that merchants are enjoying an increased trade, that manufactories are starting up and that the immediate future gives bright promises of renewed commercial activity.

In striking contrast with these encouraging reports given in the East by visitors from other cities are those that are told by dissprited travelers from Duluth and Superior. When discussing business affairs there, Mr. Hartley says, they almost invariably wear long faces, tell hard luck stories and picture a scene of such gloom and business depression, that listeners are shocked and given the impression that the cities at the head if the lakes are indeed in a bad way and that the people are so thoroughly discouraged that they have lost all hope of commercial salvation. If business is not quite as brisk as the people of Duluth would like to see it, Mr. Hartley does not think they are helping matters any by advertising their fears and forebodings to the world while they have nothing to say concerning the bright side of the picture. He is of the opinion that if the people here would appear more cheerful and talk of the encouraging features of the situation more and the discouraging ones less, that the prosperity that is evidently making itself in other communities would not be long in putting in an appearance here.

Mr. Hartley has been greatly encouraged by what he saw and heard in the East and is convinced that a general revival of great magnitude is close at hand.

EXPLODED

Hazard Powder Mills Explode and Bring Death to Three.

Whole of Hazardville Village Was Shaken—Horse Was Blown to Atoms.

Cyclone Gyrates Around Louisville--Two Killed Near Irvington, Kentucky.

Windsor Locks, Conn., June 18.—At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon a quantity of powder in a building attached to the plant of the Hazard Powder company, at Hazardville, exploded, and three men and one horse were killed.

The dead are:
Richard May, workman.
D. S. Ratton, head mechanic.
M. W. Pierce, overseer of mills.

All of the men were married and had families. The building in which the explosion occurred was blown to pieces. Several other buildings were slightly damaged and the whole village was shaken.

SOUTHERN TORNADO.

Heavy Windstorm Does Much Damage Near Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., June 18.—A severe wind storm passed over this city between the hours of 5 and 6 this morning. Considerable damage was done to property, but no lives were lost. In several cases houses were blown down or unroofed, but in no instance was there a fatality; though a number of persons sustained injuries.

Reports received from Central and Eastern Kentucky indicate that great damage has been done to crops. The wheat fields have been laid low, farm houses and barns were wrecked and fences destroyed.

At English, Ind., the court was damaged to the extent of $2000. A southbound Monon train, eight miles beyond Bloomington, Ind., was struck by lightning and the passengers shaken up severely. Conductor Johnson was painfully injured but will recover. Later, as the train was nearing Jasburg, it ran into a large tree that had been blown across the track and the engine was badly damaged.

In Jeffersonville the damage was slight, while in New Albany it is estimated that $10,000 worth of damage was done to property, but no lives were lost.

Opposite Irvington, Ky., in Indiana, the residence of John Streehls, a farmer, was wrecked by the wind, and his 14-year-old son was instantly killed. A servant girl was so badly injured by the falling timbers that she lived but a few hours.

A NEBRASKA ZEPHYR.

Omaha, June 18.—A special from Norfolk, Neb., to the Bee says: A tornado struck here last night, doing some minor damage to buildings. A. K. Leonard and Loomis McKim were caught in the storm and received painful injuries.

ONE APPLICATION ENOUGH.

Detroit Free Press: "I guess I've seen as much of the world as most men," said the Detroiter who is just back from an extended tour of the Eastern continent. "But an incident on a cross-town car today was a new one on me. Little dogs are natural pets and custom has made it all right for women to fondle and make much of them. But in this case it seemed to me that the prerogative of the fair sex was greatly exceeded.

"When the car had been stopped a woman came to the sliding door on the side and called shrilly for the conductor. He gallantly responded and she handed him a little package about a foot long, eight inches wide and three thick. 'Take this' she commanded, and he obeyed the order. Then she got both arms under a dog that would weigh sixty pounds, lifted him and carried him to a seat. There was nothing to indicate that he had anything desirable in the way of a pedigree. His ugliness was aggravated by the fact that he had been clipped so close as to suggest a hairless Mexican dog. The brute had the grace to look ashamed of himself as he was carried in with dangling legs and depressed tail, but the woman was chattering away in baby language, and, from what I heard accused her pet of having a headache and expressed a fear that he was contracting pneumonia.

"'Headache?' echoed a business little woman in the seat ahead, and without further diagnosis she stuck a high-pressure smelling bottle under the dog's nose. One good sniff was enough to demonstrate that the pup had wonderful vitality for an invalid. He set out a yelp, broke away from all caresses, sprang through the door and went up the street like a fox terrier. His owner had hysteria. She was commanding the conductor to stop the car, denouncing the little lady with the smelling bottle and calling her dog infantful tones, while she had to be held to keep her from jumping off before the car came to a standstill. Then she went almost as fast as the dog had done. I've been all over the world and have never seen anything like it."

SMOKE AND HEALTH.

Fogs are said to have a very beneficial effect on the health of districts where they are prevalent, as they are great purifiers of the atmosphere, and even the sulphur which makes the London fog so pungent and irritating is credited with effecting quite an appreciable limitation of prevalent infectious diseases, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Professor Maur is now of the opinion that smoke may be turned into a hygienic ally, and, under some circumstances, be made capable of preserving the public health to a degree little imagined. The dust collected from the smoke of some Liege furnaces, burning coal raised from the neighboring mines, produces, when dissolved in hydrochloric acid, a solution from which considerable quantities of arsenic and several other metallic salts may be precipitated. It is now suspected that this breaching of arsenic and other minerals in a finely divided state may account for the singular immunity from epidemics enjoyed by certain industrial districts, such as that of St. Etienne, and medical authorities in those regions and elsewhere are asked to throw upon the subject what light they can. It is suggested that the ventilating effect of the numerous chimneys in iron making and other industrial centers has its due share in constant by driving off the vitiated air and replacing it by fresh quantities of pure air. It was noted that when pestilence was raging in the English town of Clifton, an elevated and apparently salubrious residential district, its inhabitants migrated to a lowlying and murky parish in the adjacent town of Bristol where the air was black from the smoke of numerous chimneys, while the mortality was lower than that of the fashionable quarter overlooking it.

IDENTIFIED HIM.

The Seedy-Looking Person Staggered the Agent.

Probably no town of its size has as many very rich men as Colorado Springs, Col. "They have millionaires to burn," said a gentleman who recently visited there, says the Chicago Times-Herald.

"Colorado Springs is the home of W. S. Stratton, the man who a few years ago was at work with a jack-plane, earning a scenaty living, but who now is the possessor of anywhere from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000," said my friend. "Stratton does not have the appearance of a man borne down with a weighty pocketbook. Much of the time he goes about in clothes a tramp might object to. When he had, in a couple of years, cleaned up the paltry sum of $4,000,000—or $2,000,000 a year—himself and family thought they would like a vacation. They concluded to make a trip to California. The next day Stratton went to Denver on business. His banker had notified him that he had made a mistake of a quarter of a million in his bank account. He had that much more in the bank than he thought he had. Upon investigation he discovered that he had sent the bank a check for that amount, just taken from the sale of a mine, which he had not noted. That matter cleared up, Mr. Stratton thought he would see about getting tickets for the California trip. As usual he had on a rather shabby suit.

"Have you got a bargain in tickets to California?" asked Stratton.

The clerk looked him over carefully and concluded that a hobo had dropped in to get out of the sun.

"Not today; we may have one tomorrow."

"Well, you sell tickets to California, don't you?"

"Certainly; but we have no job lot on hand at present."

"How much is a ticket to San Francisco?"

The clerk told him.

"Let me see, I shall have to take several people, servants, you know. Guess you had better give me nine tickets."

While the clerk was staring at him Stratton was struck with a new idea.

"By the way, how much will a special car cost? I like to go as comfortably as possible when I travel. Yes, I guess I'll have a special car—how much will it cost?"

The man told him. It was a large sum.

"That's all right. Look here, I'm going to stay a month or six weeks. Got a blank check?"

The clerk handed him one. It was filled out and handed to the clerk, who said: "I know all about Mr. Stratton, but I don't know that you are Mr. Stratton."

At that moment Banker Moffett passed by. Stratton called out: "Come in here, Moffett." He came in. "Am I Stratton?" "You are." "I thought so, but this clerk had his doubts. Thank you."

FRIGHTENED TO PIECES.

Crawfishes, crabs and lobsters are peculiarly sensitive to loud noises, and it is a fact that a loud and sudden clap of thunder will cause them to amputate or drop their large claws and "pincers." This impulse which seizes them when suddenly alarmed is to throw off their heavy claws, so that they may the 'quicker scurry off to a place of safety, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. Crabs and lobsters can in ten days or a fortnight grow new claws, as large as the old ones. For many weeks, however, the patient who is growing on a new set of fighting weapons does not appear among the armed members of his family, because his claws being soft, he could not "take his part," and would be eaten by his cannibal brethren.

PAILSFUL OF ELECTRIC LIGHT.

To light a 6-room house for $1 a month by means of an electric mixture, which can be sold around the streets in rubber pails as a milkman delivers milk, is what John F. Magner, a deputy sheriff of Mill Valley, Cal., says he can do, says The San Francisco Call. Magner is an electrician, and two years ago, while trying to find a method of running an electric elevator by a battery instead of a motor, the idea came to him to get an arc light out of a battery. He experimented, and, two months ago, produced the light. Then, trying to increase the light by increasing the solution, he lost it, only to find it later. He uses four cells, producing about five volts each. In each cell are two poles of carbon and zinc. Other batteries differ in this respect by having but one pole to each cell. The results, however, are produced by the solution, which, of course, is secret.

STEPHENS' MEMORY.

Story About the Confederate Vice President.

The other day I heard an interesting talk from Col. C. W. Seidell, who was for a long time the private secretary of Alexander H. Stephens, the Confederate vice president and governor of Georgia, says the Chicago Times-Herald.

"Mr. Stephens," said the colonel, "had a remarkable memory. Once, when we were in Washington, a big delegation visited the city to urge Dakota's claims to statehood.

"The delegates sent word to the distinguished Georgian that they would call on him at his hotel, and at the appointed time they filed into his parlor and were introduced.

"As Mr. Stephens was at that time disabled by a fall, he sat in his rolling chair in the middle of the room and held a running conversation with his visitors. There were about 100 Dakotans present, stalwart, handsome men, representing the best type of Western manhood.

"After they had sampled some fine old Georgia corn whisky their host discussed the matters in which they were most interested, and occasionally addressed one of the strangers personally, naming him as he spoke.

"During the evening he singled out in this way at least twenty of his guests, and astonished us all by his ready recollection of names and faces. Every man in the crowd got the idea into his head that something striking or attractive in his personality had favorably impressed the little man in the rolling chair, and I could see that the delegates were delighted with their reception.

"When they had bowed themselves out I asked Mr. Stephens how he managed to hold so many names and faces in his memory.

"'Oh, it's a mere trick,' he replied. 'I simply concentrated my attention upon about twenty names and faces, and as they were scattered around the room it naturally surprised my visitors when I turned to them and addressed them by name. Of course it caused every man to believe that he had deeply impressed me.'

"When he forgot a man he did not let him know it. Once, after a speech, an old farmer grabbed his hand.

"'Mr. Stephens,' he said, 'you've forgotten me.'

"'Not a bit of it,' was the quick answer.

"'I'm the man who brought you them inguns when you was sick in my town twenty years ago.'

"'And I believe your onions saved my life,' laughed Mr. Stephens. 'I am glad to see you again. Take care of yourself and don't forget me.'

"The old fellow went off proud and happy, and the statesman smiled as he saw my inquiring look.

"'I can't recall him,' he said, 'but it was unnecessary to hurt his feelings by telling him that I had forgotten him.'"

MACHINERY AND LABOR.

Machinery, thy crime is great,
Thou'r. ruining men, oh, sad their fate!
An errant and a learned sage
Of curious thought and special gauge,
Condemns what thou hast done for man,
And places thee beneath his ban.
We must no more use printing presses,
No reapers, mowers, must we use,
They cause our workingmen distresses;
Lest men their natural minds abuse.

Sewing machines must also go,
Let us adopt some means more slow;
No dummy hoists to help lack lads,
No wash machines that leave no scars
On woman's hands; why, let her toil,
Her washing let her rub and boil;
'Tis the old way, has stood the test,
And suits theology the best.
Our learned sage bids us restore
Old ways of doing things once more.

Machinery, he says destroys
Intelligence in men and boys,
Making mere idiots of all
Who 'neath its baneful influence fall;
But what his own beknotde caused
Ere he essayed to tell, he paused.
How strange, in this enlightened age,
A man should place on history's page
The record of a speech so wild:
We'd scarce excuse it in a child.

A TIME FOR MONEY SAVING AT FREIMUTH'S

COLOR PHOTOGRAPHS.

Show the Complexion and Color of Eyes.

Photography in colors, according to the new French method, is expected to engage the attention of every amateur photographer this summer. The method by which these pictures, which reproduce the colors of nature, are made is simple, although the nature of the chemicals used is a secret, says the New York Journal.

The photographic plate is developed in the ordinary manner, and it is after that process that the color liquids are applied. An amateur photographer who recently experimented with this new process produced a picture in colors after half an hour's work. It was a very fair specimen of color photography.

The specimens of work sent to this country from France show that the new pictures can be developed to a high state of perfection. Although only three primary colors are applied—blue, green and red—yet by some mysterious process these form a large variety of combinations on the plate that increase the number of shades to over forty, which it is said is quite sufficient to show all the variations in nature that strike the human eye.

The color photography heretofore placed on sale, and some of which have been handsome, have all been painted by hand. This new process is altogether automatic and requires no hand painting, and its achievements are far superior to the old style hand-painted photographs.

Pictures of landscapes showing trees, sky and water, taken in France by this new process, many of which have been exhibited in New York, almost seem like bits of nature seen through a window. Marine views made by this process show all the delicate variations of green and blue in the sea, the delicate tracery of the clouds and the soft shadows of spar and rigging on the sails of ships.

But the most striking illustrations of what this new process is capable of are pictures taken of soldiers in the gorgeous colored uniforms of the French army. Here are gorgeous reds, blues both light and dark, and gold buttons and laces almost as brilliant as in an oil painting. Even precious stones have been photographed by this new process, and the pictures show much of the brilliant radiance of the gems.

The most interesting fact about the new process is that it is so delicate that it not only photographs flesh tints, but actually shows the difference in complexion. This would indicate that an entirely new kind of photographic portrait may become the fashion in the near future.

You have your picture taken in all the colors of nature, not only showing the exact tones and values of the complexion, but giving the color of the hair and eyes. The brilliant possibilities of color which this opens up in the way of raiment will, it is thought, especially commend it to ladies who, it is expected, will at once begin to have their pictures taken in every kind of gown and bonnet they possess.

All the delicate shades of colors in the spring bonnets, which have heretofore been lost in the ordinary photograph, can now be permanently secured.

Artists are wondering how far successful will be this new process in duplicating paintings and great masterpieces in oil and water colors. No photograph was ever so pleasing as a work of art, for photographs have a hard, mechanical aspect that is entirely too real to please the eye.

At the same time photographs of paintings have reproduced little of the original pictures, for the reason that all the delicate shades of color have been lost and entirely new values introduced. Now, however, it is thought that by this new method a system has been found whereby great works of art may be reproduced at a nominal cost.

Meissonier's "Friedland," in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, is a picture admirably suited to this new process, being full of brilliant color that is lost in the ordinary photograph.
